Sufferers from the effects of quinine, used as a remedy for chills and fever, will appreciate Ayer's Ague Cure, a powerful tonic bitter, composed wholly of vegetable substances, without a particle of any noxious drug. Its action is peculiar, prompt, and powerful, breaking up the chill, curing the fever, and expelling the poison from the system, yet leaving no harmful or unpleasant effect upon the patient.

NEW BOOKS

that will be on sale by the Manager in September and throughout the ensuing year:

"Fifty Years and Beyond; or, Old Age and How to Enjoy It." A book of incalculable value, as well as interest to all who have passed the meridian of life. 400 pages, cloth, $1.00, same in full edges, $1.50.

"Studies in Genesis; or, Bible Views of the Creation in Its Relation to Modern Science," by the Rev. T. G. Stevard, D.D., and containing an important chapter on "Christian Evidences," by Bishop Campbell. This is an intensely interesting book, especially to preachers, old or young. It will contain about 250 pages, 12mo. on clear tinted paper, and sold at the low rate of $1.00. The work is now in press under our own imprint. Orders, $1.00, mailing 10cts. extra.

More then $400 is due to-day on RECORDER sales alone. We shall sift this matter to the bottom.

Now, dear friends and brethren, help us. We are endeavoring to do your work with energy and faithfulness, we pray you to stand by your own cause.

A bank note in colors will be issued shortly by the Bank of Scotland. The colors are put to make counterfeiting can call photography to his aid.

The total annual consumption of tea, it is said, amounts to 3,000,000,000 lbs.; of coffee, 1 000,000,000 lbs.; cocoa and chocolate, 100,000,000 lbs.; while similar drinks are used by less civilized nations and tribes. In the three favorite drinks of Russia, Holland and England, the last country annually importing 100,000,000 lbs., or about 4 pounds to each man, woman and child.

To the Venerable the Bishops of the African M. E. Zion and of the African Methodist Episcopal Churches:

REVEREND AND DEAR BRETHREN:—On the 23rd inst., I received the following communication from Bishop WAYMAN:

"The committee of ten appointed by our last General Conference, held in Baltimore, Md., May, 1884, to meet a committee of ten appointed by the General Conference of the A. M. E. Zion Church, to consider the subject of organic union of the two connections, met in Washington, D. C., on the 15th of July, which is to be submitted to a joint meeting of the Bishops of both connections, and then the annual and quarterly conferences, and then to the Baltimore, Md., May, 1888, unless sooner requested by the unanimous vote of the two committees to act upon (Lf. A. Payne and J. A. Shorter) to arrange for a joint meeting of the Bishops of both connections on or before the 15th day of December next, 1885."

I am charged with which resolution, we, after due consideration, appoint Wednesday, the 4th of November, 1885, as the time, and the city of Wilmington, N. C., as the place of holding the joint meeting of the Bishops of both connections, at 10 A. M. sharp. We beg that all the colored organs of both connections will give this notice as immediate and general circulation; we beg that all the parties concerned will earnestly beseech the Great and Adorable Head of the Church, Jesus Christ, to send the Holy Trimpsant, to be present at that meeting, to enlighten us by His Spirit, and to be led by His unerring counsel to just, wise, and practicable conclusions concerning the deep and important question to be considered by us.

We are, Reverend and Dear Brethren, your fellow servants in the Church of the living God,

DANIEL A. PAYNE,
JAMES A. SHORTER.

NOTICE.

The Florida Annual Conference will meet on the date already published, at Quincy, Fla. Rev. Charles Spencer's change has been made.

Fraternally,
PAYNE.

Persons sending subscriptions for RECORDER should note that hereafter for $1 we can send the paper only three months they should send 50cts.; trial subscriptions are for three weeks only. This is the rule adopted by the conference.

Then we have an excellent book—"Fifty Years and Beyond,"—a charming thing for older people and for those who intend to be old. It sends up—set down—the shining pathway of years with a harp and song. $2.00, postpaid. Must be sold. We have many more, but can't speak of them now.

What we must say

now, is that we are opening a regular campaign for the CHRISTIAN RECORDER. We want two thousand new subscribers, and all the old ones to renew. Now, appreciating the dullness of the times, we have resolved to put the paper within the reach of all, adopting the installment plag.

Instalment

coots a little more, but is easier because it gives more time. Hence, we make the following offer to all who desire to have the RECORDER:

Send us 25 Cents and we will enroll your name in a special book kept for that purpose and will send you the paper for sixty days; then send us 50 cents, and two months after 50 cents, and two months later 50 cents more. Total, $1.75.

All our Pastors

are Agents for the RECORDER, and are hereby authorized to present this proposition to their people and receive their enrollment fee (25 cents), and give their receipts for the same. [Note.—We will send a few blank slips of receipts to all who will act for us in this matter.]

On this Plan

we give full six months for paying the subscription.

"Pastor's Memorandum Book," by Rev. C. T. Shaffer. Price, 45 cents, no discount. An excellent book.

against that feeling of indolence and debility, common to every one in the spring and summer months, is of no avail without the aid of Ayer's Sarsaparilla. By its use, impurities are expelled from the blood, and new life is infused into the veins. It stimulates and strengthens all the digestive and assimilative organs. C. A. Bowdoy, Hotel Clifford, Boston, Mass., says: "A few bottles of Ayer's Sarsaparilla, taken in the spring, make me feel well and strong the whole year." C. J. Bodemer, 143 Columbia st., Cambridgeport, Mass., says: "I have poor blood, through terrible suffering from dyspepsia; but I have cured myself, and saved a great deal of money in doctors' bills, by the use of strength and vigor follow the use of Ayer's Sarsaparilla. Mrs. Ann H. Farnsworth, a lady 78 years old, No. Woodstock, Vt., writes: "After suffering for weeks with prostration, I procured a bottle of Ayer's Sarsaparilla, and before I had taken half of it my usual health returned." Theo. M. McCarthy, 38 Winter st., Lowell, Mass., writes: "I have been troubled, for years, with nervousness, and pains about my heart, especially in the morning. I also suffered greatly from debility. I have been cured by Ayer's Sarsaparilla, and am now able to do very hard work." Henry H. Davis, Nashua, N. NOTICE.

All questions and business pertaining to advertisements are sent in the BUSINESS, and requesting correspondence to the Recorder, should be addressed to Rev. J. C. Embry, Business Manager, not to the editor. There is no part of the business of this establishment requiring money to be sent to the editor; nor communications for the Recorder, to the Manager. All orders for changing address of papers, for Sunday school or Church supplies, must be sent to the Manager, not the editor. Please remember, therefore, in regard for publication, or letters pertaining thereto, should be addressed to the editor, and they to him exclusively.

THE CHURCH REVIEW.

Again the Review makes its appearance with some of the names already familiar in connection with the A. M. E. Church Review; others that have become popular on account of their intimate association with the rise and progress of the colored race, and others who are likely to exert a considerable influence on the world in the future. We have not had the time to examine the magazine carefully, but from the names of the writers dare assure our readers of a rare offering in the October Review.

THE VIRGINIA COLORED INDEPENDENTS.

This is a poor stop toward Negro political independence. It might not be without interest to have the statement of just what constitutes the "liberality of the present administration towards our people in the South." Does it consist in words? If so, we join in the gratefulness, but then far the practical liberality of the present administration towards this class of people has not reached the public ear. This looks very much like the result of Democratic wire-pulling, but it is certainly not to reach. If the declaration had referred to what might be sometime in the future it would have shown honest convictions as the cause of this liberality moment among colored men, but just as publication among white voters, or liberal politics among colored voters usually means Democratic politics.

RESPONSIBILITY.

A man's real worth centers not so much to his mental endowments or acquisitions, his inherited or accumulated wealth, as in the amount of character warranting the imposition of full confidence in him and reliance upon him. It is impossible to have any individual always under the eye of all others, but it is possible for individuals to so gain the confidence of their fellows that there is even a firm conviction that they are trying well. This reliance cannot exist long when there is not in the person trusted a deep sense of responsibility, a realization of his duee to the world and that of the world to him. Following this is the practice of promptness, correct judgment, large discretion, broad charity, proper courage and the fullest devotion to the right. We cannot know the motives of men, but we can learn men as well as to form as we can good guess. We can place the reliable man in the most critical position with confidence that he will do well.

THE UNION.

T., in the Star of Zion, says some good, strong words concerning the union; like many of us, he says many useless words, he does love Sealib; but he says that they wish to say and thus expose their personal sentiments as well as those of a large constituency. Thus write men from either side. Referring to Rev. A. A. Williams' writings on the subject the New York Freeman says: "The editor of the Recorder should run his pen through such fire-brands or dump them in the waste-basket." Very recently the Freeman declared the Recorder should have published a "fire-brand" east into the camp after peace had been declared; now that the Recorder wishes to avert danger by discussing thoroughly all the "gnats," and the camels, too, before a union is effected, the Freeman says, "don't strain at gnats." Thus the Freeman declares for "fire-brands" and against "fire-brands;" the Recorder will surely please one side of the Freeman.

We fail to see just wherein the Recorder, in discussing this subject, has torn open a single wound. It may not have succeeded in discussing the union, however. Since there is really so little inclination in either body to unite with the other, it seems far better that this be known now than that it be reserved till after the union is consummated. The steps taken in this case by the respective committees are very much like those taken in reference to the union consummated in 1884; yet the Freeman did not think that had been considered with sufficient care and time, and seemed to think the statement of the Chesham Place coadjutory of the correctness of their judgment. But why did that time speak? Because, it is said, the union was arranged without a proper discussion of the differences, incongruities and opposition in the two bodies before the union.

Now, Brother Freeman, the Recorder "ought to publish" all such articles as have appeared in reference to the matter before the union that it may not be said when they are preached after the union, when a few persons among the dissatisfied cry out, "The Recorder should have published it."

There is little to risk in the assertion that not one in ten of the members of the two bodies think of or care for the union. There are some things requisite to the union, from both sides, that they will not do. There are some things that each side asks of the other that will never be done. The incongruities between these two bodies are many more in number than those between the A. M. E. and B. M. E. Churches were the arrangements made by the committees given up as far enough to express the very things that require adjustment, but fail to adjust almost everything. The fact is they could not do more. They were commissioned to arrange for a union. Therefore, we have said nothing in regard all discussions of priority and excellence as useless and unwise. We have taken no part in them. We have no interest in them. We are willing, personally, to call it a union, if episcopacy shall be settled either way: i. e., that we shall declare that the laying on of hands is non-essential, or that it is essential, but we demand that it be declared right, and we ask both. Then we say in way of willingness to make concessions, but this one subject will keep the two bodies apart. We cannot have two classes of episcopates; neither side is willing to accept the other. These two societies have grown up to co-operate as Christians, but they have hardly thought strongly about organic union. There has been a considerable thought about it by some of the ministers and a few laymen, but with the great bulk there is little thought about it at last inclination to it.

CONFERENCE PATRONAGE.

We have published the minutes of several conferences this year. The satisfaction rendered has probably been equal to that received from other houses. There ought to be no objection urged against our doing this work. We do it absent as low as the average and about as high as the highest. Some conferences in a trifle more consistently, it is but just what anything else in our organization does sometimes. The fact is this self-maintenance as an organization is very much for the good of the whole

NOTICE.

A NEW DEPARTURE IN THE RECORDER SALES BUSINESS.

On and after September 1st, all agencies for RECORDER sales will be made anew and on a different plan, indicated below. Present agents sent settle in full up to the last issue in August, which will be on the 27th. Our new rules will be as follows: 1st. On appointing an agent he or she must sign a written contract binding each to sell and return one-half of the sales money in use monthly and to make a full settlement of all claims at the end of every three months. 2nd. All papers needs to be carefully preserved and reported with each settlement and held subject to our orders. They must be counted, bound and returned to us when required. 3rd. Such agents will be allowed one-third of each annual subscription they obtain for the paper at $1.50 per year, they retaining fifty cents and sending us a net our dollar. Or, they can take subscriptions on our installment plan, collecting 30 cents in advance every two months, and sending us 50 cents.

These rules will be strictly applied to all except regular itinerant ministers. We are compelled to do this for the protection of the Department against losses. We issue about two hundred and sixty thousand copies annually. Two-fifths, or one hundred and two thousand copies are sent out to agents. On this number we lose from $12,000 to $1,500 year. Believing that all our brethren will favor any plan which promises a reduction of this great loss, we have resolved on the above rules. Please read them, note well and prepare to settle as above.

NOTE.—These new agreements will be furnished in block to all who wish to become or continue agents after September 1st.

To thoroughly cure scrofula, it is necessary to strike directly at the root of the evil. The only medicine which does this is Sarsaparilla does, by acting upon the blood, thoroughly cleansing it of all impurities, and leaving not even a taint of scrofula in the vital fluid.

It Will Save Your Life.

Everybody knows the symptoms attending coughs and colds, but the dangerous character of these ailments is not so well understood. When a cold settles upon the lungs, if the blood is tainted with scrofula, or the system is weak, Catarrh or Consumption is sure to follow. Ayer's Cherry Pectoral is the only remedy which may be uniformly relied upon for the cure of coughs and colds. J. J. Rawson, Buckingham C. H., Va., writes: "For several weeks I suffered from a frightful cold, with cough and frequent

Spitting of Blood.

Ayer's Cherry Pectoral cured me entirely." Mrs. R. Campbell, Woodville, Ont., writes: "I was troubled, for five years, with an affection of the throat and lungs, coughing severely the whole time. I took different preparations, and was treated by several physicians, without effect. I finally tried Ayer's Cherry Pectoral, and before finishing one bottle was completely cured." Dr. W. K. Gann, Monticello, Ky., writes: "I have been troubled with bronchitis, also very severe colds and coughs, for many years. I owe my life to Ayer's Cherry Pectoral." Dr. J. D. Cox, Falls Mills, Rams., writes: "Ayer's Cherry Pectoral saved my life twenty years ago. It is a favorite medicine in my family."

It Cured Me

of this troublesome complaint, when other remedies afforded no relief." Dr. F. Schley, Fredericktown, Md., writes: "In pulmonary cases, of an acute character, or catarrhal origin, I find Ayer's Cherry Pectoral invaluable." Dr. F. E. Page, Peabody, Ohio, writes: "I have used Ayer's Cherry Pectoral in my practice, and, in connection with Ayer's Pills, find it an invaluable remedy for colds, coughs, and the inflammations that follow them upon the throat and lungs. It is the best other remedy which I consider so sure in its effects." C. H. Pierce, Malloy, Ill., writes: "Catarrh had nearly destroyed my sense of taste and smell. Ayer's Cherry Pectoral effected a complete cure."

Ayer's Cherry Pectoral.

Has effected many wonderful cures. Mrs. Mary S. Whitcomb, Hartford, Conn., writes: "Some years ago my mother had an obstinate cough, with severe pains in the chest, and several attacks of bleeding at the lungs. Her physician pronounced it scrofula, and believed herself about to become a victim of Consumption. While in this condition she was strongly recommended by Rev. Dr. Blanchard, of Lowell, Mass., to make a trial of

Ayer's Cherry Pectoral.

She did so, and by its use was restored to perfect health. Since her recovery the Pectoral has been her sole dependence for colds, coughs, and all similar troubles, which it has never failed to cure."

Manager's Notes.

We have on hand

the Revised Version of the Bible, just issued from the press. Two styles, $1 and $2 per copy. We want to sell them now. Please order them. Beautiful paper, clear type and most interesting reading. You never saw so clearly the meaning of many things as you will find in this new old Book!

Wakefield's Theology, the standard theological text book, adopted by the Bishops for the course of study. $2.50 by mail at your risk; $2.25 by express. Please order them. They are here and must be sold.

Then we have an excellent book—"Fifty Years and Beyond,"—a charming thing for older people and for those who intend to be old. It sends up—not down—the shining pathway of years with a harp and song. $2.00, postpaid. Must be sold. We have many more, but can't speak of them now.

What we must say

now, is that we are opening a regular campaign for the CHRISTIAN RECORDER. We want two thousand new subscribers, and all the old ones to renew. Now, appreciating the dullness of the times, we have resolved to put the paper within the reach of all, adopting the installment plan.

Installment

costs a little more, but is easier because it gives more time. Hence, we make the following offer to all who desire to have the RECORDER:

Send us 25 Cents and we will enroll your name in a special book kept for that purpose and will send you the paper for sixty days; then send us 50 cents, and two months after 50 cents, and two months later 50 cents more. Total, $1.75.

All our Pastors

are Agents for the RECORDER, and are hereby authorized to present this prospectus to their people and receive their enrollment fee (25 cents), and give their receipts for the same. [Note.—We will send a few blank slips of receipts to all who will sot for us in this matter.]

On this Plan

we give full six months for paying the subscription.

"Pastor's Memorandum Book," by Rev. C. T. Shaffer. Price, 45 cents, no discount. An excellent book.

INDIGESTION CURED.

I suffered for more than five years with indigestion, scarcely able to retain the smallest food on my stomach. I finally tried S. S. S., and before the third bottle was taken I noticed that some of the terrible headaches left me. I continued the use of the medicine until I had taken six bottles, when I was entirely cured, strengthened in the whole system, and soon all the horrible symptoms, and I could retain fo 0 without difficulty. Now I am in perfect health, and can recommend S. S. S. to all suffering as I did. WM. STEWART, Lowell, Ind.

NOTICE.

A NEW DEPARTURE IN THE RECORDER SALES BUSINESS.

On and after September 1st, all agencies for Hincoman sales will be made salary and on a different plan, indicated below. Present agents must settle in full up to the last issue in August, which will be on the 27th. Our new rules will be as follows: 1st. On appointing an agent he or she must sign a written contract binding each to sell and return one-half of the sales money to us monthly and to make a full settlement of all claims at the end of every three months. 2nd. All papers must to be carefully preserved and reported with each settlement and held subject to our orders. They must be counted, bound and returned to us when required. 3rd. Such agents will be allowed one-third of each annual subscription they obtain for the paper at $1.50 per year, they retaining fifty cents and sending us a net 100 dollar. Or, they can take subscriptions on our installment plan, collecting 50 cents in advance every two months, and sending us 20 cents.

These rules will be strictly applied to all except regular itinerant ministers. We are compelled to do this for the protection of the Department against severe loss. We issued about two hundred and sixty thousand copies annually. Two-fifths, or one hundred and four thousand copies are sent out to agents. On this number we lose from $1,200 to $1,500 year. Believing that all our brethren will favor any plan which promises avoidance of this great loss, we have resolved on the above rules. Please read them, note well and prepare to settle at once.

NOTE.—These new agreements will be formally sent to all who wish to become or continue agents after September 1st.

A foundry in coast four hundred thousand dollars is being erected in San Francisco.

The Philadelphia style of living, so far as animal houses are concerned, is becoming more popular in New York.

Prof. Turner, anatomist, of Edmberg, is said to reserve the largest salary attached to any professorship, $20,000 per annum.

A couple ran away from Hollistar, Cal., lately, and together with a clergyman, rowed three miles out to sea where the marriage ceremony was performed.

A member of the citizens of Atlantic City has had an artesian well sunk to strike artesian well on the island, and test the question of obtaining a supply of pure water from the source.

A farmer of Emporia, Fla., while setting out strawberry plants the other day, assisted by a friend, unearthed a half-dollar gold piece which the latter lost three and a-half years ago.

The President of the Cambridge, Mass., Fire Ins. Co., recommends Hood's Sarsaparilla as a building up and strengthening remedy.

A tortoise that weighed about 1500 pounds was recently caught by San Francisco fishermen. It is said to be completely covered the bottom of a wagon in which it was placed for removal.

Why go about with that aching head? Try Ayer's Pills. They will relieve the stomach, restore the digestive organs to healthy action, regulate the secretions that depress nerves and brain, and thus cure your headache permanently.

An unknown person put soap in the boiler of an engine pulling a train into Pittsburg the other day, with the result of rendering the engine temporarily unfit for use and delaying passengers two hours.

The battle flags captured during the war from the Confederates by the troops of North Carolina, by the Twenty-seventh Massachusetts Regiment, have been returned now held, are shortly to be restored to the original owners.

A four-headed bull is said to inhabit Marago, an island at the mouth of the Amazon, and to change one pair of legs for a pair of wings during the encampment by a process not unlike that by which the silkworm changes its skin.

Moses Marrenellah died in Pantskeepsie, N. Y., on Friday, at the reputed age of 107 years. At the age of 18 he first travelled all over the world, and in 1849, during the Gold fever in California, walked there, and met with great success in the mines.

A Galveston school teacher had a great deal of trouble with a boy understand his lesson. Finally, however, he succeeded, and on giving a high mark, remarked: "If it wasn't for me you would be a first-class donkey on Galveston Island!"—Ex.

The appointment of J. Norman Lifchey as Judge of the Supreme Court of North Scotia, recalls the fact that the father was Judge for many years, his eldest brother, H. Lifchey, Solicitor-General, is now Chief Justice of the Supreme Court of Canada and that another brother, John W. Ritchie, was for many years Judge of Equity in Nova Scotia.

Twelve to some portions of Louisiana have been getting anything but complimentary lately from some of the newspapers in that State. One of the worst things said is this by the Colfax Chronicler: "Our experience is that when one teacher out of ten employed in the public and private schools of this parish can write correctly a sentence of two or three dozen words."

Captain Robert Armand, aged 96 years, who became noted on the Mississippi by walking from his home, in Sumter, S. C., to near Rodney, has undertaken another pedestrian feat, his objective point this time being New Orleans. He started on Sunday, and expects to reach the Crescent City by the latter part of November. The old man, for which accompanied the captain as his sole companion on the giant North, is performing a similar duty now.

A small but exceedingly costly book, belonging to the Abt Cathedral at Metz was shown at the International Metal Exposition recently held at Nuremberg. The binding is on embossed gold and richly decorated with enamel, diamonds, rubies and emeralds. The book was formerly ascribed to Benvenuto Cellini, and made for Pope Paul III as a present for Charles the Fifth. This, the American Bookmaker says, is erroneous, as the Gothic volume is illustrated by H. Goodig, who lived in the second half of the sixteenth century, and the binding is probably the work of a German goldsmith, who also lived at the Court of Prince Augustus of Saxony. Its value is probably in the hundreds of thousands in dollars.

NEW BOOKS

that will be on sale by the Manager in September and throughout the ensuing year:

"Fifty Years and Beyond; or, Old Age and How to Enjoy It." 12th book of unexcitable value, as well as interest to all who have passed the meridian of life. 400 pages, cloth, $1.00, same in gilt edges, $1.50.

"Studies in Genesis; or, Bible Views of the Creation in its Relation to Modern Science." by the Rev. T. G. Shearer, D.D., and containing an important chapter on "Christian Evidences," by Bishop Campbell. This is an intensely interesting book, especially to preachers, old or young. It will contain about 250 pages, 12mo. on clear beautiful paper, and sold at the low rate of $1 00. The work is now in press under our own imprint. Orders, $1.00, mailing 10cts. extra.

"Bible Heroes; or, Stories from the Old Testament for Little Folks." Judging by my own children, no parent who would have his children imbued with the heroic spirit of Bible character, could buy a better book. Our children devoured it at once. Price only 50 cents; by mail, 55 cents; registered, 65 cents.

"A Voice from the Orient." This is a small volume of select sermons by Rev. C. H. Mansperger, a native of Greek, and pastor of the Spring Garden Methodist Presbyterian Church, of Philadelphia. This is an exceedingly interesting book for reading in leisure hours. Price, $1.00.

Rev. J. E. Webb has published an excellent Record Book for church stewards and trustees, with blanks for everything pertaining to their reports and business meetings. It is well bound and well arranged. We have seen nothing like it. Send for a sample copy. The book is arranged for four years. It is not the thing of a book in making out record records. For sale at our Publishing House. Price, $1.10.

"The Resurrection of the Redeemed, and Hades." by Rev. James Boggs. A book of this kind is well written and better, will bound in cloth. Price, 50 cents.

Orders for each or all of these works may be sent to us at once. Cash orders only.

NOTICE.

To the members of the South Carolina Conference—Dear Brethren: My attending has been called in the minds that I have made in the date of your conference. In the Incorporate I made it meet Wednesday, February 5th, which is Friday. Note the following correction: The South Carolina Conference, God willing, will meet at Marion, on the first Wednesday in February, which will be the 3rd.

J. A. SHORTER.

NOTICE.

Will general officers and ministers of conference intending to visit the Macon Conference inform us immediately? Will presiding elders also inform me how many candidates for admission they will have; as I am now arranging boxes for ministers and don't wish to make any changes after October 18th, at which time we hope to send all cards and blanks to the bishops home during the conference. Direct to

NOTICE.

The North Carolina A. M. E. Conference, A. M. E. Church, will meet at Company Shops, November 25th, 1885, at 9 o'clock A. M., by order of the Bishop. Committees and candidates for admission will meet at the above named place, November 24th, at 2 o'clock, and examine candidates for admission into the Second, Third and Fourth Years' classes. Presiding elders and pastors are expect to bring candidates for admission should notify the pastor at Company Shops, Rev. W. H. Goler, Box 14. All members of the classes will remember that Bishop Turner says that he will not ordain any one who has not read Wakefield's System of Theology. So if you have not read it you had better send on your orders to Rev. J. C. Embry and get the book at once. Any delinquentship you have read Watson and Raymond, you must read Wakefield. He is the wakefield better than any I have read.

J. W. ALDRIDGE,

Secretary N. C. Annual Conference.

To the Ministers and Members of the A. M. E. Church:

The last General Conference increased the obligations of our office and reduced the income. Consequently we are in quick need of money to carry on the work of the Church. I appeal to the ministers and members of the church they have in hand, and if they have none on hand, raise a collection of Dollar Money and send on immediately that I may meet the demands of our office. Respectfully, supply the wants of those who are dependent on it for their bread and meat. "Do the best you can."

I am yours for God and the race,

H. M. TURNER.

Financial Secretary.

OFFER.

To the Ministers and Members of the A. M. E. Church:

1st. We will give to every minister who will send us the Dollar Money by the 15th of August a gold medal of Bishops Payne and Asbury. Who will be the first to get it? The Bishops and we used it to pay the Bishops and General Officers of this church, and to help the Metropolitan Church.

2d. The pastor sending the largest amount of dollars by the 15th of Aug., 1885, I will give him "Bishop Turner's Book" Dr. Tanner's "Outlines."

3d. Send in the money soon! Send it to Xenia, Ohio.

4th. Do the best you can to help me.

5th. We must have seventy-five thousand dollars this year. Who will be the first to start the ball—the Dollar Ball? Send on the dollars.

6th. Let every minister raise one dollar for each member this year. Try it in the name of Christ.

7th. I will give a present to every church in the connection that will raise one dollar for each member. We will have a roll of honor established, and the pastors who will raise one dollar for or from each of the members will be put down on the roll of honor. Address me

H. M. TURNER.

The Bishops and General Officers must be paid.

The Metropolitan Church in Washington must be completed, by order of the General Conference. It is under my charge. It is the grandest church in the connection when completed.

Don't wait for the conference but send the money to Rev. W. Arnett, Xenia, Ohio, as soon as you get it; if it is small, send it anyway. Small amounts help in very much.

I am yours,

H. M. TURNER.

PRESERVING THE HAIR.

For preserving the youthful color and beauty of the hair, promoting its growth, and imparting freshness and vitality, Ayer's Hair Vigor is unequaled. E. P. Pearl, Brownsville, La., writes: "I have used several hair preparations, but Ayer's Hair Vigor is the only one I have found that sustains the claims made for it." L. D. Tompkins, Bedford, Mass., writes: "I have been using Ayer's Hair Vigor with wonderful success. It has restored vitality to my hair, and stimulated it to renewed growth. It has done, in my case, everything that has been claimed for it." J. E. Edwards, Lincoln, Neb., writes: "Ayer's Hair Vigor has not only restored my hair to its original color, but has also made it more vigorous, abundant, and healthy than ever."

CANCER OF THE TONGUE.

A Case Resembling that of Gen. Grant.

Some ten years ago I had a scrofulous sore on my tongue, which I had cut out by a prominent surgeon of this city. In March, last, the sore appeared again, and I was advised to have it removed. I was afraid to undergo the knife a second time, and concluded to let the sore alone. On the first of May it had assumed a very painful appearance, and I was induced to try S. S. S. I purchased six bottles, and by the time I had taken them the sore was entirely healed. Another bottle was taken as a precaution, and I am now enjoying perfect health. I am satisfied that S. S. S. saved my life, and I feel that I cannot recommend it too highly.

NOTICE.

All questions and business pertaining to advertisements seen in the RECORDER, and requesting correspondence to the RECORDER, should be addressed to Rev. J. C. Embry, Business Manager, and not to the editor. This is a part of the business of this establishment requiring money to be sent to the office. All communications for the RECORDER, to the Manager. All orders for changes, discontinuance of the paper, address, day school or Church supplies, must be sent to the Manager, and in no other manner, nothing but articles for publication, or letters pertaining thereto, should be addressed to the editor, and they to him exclusively.

OUR FINANCES AGAIN.

We have talked with Bishop Cain since receiving the manuscript of the article published in this number, and we feel well convinced that the Bishop seeks to promote the glory of God, to the church, and to the salvation of souls. We mention this in connection with the following article, believing the finances of the Church well managed by the very highly respected and excellent brother who reported to the General Conference of '80, though a co-delegate with the present incumbent from the Ohio Conference, voted for the Rev. J. C. Embry, but since we must look outside of the Financial Secretary's office for much of the disparagement appearing in the Bishop's suspension, it seems but justice that the present worthy Secretary should not be placed before the Church at undue disadvantage.

We have already called your attention to the Bishop's notion of recasting our system after the type of the United States Government to good, but its execution requires a vast executive ability, an executive ability that our average General Conference must be decidedly incapable of selecting. Where we should accomplish it once we should fail nineteen times, which would more than guarantee our failure in the effort.

The fact is, the division of our work at such cost as we have shown above is but an evidence of the division in interests. To accomplish individual purposes we sometimes barter away economical good. Thus the same man who advocates a scattering of our whole system among the conferences, allowing them to pay off their apportioned share of all general demands, may, to-morrow, proclaim the necessity of upholding the system more strongly and individualizing it more emphatically. We play at fast and lose sometime to our own serious injury. Of course the Bishop has no reference to changing the system in the interim of General Conference sessions, het to the thorough discussion of our financial facts before the session of '88. We must support the system; we must maintain its honor. We must remember that there is a deficit in our revenues. There is abundance of evidence of this. We must try to increase the strength of these revenues and to reconstruct and restore our system to the proper lines of action and then keep the confidence of the Church and the world. Our ministers should be urged to collect and forward their Dollar Money to the Secretary at once, instead of being encouraged to take it to the annual conference sessions. It is sometimes possible that not all the Dollar Money collected reaches the Financial Secretary, passing through this circuitous course. It would be an excellent thing to have much less financial business in conference sessions and much more out of them.

THE NEGROES of the Methodist Episcopal Church owe $1,100,000 free of debt. We challenge Bethel and Zion both to show either of them a better record for their work among the Negroes. Let us have this matter fairly investigated.—Southern Advocate.

Dr. Marshall W. Taylor enjoys the distinction of being the first colored man ever placed in the editorial chair of an important M. E. paper. The Southwestern has lost nothing by coming under his keen eye and strong pen. But we cannot see why the Southwestern objects to anything else from Zion and Bethel (we infer that he means African Methodists) but figures or silence. Would not our worthy contemporary accept congratulations? Really we recognize the great service done the colored people of America by the Methodist Episcopal Church as being highly commendable, when considered alone and when considered in comparison, we are greatest accomplished by religious organizations chiefly composed of white persons. If the M. E. Church has the courage to follow up the line begun in the election of a colored man to the editorial chair, we to accept the field in Africa as that in Europe and Asia, as a part of the general work, making no more missionary Bishops for Africa, than forcing an unmethodistic episcopal policy upon Africa, her future service to negro may be much greater than that of the past.

But, as to results of work among the negroes, mentioned by the Southwestern, while we must give much credit to the white race, we submit, as the law yers say, that it would scarcely be fair to classify school property purchased by the M. E. Church for the purpose of educating colored persons as results of colored members of the M. E. Church. As well include the Wesleyan College, Brew Seminary and every other Methodist school in which one or more colored persons have studied. If we are specifically instructed on this point, colored trustees are not nearly so numerous in those schools as white trustees; nor colored teachers as white teachers, nor colored owners as white owners of property. First, the object, what principle can those fifteen schools, as property, be called colored? If this be true why may not all the property of the connection be classified in the same manner? Second, the M. E. Church has done for the negro? The showing would be all the better and the principle quite as sound. We are always pleased to note the grand movements of the M. E. Church in all its departments and in every where, but we do not quite see the matter relative to the negro-financial status of the Church just as the Southwestern would have it see.

THIS WEEK the educational convention takes place in Boston, "the great educational meeting," as our good Secretary pleases to name it. It is unfortunate to no name it before it is held, as we shall not be able to get it away, so named all our departments, but it is none the less a misfortune. A swell of words concerning a meeting, to amount to any good, must come during the session or afterwards. No one can so name it before hand without risking too much. For any one to attend that meeting, who must in any sense depend upon its finances for his own transportation, would detract from its greatness. To not be able to do the practical for education, at least to the amount of a thousand dollars in cash and good arrangements for several thousand more, would reflect upon the judgment that named it. But we trust it will be a highly worthy meeting. Seeing with what tardiness our educational boards meet, some not meeting at all, and with what tardiness, indifference and negligence our endowment money finds its way to the proper treasuries, we have no reason to be jubilant in anticipation of the great educational meeting. Really, if there could be such results as are mentioned above, it were better that there were a postponement till some future time. No less than one thousand dollars ought to be collected from our own connection at that meeting to render it commendable to the public or respectful to ourselves. Mush meeting and little financial accumulation is doing its work for us. In our general finances it is being felt.

REV. OGDENON is succeeding nicely on the Swedsboro and Yorktown Circuit. We spent Sunday with him. His people are immense shouters and in their shouting not sufficiently careful about what they are singing. We observed the same thing in Swedsboro and Yorktown. It is needless to dodge this subject; there is a vast difference between sense and nonsense. If we would succeed in leading our people to higher standing and better walks we must encourage sense and discourage nonsense. The Yorktown people are thrifty, pleasant and courteous, and have more A. M. E. hymn books to the square yard than any other church we have observed recently. Sieg those hymns, brethren. There's no doubt about where "Father Spencer" is, there is no good done by singing "I don't know how he's gone," and you would sadly bear a few more copies of the CHRISTIAN RECORDER, however. We trust they will realize this and subscribe.

THE STATE OF OHIO will hereafter have its annual elections in November. Then it will no longer be an indicator, though it has failed to be say just estimate before, notably so last year. The old "Buckeye" has gone strongly republican this year. It was fortunate for republicans that the joint debate between Messrs. Sherman and Campbell took place. In the debate Judge Forakers said, "Judge Hoadly says, 'thus and so.' I mean Governor Hoadly. I am only Judge; next year I'll be governor." However Judge Foraker replied that there were in olden times prophets and prophets; Isaiah was a prophet who prospered what was to be; Jeremiah lamented what was, and he very much feared Judge Hoadly would prove a Jeremiah, but he did not.

THE A. M. E. REVIEW has more than made good the promise of its editor, by increasing in size and appearance as expected much from it and the demands of the most refined subscriber; but there should be among all parties responsible for its success a redoubling of interest manifested in the beginning of its incipiency. One year of prompt, satisfactory service suggests to every reader the imperative duty of renewing subscriptions. The chances are rare for getting up clubs, the literature generally for $1.50. We are sure from what we have heard the editor say, that he is expecting prompt and numerous renewals as well as many new subscriptions this fall. Indeed, he must have them in order to the continuation and improvement of the Review.

THE CHINESE GOVERNMENT has named a commission to investigate the Rock Springs, Wyoming, butchery. The commission consists of Mr. Tsong Sie Chew, Chinese Consul to New York; Col. Fred Bee, Chinese Consul at San Francisco and Mr. Lang Pey, interpreter to the Chinese Legation. It is worth something to have a government at one's back. Had the American colored people a governmental relation with a strong and sympathetic power, Ogilvie outrages would diminish in number and magnitude. China may make the inability of the United States to protect innocent laborers from American bodies Brutalica. Brutal we certainly enjoys the honor of being the first colored contributor to the Encyclopedia, he having already written for the work Ira Aldridge, Paul Cuffee, Forten, Purvis and Remond, and many more expected acters to the Encyclopedia nearly a year ago. It is now in course of publication at the Philadelphia edition.

—When about to leave Broad Street depot, Philadelphia, for Washington, Dec. 15th, we observed the Honorable Frederick Douglass passing through the depot and he was the center of a crowd as day it was our good pleasure to meet, at a passing glance, Rev. Dr. Boyd and J. P. Campbell. Mr. Douglass had delivered a lecture in Media the night before. Hon. Richard T. Greener was returning from Western conferences. Both were looking remarkably well.

Literature.

The November number of the Century is to have three short stories—"A Cloud on the Mountain," by Mary Hallock Foote, with a full-page illustration; "The Mystery of Sevenoaks," by the author of "Miss Van Kortland," by Helen Jackson (H. H.), and "The Story of Seven Devils," by Joel Chandler Harris. Mrs. Foote's new novel, "John Bodewin's Testimony," in the first chapters of which the scene is laid in the golden shores of Oregon, is to be published in book form in the early spring. Now it seems strange to me that at this important juncture in the affairs of churches, with the wonderful future that stretches out before the universal sanctification tool by which we shall be so mysteriously seized with the missionary spirit, that we have been about entering the historic vates of long-neglected Africa, whither some of our African Methodist brethren have already gone with African Methodism emblazoned on their banners, and that another wave of the golden shores of God-remembered Ophir will be swept by the same soul-fired spirit. As proof of these assertions they hold up before us the failure of the Freedman's Bank, and the consequent disappointment of thousands and under the management of a few men, and the Church Extension failure. Not this by no means is true. That bank was established for the benefit of only submanaged by men of our race. A colored president had not been appointed until it was about to die. I imagine I see the financial doctor standing by feeling the pulse and the case. The bank at Washington was the parent of all the others wherever located. It was the fountain—the others but the streams that flow from which it was legitimate for them to exist after the parent bank failed as it is for a stream to flow after the fountain from which it rises is dried up.

Then the shipyard, which was no doubt, the most important of any business undertaking of colored men in the State, and, I presume, second to none in the United States, the impossibility of which was proved by the failure of the white race. When African Methodism shall have established a missionary colony of brothers Africa and reared up Christian temples to the name of our God, no longer will be assumed that the race is doomed. Bishop Wesley could have been called to the Heavenly Canaan before the price was changed them. This seemed to be a premium for demand to surrender the business. Who could succeed under such discouragements?

Our non-capacity is strongly argued as the prime cause of our limited progress. This idea is endorsed not only by men of meager attainments, but it is the sum of the conclusion of many of the most cultured of the land. But those rich in culture are not those capacitated to do a one thing and the demonstration of such a capacity is another. Many are cultured indeed but they cannot swim and at the same time keep it away from the water. It would be unjust to tie the mouth of a dog and then say he cannot bark. So it is with the negro has not the capacity of genius when all the resources are blocked against him that would allow him to demonstrate his capacity and exercise his genius. What has been done, we permitted to do we have done well. Follow us from the Revolutionary War to the National Secession and you will find the black man a factor worthy of the commendation of his nation.

All along the line of progress in this country the black man has been a conspicuous factor. Then, to a considerable degree, proved his manhood in the sciences in medicine, in the law, in science, in mechanism and the various industries of our land. Let us be given a welcome to these pursuits we would be miles beyond our present station.

Let us be called to the front and be called to see him, as he was perplexed about his old cabin home, Richmond burned, and, while talking, he stood between Diogenes and the sun, and he said to Diogenes, "Get out." "Just get out of my sunlight," said he. So it is with us, we are in the sunlight of progress; who stand between us and progress? "Stand out of our sunlight!" and we will go forward in the progress and measure our talents with the proudest of the proudest.

This black skin is not the man; it is only the habiliment in order to fit us for our order and in its emotions connection are all the functions of manhood. Then, as to the ability to perform the duties of their office, they have been developed to a high standing.

The ethnological and anthropological world is prompted to rob us of this dignified being, but they ingloriously fail. Oh, where may we find it? It would be an extravagant thought to say that the white race agency outside of ourselves to bring in the capacity for more of our race pledged for borrowed money. Pledged for borrowed money. Pledged for borrowed money.

NOTICE.

A NEW DEPARTURE IN THE RECORDER SALES BUSINESS.

On and after September 1st, all agencies for RECORDER sales will be made anew and on a different plan, individual below. Present agents must settle in full up to the last issue in August, which will be on the 27th. Our new rules will be as follows: 1st. On application an agent will be sent with a printed written contract binding each to sell and return one-half of the sales money to us monthly and to make a full settlement of all claims at the end of every three months. 2nd. All papers unsold to be carefully preserved and reported with each settlement and held subject to our orders. They must be assorted, bound and returned to us when required. 3rd. Such agents will be allowed one-third of cash annual subscription they obtain for the paper at $1.50 per year. They retain the price of cents and sending us a net one dollar. Or, they can take subscription on our installment plan, collecting 50 cents in advance every two months, and sending us 20 cents.

These rules will be strictly applied to all except regular itinerant ministers. We are compelled to do this for the protection of the Department against perverse loss. We have about two hundred and sixty thousand copies annually. Two-fifths, or one hundred and four thousand copies are sent out to agents. On this number we lose from $1,200 to $1,500 year. Relieving that all our brethren will favor our new plan which promises avoidance of this great loss, we have resolved on the above rules. Please send them, note well and prepare to settle at once.

NOTE.—These new agreements will be furnished in blank to all who wish to become or continue agents after September 1st.

Ice as thick as ordinary window glass formed in Mays Landing, N. J., last week.

Maine has 10,000,000 hens, and her egg crop is said to be as valuable as her apple crop.

"A parlor maid who knows her place and loves the Lord" has been advertised for 10 an English paper.

A display of peanuts grown by Suffolk county farmers is one of the attractions of the Suffolk (L. I.) fair.

Though numerous causes may operate to turn the hair gray, all that is needed to restore the natural color is Hall's Vegetable Sicilian Hair Renewer. For more than twenty years its sales have been enormous, but we have yet to learn of first failure.

A number of Buffalo physicians are forming a "protective and collective agency," by which they will be relieved themselves from the depredations of frauds.

A Byfield (Mass.) farmer bought a large quantity of campaign torches last fall, and has stuck them in a hill by the door, keeping them lighted at night to kill the frost.

Sick Headache.—Thousands who have suffered insensibly with sick headache say that Hood's Sarsaparilla has completely cured them. One grateful man thus relieved writes: "Hood's Sarsaparilla is worth its weight in gold." Sold by all druggists. 100 doses $1.

A temperature of over 100 in the shade was reported last week and for several days the thermometer ranged from 90 to 100 in the shade. The prospect for corn is very good, and the potato crop will be above the average. Small amounts of rust are reported in some localities, but the general condition is satisfactory.

NEW BOOKS

that will be on sale by the Manager in September and throughout the ensuing year:

"Fifty Years and Beyond; or, Old Age and How to Enjoy It." A book of incalculable value, as well as interest to all who have passed the meridian of life. 400 pages, cloth, $1.00, same in gilt edges, $1.50.

"Studies in Genesis; or, Bible Views of the Creation in its Relation to Modern Science," by the Rev. T. G. Steward, D.D., and containing an important chapter on "Christian Evidence," by Bishop Campbell. This is an intensely interesting book, especially to preachers, old or young. It will contain about 250 pages, 12mo. on clear beautiful paper, and sold at the low rate of $1.00. The work is now in press under our own imprint. Orders, $1.00, mailing 10cts. extra.

"Bible Heroes; or, Stories from the Old Testament for Little Folks." Judging by my own children, no parent who would have his children imbued with the heroic spirit of Bible characters, could buy a better book. Our children devoured it at once. Price only 50 cents; by mail, 55 cents; registered, 60 cents.

"A Voice from the Orient." This is a small volume of select sermons by Rev. M. M. Mangasarian, a native Greek, and pastor of the Spring Garden Street Presbyterian Church, Philadelphia. This is an exceedingly interesting book for reading in leisure hours. Price, $1.00.

Rev. J. R. Webb has published an excellent Quarterly Book for church stewards and trustees, with blanks for everything relating to their records and business meetings. It is well bound and well arranged. We have seen nothing like it in the line of a book. The book is arranged for four years. It will be sent by mail to the above named place, November 24th, at 2 o'clock, and receive candidates for admission in First, Second, Third and Fourth Years' classes. Presiding elders will please see that persons who expect to bring candidates for admission should notify the pastor of Quinn Chapel, Rev. W. J. Jordan. The members of the classes will please notify Bishop Payne that he says that he will not ordain any one who has not read Wakefield's Systematic Theology. If you have not read it you had better send on your orders to Rev. J. O. Embry and get the book at once. Notwithstanding you have read Watson and Raymond, you must read Wakefield. I like Wakefield better than any I have read.

Secretary N. C. Annual Conference.

To the Ministers and Members of the A. M. E. Church:

The Annual Conference increased the obligations of our office and reduced our incomes. Consequently we are in quick need of money to carry on the work of the Church. I appeal to the ministers to see to it that the money they have in hand, and if they have none on hand, raise a collection of Dollar Money and send me immediately that I may meet the demands of our publishing house, and supply the wants of those who are dependent on it for their support. Do not "take leave but you can."

I am yours for God and this race.

OFFER.

To the Ministers and Members of the A. M. E. Church:

We will refer to every minister who will send me his Dollar Money by the 15th of August a gold medal of Bishop Payne. Also will be the first to send in the money I for we need it to pay the Bishop and General Officers of the Church and to help the Metropolitan Church.

We have increased the largest amount of money by the 15th of August, 1885, 1 have to thank Bishop Turner's Book." or Dr. Tanner's "Outlines."

Send in the money soon! Send it to Xenia, Ohio.

4th. Do the best you can to help me. We have the most beautiful city in the land dollars this year. Who will be the first to start the ball—the Dollar Ball? Send on the dollars.

5th. Let every minister make one collection for me during the year. Try it once in your life.

6th. Let there be a present to every church in the connection that will raise the Dollar Money. Let it be said: We will have a roll of honor and usefulness, and the pastors who will raise one dollar for or from each of his members will be put down on that roll and published in the Bishop's Book.

The Bishops and General Officers must help.

The Metropolitan Church in Washington must be completed, by order of the General Conference. It is under way now. It will be the grandest church in the connection when completed.

Send on the $25 Cents and we will enroll your name in a special book kept for that purpose and will send you the paper for sixty days; then send us 50 cents, and two months after 50 cents, and two months later 50 cents more. Total, $1.75.

All our Pastors

are Agents for the RECORDER, and are hereby authorized to present this proposition to their people and receive their enrollment fee (25 cents), and give their receipt for the same. [Note.—We will send a few blank slips of receipts to all who will act for us in this matter.]

On this Plan

we give full six months for paying the subscription.

"Pastor's Memorandum Book," by Rev. C. T. Shaffer. Price, 45 cents, no discount. An excellent book.

GOOD NEWS TO LADIES.
THE GREAT AMERICAN TEA COMPANY
Fox's Book of Martyrs

A Sensation

of relief is sure to follow the use of Ayer's Sarsaparilla, and thousands thankfully acknowledge its good effects. Charles C. Smith, Craftsbury, Vt., says: "I have been troubled, for a long time, with a humor, which appeared on my face in ugly pimples and blotches. Ayer's Sarsaparilla cured me. I consider it the best blood purifier in the world."

Judge of the feelings of Mrs. T. P. Cushing, of Suffolk st., Chelsea, who, after being so afflicted with Salt Rheum that her fingers would crack open, and bleed and itch terribly, was cured by four bottles of Ayer's Sarsaparilla. Mrs. E. G. Evans, 78 Carver st., Boston, Mass., suffered severely from rheumatism and debility. Ayer's Sarsaparilla proved a specific in her case. Francis Wilson, Editor of the "Normal Advocate," Lafayette, Ind., writes: "For years I have been subject to chronic attacks of neuralgia, especially at the commencement of spring. I have derived great benefit from Ayer's Sarsaparilla." It has restored thousands. Walter Barry, 7 Hollis st., Boston, Mass., after vainly trying a number of medicines, for the cure of blindness, was persuaded to try Ayer's Sarsaparilla. He writes: "Your valuable medicine not only relieved me, but I believe it has worked a perfect cure, although my complaint was apparently chronic." Mrs. Bailey, Allentown, Mass., has long been a sufferer from headache and rheumatism. No person has been his improvement since using change; indeed, a miracle, in a few weeks the sores began to heal; he gained strength, and could run around the house. We persevered with the Sarsaparilla, yet having little hope of his recovery. Yesday he ran run as far as any other boy of his age. The sores on his arm, shoulder, and back, have nearly healed, he enjoys better sleep and appetite, and he is the picture of health." Equally positive facts concerning the use of Ayer's Sarsaparilla, may be adduced by other members of Mr. Ring's family, who finds it a friend. But he is still more fortunate who discovers that he may realize the poisons of scrofula from his system by the use of Ayer's Sarsaparilla. Scrofula is one of the most terrible of all diseases. It is in the blood, corrupting and contaminating every tissue and fluid in the whole body. Patrick

Lynch

Wholesale Grocer, Lowell, Mass., says: "Ayer's Sarsaparilla is the best." The following, from H. L. Ring, Richmond, Va., is corroborative: "I have used Ayer's Sarsaparilla in the case of Mrs. Ring, and am satisfied that it has cured her of a severe case of scrofula, especially at the commencement of spring. I have derived great benefit from Ayer's Sarsaparilla." It has

Ayer's Sarsaparilla

Sarsaparilla that he has every reason to believe it will effect a permanent cure.

Manager's Notes.

We have on hand

the Revised Version of the Bible, just issued from the press. Two styles, $1 and $2 per copy. We want to sell them now. Please order them. Beautiful paper, clear type and most interesting reading. You never saw so clearly the meaning of many things as you will find in this newold Book!

Wakefield's Theology, the standard theological text book, adopted by the Bishops for the course of study. $2.50 by mail at your risk; $2.85 by express. Please order them. They are here and must be sold.

Thos we have an excellent book—"Fifty Years and Beyond,"—a charming thing for older people and for those who intend to be old. It sends up—not down—the shining pathway of years with a harp and song. $2.00, postpaid. Must be sold. We have many more, but can't speak of them now.

What we must say

now, is that we are opening a regular campaign for the CHRISTIAN RECORDER. We want two thousand new subscribers, and all the old ones to renew. Now, appreciating the dullness of the times, we have resolved to put the paper within the reach of all, adopting the installment plan.

Installment

costs a little more, but is easier because it gives more time. Hence, we make the following offer to all who desire to have the RECORDER:

In Court

Who ever needs help is indeed fortunate who finds a friend. But he is still more fortunate who discovers that he may realize the poisons of scrofula from his system by the use of Ayer's Sarsaparilla. Scrofula is one of the most terrible of all diseases. It is in the blood, corrupting and contaminating every tissue and fluid in the whole body. Patrick

PHILADELPHIA, OCTOBER 29, 1886

NOTICE.

All questions and business pertaining to advertisements seen in the RECORDER, and requesting correspondence in the RECORDER, should be addressed to Rev. J. C. EMBRY, Business Manager's not to the editor. There is in fact only the business of this establishment requiring notice to be taken, but one, viz., the turning of considerable funds into the treasury at once that will otherwise go to the annual conference sessions. As we have tried to show in previous papers, the longer we defer observing the mandate of the law, the farther we shall have departed from the possibility and probability of so doing. If the brethren of conferences that will hold sessions soon would send, say thirty per cent. of funds already collected or to be collected soon, to the Secretary it would enable him to SPAN UP ONCE MORE.

WE ARE pleased to note that the opening at Wilberforce this fall is encouraging, the number of students enrolled being greater than at the same time last year. We hear nothing concerning Allen this fall and but little of Paul Quinn. We see it stated in an exchange that Rev. B. F. Watson and a brother minister are leaving Wilberforce for Monrovia, Liberia, Africa. We had understood that Brown University was in Florida. We know nothing of such an institution in Kansas. Will Brother Watson enlighten us? From Morris Brown we hear nothing. Does it open? If may be late and costly learning, but it will come, that we shall learn what Bishop Payne and others have reiterated often: that when a people cannot or will not support one school it is difficult to show ground upon which their fact can be reversed by establishing four or five schools. When will we learn by experience! The A. M. E. Church, though composed of many members, is evidently a poor church with comparatively little experience in extensive business transactions outside of those of a purely ecclesiastic character. The masses of our members require education in business before they can be made to support so many institutions of learning as we are undertaking. Besides, is it not plain that in our wake lie more than one set of ruins, marking the failure of a paper institution, a paper-talk institution or a semi-paper institution of learning?

WE REPRINT the excellent article of Rev. F. J. Grimke in the October Review. The paper is of especial interest just now, when men are questioning the education of the races from every standpoint and in every possible way. We would have added number 5, to Brother Grimke's series of included schools, those that have had a majority of their students white, but yet have for thirty years or more been the mold of adding with one class of alumnate, it will become the rule with the other class, so far as possible. The end is clear to all. We cannot afford to rush to such an end. There is but one way to do it, but one, viz., the turning of considerable funds into the treasury at once that will otherwise go to the annual conference sessions. As we have tried to show in previous papers, the longer we defer observing the mandate of the law, the farther we shall have departed from the possibility and probability of so doing. If the brethren of conferences that will hold sessions soon would send, say thirty per cent. of funds already collected or to be collected soon, to the Secretary it would enable him to SPAN UP ONCE MORE.

ANNIE CUTLER'S case necessarily and justly occupies much attention from those nearest the place of the tragedy, and the court which placed her in the criminal dock, and declared that she must she should be hanged by the neck until dead. Annie Cutler she a man with whom, it is said, she had maintained questionable relations for over two years; she marrying him largely. She learned that he was attached to another woman. For his faithlessness she deliberately shot and killed him. She pleaded guilty to the charge of murder in the first degree; there was but one thing for the court to do, viz., pronounce sentence. She being a woman the case appeals to our sentiment, but the crime was awful and the punishment should be severe. This does not necessitate hanging; for there are not a few people who would prefer a short work to a long period in solitary confinement.

There is no question that men and women who, for over so serious a slight or act of injustice, will madly take the life of a fellow-man are dangerous to society and should be prevented from general association, at least till they are educated to control their passions that be the remainder of their lives. For such characters we regard the Brockaway Reform Institution, Elmira, New York, as the very best place. There are probably thousands of men and women at large whose crimes had not the half to mitigate their atrocious character as has this. Money and other powerful influences protected them. They did not plead guilty, Annie Cutler did. This fact makes a wide difference. They allowed the prosecution to do its best at making a case; Annie Cutler threw her life into the prosecution's hands. In the face of all the facts in the case there can be little reason why Annie Cutler's sentence might not be commuted to several years' imprisonment.

WE STATED last week that not all the seeming decline in our finances could be justly laid at the door of the Financial Secretary. But to our own legislation we must charge a very considerable quantity. We cannot fail to see also that carrying off nearly all, probably quite, five-sixths of our Dollar Money to annual conference sessions, is responsible for some of the shortcoming. It is a violation of the spirit of the law, yet is in the general practice, and the lawful way the exception. The Secretary should know about what he is to have from a conference before its meeting. This not only is surer and safer, but it enables him to perform his official duties with more certainty. The Church should not be satisfied, if the Secretary is, with conference committees and Bishops performing the work that the Church pays them to do. Receipts or orders headed him as vouchers should be the exception, not the rule. This is no more a question bearing upon honesty than upon equity. Besides, if this is to become the rule of settling with one class of alumnate, it will become the rule with the other class, so far as possible. The end is clear to all. We cannot afford to rush to such an end. There is but one way to do it, but one, viz., the turning of considerable funds into the treasury at once that will otherwise go to the annual conference sessions. As we have tried to show in previous papers, the longer we defer observing the mandate of the law, the farther we shall have departed from the possibility and probability of so doing. If the brethren of conferences that will hold sessions soon would send, say thirty per cent. of funds already collected or to be collected soon, to the Secretary it would enable him to SPAN UP ONCE MORE.

WE ARE pleased to note that the opening at Wilberforce this fall is encouraging, the number of students enrolled being greater than at the same time last year. We hear nothing concerning Allen this fall and but little of Paul Quinn. We see it stated in an exchange that Rev. B. F. Watson and a brother minister are leaving Wilberforce for Monrovia, Liberia, Africa. We had understood that Brown University was in Florida. We know nothing of such an institution in Kansas. Will Brother Watson enlighten us? From Morris Brown we hear nothing. Does it open? It may be late and costly learning, but it will come, that we shall learn what Bishop Payne and others have reiterated often: that when a people cannot or will not support one school it is difficult to show ground upon which their fact can be reversed by establishing four or five schools. When will we learn by experience! The A. M. E. Church, though composed of many members, is evidently a poor church with comparatively little experience in extensive business transactions outside of those of a purely ecclesiastic character. The masses of our members require education in business before they can be made to support so many institutions of learning as we are undertaking. Besides, is it not plain that in our wake lie more than one set of ruins, marking the failure of a paper institution, a paper-talk institution or a semi-paper institution of learning?

WE REPRINT the excellent article of Rev. F. J. Grimke in the October Review. The paper is of especial interest just now, when men are questioning the education of the races from every standpoint and in every possible way. We would have added number 5, to Brother Grimke's series of included schools, those that have had a majority of their students white, but yet have for thirty years or more been the mold of adding with one class of alumnate, it will become the rule with the other class, so far as possible. The end is clear to all. We cannot afford to rush to such an end. There is but one way to do it, but one, viz., the turning of considerable funds into the treasury at once that will otherwise go to the annual conference sessions. As we have tried to show in previous papers, the longer we defer observing the mandate of the law, the farther we shall have departed from the possibility and probability of so doing. If the brethren of conferences that will hold sessions soon would send, say thirty per cent. of funds already collected or to be collected soon, to the Secretary it would enable him to SPAN UP ONCE MORE.

PROGRESSIVE PREACHERS.

This is a class of men very often mentioned in our Church, and doubtless in others. first what constitutes a progressive preacher! Our answer must consider the preacher in connection with the Bible idea and with the morality mixed world. The Bible idea of the ministry requires firm Christian principles, wisdom, gravity, soberness, in the form of the great work he is called to perform, and devotion, joyfulness and praise toward God that he is pleased to own the work. fa not the man in the ministry called progressive too often and which he does "something" and is not a burden to the people in complaints against immorality, yet knowingly violates the principles of the gospel at nearly every step!

The minister who is posted in political issues and political ways is called progressive; the minister who is acquainted with the mysteries of popular societies and joins "the boys" at stated seasons in having a good time is called progressive. But is this the true progressive minister really! ft is true he is progressing in some sense, but as a minister of Jesus Christ is he more effective!! Is the kingdom of our Lord advanced by these facts! That is the question. If not, we have not yet found the progressive minister, the minister "up to the times." Yet it is fair to say that in our times there is a large class of ministers answering to this description called progressive.

THE TENNESSEE CONFERENCE sits at Pulaski this week. Our Publishing House will be represented there by our efficient agent, Rev. W. R. Wilson, D. D. It was our pleasure to visit this conference some years ago, when Revs. O. fl. Sheffer, George L. Jackson and H. Harper were members. Revs. Jordan Early, Nathan Mitchem and Franklin were among the more settled and best known members.

THERE IS a considerable disturbance among the Presbyterians in Pennsylvania concerning heretics. There is an evident inclination to treat this class of men with leniency in accordance with the growing liberality of the age. It is probably best, since heresy is the vanguard of religious reform. When rightly treated it is of much less danger than when unduly honored with smatheuse.

THE TRUSTEES of the $250,000 fend provided for General Grant by subscriptions of wealthy friends two or three years ago met last week and adjusted their affairs, arranging the benefits of the funds on the death of Mrs. Grant to go to General Grant's children.

WE STATED last week that three Secretaries in the Church might, by certain provisions by General Conference, be dispensed with. We mean general officers, and not secretaries exclusively.

THERE will be a grand rally at Little Bethel A. M. E. Church, Twelfth street, Camden, N. J., on Sunday, 31st inst., when Mr. Smith hopes to raise $75.00. All are lovited to attend.

WE FEEL GLAD that Monday has got around to the Hub ones more. See our Boston Monday Letter.

FROM THE CENTRE TO THE SEA.

BY REV. N. L. BEAL.

At the last session of the Missouri Annual Conference Bishop Brown transferred me to the California Conference. My wife and I took the train at St. Louis, October 3rd, at 8 P. M., bound for San Francisco. A host of friends accompanied us down to the Union depot. While seated in the cars and greeting the times in pleasantries with our fellow members, with whom we had labored at St. Louis for two years, we heard the slow, steady tramping of feet with an accompanying tingling of chains. Looking out of the windows we saw a painful sight—five soldiers shackled and chained, under the guard of a colonel, subaltern and three privates, who filed into the smoking car ahead us. Interrogating a car official later on we learned that the prisoners were deserters from the army in the far West, who had gone East, but were recaptured and were being taken to join their respective companies! Bell and whistle told us the hour of departure had come, and with many hurried adieus to the dear ones, we fixed ourselves for the night's ride. Sabbath morning, at 8:35, we reached Kansas City, the cosmopolis of the Western railways. At 9 o'clock P. M., assisted Rev. Oakes to administer the Lord's Supper to the West Kansas City to a large congregation, and at night tried to break the "Bread of Life" to this dear people, who kindly gave something tangible after the communion service got through.

Monday morning at 10:45 we took the Atchison, Topeka & Santa Fe road for Colorado. After a ride of ten minutes we crossed the line from Missouri into Kansas, great Sam Wood's the martyr of liberty, John Brown. We passed the thriving town of Lawrence and at 12 o'clock took dinner, for twenty minutes, at Topeka, the capital of the State. Leaving the capital city, we commenced our ride proper on the Atchison, Topeka & Santa Fe road. Several small towns, viz., Emporia, Florence, Newton, Hutchinson, Dodge City and Kinsley, were passed by, but at Kinsley we left the railroad for a short stop. Kinsley is a beautiful little town. The streets are wide and regular, and the houses are neat and substantial. They are built of brick and stone. The State Penitentiary, a beautiful fabric, is built here. West of Kinsley the land looks despairing. We must be restrained for the public weal, we would wish the building of cities and towns a solitary place American desert. Here, for miles, nothing but barren plains, with here and there plats of stunted herbage indigenous to the soil. In looking over the sandy plains at great distances are seen a few dwellings, and of cases with straw, and near whose edges the Mormon families cultivate small patches with the proceeds from what we could see of the crops, a poor living is gained. Our recollection went back to our school days and the studies of Africa's great desert, and we wondered how it was possible for Dr. Livingstone, Mongo Park, Stanley and other noted explorers to have gone such so much for the advancement of science. About one hundred miles east of Salt Lake City is the little city of Pueblo, one portion of our party taking a southerly course and we took a northerly course. At 11:30 A. M. we reached South Pueblo and at 15 35 changed lines, taking the Denver & Rio Grande road for Gunnison, Salt Lake City and the West. Pueblo is a very pretty city, and is the seat of the State of Colorado. Stunted cacties, heralds of warmer climes, lined each side of our way. We crossed the Arkansas River at Johns Hopkins University, where I was charged with being a Mormon church. Leaving this town we continued a line of travel through the verdant valley of Salt Lake. A continued line of farms greeted the eye on every side, showing what God's gift the part of the inhabitants. Seventy miles before us is Salt Lake City—the city of the Sacred Woman, one of America's triple evils, slavery, the first, being dead. Next the hydra-headed beast, polygamy, is commencing to get sick through the determination of the FACTS.

AMONG THE CHURCHES.

In consequence of the rally at Union A. M. E. Church, on Sunday, November 7th, the regular communion services will be held on next Sunday.

"The Hundred" will be present for discourses by Rev. H. L. Phillips on next Sunday evening at 6 P. M. at the Church Street P. E. Church.

So far as reported, the amount cleared by Allen Chapel from the Selika concert is $302 33.

A missionary meeting will be held at Bethel Church next Sunday.

A large number were present at the dedication of Zion Wesley Church at 15th and Lombard streets on Sunday, October 18th inst. This is indeed a magnificent edifice and must prove a very acceptable house of worship for the members of that congregation.

Rev. H. T. Tanner will deliver a lecture, subject, "Bishop Allen's place in History," at Bethel Church on Thursday evening, November 5th. The lecture promises to be one full of interest and instruction.

Hon. Wm. Still will preside at the young people's meeting at Bethel Presbyterian Church on next Wednesday evening.

A committee has been appointed by the colored Presbyterian Church to make arrangements for the celebration of the 25th anniversary of Richard Allen, which will occur on the 14 h of February. This event will, likewise, be the 25th anniversary of the Sabbath school of this church. Exercises for the occasion promise to be especially interesting.

Mrs. N. F. Mossell will deliver an address next Sunday at "Bethel Church of the South," before the Bishop Payne Church Historical Society. Invitation of Union Church on Tuesday evening, November 10th. A cordial invitation has been extended to all.

A lecture will be delivered at Union A. M. E. Church by Rev. T. G. Steward, on Thursday evening, November 4th. Subject, "Are Evolutionary Nazarenity Biblical?" This lecture is intended as a reply to Dr. Talmage. The admission fee has been placed at 10 cents.

A grand chocolatier feast will be given by the Ladies' Aid Society of Wesley Church, Lombard street, Monday, November 1st, Tuesday evening, November 9th and 5th. Addresses will be delivered by Rev. J. F. Thompson and J. B. Reere. Music will be furnished by the Bainbridge St. Church choir.

The saving fund department of Allen Church is now open, and the Ladies' Society has just opened their books for the depositing of any amount from 25 cents upwards. This department is a long felt want.

NOTES.

On the occasion of the anniversary concert of Bethel Church, Rev. J. P. A., which occurred on last Thursday evening, Rev. Dr. Lee, of Baltimore, was a large gathering present to participate in the celebration of the event. The programme was an interesting one. Addresses were delivered by several of the Church Fathers. Eloquent remarks were properly appreciated by the audience. Encouraging words were spoken. Blemville's hose company, No. 1, a city of 1,000 inhabitants, with 560 miles of sewers, 140 miles of streams, and property estimated at $113,000,00. Three hundred imports of New Orleans are light, no other American city sees New York so great an annual export. Her magnificent harbor is crowded with shipping, and in 1883 more than two million bales of cotton passed her gates for home and foreign markets.—The Spectator.

ner of the speaker, some are excusing themselves, some are accusing others, some are enjoying a mutual repast; and many are giving free rein to their fancies, as if they heard not, and preparing to go away from the house of God where they have offered the sacrifice of fools" as unconverted as they entered the holy place.

But, as God speaks to man by the still small voice of his Spirit, all this is changed. It matters not where the sinner is found, his conscience is like it is alone with God. The voice speaks within him, and he cannot escape the message to another; there is no place for criticism, for the Almighty is speaking! There is no pretext that he can plead his soul in undisturbed lethargy when God utters his voice; there is no fancy so alluring that it will not vanish before the Spirit's touch. The will which sin throws over eternity is rent; the mists which shut God out of view are dissolved; the scales of his eyes are hushed; the soul's ear is opened and the eternal world, once shattered, unperverted, unchallenged.

There is no escape, then, from the conviction that the sinner is lost! If the man is reading the Bible every word falls upon him with an intensity of force that he cannot escape. If he is hearing the sentence comes home to the heart; every warning, every illustration, every appeal to the conscience has for a specialty of application which he never knew before. The Bible is a new book, and which he never before knew, engrosses his mind. The questions of eternity are needed, the sentences of Holy Writ blaze out upon the memory, the solemnities of redemption come up in long array, the spectres of unforgiven sins gather in the soul's chambers of imagery, and the powers of the world to come are felt, seen, heard! Whether the sinner in his hell become vivid realities to his mind, earth and its scenes remove and leave a void and solitude in the soul, or the quiet presence of Jehovah

A NEW PATTERN OF THE RECORDER SALES BUSINESS.

On and after September 1st, all agencies for RECORDER will be made anew and on a different plan, indicated below. Present agents must settle in full up to the last issue in August which will be on the 27th. Our new rules will be as follows: 1st. On applying an agent he or she must sign a written contract binding each to sell and return one-half of the sales money to us monthly and to make a full settlement of all claims at the end of every three months. 2nd. All papers should to be carefully preserved and reported with each settlement and held subject to our orders. They must be counted, bound and returned to us when required. 3rd. Sesh agents will be allowed one-third of each annual subscription they obtain for this paper at $1.50 per year, they retaining fifty cents and sending us a set one dollar. Or, they can take subscriptions on our installment plan, collecting 30 cents in advance every two months, and sending us 20 cents.

These rules will be strictly enforced in all except regular itinerant ministers. We are compelled to do this for the protection of the department against severe loss. We issue about two hundred and sixty thousand copies annually. Two-fifths or one hundred and two hundred thousand copies are sent out to agents. On this number we lose from $1,200 to $1,500 yearly. Believing that all our brethren will favor any plan which promises avoidance of this great loss, we have resolved on the above rules. Please read them, note well and prepare to settle at once.

Note.—These new agreements will be furnished in blank to all who wish to become or continue agents after September 1st.

NOTICE.

The North Carolina A. M. E. Conference, A. M. E. Church, will meet at Company Shops, November 25th, 1885, for the stock of beauty, by order of the Bishop. Committees and candidates are requested to be at the above named place, November 24th, at 2 o'clock, and examine candidates for admission in First, Second, Third and Fourth Years' classes. Presiding elders and pastors who expect to bring candidates for admission should notify the pastor at Company Shops, Rev. W. J. Jordan. The members of the above-named Theological Board hope to see you there.

Secretary N. C. Annual Conference.

To the Ministers and Members of the A. M. E. Church:

The Third General Conference increased the obligations of our office and reduced the income. Consequently we have no longer the ability to carry on the work of the Church. I appeal to the ministers to send me the money they have in hand, and if they have none on hand, raise a collection of Dollar Money Collection. I am positive that I may meet the demands of our office. Please send to supply the wants of those who are dependent on it for their bread and meat. "In the sweat you can."

I am yours for God and the race,

B. F. LEE,

Financial Secretary.

Let Money Orders be made on Xenia, Ohio, Wilberforce, Ohio.

OFFER.

To the Ministers and Members of the A. M. E. Church:

Dear Brethren:—I will give to every minister who will send me his Dollar Money by the 15th of August a gold medal of the Bishops and Clergy. Who will by the first to send in the money? for we are out of the Bishops and General Officers of the Church and to help the Metropolitan Church.

The Church needs the largest amount of money by the 15th of Aug. 1885. I will give him "Bishop Turner's Bishops Payne and Asbury. Who will be the first to send in the money? for then we send it to pay the Bishops and General Officers of the Church and to help the Metropolitan Church.

2d. The pastor sending the largest amount of money by the 15th of Aug., 1885, I will give him "Bishop Turner's Bishops Payne and Asbury. Who will be the first to send in the money? for then we send it to pay the Bishops and General Officers of the Church and to help the Metropolitan Church.

3d. Send in the money soon! Send to Xenia, Ohio.

4th. Send what you can to help me.

5th. We must have seventy-five thousand dollars on hand. Who will be the first to start the ball—the Dollar Ball? Send on this dollar.

6th. Let every minister raise one dollar for each member this year. Try it one and all.

7th. I will give a present to every church in the land that will raise fifty cents one dollar for each member. We will have a roll of honor and usefulness, and the pastors name will be put on the roll of honor or from each of his members will be put on the roll of honor and published in the Budget of 1886.

Bishops, Clergy and General Officers must be ballots.

The Metropolitan Church in Washington city is to be opened, by order of the General Conference. It is under the care of the bishops as the grandest church in the connection when completed.

Don't wait for the conference but send the money to B. W. Arnett, Xenia, Ohio, at once. Act quickly. If it is small, send it anyway. Small amounts help in work.

I am yours,

B. W. ARNETT,

Wilberforce, Ohio.

Ayer's Cherry Pectoral

The danger of enfeebling a sudden cold, which may develop bronchitis, Pneumonia, Diphtheria, or some other dangerous disease of the throat and lungs, has demonstrated, again and again, the importance of promptly checking it by always keeping on hand a bottle of Ayer's Cherry Pectoral.

Will Cure Bronchitis

Sarah A. Shaw, Forest Grove, Oregon, writes: "A lung fever ago I had severe bronchitis. As several of my brothers and sisters had died after being similarly afflicted, I became alarmed, and consulted the use of Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. One bottle cured me. The trouble has not returned, and I believe that the Cherry Pectoral saved my life."

J. A. Shorter, Jacksonville, N. C., writes: "I have used Ayer's Cherry Pectoral a long time in my family, and have yet to know its failure to cure bronchial troubles or Coughs of any kind. Jas. Walden, Byhalia, Miss., writes: "I was cured by the use of Ayer's Cherry Pectoral."

And Asthma.

Mrs. Mary A. E. Johnson, Barstown, Pa., writes: "I am now 60 years old. I had good health, until afflicted with Asthma, a few years ago. This was accompanied by a severe Cough. I suffered for over a year, until I took Ayer's Cherry Pectoral, which relieved and cured me. I believe it a God-send."

Manager's Notes.

We have on hand

the Revised Version of the Bible, just issued from the press. Two styles, $1 and $2 per copy. We want to sell them now. Please order them. Beautiful paper, clear type and most interesting reading. Do not ever saw so clearly the meaning of many things as you will find in this new old Book.

Wakefield's Theology, the standard theological text book, adopted by the Bishops for the course of study. $2.50 by mail at your risk; $2.25 by express. Please order them. They are here and must be sold.

Then we have an excellent book—"Fifty Years and Beyond,"—a charming thing for older people and for those who intend to be old. It sends up—not down—the shining pathway of years with a harp and song. $2.00, postpaid. Must be sold. We have many more, but can't speak of them now.

What we must say

now, is that we are opening a regular campaign for the CHRISTIAN RECORDER. We want two thousand new subscribers, and all the old ones to renew. Now, appreciating the dullness of the times, we have resolved to put the paper within the reach of all, adopting the installment plan.

Installment

costs a little more, but is easier because it gives more time. Hence, we make the following offer to all who desire to have the RECORDER:

Send us 25 Cents and we will enroll your name in a special book kept for that purpose and will send you the paper for sixty days; then send us 50 cents, and two months after 50 cents, and two months later 50 cents more. Total, $1.75.

All our Pastors

are Agents for the RECORDER, and are hereby authorized to present this proposition to their people and receive their enrollment fee (25 cents), and give their receipt for the same. [Note.—We will send a few blank slips of receipts to all who will act for us in this matter.]

On this Plan

we give full six months for paying the subscription.

"Pastor's Memorandum Book," by Rev. C. T. Shaffer. Price, 45 cents, no discount. An excellent book.

HAND IN HAND.

The boats go sailing, sailing
Over a silver sea;
The wind but hushed in willing
Through bush and tree.
Land is land, be it far together,
Through the sunny sea windy weather.

The birds have hushed their chorus;
Stark, through the twilight,
With soon be glimmering o'er us—
The moon's argent lore.
Hand in hand, let us hold together,
Through the dark and the starlit weather.

With dewy drops of healing
The lilstray grass is pearled;
A Sabbath calm is reeling
About the world.
Hand in hand, let us fare together,
Through weal-day and woe-day, and Sabbath weather.

The little flowers are sleeping;
The sun is out of sight.
God bee's us in His keeping
All through the night!
Hand in hand, let us fare together,
Still onward through the changing weather.

THE COLORED PEOPLE—OUR PROBLEM; OR, BRICKS WITHOUT STRAW.

A SERMON BY REV. B. H. CARROLL, D.D., OF WACO, TEXAS, PREACHED SUNDAY, SEPTEMBER 20TH, '85.

"Come on, let us deal wisely with them."—Ex. 1, 10.

INTRODUCTION AND STATEMENT.

To all statesmen and to all philanthropists, we commend the first four verses chapter first of Exodus, as a model of Genesis as supply the context. They exhibit a state of affairs, a focus of wisdom and unwisdom. One Pharaoh kindly receives suffering strangers, and by their labor lifts himself and all his land. Another Pharaoh arises, who "dealt unkindly with the strangers and evil entreated them." By cursing them he curses himself and all his land. As all Scripture is profitable for instruction let us consider which gave concern to the latter Pharaoh, and he called it, The history of it is short and simple: "Now there arose up a new king over Egypt, which knew not Joseph, and he said unto his people: Behold, the people of the children of Israel are more and mightier than we. Come on, let us deal wisely with them, lest they multiply, and it come to pass that, when there falleth out any war, they join also unto our enemies, and fight against us, and so get them up out of the land. Therefore they did set over them taskmasters to afflict them with their burdens. And they built for Pharaoh treasure cities, Pithom and Raamses. And they made them serve with rigor. And they were grieved because of the children of Israel. And the Egyptians made the children of Israel to serve with rigor. And they made their lives bitter with hard bondage in mortar and in brick, and in all manner of service in the field. All their service wherein they made them serve was with rigor. . . . And Pharaoh charged all his people, saying, every son that is born ye shall cast into the river, and every daughter ye shall save alive. . . . And the children of Israel sighed by reason of the bondage, and they cried, and their cry came up unto God. . . . And God heard their groaning, and God remembered his covenant with Abraham, with Isaac, and with Jacob, and God looked upon the children of Israel, and God had respect unto them. But Pharaoh said, who is the Lord that I should obey his voice? I know not the Lord, neither will I let Israel go. Wherefore they did set over them taskmasters to afflict them with their burdens. And they built for Pharaoh treasure cities, Pithom and Raamses. And they were grieved because of the children of Israel. And the Egyptians made the children of Israel to serve with rigor. And they made their lives bitter with hard bondage in mortar and in brick, and in all manner of service in the field. All their service wherein they made them serve was with rigor. . . . NOTICE.

I.—THE GREAT PROBLEM OF EGYPT,

All questions and business pertaining to advertisements sent in the RECORDER, and requesting correspondence to the RECORDER, should be addressed to Rev. J. C. Embry, Business Manager, not to the editor. There is no part of the business of the establishment requiring money to be sent to the editor or communications for the RECORDER, to the Manager. All orders for change, big address of the paper, securing Sunday school or Church supplies, must be sent to the Manager, not the editor. Please remember, nothing but articles for publication, or letters pertaining thereto, should be addressed to the editor, and they to him exclusively.

WOMEN AS PASTORS.

Many women feel called to the work of the Christian ministry. Ought the promptings which we have no right in question chiefly be considered by our clerics? Certainly not; yet may we weigh well the distinction between preaching and pastorating. In reference to the truth as it is in Christ Jesus, why not a woman as well as a man? Upon what ground make a distinction? Not on that of experience, not on that of physical constitution, not on that of Scripture practice. Then upon what? We cannot say "not upon calling," for concerning this very delicate, highly interesting and exceedingly important subject woman must be her own judge, as well as man in his own case. But there are arguments against women as pastors. Their peculiar inheritance and training do not adapt them to the office as it must be conducted in these times. While they are as good as men and as well informed as men, they have not the same business edcuation nor ability. Of course there are exceptions; some women may be equal to the most able men as pastors, and some men may be inferior to the weakest women as pastors; but the general facts are as stated above. Our last session of General Conference wisely objected to submitting our churches to the hands of women. The true sot a few inexperienced ones are in our ministry, but that is no reason why we should take this step of questionable propriety.

PREACHING IN FOUR MENS CLOTHES.

In last week's Christian Advocate Dr. Buckley, in an interesting detail of the incidents and experiences of a "good old rmles' ride in a baggy, states that twenty years ago he had, on a Saturday night, arrived at a small New England town, foot-sore, dusty and weary from a very long journey, happy in the thought that, there being no Methodist church in the town, he could rest on Sunday. Giving orders that he was not to be called till nine next morning, he stuffed himself up in self-contradictions and blankets for the night, but was awakened soon to see three old friends who had called—a lawyer, a sheriff and a superintendent of a large factory. They insisted upon his preaching in their chapel, pleading that their young pastor had absorbed his store of sermons and strength and the day would be blank if he did not consent. Finally he told them that the thing was utterly impossible, as he was there without change of linen, dress coat, etc. This, though the argument relied upon by him as final, only served to put him right into their hands. The Sheriff said, "You shall wear my coat;" the lawyer said, "And my vest," and the superintendent said, "I'll furnish you with a shirt." So attired in four men's clothes the present learned editor of the Advocate dealt out to the people the bread of life on Sunday. No doubt he felt somewhat uneasy. Very often men preach in other men's sermon. It is not unlikely that they feel about as bad as did Dr. Buckley; but as a rule, the people think in their case, as in his, that the dress is good enough for them.

THE MORAL PHASE OF OUR TIMES.

Reference to the vastness, the clatter, the rigidness and uncompromising prominence of the machinery of our civilization is patent and hackneyed; so is the reference to the grinding effects of monopolies, the inability to so regulate general receipts and debts as to ward off panics in finances. We even speak often of the ill morals which grow out of greed that is seldom submitted to reason and appetite that knows no law but that of capacities. But there is a connection between our movements and our morals that is both more extensive and more serious than is noticed by the masses. Of course many of those blinded at above are isolated. For instance, were it not for the rush of our common masses, saloons would not be permitted to sell luncheon, nor grocers to sell intoxicating drinks; not even tobacco would be vended at places where other strong drink or anything else was sold.

The least question of the character of an article of merchandise would tend to its exclusion from things of unquestionable quality. But we are in a hurry; we fail to observe the real underlining influences that we are thus nurturing till they may become strong and steal away our morals. Not really the subject contains more threatening features than all those that are included in the title of popular evils, features which underlie and foster these popular evils.

There is no evil more serious than that of the overwork and contest work which besets most from religious worship and religious influences. The great enterprise of railroads, telegraphs, telephones, manufactories, marine transportations, military operations, large hotels, theaters, stores, etc., good in themselves, keep the minds of God and man managers so thoroughly engrossed and their hands and heads so wearied and worn that they have little strength or spirit left for worship.

How is religion to reach the millions so busy that they seldom reach after religion? What idea of religion will best suit the world after a few more decades of this sort of activity? What will be one's idea of a religious life as it is likely to inspire? These are some of the stern questions that face us. The Christian religion is evidently designed for the human race in all cases; but it is pressing somewhat upon men bearing and following Jesus' word, searching the Scriptures, trying the spirits, sowing unto the Spirit, thinking soberly, talking chastely, self-sacrifice, crossbearing, counting all things loss for divine gain, worshiping and serving God. But this religion in pure form is not easily adjusted to the hustling life of our times. Hence, modifications of it are much more popular than the "pure religion and undefiled religion, before God the Father, and before Jesus Christ, his Son."

The modification that is increasing in popularity daily with those who have had time for study and devotion, seems to be the Romish modification, ie which a large part of the real painstaking worship is done by priests, and the satisfaction of the popular conscience is had by an approximate keeping of some great receipts and debts as to ward off panics in finances. We even speak often of the ill morals which grow out of greed that is seldom submitted to reason and appetite that knows no law but that of capacities. But there is a connection between our movements and our morals that is both more extensive and more serious than is noticed by the masses. Of course many of those blinded at above are isolated. NOTICE.

A NEW DEPARTURE IN THE RECORDER SALES BUSINESS.

On and after September 1st, all agencies for RECORDER sales will be made anew and on a different plan, indicated below. Present agents must settle in full up to the last issue in August, which will be on the 27th. Our new rules will be as follows: 1st. On appointing an agent he or she must sign a written contract binding each to send and return one-half of the sales money to us monthly and to make a full settlement of all sales at the end of every three months. 2nd. All papers must be carefully preserved and reported with each settlement and laid subject to our orders. They must be counted, bound and returned to us when required. 3rd. Such agents will be allowed one-third of each annual subscription they obtain for the paper at $1.50 per year, they retaining fifty cents and sending us a ten cent dollar. Or, they can take subscriptions on our installment plan, collecting 50 cents in advance every two months, and sending us 20 cents.

These rules will be strictly applied to all except regular itinerant ministers. We are compelled to do this for the protection of the Department against severe loss. We have about one thousand and sixty thousand copies abroadly. Two-fifths, or one hundred and four thousand copies are sent out on credit. On this number we lose from $1,200 to $1,500 year. Believing that all our brethren will favor any plan which promises avoidance of this great loss, we have resolved on the above rules. Please read them, note well and prepare to settle at once.

NOTE.—These new agreements will be furnished in blank to all who wish to become or continue agents after September 1st.

Trial proves the honesty in the best seller in medicine as well as in men and things. Ayer's Sarsaparilla is a genuine sarsaparilla, concentrated blood purifier, decidedly superior to all others.

CONSUMPTION CURED.

An old physician, retired from practice, having had placed in his hands by an East Indie missionary the formula of a simple vegetable remedy for the speedy and permanent cure of Consumption, Bronchitis, Catarrh, Asthma and all throat and lung Affections, also a positive and radical cure for Nervous Debility and all Nervous Complaints, after having used it in his own practice with wonderful success, has felt it his duty to make it known to his suffering fellows. Actuated by this motive and a desire to relieve human suffering, I will send free of charge, to all who desire it, this recipe, in German, French or English, with full directions for preparing and using. Sent by mail by addressing with stamp, naming this paper, W. A. NOYES, 149 Power Block, Rochester, N. Y.

Patent Medicine stamps in England are hereafter to bear the words: "This stamp implies no Government guarantee" so as to do away as far as possible with the notion held by ignorant people that the stamp warrants the efficacy or excellence of the contents of the bottle or package.

"Uncle James," said a city young lady who was spending a few days in the country, "is that chicken a Cochin-Brahmin?" "No," replied Uncle James, "he's a Leghorn." "Why, certainly, to be sure!" said the young lady. "How stupid of me! I can see the horns on his shanks."

An unusual incident occurred in Crescent City, California, lately. All along the line of Front street, where the bee-houses were swarming with honey bees. The doors were closed, but where a crack or opening was found the bees in world creep in and form in knots on windows and table, sometimes as large as a man's two fists.

The postmaster of a Massachusetts town found under a desk in his office the other day forty postal cards, which had become hidden from view at times during the last year or so. The cards were at once sent to their destinations, and are now awaiting more leisurely RECORDER subscriptions, no one in particular, who has just received a lot of books he ordered a year ago.

A balloon race was indulged in a week or so ago in San Francisco, and the aeronauts were so injured that they'll probably not take part in a similar contest for some time. One of the balloonists was thrown from his air-ship to the ground, breaking a leg, while his adversary was dragged through San Francisco bay and over marshes for a long distance, and injured by the experience.

NEW BOOKS

that will be on sale by the Manager in September and throughout the ensuing year:

"Fifty Years and Beyond; or, Old Age and How to Enjoy It." A book of inestimable value, as well as interest to all who have passed the meridian of life. 400 pages, cloth, $1.00, same in gilt edges, $1.50.

"Studies in Genesis; or, Bible Views of the Creation in its Relation to Modern Science," by the Rev. T. G. Stewart, D.D., and containing an important chapter on "Christian Evidences," by Bishop Campbell. This is an intensely interesting book, especially to preachers, old or young. It will contain about 250 pages, bien on clear beautiful paper, and sold at the low rate of $1.00. The work is now in press under our own imprint. Orders, $1.00, mailing 10cts. extra.

"Bible Heroes; or, Stories from the Old Testament for Little Folks." Jingling by no means childless, a parent who would have his children imbued with the heroic spirits of Bible characters, could buy a better book. Our children devoured it at once. Price only 50 cents: by mail, 55 cents registered, 65 cents.

"Bible Tales from the Orient." This is a small volume of select sermons by Rev. M. Manasseh Khan, a native Greek, and pastor of the Spring Garden Street Presbyterian Church, of Philadelphia. The is an exceedingly interesting book for reading in leisure hours. Price, $1.00.

Rev. J. E. Webb has published an excellent Record Book for church's stewards and trustees, with blanks for everything pertaining to their reports and business meetings. It is well bound and well arranged. We have seen nothing like it, for half so convenient. The book is arranged for four years. It is just the thing to aid in making correct records. For sale at our Publishing House. Price, $1.50.

"The Succession of the Redeemed and Hades," by Rev. James Hogge. A book of 224 pages, well printed on letter, well bound in cloth. Price, 50 cents. Orders for each or all of these works may be sent to us at once. Cash orders only.

BISHOP TURNER'S BOOK.

Any one wishing to purchase Methodist Follly, can write to my wife and it will be forwarded to them at once upon remitting the price. Paper bound 70cts., cloth bound, 85cts. Address, Mrs. Turner, 32 Young St., Atlanta, Ga., or the Manager, who has them, 631 Pine St., Philadelphia, Pa.

NOTE TO AGENTS SELLING THE RECORDER.

On and after the 1st of June, agents selling 10 copies or over will be charged 24 cents a copy, (two cents and a half each) for them, instead of 25.

All agents now selling and in arrears for more than one month will be stopped after June 15th, 1885. Don't fail to settle the first of each month.

Send orders for the RECORDER to-day on RECORDER sales alone. We shall sift our agents next week.

Now, dear friends and brethren, help us. We are endeavoring to do your work with your full fellowship, and we pray you to stand by your own cause.

AGENTS WANTED.

Will our pastors who are not supplying the RECORDER to their people, please do so by sending for a package to be sent weekly? If it is too much trouble to you, encourage some young man or boy to do it. The cause is good, a young lady whom you could recommend. Many of these who are now soliciting as agents are children. Let every one take hold of this, Let us bear with our weekly failings in your orders. Sell the paper for five cents and send us three cents. Address facts: That the greatest evils have often had their origin from causes which were deemed, originally, of too little importance to occasion solicitude; and that fatal results proceed from the neglect of trivial ailments. Philip G. Raymond, Duluth, Minn., writes: "Ayer's Sarsaparilla cured me of Kidney Complaint, from which I had suffered for years." The transmission of a common cold a wire is not a more positive proof of the electric current, than are pimples and boils of the contamination of the blood by impure matter. Albert H. Buzzard, 52 Rock st., Lowell, Mass., says: "For years my blood has been in a bad condition. The circulation was so feeble that I suffered greatly from numbness of the feet and legs; I was also afflicted with boils, and having taken three bottles of Ayer's Sarsaparilla my blood circulates freely, and I have no boils or numbness." Like an shock, the pains of Rheumatism dart through the body. Rheumatism is a blood disease, and seeks an alterative treatment. Charles Foster, 379 Atlantic ave., Boston, Mass., says: "Two years ago I was prostrated by Rheumatism. I tried a variety of remedies, with little benefit, until I began using Ayer's Sarsaparilla. This helped me, and at the end of the fifth bottle, I was entirely cured." Miss A. Atwood, 44 South Bennet st., Lowell, says: "I have been ill a long time, from poverty of the blood and abscesses.

Telephone

is enhanced by the fact that it can be used to order Ayer's Sarsaparilla from your druggist. Dr. John Hoffner, Morrisania, N. Y., writes: "In all diseases arising from an impure and vitiated condition of the blood, there's no relief so prompt and sure as that afforded by Ayer's Sarsaparilla." Dr. A. B. Roberson, Chapel Hill, N. C., writes: "I wish to express my appreciation of Ayer's Sarsaparilla. I have used it in my practice, in Scrofulous cases, with excellent results."

Lighting

up the face, and relieving the sufferings of thousands, Ayer's Sarsaparilla has brought happiness to the home of rich and poor alike. Mrs. Joseph Perreault, Little Canada, Harris Block, Lowell, Mass., is a widow; she says of a terrible case of scrofula: "Several months ago she was suffering from general debility, and was unable to get about or do up work. Medical attendance failed to do any good, but, by the use of a bottle of Ayer's Sarsaparilla, she has been enabled to resume her work, and is gaining strength daily. Use Ayer's Sar-

Sold by all druggists. Price $1; six bottles for $5.

Manager's Notes.

We have on hand

the Revised Version of the Bible, just issued from the press. Two styles, $1 and $2 per copy. We want to sell them now. Please order them. Beautiful paper, clear type and most convenient size.

We never saw so clearly the meaning of many things as you will find in this new old Book!

Wakefield's Theology, the standard theological text book, adopted by the Bishops for the course of study. $2.50 by mail at your risk; $2.25 by express. Please order them. They are here and must be sold.

Then we have an excellent book "Fifty Years and Beyond,"—a charming thing for older people and for those who intend to be old. It sends up—not down—the shining pathway of years with a harp and song. $2.00, postpaid. Must be sold. We have many more, but can't speak of them now.

What we must say

now, is that we are opening a regular campaign for the CHRISTIAN RECORDER. We want two thousand new subscribers, and all the old ones to renew. Now, appreciating the dullness of the times, we have resolved to put the paper within the reach of all, adopting the installment plan.

Installment

costs a little more, but is easier because it gives more time. Hence, we make the following offer to all who desire to have the RECORDER:

Send us 25 Cents and we will enroll your name in a special book kept for that purpose and will send you the paper for sixty days; then send us 50 cents, and two months later 50 cents more. Total, $1.75.

All our Pastors

are Agents for the RECORDER, and are hereby authorized to present this proposition to their people and receive their enrollment fee (25 cents), and give their receipt for the same. [NOTE.—We will send a book blank slip of receipts to all who will act for us in this matter.]

On this Plan

we give full six months for paying the subscription.

"Pastor's Memorandum Book," by Rev. C. T. Shaffer. Price, 45 cents, no discount. An excellent book.

THE INTINERANT.

With all the unpleasant and detractive features of this system of administering the Word, there are many more pleasant and enhancing facts. It proposes the easiest way to get rid of a minister who does not render satisfaction at one place, though he may be eminently successful at others. It is a grace-ful way of distributing good ministers that their loftiness may be large as well as strong, and it gives to the active Christian ministry such a variety in unity as marks the Divine handiwork everywhere and shows forth Divine wisdom everywhere. We have a good illustration in the case of Mt. Pisgah Church, West Philadelphia. We published an article this week from its pastor, showing the success of the few months of this conference year. It is doubtful whether the people of that charge, the pastor appointed, the conference at which he was appointed or even the Bishop who appointed him, really foresaw success in the appointment. There is no doubt that it seemed good to the appointing power and that the brethren of the conference hoped well for it; but to the people and the pastor it must have seemed a strange providence; for they had previously been thrown into antagonistic relations in a church trouble, but to God it was all clear. O, how far above our ways are his ways, and his thoughts our thoughts!

A minister once said to a Bishop, "Bishop ——, why did you send —— to ——?' You know he would die there." But he did not die there; he was very successful there. God is in this work. Restlessness under the changes is natural, but submission and acquiescence are profitable. "Stand the storm, it won't be long;" the end of the year may bring another change. It is safest, however, though knowing the change may come, to work as if we had to do it all our life with what we are; for who knows but that from this very work we shall be called home?

QUESTIONS ANSWERED AS PLAINLY AS ASKED.

Secretary Smith asks three questions, as follows: How can the offices of our general departments be united as to place? How could such centralization reduce the number of Secretaries (general officers)? How could this reduction diminish our general expenses by $6,000?

We are not sure that we can establish the full quantity of all these items facts; but we shall show the substantial correctness of all we have said on the subject.

If anything in connection with our status is plain it is that we most unduly in respect to mere appearances and unduly in respect to real, active and virtuous intrinsic forces. In all this we doubt not that Brother Smith will concur. The success claimed for the Sunday School Union is worthy of congratulation. We think the Sunday school department has been about as successful as other departments of our connection, certainly no more so considering its cost to the Church. We would not eliminate it if we could, nor could we if we would. But to the questions. The method by which the departments could be united as to location is somewhat as follows: The General Conference, in one of its cooler moments, could easily say, "All our general departments shall be located in the city of —— in the State of ——." The General Conference could also say, "The several departments shall, from their respective funds, arrange, by purchase or rent, a suitable building in said city within the next—— months." Of course it would not order the departments to wait till Brother Embry prepared accommodations for them. Secretary Smith's expenses this year at Bloomington would arrange permanent accommodations for him in Philadelphia or anywhere else. He would as naturally expect Brother Embry to provide a place for him in Bloomington as in Philadelphia.

Let us pass to the second question: How would this uniting enable the Church to dispense with three of its General Officers? To this question we would devote much more space than to the former. It involves our entire system of transacting business as Church; especially in respect to finances.

The Dollar Money system is excellent. It was better, barring one or two points, as it pertained six years ago than now. It seemed at first to some almost by inspiration. At least three men are accredited with its origination. Probably they were all inspired. The idea that a Christian by paying one dollar may discharge his duty to the connection and through that connection to the world and to God, so far as religion and money giving are connected in duty, is easily taken and easily performed. It is simple and practical. But we would lay aside the titles, "Dollar Money," "Dollar Law" and "Dollar System" and adopt the "General Treasury of the A. M. E. Church," and make the very best financial business man in the connection Church Treasurer; a man accustomed to handling large sums of money, highly successful, thoroughly tried and unquestionably true, who should transact business for general purposes with the departments through Bishops, conferences, local and general committees and secretaries; with individuals where they are personally recognised in General Conference appropriations, as in the case of salaries.

The General Conference should make appropriations for the salaries of all filling general positions, all the several causes now provided for in the Dollar Money and the department funds, having the distributions on the business and per sent. of gain during the preceding quadrennium. Then the money could be paid out without any reference to collection, by the respective Boards whose duty it would be so to arrange; should duty be less, and the general state of the treasury warrant it, they should be supplemented therefrom, otherwise the department in which the deficit occured would have to be the sufferer until such time as the treasury did have some able to relieve it. From necessary surplus accredited to a given department at any time the Financial Board could lose to the funds of another department. Temporary need, it could be understood that no church was required to average more than one dollar per member for all general purposes in any year. This would relieve the connection from the charge of taking as if the one dollar covered everything and then acting as if it covered almost nothing.

The officer now knows as that of General Manager, a very ambiguous title for such a position, could be known as General Book Steward, in keeping with Methodist customs, or General Financial Agent. The officer of this place could very easily publish all the matter required by the connection, including the Sunday School Union, and be much more able to do so than now, since it seems to be understood by some that the Church intends to place several thousand dollars into the hands of the Sunday School Union annually in order that it may successfully compete with the General Publishing House.

Two men can edit all the general periodicals that the connection will issue for the next eight years. The second plain question is plainly answered. Now, how will all this reduce the general expenses of the Church by $6,000? By a reduction of salaries, $4,000; office expenses, $50; printing, $100; expenses of correspondence relative to salaries, exchange, etc., $200; traveling, $600, and expenses of Annual Board meeting, $500, we get $5,500, five hundred short, but to more than compensate for this loss we shall have the saving of dollars, probably thousands, in the increased appliances and facilities for the transaction of business; the advantage given the General Officers in viewing the general field by the focus that the Church could bring to bear upon the work of the General Officers, the ease by which the General Officers' business methods could be observed and the strength that the connection would gain in the city in which the departments were located. We have no doubt that instead of $6,000 saved we should have $8,000 or $10,000, counting the gains that the change would bring us. We know this matter cannot be arranged easily. It is not likely that all the serious phases of the question have come under our review, but we regard this as a method that is not without some merit worthy of our consideration. It is a method that proposes no shock to our present system, in that it simply sends three of us into the ministry regularly, where we profess to have been placed, and subsequently would be well pleased to set in that it does no violence to our present system of finances, is no revolution in this respect; simply an acknowledgment that we have done a little more analysing than was best and are going to re-synthesize. It does not propose the disturbance of a single department, but rather to maintain them all the better by the money saved in management. Plain question third is plainly answered.

IN THE RECENT elections New York elected a democratic Governor and Virginia went democratic strong; Pennsylvania and New Jersey gave republican majorities, as did the Western States. President Cleveland voted with the democrats of New York in support of a candidate for governor not endorsed by the candid judgment of the best men of his own party, notably a non-reformer and of somewhat unsavory political record; yet the President is a reformer. In Virginia the republican candidate is a pronounced anti-negro man; he was not elected.

REV. A. H. MAYS, B.D., of Portan-Prince, puts to shame many of his more favored Wilberforce almost in sending to that institution one hundred dollars, collected in Hayti. That is another indication of what can be done in that godly land. It is to be hoped that the one, the others are in our own hands. Providence rules, and there may be exceptions. To rely upon others is death. We must be men. We are men. Throw away our hats and shoes, grasp the hand of the nurse and strike out for ourselves. Tumble to and help to get the effort to get up will strengthen our muscles. The world is our parish, and where one can do best there one can go, where one can not as afraid. Happy people whose country is free and whose God is the Lord.

Respectfully yours,
B. N. YELLAND.

HOW THE HARD TIMES AFFECT MT. PISGAH.

BY REV. T. GOULD.

MR. EDITOR:—In the last few months we have been reminded of the saying of the old Quaker, that the dog that appears the dog had disappeared, that "I will not kill thee nor hurt thee, but I will not feed thee either." So he started after the dog, rousing and frightening him. He had been trying to feed the result was the poor dog lost his life.

As soon as President Cleveland was inaugurated some one commenced to cry, "Hard times," (and I have no doubt but that it was, with many, but it was handed down the line and now every one is crying hard times. Every where, hard times in the Church, as well as in business and State.

In the Ministers' Association, a week or so ago, Dr. Tanner, in giving a report of his tour West to the conferences in the interest of the Review, said he never knew such a cry of hard times as he heard all the way West and Southwest—such poor conference reports he never heard, except presiding elders. Invariably were hard times the burden of every report. Even some of them got a good support. He was asked what was the alleged cause for such hard times. The Doctor heard of no reason and had none of his own, for he said he never saw provisions more plentiful or cheaper in his life.

We have reason to think God that the presiding elders do not control all the keys to the Master's store-house in this section of the country. They may have control over Bishops, General Officers, missionaries, universities, colleges, schools, pastors and every other interest of the Church in other sections of the country, but I assure you not doing it here. If every other enterprise of the Church work fall except the presiding elders' support, I tell you there is something wrong. The men or class of men who have the ability to get their own support, I dare venture the assertion have the ability, if exerted, to do more.

Well, what about hard times at Mt Pisgah? At the close of the last session of the Philadelphia Annual Conference it pleased Bishop Cain to appoint me to Mt. Pisgah, West Philadelphia, although my dear Bishop intended that if he had had his way about it I would have been one hundred miles away from that church. He did not have his way, but accepted and went to my work as I had done for twenty-six years and as I expect to do by the help of the Lord. I of course felt that a little timid on having to follow the eloquent and learned pastor and well-manned financier, Dr. G. T. Watkins; but I thanked God and took courage and said I can do it, and I met a cooler reception in all my ministry, but I shut my self up to God more, prepared for my inaugural sermons and met my board. After two or three weeks the subject of hard times came up. Rent had been met the trustees seemed willing to have a collection taken up, and I believed that it desires it to remain in statu quo. I have spoken for myself and for the interests over which I have charge, leaving the other secretaries to ask their own question. I am for centralization or anything else that will strengthen our common cause. Some of your practical mind may some practical plans evolve.

PROGRESS.

Dear Sir—I have read with much interest the opening of the State Fair at Jackson, Miss., and am glad to say that the budding of the tree which is to extend its branches over the world is seen there. What a change has come within twenty-five years! Astonishing! Wonderful! Here are down-trodden and well do women, slaves, now holding a State Fair, and not only competing with the lords of the masters but have their co-operation and support. Were they not God's people? had eight hundred "green-back fish." The spiritual interest of the church has grown in it slightly and is to be sought after by the pastor is not forgotten, and with this we have a good and blessed the Sunday School Union, Endeavor, Christian Help and Missionary Society and Missionary Money will not be behind.

Now, Mr. Editor, I am persuaded, if we would stop this everlasting cry or hard times or by the grace of God be assigned to our hands to Almighty God, there would be more of progress.

We take this opportunity to express our thanks to the many Christian workers who assisted in our financial effort, and also the six societies, namely, the Sisters of Charity, number 25; the Star Lodge No. 1, of the United Household of Ruth, number 25; the Daughters of Temperance, No. 1122, Grand United Order of Odd Fellows, No. 10 Lodges, No. 1 Grand Union, number 25, $10.00, making in all from the societies $60.00, and from individuals, $800.00. With the gleanings we will have more. Thanking the Sisters of God attend all those who assisted in the grand work.

Personal

—Rev. T. H. Jackson is speaking out in meeting this week.

—Dr. Steward may well feel proud of his choir. It is worth hearing.

—Prof. Scarborough is publishing his "Life of Bishop W. P. Dickerson."

—President J. C. Price has been very kindly and complimentarily received in California.

—Rev. G. M. Witten reports the Fourth Street Church paid and reducing their indebtedness slowly.

—Rev. J. S. Thompson read in 143 churches in Philadelphia and vicinity ago instead of 140, as stated last week

—Rev. G. C. Felts, besides doing hard work as pastor, is in the senior class at the Homœopathic Medical College of Philadelphia.

—The death of General McClellan terminates a life that has passed through the severest crucial fires of public criticism.

—The latest receipts at the Church Financial Office is Daniel Payne Arnett. The financial in the connection will get in condition now.

—Dr. Tanner's lecture in Bethel Church, Philadelphia, on "Ethiopia and Ethiopia's Place in History," is very complimentarily spoken of.

—The Rev. E. Winston Taylor sent us a very kind letter a few days ago, which we failed to answer, that he has joined the M. E Church and erected a substantial church building in Aiken, South Carolina.

—We noticed in an exchange that the Rev. David Smith, one bearded sed four years old, was married recently, even is his city a few week ago. Father Smith is a case of remarkable strength with his remarkable longevity.

—Rev. and Mrs. John Dickerson, of Urbana, O., celebrated their twenty-fifth wedding anniversary November 7th. The occasion was one of a high degree of pleasure and presents handsome silver recognitions. Many more years of this happy life to you, Brother John and lady.

SOME QUESTIONS PLAINLY ASKED.

BY REV. C. C. SMITH, M. D.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE CHRISTIAN RECORDER:

In your issue of the 22d inst., in speaking of the financial condition of the Church, you make certain statements which, for the sake of order, I will number, and ask you to have you explain.

The points to which I desire to call your attention are as follows: First, that the Departments should be centralized, and that they were so centralized, that if they were so centralized, the salaries of three of the general secretaries could be dispensed with, and that the saving in rents would result in a saving of $6000 annually. Now, will you please give me your opinion as to where and how the Departments should and can be centralized?

Second. I would like to be informed as to how much the Church is now paying to rent buildings sufficiently large to be accommodated them, for their location in any one city town, unless they occupied one of the same building, would be of no benefit whatever to them in their present situation. I agree with you that the Departments should be centralized, and that they have been trying to get near to you, but Brother Embry tells me that he has a nice room at 631 Pine street. Provide the room and I will pack up and move instanter. It is very lonesome here now, and I would only be too glad to change my surroundings.

The other and more important query we refer to is, how many persons whose services could be dispensed with if the Departments were centralized. We have only four secretaries, and if any one man can do the work that they are doing now, tell where is that?

I am quite sure that the Sunday School Union can better be abolished or merged into any other of the departments without working serious injury. At the last General Conference I argued privately in favor of attaching the business of the Union to the Publication Department, inserting the Secretary free to travel at large and to oversee the departments of information and benevolence. I am also sure that the interests of the Union cannot be localized, but must remain general in order to be effective. However, if it can be shown that the affairs of the Union can be so adjusted as to do away with distinct and special supervision, by all means let it be done. According to your suggestion such a move would save $1,500 annually to the Church—an amount which would greatly assist some one of our struggling educational institutions.

For one I am willing that my position should be abolished whenever it is shown that the good of the Church will be enhanced thereby. We started without a penny, have existed for over three years, to day we owe no man a farthing, since last August have given over $1,000 worth of books to our public schools, have over 3,000 in bank, and have notified the Financial Secretary that this year we propose to paddle our own canoe, independent of the general fund. We are worth at the present time in cash, stock, office furniture, electrotype plates, &c., over $1,500, notwithstanding that in the last eighteen months we have given away to books, papers, Gems, &c., over $4,000. These are odd items worth, but cold facts, and our books, which are open to the world, will prove the truth thereof. We have assisted over five hundred needy schools in the past two years, and each week finds us helping more, and we can furnish the name and location of every school that we have aided. The photograph of each week is kept, and we can furnish the name and location of every school that we have aided. The photograph of each week is kept, and we can furnish the name and location of every school that we have aided. The photograph of each week is kept, and we can furnish the name and location of every school that we have aided.

Now, Mr. Editor, I am persuaded, if we would stop this everlasting cry or hard times or by the grace of God be assigned to our hands to Almighty God, there would be more of progress.

We take this opportunity to express our thanks to the many Christian workers who assisted in our financial effort, and also the six societies, namely, the Sisters of Charity, number 25; the Star Lodge No. 1, of the United Household of Ruth, number 25; the Daughters of Temperance, No. 1122, Grand United Order of Odd Fellows, No. 10 Lodges, No. 1 Grand Union, number 25, $10.00, making in all from the societies $60.00, and from individuals, $800.00. With the gleanings we will have more. Thanking the Sisters of God attend all those who assisted in the grand work.

THE DELUGE.

BY I. W. L. ROUNDTREE.

In the prehistoric age of every nation mixed traditions of the flood are evidently miraculous, and which could not be accounted for only by belief in an omnipotent God.

It is therefore grand and sublime to contemplate the Divine wisdom, power and mercy, as seen during the flood. If ever other enterprise of the Church work fail except the presiding elders' support, I tell you there is something wrong. The men or class of men who have the ability to get their own support, I dare venture the assertion have the ability, if exerted, to do more.

Well, what about hard times at Mt Pisgah? At the close of the last session of the Philadelphia Annual Conference it pleased Bishop Cain to appoint me to Mt. Pisgah, West Philadelphia, although my dear Bishop intended that if he had had his way about it I would have been one hundred miles away from that church. He did not have his way, but accepted and went to my work as I had done for twenty-six years and as I expect to do by the help of the Lord. I of course felt that a little timid on having to follow the eloquent and learned pastor and well-manned financier, Dr. G. T. Watkins; but I thanked God and took courage and said I can do it, and I met a cooler reception in all my ministry, but I shut my self up to God more, prepared for my inaugural sermons and met my board. After two or three weeks the subject of hard times came up. Rent had been met the trustees seemed willing to have a collection taken up, and I believed that it desires it to remain in statu quo. I have spoken for myself and for the interests over which I have charge, leaving the other secretaries to ask their own question. I am for centralization or anything else that will strengthen our common cause. Some of your practical mind may some practical plans evolve.

PROGRESS.

Dear Sir—I have read with much interest the opening of the State Fair at Jackson, Miss., and am glad to say that the budding of the tree which is to extend its branches over the world is seen there. What a change has come within twenty-five years! Astonishing! Wonderful! Here are down-trodden and well do men, slaves, now holding a State Fair, and not only competing with the lords of the masters but have their co-operation and support. Were they not God's people? had eight hundred "green-back fish." The spiritual interest of the church has grown in it slightly and is to be sought after by the pastor is not forgotten, and with this we have a good and blessed the Sunday School Union, Endeavor, Christian Help and Missionary Society and Missionary Money will not be behind

A NEW DEPARTURE IN THE RECORDER SALES BUSINESS.

On and after September 1st, all agencies for RECORDER sales will be made anew and on a different plan, indicated below. Present agents must settle in full up to the last issue in August, which will be on the 27th. Our new rules will be as follows: 1st. On applying an agent be or she must sign a written agreement binding each to sell and return one-half of the sales money to us monthly and to make a full settlement of all claims at the end of every three months. 2nd. All papers unsold to be carefully preserved and reported with each settlement and held subject to our orders. They must be counted, bound and returned to us when required. 3rd. Such agents will be allowed one-third of each annual subscription they obtain for the paper at $1.50 per year, they retaining fifty cents and sending us a net one dollar. Or, they can take subscriptions on our installment plan, collecting 50 cents in advance every two months, and sending us 20 cents.

These rules will be strictly applied to all except regular itinerant agents. We are compelled to do this for the protection of the Department against seeing loss. We issued about two hundred and sixty thousand copies annually. Two-fifths, or one hundred and four thousand copies are sent out by agents. On this number we lose from $1,200 to $1,500 year. Believing that all our brethren will favor any plan which promises avoidance of this great loss, we have resolved on the above rules. Please read them, note well and prepare to settle at once.

NOTE.—These new agreements will be furnished in blank to all who wish to become or continue agents after September 1st.

OFFER.

To the Ministers and Members of the Baptist Church:

1st. We will give to every minister who will send me his Dollar Money by the 15th of August a handsome medal of Bishops Payne and Asbury. Who will be the first to send in the money? for we need it to pay the Bishops and Secretaries of the Church and to help the Metropolitan Church.

2d. The pastor sending the largest amount of money by the 15th of August, 1885, I will give him "Bishop Turner's Book." or Dr. Tanner's "Outlines."

3d. Send in the money soon! Send it to Xenia, Ohio.

Do the best you can to help me. 5th. We must have seventy-five thousand dollars this year. Who will be the first to start the ball—the Dollar Ball? Send on the dollars.

6th. Let every minister raise one dollar for each member this year. Try it and see what you can do.

7th. I will give a present to every church in the connection that will raise one dollar for each member. We will have a roll of honor and usefulness, and the pastors who will raise one dollar for or from each of his members will be put down on the roll and published in the Budget of 1886.

The Bishops and General Officers must help.

The Metropolitan Church in Washington, this city, is to be completed, by order of the General Conference. It is under way now. It will be the grandest church in the connection when complete ed.

Don't wait for the conference but send the money to B. W. Arnett, Xenia, Ohio, as soon as you get it; if it is small, send it anyway. Small amounts help in work.

I AM YOURS,
B. W. ARNETT,
Wilberforce, Ohio.

Manager's Notes.

We have on hand

the Revised Version of the Bible, just issued from the press. Two styles, $1 and $2 per copy. We want to sell them now. Please order them. Beautiful paper, clear type and most interesting reading. You never saw so closely the meaning of many things as you will find in this new old Book!

Wakefield's Theology, the standard theological text book, adopted by the Bishops for the course of study. $2.50 by mail at your risk; $2.25 by express. Please order them. They are here and must be sold.

Then we have an excellent book—"Fifty Years and Beyond,"—a charming thing for elder people and for those who intend to be old. It sends up—not down—the shining pathway of years with a harp and song. $2.00, postpaid. Must be sold. We have many more, but can't speak of them now.

What we must say

now, is that we are opening a regular campaign for the CHRISTIAN RECORDER. We want two thousand new subscribers, and all the old ones to renew. Now, appreciating the dullness of the times, we have resolved to put the paper within the reach of all, adopting the installment plan.

Installment

costs a little more, but is easier because it gives more time. Hence, we make the following offer to all who desire to have the RECORDER:

Send us 25 Cents and we will enroll your name in a special book kept for that purpose and will send you the paper for sixty days; then send us 50 cents, and two months after 50 cents more. Total, $1.75.

All our Pastors

are Agents for the RECORDER, and are hereby authorized to present this proposition to their people and receive their enrollment fee (25 cents), and give their receipts for the same. [Note.—We will send a few blank slips of receipts to all who will act for us in this matter.]

On this Plan

we give full six months for paying the subscription.

"Pastor's Memorandum Book," by Rev. C. T. Shaffer. Price, 45 cents, no discount. An excellent book.

AYER'S SUGAR-COATED CATHARTIC PILLS.

Ayer's Pills are entirely vegetable in their composition, act speedily and thoroughly, and impart tone and energy to the whole system. They may be given to children with entire safety. J. O. Brogdon, Columbia, S. C., writes: "I have used Ayer's Pills in my family for years. I give them to my children, in preference to any other physic, and always with the most gratifying results. They are invaluable as a home medicine." A. B. Foster, Children's Home, Westville, Conn., writes: "We have used Ayer's Pills, and think them a very safe and excellent family aperient." R. B. Jackson, Willoughby, Del., writes: "I have used Ayer's Pills for a number of years, and have never found anything equal to them for giving me an appetite or imparting energy and strength to my system. I always keep them in the house."

Most of the diseases affecting the digestive organs yield readily to the influence of Ayer's Pills. They stimulate the Stomach, Liver, and Bowels, and restore the system to healthful condition. A. H. Washington, Ditch, W. Va., writes: "Whenever I am troubled with indigestion, I take one or two doses of Ayer's Pills, and am promptly relieved. I have used these Pills for years, and have never known them to fail." Randolph Moore, Lynchburg, Va., writes: "I have never found anything equal to Ayer's Pills for keeping the Stomach, Bowels, and Liver, in good working order. I always use them when occasion requires." E. H. Knapp, Detroit, Mich., writes: "Ayer's Pills cured me of dyspepsia, from which I had suffered for years. They have done more good than any other medicine I have ever taken."

THE POSTMASTERSHIP OF PHILADELPHIA.

On the assumption that a change in the office is to be made at an early date, a strong politico, we are informed, has been made to the President for the appointment of Mr. J. G. Ditman to this important post. Now, on the principle of Civil Service Reform we think no change at all ought to be made at present in our post office. The office has certainly been conducted with signal ability; but if a change is to be made, and we believe it will be, then it is in perfect order for every citizen, and especially all who represent in any degree the business interests of the commonwealth, to express their preference for those who may be presented for the place. Accordingly the CHRISTIAN RECORDER casts a solid vote for Mr. Ditman. As a manufacturer and dealer we have dealt with him for many years. We doubt if a man could be found in the city of whom we could bring to the discharge of his duties is that office equal fitness or better qualities of head and heart. Capacity, integrity, fidelity are the Jeffersonian requisites for official station. But for those you can add generosity in would seem to us the fitness is complete. We could wish we had or could bring to bear a father's weight of influence in this matter. At any rate we earnestly hope the appointment will be made.

THE BIBLE CAUSE.

We are charged with being an imitative people in the sense that we are peculiar. This is but an additional misapprehension had of us; there are many of them. The more serious part of the fact is that too many of us believe in these misapprehensions. We take up the charge and use it upon one another. The imitativeness of the negro race has yet to show itself peculiarly prominent. We do imitate, of course. It is well that we do. In some cases we imitate so far enough for the imitation to accomplish very little indeed. Our annual conference question, "How Much for Bible Cause?" is an instance. This question is imitative of great churches having an organized movement in this direction and who give many thousands to this cause annually. It really is embarrassing to see in our minutes such small figures in reply to the questions as to lead the readers to believe that we are not interested in the subject. But this is because we have copied the question but not the organization of others. We have no, or very little, connection with the Bible society. Now, should we not amend our imitativeness and ally ourselves with the sacred cause and see that our people are well supplied with Bibles in both homes and schools? If the sense of the Bible is not accepted a place in our politics we shall soon reach a state of disregard for morals that will prove destructive to the better institutions of our country. The Bible thrown out of schools is but the second step in a series of proposed indignities upon that book. The first is the Bible out of the hearts of a few, thro out of the schools in the next generation, out of homes, civil economy and statesmanship. Of course this series will never be carried out generally, but it would be bad for incessant human efforts, guided and supported by God. The A. M. E. Church needs to take hold of this cause more earnestly and closely. We must see to it that skepticism and infidelity find no lurking places in our homes for want of our using the Bible broom.

TEMPERANCE COMMITTEES.

In every African Methodist annual conference there is a temperance committee. Its reports, as a rule, are strongly laudatory of temperance, pledging the conference to do all in its power to enhance the interests of temperance. Not unfrequently the subject of tobacco is dragged in with that of intoxicants. There are always some who cannot see any reason why it should not be so treated and some others that cannot see why it should be. It would be a reflection upon the better principles of logic to deny that the following facts favor the consideration of the two together: First, tobacco is sold in a very large majority of cases at the places at which strong drink is sold. Secondly, all ammunizing tobacco probably has intoxicants in its composition. Thirdly, the breath of men using some kinds of tobacco is very much like that of other men using some kinds of intoxicants. So much for dragging tobacco in. Ought men who are suspicioned of the use of intoxicants to be on these committees? Most certainly not. By all reason and consistency not; though they may be better men than some others who are appointed.

We once observed in a Methodist connection a minister whose suspense from the itinerancy for drunkenness had just expired when he came to a conference session, yet he was made chairman of the temperance committee by a man aware of his suspension. His wrote a good report. Was it the weaker for his having been a drinker before writing it and a drinker soon after? Yes, manifold weaker. The object of the man making the appointment seemed to be to have him commit himself. Yes, but the significance of the appointment was evil. It was putting the best robe on a prodigal son, who would soon bedraggle it in the mud.

The adoption of this committee's report should be accompanied by a memorial to the temperance organization in every conference. For the men fact that we are ministers should not deter us from signing the pledge, while this latter would enable us to enter our work with Sisyphus' stone on our backs. Is it not possible that the ruin of many an eloquent, called minister has hung upon our dereliction in this respect? But our inactivity in this respect is becoming a heinous sin. On the adoption of a conference report a temperance class meeting would probably not be a bad thing. The pledge and the class meeting would add immensely to the value of the often hastily drafted and more hastily adopted temperance report. Absolute abstinence should be demanded of applicants for the itinerancy. It would not be bad to know something of the previous record on this topic. For there are now in the Christian ministry some fearful hypocrasies regarding this temperance subject.

WE ARE PLEASED with the report of the Women's Mite Missionary Society. We regret that Mrs. Moore feels herself unable to act with the Society longer owing to poor health, but feel sure that the society will be re-energized by Mrs. Brother Stewart's article is worth much more than the year's subscription, $1.50. Cassell & Co., New York.

"Mark Twain" has written for the forthcoming December Century "The Private History of a Campaign that Failed"—an account of his own personal experiences as a youthful "reb" in the early days of the war. This "was nearly as short as other tragedy as a comedy is the sketch, which has a special value, showing the fluctuations of opinions at the breaking out of the war, and the entirely amateur character of some of the early campaigns.

One of the most notable volumes of the year will be "Representative Poems of Living Poets, Selected by the Poets Themselves." The idea of this volume suggested itself to Miss Jeannette L. Gilder, who wrote to some seventy or eighty of the best known poets asking them to name each six of their poems as they considered best: represented their work. The poets took kindly to the idea, and the result is a book that may well be called unique. We had selected from from the writings of a living and dead, made by eminent men and women of this country and Europe, as made by poets from their own works and one and revised by themselves. Could we supplies the curiosity of the general reader and excite the interest of the literary student. Mr. George Parsons Lathrop has written an introduction to the book which Cassell & Company will publish during the fall.

"Drawing in Charcoal and Crayon," by Frank Fowler. This book is a most exquisite little gem, designed to show how beautiful results may be obtained by very trivial imagination, broad conception, natural and easy blending of fact and fancy, a noble design and fair moral tone. Every reader of the race should read it. Dr. A. A. Whitman is unquestionably the author of it. The book "The Rape of Florida" is now in its second and revised edition.

COMMUNICATIONS.

An old physician, retired from practice, having had placed in his hands by an East India missionary the formula of a simple vegetable remedy for the speedy and permanent cure of Consumption, Bronchitis, Catarrh, Asthma, and all Throat and Lung Affections, also a positive and radical cure for Nervous Debility and all Nervous Complaints, after having tested its wonderful curative powers in thousands of cases, has felt it his duty to make it known to his suffering fellows. Actuated by this motive and a desire to relieve human suffering, I will send (free of charge) to all who desire it, this recipe, in German, French or English, with full directions for preparing and using. Sent by mail by addressing with stamp, naming this paper, W. A. NOYES, 149 Powers' Block, Rochester, N. Y.

Paper is made in France from hop vines, and it is claimed that the fabric is as serviceable as linen.

The water of the lower artesian well at Bronwick, Ga., is claimed to have medicinal properties, and a Savannah News says as many as twenty-five persons are often seen at one time quenching it.

A colored resident of Athens, Ga., engaged in unwarranted business, and in the chain gang there, is so well pleased with the life that he promises when released to commit an offense in order to again be sent to the gang.

Dr. Landreth Brooks said recently that headaches were usually dependent either upon the presence of decayed teeth or of some irregularity of the eyes, more especially in the focal lengths between the two. Another irregularity of the eyes that has a bearing on the case is that which is caused by compelling them to look to often strongly to the bottoms of certain styles of glasses.

An experienced gardener says that a sure sign to find out if plants in pots require watering is to rap on the side of the pot near the middle with the finger knuckle: if the sound is dull, as if the pot is the plant needs water, but if there is a dull sound there is still moisture enough to sustain the plant.

Consumption as a cause of death is steadily decreasing in Massachusetts. Dr. Abbott, of the State Health Board, reports the death rate from that disease was 36 in every 10,000 in the decade from 1857 to 1867, and 31 in 10,000 for the ten years ending with 1877. The rate is not expected to be over 29 for 16,000 in the report for 1884.

NEW BOOKS.

OFFER.

To the Ministers and Members of the A. M. E. Church:

1st. We will give to every minister who will send me his Dollar Money by the 15th of August a gold medal of Bishop Payne and Asbury. Who will be the first to send in the money? For we need it to pay the Bishops and General Officers of the Church and to help the Metropolitan Church.

2d. The pastor sending the largest amount of money by the 15th of Aug., 1885, I will give him the Bishop Turner's Book" or Dr. Tanner's "Outlines."

3d. Send in the money soon! Send it in Xmis, Ohio.

4th. Do the best you can to help me. So far we most have seventy-five thousand dollars this year. Who will be the first to start the ball—the Dollar Bell? Send on the dollars.

5th. Every minister raises an dollar for each member this year. Try it ocra in your life.

7th. I will give a present to every church in the connection that will raise the dollar for each member. We will have a roll of honor and usefulness; and the pastors who will raise one dollar for from each of his members will be put down on that roll and published in the Report of 1886.

The Bishops and General Officers must help me.

The Metropolitan Church in Washington must be completed, by order of the General Conference. It is under way now. It will be the grandest church in the connection when completed.

Don't wait for the conference but send the money now. J. W. Arnett, Xenia, Ohio, as soon as you get it; if it is not there in a day or two. Small amounts help in work.

I am yours,

B. W. ARNETT,

Wilberforce, Ohio.

Manager's Notes.

We have on hand

the Revised Version of the Bible, just issued from the press. Two styles, $1 and $2 per copy. We want to sell them now. Please order them. Beautiful paper, clear type and most interesting reading. You never saw so clearly the meaning of many things as you will find in this new old Book!

Wakefield's Theology, the standard theological text book, adopted by the Bishops for the course of study. $2.50 by mail at your risk; $2.25 by express. Please order them. They are here and must be sold.

Then we have an excellent book—"Fifty Years and Beyond,"—a charming thing for older people and for those who intend to be old. It sends up—not down—the shining pathway of years with a harp and song. $2.00, postpaid. Must be sold. We have many more, but can't speak of them now.

What we must say

now, is that we are opening a regular campaign for the CHRISTIAN RECORDER. We want two thousand new subscribers, and all the old once to renew. Now, appreciating the dullness of the times, we have resolved to put the paper within the reach of all, adopting the installment plan.

Installment

costs a little more, but is easier because it gives you time. Hence, we make the following offer to all who desire to have the RECORDER:

Send us 25 Cents and we will enroll your name in a special book kept for that purpose and will send you the paper for sixty days; then send us 50 cents, and two months after 50 cents, and two months later 50 cents more. Total, $1.75.

All our Pastors

are Agents for the RECORDER, and are hereby authorized to present this proposition to their people and receive their subscriptions and money, and give receipt for the same. Note.—We will send a few blank slips of receipts to all who will act for us in this matter.

On this Plan

we give full six months for paying the subscription.

"Pastor's Memorandum Book," by Rev. C. T. Shaffer. Price, 45 cents, no discount. An excellent book.

Everybody knows the symptoms attending coughs and colds, but the dangerous character of them although is not so well understood. When a cold settles upon the lungs, if the blood is tainted with scrofula, or the system is weak, Catarrh or Consumption is sure to follow. Ayer's Cherry Pectoral is the only remedy that may be confidently relied upon for the cure of coughs and colds. J. J. Hawson, Buckingham C. H., Va., writes: "For several weeks I suffered from a frightful cold, with cough and frequent

Spitting of Blood.

Ayer's Cherry Pectoral cured me entirely." Mrs. R. Campbell, Woodville, Ont., writes: "I was troubled, for five years, with an affection of the throat and lungs, coughing severely the whole time. I used different preparations, and was treated by several physicians, without effect. I finally tried Ayer's Cherry Pectoral, and before finishing one bottle was completely cured." Dr. W. E. Gans, Shelbyville, Ky., writes: "I have been troubled with Bronchitis, since early youth, and am now 27 years of age. I have up the Ayer's Cherry Pectoral." Dr. J. H. Quirk, Fishkill-on-the-Hudson, N. Y., writes: "I have found several my life twenty years ago. It is a favorite medicine in my family."

It Cured Me

of this troublesome complaint, when other remedies afforded no relief." Dr. P. Jerkins, Fredericktown, Md., writes: "In pulmonary cases, of an acute character, or of catarrhal origin, I find Ayer's Cherry Pectoral invaluable." Dr. F. E. Page, Sandusky, Ohio, writes: "I have used Ayer's Cherry Pectoral in my practice, and, in connection with Ayer's Pills, find it an invaluable remedy for colds, coughs, and the inflammations that follow them upon the throat and lungs. We have no other remedy that I consider so sure in its effects." C. H. Pierce, Medina, Ill., writes: "Catarrh had nearly destroyed my sense of taste and smell. Ayer's Cherry Pectoral effected a complete cure."

Ayer's Cherry Pectoral

Has effected many wonderful cures. Mrs. Mary E. Whitcomb, Hartford, Conn., writes: "Some years ago my mother had an obstinate cough, with severe pains in the chest, and several attacks of bleeding from the lungs. She was very much reduced in strength, and friends feared a consumption would carry her off. While in this condition, she was strongly recommended by Rev. Dr. Blanchard, of Lowell, Mass., to make a trial of

She did so, and by its use was restored to perfect health. Since her recovery the Pectoral has always been in our house for colds, coughs, and all similar troubles, which it has never failed to cure."

THE SOUTHWESTERN ADVOCATE is opposed from principle to the A. M. E. Church—reason, because it is a caste Church. The Southwestern is also opposed to caste as it exists in the M. E. Church colored conference and schools. We join hands with our contemporary in this opposition to unjust and unrighteous caste. But the Southwestern declares that the African Methodist Church is "a caste Church," and that the M. E. Church "is not a caste Church in principle." The following is the Southwestern's language: "The fact is we are opposed from principle to any caste church, and such the African Methodist Church is. Our opposition to caste caused us to write as we have and shall respecting its colored schools and conferences, and which is not in theory a caste Church." "But what think ye? A certain man had two sons, and he came to the first and said: Son, go work to-day in my vineyard. He answered and said, I will not; but he afterward repented and went. And he came to the second and said likewise, and he answered and said, I go, sir, and went not. Which of the twain did the will of his father?" In this modification the African M. E. Church has little, in practice less and in theory nothing to warrant this "opposition," while the M. E. Church has nothing in title but very much in practice to warrant it. The Southwestern's expression reminds us of a remark made by a Jew who was asked why he is offset as follows: "When we get the African M. E. Church straight, then we shall turn our attention to other churches whose members are colored chiefly. We observe the smokehouse is on fire, but we are working on the A. M. E. Church now." The title of the A. M. E. Church can have no greater caste repulsiveness than may be found in another denomination, and our opposition of caste principles against that other is direct declaration of caste proclivity. The Southwestern is "opposed to the African M. E. Church now." When it acts therein by opposing this less caste-offensive Church it may attend to the more caste-offensive Church. Should it allow so long a time to lapse before looking after the others as the secular paper has done, we shall be likely to think it prefers to spend itself on small evils.

IT HAS BEEN SAID that papers edited by colored men are very monotonous on the sows question. So they are, but are in this respect by no means alone. Several of the better papers edited by white men treat the subject often and widely. There is rarely a good magazine that has not undertaken it. Among the latest is the Phrenological Journal, whose efforts in the November number show poor judgment and a making out by judgement by uncommon processes. It does not require a phrenologist to see that the American negro is in no sense calculated to redeem Africa, nor a negro to see that, as a rule, no more than one man can men can long live successfully without allying themselves to the politics of the country. The language and the songs as well as the style of expression ascribed to the negro by the Journal are out general or fair representations. The article is headed "Our Colored Brethren," and before the first page is ended the word "darkies" is introduced. The miserable praise of those who held the negro in bondage and kept him under the severest pretext, as well as the sneer with which the colored man's claim to office is mentioned are evidences of very unjust conceptions of the negro by the writer.—Observer.

TOO MUCH CARE cannot be practiced in using words, especially when our speaking represents many thousands. "Oh, that my words were the pen of a ready writer," may well be inclosed with "Set a watch about my lips," "A word fitly spoken, how good it is" "The words of the wise are as apples of gold in pictures of silver." With reference to our state of finances, we cannot be too careful. It may be easy enough to speak of the church going to ruin, but it is very costly speaking, cost the kind to inspire those within to nobler work, nor those without to union, while it is all the means we need to use to prevent any other denominations from wishing to unite with us. Yet we can add to the grace by obeying the intellectual and moral phases of our Church.

THE GREAT FIRE that destroyed several millions of dollars worth of property in Galveston, Tex., is, in point of damage, to be classified with the great fires of Boston and Chicago. It is altogether likely that the suffering among the colored people was very much greater than in these cases. Wooden towns most go. The denser our population, the more steam and machinery in general take the place of muse-power and animal power, the more will the strength of disaster fall appear. "Let them that build take care how they build," for if a man build of hay or stubble, his building is very liable to fall in ashes at some time.

IN ATLANTIC CITY Elder Rex held a most festival last week. We have no idea what a mus. festival is. At that time the Rev. Dr Akman, Presbyterian minister, delivered an interesting lecture. Many of his people showed great interest in the festival. The object of all this is to build a church in Atlantic City. Elder Rex has been elected the Right Worthy Grand Chief of the Good Samaritans to the State of New Jersey. This association numbers two thousand financial and one thousand honorary members in the State, and the twentieth of the entire membership in the United States.

THERE WERE some ugly insinuations made in the session of the M. E Church Extension Society in Philadelphia a short time ago. It is probable that it all grew out of the misapprehension that there had been several thousand dollars misapprehended and that the association had done business by methods not permitted under its charter. The difficulty, we believe, was satisfactorily explained and the churches of the city gave response to any caste church, and such the African Methodist Church is. Our opposition to caste caused us to write as we have and shall respecting it to colored schools and conferences, and which is not in theory a caste Church." "But what think ye? A certain man had two sons, and he came to the first sed said: Son, go work to-day in my vineyard. He answered and said, I will not; but he afterward repented and went. And he came to the second and said likewise, and he answered and said, I go, sir, and went not. Which of the twain did the will of his father?" In this modification the African M. E. Literature

The new volume of Russell's Family Magazine, which will be the June-July number, will contain three serial stories, "A Willful Young Woman," by the author of "Who Is Silvia;" "Lyndon of High Cliff," by the author of "Who Was High," and "Harlowe's Sacrifice" by Frank Barrett, author of "The Ford."

Miss Maggie Dodgson, the eldest daughter of Charles Dickens, has written a biography of her father, which Cassell & Company will issue among the next volume in their "The World's Library." The Rev. Dr. Dirkner has condensed the story of her father's public life and has taken pains to show him as he was at home, with his family and at his work, and she has given what will undoubtedly be regarded as the most setest pen picture of the great novelist

Dr. Talmage, who the well known young American lecturer, and Rev. Arthur Cambridge, England, will print in the November number of the paper on "The Lessons of Greek Art," in which he will show the practical and possible results of educat ng the people in art. A second paper will follow, showing how the study of art should be advanced. The subject is discussed soft in a merely technical manner, but in a way to interest all classes in the community, professional and otherwise.

Dr. Talmage's sermon read "Hellen's Babies," the mem information that Mr Habberton has written another book, "What Shall We Do, Did," will lead you to decide to order the work at once. It is just what many little folks laugh and laugh and learn, as well as to help to drive away the blues. Habberton's efficiency to ill humor is that sometimes sneek into the best of us. For some years cow it has been the practice of Harper's Magazine, without stepping aside from its standard of general interest, to make the December number a special issue in the interest of the Christian cause. Each year, accordingly, the editors have endeavored to prepare at least a number which touches the high water market of the year, and each year a higher water mark seems to be a little higher than that of the year before. The year 1885, it is announced, the special Christmas feature will be the reproduction, in the best work that American engravers can do, of the great Pictures of the Nativity by the old masters and by modern painters. In the text there will be an engraving by Closson after Raphael's "Madonna di Granduca" in the new place of worship and predicted for it a glorious future. The old song sang. Bishop, who is an expert at collections, took his audience in good humor by his sallies at all and threats at Dr. Watkins. The Bishop raised $160 and Dr. Watkins $300; grand total, $600, the contract Mr. Hartley, having given $200. At 9 o'clock Rev. J. A. Hardy occupied the pulpit. Text, Deut vii, part of 21 verse, "Thou shalt not tremble at all the way which the Lord thy God led thee these forty years." He opened with a beautiful word picture of memory, which I'd read was a wonderful faculty, and God was good to give it to us. We cannot expound its philosophy, neither can we tell its dwelling place. It is room filled with all that has passed in our life; we cannot hide its depth; its power is lasting and immortal.

Thus Rev Hardy gave a brief sketch of the history of Union Bethel Church from its foundation, July 6th, 1838,—instituting especially the preamble and resolutions drawn up by Rev. John F Cook, Sr. The first pastor, Rev El ward Waters, became a bishop, the old church building, torn down in 1881, was begun in 1882, under the pastorate of Rev Wm. Moore, one of the ablest ministers in the connection, and completed by elder James Dickerson C. Wayman.

The motto of the church, "God and man assisting," found in the preamble and resolutions, was the key note to all this church that repaid remembering. The church must remember its sins. The purpose of divine mercy in our journey was next dwelt on. At the close of the sermon a collection of $45 was realized

At night every seat was filled and many bed to stand, notwithstanding the inclemency of the weather. He for a debate on the subject of the opening hymn, after which Rev. A. W. Upshaw delivered an interesting address. The choir then sang with great spirit, "O, God preserve us." Bishop Wayman then read the paper on "The Lessons of Greek Art," in which he showed the practical and possible results of educat ng the people in art. A second paper will follow, showing how the study of art should be advanced. The subject is discussed soft in a merely technical manner, but in a way to interest all classes in the community, professional and otherwise.

The Sun of 1799 William Watson lost his wife. Soon after he left North Carolina and settled in Charleston, South Carolina, as a merchant. In 1800 he young sea became of age and the property was divided, a family of seven to each child In 1820 we were transferred to Winsboro, where I resided about eighteen months, we went to Charleston to be house servant.

I will go back to childhood from my earliest recollections. I used to have strange dreams; I often became frightened in my sleep, have often prayed to be falling down in dismal darkness, going to no bottom. In North Carolina the colored Baptists preached in barns and in the woods and sometimes in houses; the Presbyterians preached in court houses and academies. I never heard of Methodists until I went to Winsboro, South Carolina. The whites preached once a month sometimes; we had to go six miles to hear them. There were some Presbyterians, but the most of them were Christians, but such were the rules that we were taught to say the Lord's Prayer and the Apostles' Creed and no more. They did not allow us to curse or swear. We had to go to church on the day as I went to the mill sitting on a mule's back, and I got going the opposite direction. He made me sit on a naughty expression, and I tried to match him in the saying. A servant girl named Ann Heliabazar's trembling took hold of me and I shook for fifty miles and I never used such words again.

Soon after this we went to Charleston, about the year 1820. Here the light of truth and freedom was being greatly discouraged and persecuted and societies were being formed to discourage slavery and favor freedom and the enlightenment of the people.

The elder of the M. E. Church, Dr. R. R. Ball, took a deep interest in the cause of righteousness. He taught his colored members to read the Bible and to servants to read the word of God, and he established Sunday schools through the city. At the time of conversion I was appointed pious young gentleman and teacher in a Sunday school. I was also preaching he would visit the schools and catechise us and exhort us to be faithful. He would look in on me and say and love, obey and keep his command-and love one another as brethren in the Lord would bless us

The Colonization Society was formed and the governoment bought a tract of land in Africa to send all the free colored people to, and I got my mother or fatherland, and when relations opened the eyes of many to the evil of slavery and they liberated their slaves they would in sent out of the country and the Colonization Society would take charge of them and send them to Liberia, where they are to take care of them for six months. The property of all people seemed to brighten up and more to be ameliorative of the condition of the slave and bring about gradual emancipation, but the storm broke us up. This was in 1822, in my fifteenth year.

A DECISION RENDERED AND SUBMIT TED FOR BISHOP TURNER'S REVIEW.

The record of Brother Thomas Bolsson's trial exhibits the subsequent issues:

1st. The name of defendant's accuser does not appear on said record.

2nd. There is no signature affixed to the bill of charges and specifications preferred against defendant.

3rd. The record fails to show that the charges covered the functions of his office or defendant's guilt was determined.

4th. Constitutional evidence, corroborated by statements of reliable official men was not introduced at all or any man to preside during the progress of defendant's trial, owing to his personal

DOLLAR MONEY!! DOLLAR MONEY!!

The Church has had its Missionary Day, Children's Day and Endowment Day, and the people responded nobly. They are all out of the way now and we think that the Debt will be paid to day. We appeal to the ministers and members to make a special effort to raise Dollar Money on this day. The increasing demands of the Church require more money. Let us all do our part of ministers and laymen Unless we have the money we cannot increase it. We cannot pay when we have no money, nor can the Bishops and General Officers meet their obligations when we are behind with them.

Now, brethren, those whose consciences have not met this year, go to work immediately and raise your Dollar collection; increase it; do not complain of hard times and the presiding elder will not trouble you. The people attend to them the work that the Church is doing, and also those who are not a member for his dollar, his fifty cents or his twenty-five cents, and if you cannot get the whole dollar, get it from the members of your congregation. I believe in the expansive plan. It is the matter of, but give it your immediate attention. The claimants on the Church feel and look to us, and I have look to you and you to the people for assistance. Let us do our best and collect the money forward it to the Bishop. Wilberforce, Ohio. Do you have always answered the appeals; do not fail me now.

Allow me a conference to meet soon, increase your collection over last year and report to your conference. If you find it does not meet soon, forward the money to me so that I can relieve those who look to me for assistance. Observe the following special effort in each district, and each of the conferences of our whole connection, and receive the hearty co-operation of your presiding elder, and regular form by Bishop Turner and the Business Manager, who have been appointed a committee for that purpose.

Secondly, We call on all who are in debt to the Concern for books or papers to settle at once, to the end that the Concern may live. Our Manager is putting forth efforts not only to keep the Concern afloat, but to pay its heavy some debts. We will make no allowance for failure on the part of ministers to pay up their quarterly dues.

We endorse the Manager's plan for having a book committee appointed in each conference, who shall be jointly responsible with the conference stewards for all books, and to have charge of all unsettled accounts of the Concern. Full information as to the plan and duties of said committee will be communicated to the conference by the Manager, together with the blank forms for orders and report.

Finally, we call on all to rally to the support of the CHRISTIAN RECORDER, our sole Church organ. We should have at least one hundred thousand subscribers during the current year.

The Manager has adopted a plan of paying by installment, which puts the paper within the reach of even the poorest of our people. Renew your subscription, pay up your dues for sales and encourage all others to do the same. In so doing God will bless you, dear brethren, and our publishing interest will be greatly enlarged.

All of which is subscribed by your Chief Patron,

A CARD.

PRESIDENT'S OFFICE,
WILBERFORCE, O., Oct. 30, 1885.

Kind Friend and Helper: Some months ago we furnished you a small subscription book, properly authenticated and sealed, and requested you, in the interest of promoting the work of Wilberforce University by soliciting funds for the same. The time has come when we must meet our pecuniary obligations, and we therefore call upon you to help us. You will you not be kind enough to forward the money you have collected, by return mail, to the undersigned? Should it desire to use it longer we will return it to you. We remain, with much Honor to the RECORDER, and your name and address be mentioned.

Should you have collected any, we expect your answer within a week.

Yours truly,
S. T. MITCHELL,
Pres't Wilberforce University.

THE FIRST GREAT ANNIVERSARY OF THE LITERARY SOCIETY OF THE A. M. E. CHURCH.

In accordance with provision of Discipline, page 340, Article 3, the General Board of Education, at its session on October 21st, 1885, fixed the 4th Sunday in the time for holding the anniversary of the literary societies which have been or may be formed to be auxiliary to the connection, to be the first Monday night in October, 1886.

This order was also agreed upon in the Council of Bishops, which convened at Columbus, Ohio, in June last, and unanimously by Bishop H. M. Turner, D.D.,LL.D., President of the Connectional Literary and Educational Association, and Richard Disney, D.D., Secretary of the same.

It is designed in order to meet the growing responsibilities of our colored people, that the literary societies of the connection may be addressed at their annual meetings, and friends to do all in their power to make the occasion a success. Bishop Turner has also requested me to be able to organize a literary society in every church, and to please observe it to the best of their ability by inviting some distinguished person to deliver an address, lecture, etc., upon some appropriate subject. Money may be raised by a small admission fee, taking a collection, appointing a day, and donations. On the next day, or within one week, at most, the pastor or other responsible officer, will please forward the money collected to the Secretary of Education, box 263, Atbons, Ga., such moneys as may be collected from time to time every case, the name of the society and the date of the meeting will be reported and Secretary, to be published in our annual report.

PROGRAMME FOR THE EVENING.

Music; Prayer; Introductory Address by the Pastor or President; Essay, subject, "The Literary Society and Its Mission"; Music; Oration, subject, "The Life and Work of Richard Allen"; Music; Debate, subject, "Has the Love of Truth done more to Promote Education than the Love of Fame?" Music; Benediction.

Respectfully,
J. P. CAMPBELL,
President of the Board.
WM. D. JOHNSON,
Secretary of Education.

NOTICE.

To the ministers of the Missouri Conference—Dear Brethren: The minutes are ready for the press. If you want them printed please respond to the postal card I have sent you. Brother P. M. NOTICE.

To the Ministers and Members of the A. M. E. Church, Greeting:

DEAR BRETHREN—During our Annual Council, recently held in Columbus, Ohio, all the heads of the departments in our Church work were present. A full and agreeable work of the affectual period and better support of our Book Concern, which we earnestly endorse and commend to you for your co-operation to the end that it may be successfully carried out.

We were proposed to hold a grand Bazaar in one of our central Southern cities and in Philadelphia, the first to be held in Atlanta, Ga., in May, 1886, and in Philadelphia in May. This gives us ample time to secure the co-operation of the whole Church. Details for organizing this special effort in each district, and each of the conferences of our whole connection, will be communicated in regular form by Bishop Turner and the Business Manager, who have been appointed a committee for that purpose.

Secondly, We call on all who are in debt to the Concern for books or papers to settle at once, to the end that the Concern may live. Our Manager is putting forth efforts not only to keep the Concern afloat, but to pay its heavy some debts. We will make no allowance for failure on the part of ministers to pay up their quarterly dues.

We endorse the Manager's plan for having a book committee appointed in each conference, who shall be jointly responsible with the conference stewards for all books, and to have charge of all unsettled accounts of the Concern. Full information as to the plan and duties of said committee will be communicated to the conference by the Manager, together with the blank forms for orders and report.

Finally, we call on all to rally to the support of the CHRISTIAN RECORDER, our sole Church organ. We should have at least one hundred thousand subscribers during the current year.

The Manager has adopted a plan of paying by installment, which puts the paper within the reach of even the poorest of our people. Renew your subscription, pay up your dues for sales and encourage all others to do the same. In so doing God will bless you, dear brethren, and our publishing interest will be greatly enlarged.

All of which is subscribed by your Chief Patron,

D. A. PAYNE,
A. W. WAYMAN,
JOHN M. BROWN,
H. M. TURNER,
B. H. GAIN,
B. B. DIBERT.

The Georgia Conference will meet on Wednesday, January 20th, 1886, instead of January 13th, as heretofore published.

A NEW DEPARTURE IN THE RECORDER SALES BUSINESS.

On and after September 1st, all requests for RECORDER sales will be made sooner and on a different plan, indicated below. Present agents must settle in full up to the last issue in August, which will be on the 27th. Our new rules will be as follows: 1st. On applointing an agent he or she must sign a written contract binding each to sell and return one-half of the cash money to us monthly and to make a full settlement of all claims at the end of every three months. 2nd. All papers must all be carefully preserved and reported with each settlement and held subject to our orders. They must be counted, bound and returned to us when required. 3rd. Book agents will be allowed one-third of each annual subscription they obtain for the paper at $1.50 per year, they retaining fifty cents each and sending us a net sum of $1.00. Or, they can take subscriptions on our installment plan, collecting 30 cents in advance every two months, and sending us 20 cents.

These rules will be strictly applied to all except regular itinerant ministers. We are compelled to do this for the protection of the Department against severe loss. We have about two hundred and fifty thousand copies annually. Two-fifths, or one hundred and four thousand copies are sent out to agents. Each member we lose from the 15,000 to $1,500 per year. Believing that all our brethren will favor any plan which promises a avoidance of this great loss, we have resolved on the above rules. Please read them, note well and prepare to settle at once.

NOTE.—These new agreements will be furnished in blank to all who wish to become or continue agents after September 1st.

OFFER.

To the Ministers and Members of the A. M. E. Church:

1st. We will give to every minister who will send me his Dollar Money by the 15th of August as a thank offering of Bishops Payne and Ashbury. Who will be the first to send in the money? Let us stand it to pay the Bishops and General Officers of the Church and to help the Metropolitan Church.

2d. The pastor sending the largest amount of money by the 15th of August, 1885, I will give him "Bishop Tweed's Book," or Dr. Tanner's "Outlines," or any other book, especially to preachers, old or young. It will contain about 300 pages, 12mo. in clear beautiful paper, and sold at the low rate of $1.00. The work is now in press under our own imprint. Order, $1.00, mailing 10cts. extra.

3d. "Bible Heroes; or, Stories from the Old Testament for Little Folks." Judging by my own children, no parent who would have his children imbued with the heroic spirit of Bible characters should be without this book. Our children devoured it at once. Price only 50 cents; by mail, 55 cents; registered, 65 cents.

4th. "Voice from the Orient." This is a small volume of select sermons by Rev. M. M. Mangasarian, a native Greek, and pastor of the Spalding Garden Street Presbyterian Church, of Philadelphia. This is an exceedingly interesting book for reading in leisure hours. Price, $1.00.

5th. J. E. Webb has published an excellent Record Book for church stewards and trustees, which is a very desirable thing pertaining to their reports and business meetings. It is well bound and well arranged. We have sean nothing like it, nor half so convenient. The book is arranged for four years. It is just the thing to aid in making collections. Price, $1.00. For sale by Publishing House. Price, $1.50.

6th. "Resurrection of the Redeemed, and Hades," by Rev. James Boggs. A book of 214 pages of well written matter, well bound at cloth. Price, 50 cents.

Orders for each or all of these works may be sent to us at once. Cash orders only.

NOTE TO AGENTS SELLING THE RECORDER.

Ayer's Cherry Pectoral

The danger of catching a sudden cold, which may develop Bronchitis, Pneumonia, Diphtheritis, or some other dangerous disease of the throat and lungs, has demonstrated, again and again, the importance of providing for just such emergencies by always keeping on hand a bottle of Ayer's Cherry Pectoral.

Will Cure Bronchitis

Sarah A. Stone, Forest Grove, Oregon, writes: "A long time ago I had severe Bronchitis. As several of my brothers and sisters had died after being similarly afflicted, I became alarmed, and commenced the use of Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. One bottle cured me. The trouble has never returned, and I believe that the Cherry Pectoral saved my life."

And Asthma.

Mrs. Mary A. E. Johnson, Hornstown, Pa., writes: "I am now 60 years old. I had good health, until afflicted with Asthma, a few years ago. This was accompanied by a severe Cough. I suffered for over a year, until I took Ayer's Cherry Pectoral, which relieved and cured me. I believe it a God-send."

Manager's Notes.

We have on hand

the Revised Version of the Bible, just issued from the press. Two styles, $1 and $2 per copy. We want to sell them now. Please order them. Beautiful paper, clear type and most interesting reading. You never saw so clearly the meaning of many things as you will find in this new old Book!

"Fifty Years and Beyond,"—a charming thing for older people add for them who intend to be old. It reads up—down—the shining pathway of years with a harp and song. $2.00, postpaid. Must be sold. We have many more, but can't speak of them now.

What we must say

now, is that we are opening a regular campaign for the CHRISTIAN RECORDER. We want two thousand new subscribers, and all the old ones to renew. Now, appreciating the dullness of the times, we have resolved to put the paper within the reach of all, adopting the installment plan.

EDITORIAL CORRESPONDENCE.

"WE BOARDED THE TRAIN."

It is seldom that the editor of the RECORDER is permitted to participate with his contributors in this "boarding" business. It is usually a case of the short and pleasant trip of seven hours and twenty minutes from Broad Street Station, Philadelphia, to Richmond, Va. Others have told our readers over and over how the old and hateful obstructions and restrictions have been removed from against citizens blessed with the coloring that eludes the editor of the RECORDER, and how we may read the New York Tribune all through the South on the same type of purity with which we may chew "Blackwell's Durham Plug." So, also, have others informed our readers of the interminglings of decolateness and thrift everywhere evident in the Virginia civilization; of the sun still waged between the conservative F. F. V.'s and the vigorous, enterprising, modernizing W.'s, and of the transitions through which Virginia is now passing in her relations to the new. All American readers know that the traveler landing at the Richmond depot meets many more black people than white, and that in all his walks in that grand old city he will find his way well sprinkled with the graver colors. In Richmond the population of seventy-five thousand is very nearly equally divided between the two races. From an out-of-door standpoint one would infer that the colored population was in the majority. The colored men are not so exclusively found on carriages, in hotels, barber shops, etc., etc., as in some of our Northern cities, but are engaged in nearly every trade and mercantile operation that enters into the busy life of the Virginia city. First-class smiths, carpenters, manufacturers, grocers, undertakers, druggists, book store keepers, real estate agents, post office clerks (notwithstanding the reformation), lawyers and physicians are found among them. The business sir which marks their movements, as well as the resultant success, go very far to settle the claims of the unfortunate race to a place of consideration in the heart of the most favored race. These men, together with thousands in all the States, are working the race's solution with great success, though sometimes with fear and trembling. Among them everywhere the fear does not relate nearly so much to the antagonism of white men as to the indifference and inappreciativeness of colored men. In the book store of Messrs. Hill & Co., white men and white women deal easily and delightfully as in better building and larger than that in which the white Baptists worship, the membership being about three thousand. They are about to place a handsome pipe organ in their ostracious auditorium at an expense of $3,000. To illustrate the great influence of the Baptist doctrines in the city, it is said that no more than one-sixth of the persons converted in the Methodist churches are found to accept baptism by any other method but that of immersion. In our presence a little boy five years old, of Methodist parents, and who had been recently baptized by sprinkling, said to his pastor, "When I get big, I'll be baptized down in the water; then I'll go to heaven when I die." There is considerable liberality shown toward African Methodism by the more progressive of the Baptist people of the city. Ebenezer Church, probably the finest in the city, has been freely and gratuitously tendered to the A. M. E. Church for the purpose of the grand Sciska Concert on the 10th inst.

To those whose houses for many generations have not been homes, the joys and immunities that real homes only yield are not so likely to be realized as with those who for many generations have inherited the rich legacy of domestic life and power. Those whose progenitors for many generations were obliged to disregard the sanctity and highest duties of conjugal relations cannot in a day be brought to the full realization of that sanctity and those duties. There are few greater causes of misery and vice in the world than the ignorance of, or disregard for, this holy relation.

True love, graceful associations, methodic and ethical encouragements in all the structure and environments of home, are indispensable requisites to the proper social and political status of races and nations. In the city of Richmond many of the colored people take very respectable standing on this question.

As to religious sects, Methodists occupy a small place among the colored people of the ex-confederate capital. It is said that the Baptists have nearly twenty churches there, and that of the thirty thousand colored people, more than ninety per cent. are allied to that denomination. They have some splendid and very large church buildings, with such large memberships and constituencies as to render them independent and powerful. The First Baptist Church, where colored persons worship, is one square from the First Baptist Church where white persons worship. It is a better building and larger than that in which the white Baptists worship, the membership being about three thousand. They are about to place a handsome pipe organ in their ostracious auditorium at an expense of $3,000. To illustrate the great influence of the Baptist doctrines in the city, it is said that no more than one-sixth of the persons converted in the Methodist churches are found to accept baptism by any other method but that of immersion. In our presence a little boy five years old, of Methodist parents, and who had been recently baptized by sprinkling, said to his pastor, "When I get big, I'll be baptized down in the water; then I'll go to heaven when I die." There is considerable liberality shown toward African Methodism by the more progressive of the Baptist people of the city. Ebenezer Church, probably the finest in the city, has been freely and gratuitously tendered to the A. M. E. Church for the purpose of the grand Sciska Concert on the 10th inst.

Notwithstanding the superiority of the Baptist church in members, African Methodism, under the generous, prudent, faithful and courageous leadership of Dr. W. H. Hunter, as in every place where he has labored, has succeeded in drawing on the young folks so that a number of promising young ladies and gentlemen have been converted and noble fases are draped by the soft, rich curtain.

The social phases of the Richmond colored people, while not presenting a perfect condition, are, nevertheless, in many respects very encouraging. Street societies are numerous, as among our people generally. These are not without their good. They furnish a bond of union, a point of concentration, a line of co-operation, a school of semi-benevolence, a respect for order, increase of general information and an object of attraction. At the same time they discourage an undue extravagance, negligence of the more important and sacred home duties, parade our dead bodies, impractical taste and practical religious decline. These facts we mention as a fleeting our people everywhere. The "Knights of Labor" and other associations sow assuming considerable strength among us in Southern cities, designed to protect the colored laborer against encroachments of transported labor, as well as the more discriminations of domestic labor associations among white men, both in the North and South, are largely and justly claiming much attention from the people in Richmond and other Southern cities. It is not improbable that the next great contest in which the Negro will engage will be on the planes of the labor question. This contest should be one in which the nely race should be intellectual strength, genius, skill and art. Such a course is adopted by all parties this will be the case. It is a contest whose line of demarkation between the contending forces will never be, can never be, purely racial; for there are always, with reference to all things, some minds whose conceptions, others whose interest and still others whose charity knows no limitations. Colored men may well afford to fight their battles at the front on this subject. We have been taught how to work. We must improve in skillfulness and claim, at all hazards, the right to eat our bread in the sweet of the face and by the strength and dexterity of the hand.

"For God in curving grass as better gifts than man in his mechanics."

The marks of seasonal, thrift and industry are no more prevalent among our people than are the increased recognition of the sanctity of homes and the sacredness of the marriage relations. The late Major M. R. Delany used to say, "My home is my castle; woe to the man who dares to desecrate it." In relation to this important subject there still remains much for men to learn and practice. The State of Virginia have reached a point at which they take cognizance of irregularities in the homes of colored persons as well as white persons —equal rights.

To those whose houses for many generations have not been homes, the joys and immunities that real homes only yield are not so likely to be realized as with those who for many generations have inherited the rich legacy of domestic life and power. Those whose progenitors for many generations were obliged to disregard the sanctity and highest duties of conjugal relations cannot in a day be brought to the full realization of that sanctity and those duties. There are few greater causes of misery and vice in the world than the ignorance of, or disregard for, this holy relation.

Notwithstanding the superiority of the Baptist church in members, African Methodism, under the generous, prudent, faithful and courageous leadership of Dr. W. H. Hunter, as in every place where he has labored, has succeeded in drawing on the young folks so that a number of promising young ladies and gentlemen have been converted and brought into the church during his administration. African Methodism is now in a fair way to regain in Richmond what she has lost. They are heavily in debt, but are steadily diminishing the debt. They are now making ample provisions for a series of concerts by Madame Sciska; the first to be given in Ebenezer Baptist Church, Richmond, 10th inst., the second to be given in the A. M. E. Church, Norfolk, 17th inst., and the third in the A. M. E. Church, Portsmouth, 18th inst. The people of those three cities are to be congratulated on the rare treat to be given them on those occasions. If well worked up those three concerts should bring into Third Street Church a neat little sum of money. Dr. Hunter has a splendid Sunday school class of young gentlemen under his own tuition. The marks of progress in the church are seen in all departments. We had the pleasure of visiting a session of the Official Board, which we found to be characterized by excellent business qualities. The Sunday school is well organized and was in session during the school, but the assistant, Mr. Walker, conducted the school with much ease.

We were not so successful as we should like to have been in reference to the CHRISTIAN RECORDER and our hymn books, but the appearance of many that they will subscribe. In order to have Africam Methodism succeed they will have to subscribe. The change in the national administration still causes threatening signs to be uplifted over many of our brethren in Uncle Sam's departments in the city, yet there has been a good amount of Democratic patience as well as Republican uneasiness manifested for several months. The A. M. E. people are repairing their church and will have it in excellent condition for the session of annual conference in April. They will support the conference grandly, too; judging from the manner in which they treat a visitor many of we may infer what they would do for a "married man." There was once a probability that this great church at Richmond would not break in two on this race question, but it has done it. Now it will gain hundreds of thousands of colored persons, but gain them to whom! Not to St. Peter, evidently, for St. Peter has educated out of all that prejudice in the shape of the video and divine direction; not any more to Christ than if they received them among the white folks. It is too evidently another instance of fexibility of our American religionists. Wherein is the political hope of the negro whenever his religion is bleached more by the white Christian's practices than by his own many moral information. It is true that the Roman Catholics will do much for the race. They have done this through all the past, while they had no pen for their black sheep. Through the dark days of slavery and through the years of our emancipation the Roman Catholic church and its kingdoms the kingdoms of our Lord and his Christ. Some have pointed with approbation, though in no great numbers, accepting the religion of the church by which it was offered. In Richmond there is one C. M. E. Church, one Protestant Episcopal Church and one Presbyterian. African Methodism, however, has enough to do in that busy city. Forsaken, Father Jesse Smith, the faithful local elder, Brother C. B. Green, brother Diggs, brother Wells and the other noble men and women of the church, especially the women of the church, who have been received by Dr. Hunter, will, by God's blessing, soon lift African Methodism to a nobler and wider standing.

From Richmond we went to Danville, the town that has been so often and so gravely connected with the name Coplah that the one readily suggests the other.

Sunday, 22nd, was the day on which St. Joseph's Roman Catholic Church for colored persons was consecrated in Danville. The attendance was great; both children and adults attended the services all day. Methodists and Baptists were there in large numbers. It is altogether notable that many colored children in the public schools will receive instruction at the parochial school and will ultimately become members of the Church of St. Peter. The Catholics will never establish colored branches of their church in such way as to constitute them independent bodies, but they have accommodated themselves to American laws sufficiently to establish these separate societies. It is certainly a degradation of the Catholic religion practices. The black people seem the same language as the white people. The government of the colored church must be the same as that of the white church; why do they not all worship in the same house? Is the Roman Catholic sovereign not taking on an element of protestant weakness in this step?

The North Carolina Conference opened its eighteenth session November 25th, at Company Shops, North Carolina. Bishop Turner having been noable to be present at the time for opening the conference, the Rev. Robert Lucas was made chairman pro tem. Rev. I. F. Aldridge was made Secretary. The ordinary committees were appointed, rules of order were adopted; the committees on Book Concern and Education were appointed, and the Book Concern all in one day. In the evening Rev. J. W. Telfair preached an earnest, practical sermon, making excellent impressions upon his audience. Synopsis of the sermon:

"Woe he to the shepherds of Israel that do feed themselves; should not the shepherds feed their flocks?"—Ezekiel xxii, 34.

Elder Telfair spoke very feelingly concerning the Bishop and the two members of the conference since the last session. He said the text was addressed to those ministers who had been unfaithful in administering to God's people, and faithful dispensation. We ministers of Christ are endowed with Jesus is the chief Shepherd, the great and good Shepherd. A serious question to the North Carolina Conference: how many of the people (flock) of God professed under the old dispensation had been saved give his people shepherds who would care for them. Said he. The unfaithful shepherd will lead both the black and the old sheep astray. It is the duty of the shepherd to protect the flock from the wolves. The good shepherd cares for his sheep. Sheep are liable to diseases, want and imperfections. They sometimes get into intricate situations, into quagmires, quarries and hedges. The good shepherd defends and protects the sheep in these cases. We as ministers, are here to report whether we have fed, watched and protected our flocks. God bids us to feed the flock of God, which is under our charge, not by constraint, but willingly, not for filthy lucre, but of a ready mind, neither as being lords over God's heritage, but being ensamples of the flock. The faithful shepherd will receive a crown of glory that fadeth not away. Elder Telfair's sermon was strong and powerful, and was listened to with much attention by the large congregation present.

The conference was a very pleasant one. Bishop Turner's address to the conference Wednesday morning—it being the first session as Bishop in said conference—was wise, pointed and strong. The brethren had passed resolutions respecting transfers in the Bishop's absence, which met his disapprobation. The brethren of this conference are thoroughly awake to the responsibilities resting upon them. Their work is yet comparatively a pioneer work. They seem to have been agrieved by some of the men who have been transferred to similar work in earlier years; they misworded their resolutions in some parts, perhaps, but they were certainly making right motions. There are some noble workers in this conference. We cannot this week say all that we shall say concerning them.

Personal.

—Mr. J. H. Lewis is doing a thriving drug business in Richmond, Va.

—Dr. W. D. Johnson reports the educational work in an encouraging condition.

—The Rev. A. J. Chambers was transferred to the North Carolina Conference.

—The editor of the RECORDER preached in Danville, Va., where the celebrated "Durham Fling" is manufactured, last Sunday.

—The Rev. A. D. Zimmerson is about a great work at Danville, Va., having purchased a fine church. The people have a worthy leader in Elder Zimmerson.

—On the face of the Rev. John Jasper's church hangs a card prohibiting the chewing or smoking of tobacco in the church yard, yet the Doctor is a great smoker.

—In Richmond we had the pleasure of meeting Prof. D. Augustus Straker, one of the most eloquent speakers, brilliant scholars and successful lawyers of the race.

—Elder Taylor, a prominent Baptist minister, visited Paul Quinn College and long since, addressed the students and expressed himself as overly replaced because of the work the college is doing.

—Editor Smothers states that, at the Conner Normal, held at Marlin, Texas, last summer, only one of the number of attendants received a first grade certificate, and that one was a student of Paul Quinn College.

—The Rev. Henry Rope, for many years State Senator in North Carolina, is looked upon highly respected by the citizenscy, both white and colored, that he is liable to be called and sent back to the Senate at any time.

—Mr. Robert Morris, of Danville, Pa., has been dead a few days ago. Mr. Morris is one of the most successful financiers and business men of the race. He is a large stockholder in one of the mill companies of Danville. He has clear conceptions of race relations and possibilities.

—The Rev. J. H. Pierce has succeeded in getting his children into the city schools not marked colored in Burlington, N J., after more than two years' hard and noble fighting. It has been fighting against great odds in two cases. He says, however, that it was fought out. It has cost him a price. His and his family have not had their fair consideration because of the fight. God bless you, brother.

Literature.

The Century will devote an article in its April number to "Old Times in Kents, and the illustrations of Mr. Will H. Low's "Age of Love," which is at present issued by its Philadelphia publisher, has already attracted a great deal of favorable comment from artistic critics. Three of the original drawings will be reproduced by wood engraving in the Century

Canon Farrar, in his lecture on "Preaching Power," pleasantly hints at his hearers that poet's delightful dedication of "fifty men and women" to his poet wife, in which he invites them to mind Raphael's "century of sonnets." Some of these pictures are examples of how every man declines to be his own interpreter to the people he governs. One is reminded of this by the announcement that in the Christmas issue of Harper's Weekly Mr. Thomas Nast Black and Blackmore will both have pictures in which Mr. Reuplion and Gibson literary contributions.

Missionary Items.

BY REV. J. M. TOWNSEND, D. D.

Rev. S. G. Dorce is Missionary at Large for Hayti.

Rev. J. H. Buckner succeeds Rev. C. W. Mossell at Key West, Florida.

The general outlook is more promising than in any year of my service in the department.

This week we make an appropriation to assist the Muscogee and Vanita churches, in Georgia.

We hope the missionary committee will forward our per cent in every case on all pledges paid to the treasurer.

We have commissioned Hon H O. C. Atwood superintendent of San Domingo, Rev. A. H. Mors as his assistant.

We hope the conferences will not be behind in every per cent. Many of them any money raised is but little, and yet every cent helps the amount.

Let the whole Church rally to the call and at the end of this year we will have a glorious ingathering fores in the foreign field that we had last.

The ladies' Mite Society has voted to help the Haytian work, and inform us that they are ready to forward what assist us to pushing the work. God bless the ladies in charge of the work.

The Sabbath school of Galveston, Texas, Rev. J. E. Edwards, sent us last week $55.58 as a special contribution for Africa. Why may not others follow this noble example of devotion to our fatherland?

Brethren of the New Jersey Conference will please remember the debt of $100. Each pastor was to send a collection by the first Sabbath of August last. Rev. M. Dent, Allentown, has paid $2 and Rev. Thomas Jones, Bordentown, $5. The others will please forward soon.

All a certain conference last summer two Bishops were present, and a third one came. The city was crowded, all the inns filled, he had several hours to spend as he saw best, but he did not see fit to spend one of them at the conference session, because—well may. So he had a nice time. Oh, that a man had example for young preachers and lay members! This is but one example in a large stockholder in the Danville mill companies of Danville. He has clear conceptions of race relations and possibilities.

—The Rev. J. H. Pierce has succeeded in getting his children into the city schools not marked colored in Burlington, N J., after more than two years' hard and noble fighting. It has been fighting against great odds in two cases. He says, however, that it was fought out. It has cost him a price. His and his family have not had their fair consideration because of the fight. God bless you, brother.

ADDRESS BY THE MANAGER.

TO THE BISHOPS, MEMBERS OF THE BOARD OF PUBLICATION, MINISTERS AND FRIENDS OF THE PUBLICATION CAUSE.

Dear Fathers and Brethren:—I have nothing of importance to lay before you in the way of business at this time. From the time you placed this interest in my charge, seven months ago, I have endeavored to make it the object of my constant care and study. We have gained some little ground in that time, but too little to be of much benefit to the cause. We have paid off a debt, we boost, we have secured a press, as members agreed to do, and have begun to redeem our pledges and put this enterprise on a self-sustaining basis. First of all, we ought to say that the earnest effort to pay its debts. Abbess it as we may, the Christian Recorder is closely connected with its management, and still is, a sterling agency for our work. It has done more as much for its advancement, and unity, too, as any instrument we have ever employed. Besides it represent our colleges honor and the obligation to pay them cannot be fairly evaded by any honest man. Many plans have been proposed from time to time for this purpose, but we have never been in favor of any other operation of large numbers of our people than the regular one of paying the Bishops proposed to all officers and ministers, through themselves at the head, that we should give a certain portion of one year's salary to pay the debt incurred by the paper. I see no better plan than this. Let each one feel, and for the reason, perhaps, that it is his own, that he is doing his own share of poor men. We have brought the paper to its present condition, but in all the time we have found no one willing to take the responsibility and assume the obligation to pay it. This is our duty. We owe it to God, to the Church, to ourselves and to the world. Would that we could feel this as we should. Every one of you could write a response that would make the good Dr. Johnson open his eyes in the last Monday in January.

The Recorder is indeed a paper at less than cost, or, indeed, anything else it has ever been. It does not at the rate of its cost. Methodists of old professed standing in goods that had not paid duty, as a fraud. It is incumbent, therefore, on every brother, sister, who has only paid $1.50, unless they were in a club, to pay the remaining fifty cents if he would justly and honestly keep the cost of his paper, especially recent every member of the Publication Board to write me his consent or objection. Of course the arrangement could only stand until the conference of '88, but by that time we can have the paper far on the road to success. Actual facts show that just as many will subscribe at two dollars as at one

Faithfully yours,

J. C. EMBRY.

NOTICE.—To the Ministers of the Missouri Conference:—The allowance sent you were reduced in number in consequence of the reduction made in the printed list. List calls for 1,400, but only 1,000 sent. Very truly, Galena has the true list; also we retained a copy.

Once for all.

FLOWER BORDERS AND LAWNS.

Those of our readers having ample grounds, and who have not yet given attention to the subject, can hardly comprehend how much floral beauty there is store for them when they energetically undertake the planting and cultivation of a border of flowering shrubs suitable for the lawn, and herbaceous perennials, and bulbous and tuberous-rooted flowering plants. The latter are the most desirable, especially for such a plantation. A border of shrubs may be made with blooming by an intelligently varying the shrubs so that at one season the lilac will be in bloom, at another the snowball, at another the weigelia, and at another the syringa. In front of the whole line set masses of herbaceous plants of every variety of style of bloom, that will appear in succession from early spring until late fall. Then will such a border be a source of delight to the eye, and to the passer-by, as well as to the owner. Then will be no more weeding, no more hoeing, no more digging, and the planting be done in spring. In fact, there can be great variety of flowering plants with very little trouble. A part of such a border or lawn can be devoted to annual flowers. A handful of seed sown in the spring will appropriately set and bordered in the order described will always be beautiful for the whole summer.—Vick's Magazine for November.

ATTENTION! ATTENTION!

DOLLAR MONEY!! DOLLAR MONEY!!

The Church has had its Missionary Day, Children's Day and Endowment Day, and the people responded nobly. Now we want to give a day for money and we think that the Dollar ought to have a day. We appeal to the ministers and members to make a special addition to cause a great deposit of deafness.

Our Rhode Island correspondent requests us to say that with Mr. Hazard, who talked fruitful of his past and present experience in the Christian life at the prayer meeting, "said Mr. H. "At an early age I had a severe attack of carital fever which left me with a paralysis of stimonts. The most troublesome was a permanent of these was the stomach. The catarrh took a very strong hold on me, and I suffered much for a long time. Nothing would do for me, it increased from year to year to such an extent that my superintendent told me that I must be to be very annoying. You may judge how I felt when I heard him. I knew I would often use up as many as half a dozen handkerchiefs a day. I felt like a nuisance to myself. I had tried many remedies without benefit. I was about discouraged, when I was induced to try Hood's Sarsaparilla. I took it faithfully, and it has done me a great deal of good. I firmly believe it is a direct cure."

A number of those who are firm believers in the remedial power of Compound Oxygen will tell you that it cures the tuberculosis. It is a wonderful remedy for the vitalizing and the strengthening of the weak.

An interesting treatise on the subject, with reports of cases, sent free by DR. P. PALEM, 1529 Arch street, Philadelphia. Take this to-day and send free of charge, to all who apply for it.

A farmer living near Wabash, Ind., who blew his dog to pieces with a half pound of dynamite, narrowly escaped a like fate himself. The dog was a fine setter, and was a favorite with the family. Instead of standing still, ran after the farmer, as he was burying all the milk, who was only a short distance ahead of the dog, and was blown to atoms. The filler of the soil was slightly injured.

A man who quietly submitted to the weather, scouring, measuring, etc., required of police applicants under examination, has at last rebelled, and will appear in the other day after the examiners were through with him, but as much trouble was taken with witnesses. I was only then discovered that he did not want the place at all, but that he considered him as a witness and not interested party. Under the circumstances the committee can then be seen more benefitly women than in Chicago.

NOTICE.

To the Ministers of the New Jersey Conference.—Dear Brethren: You are hereby notified that, unfortunately for the late date, we have been compelled to cut the minutes of our last annual conference. We have done the very best we could, or we shall have no money with which to pay the printer's bill. Many people have them if you have to give pay for them. If you don't get them after seeing the notice let me hear from you.

Yours truly,

TO THE SUBSCRIBERS OF THE REVIEW.

The Editor of the Review begs to say to its many subscribers that he has no doubt of their good intentions, but will say that their appropriation of the work he, with their help, is aiming to do. But the Editor begs to say that while it is very appreciative what they have done, and are doing, he hopes that they will not hold back their subscription a day longer. The Review is absolutely necessary. Of itself $1.50 is not much; but six or seven hundred of them mount up to a large sum. But lately we have sought more than we can afford to carry. A hint to the wise is sufficient.

For God and the Race,

B. T. TANNER.

NEW BOOKS

that will be on sale by the Manager in September and throughout the autumn:

"Fifty Years and Beyond; or, Old Anecdotes Made New." A book of unclassifiable value, as well as interest to all who have passed the meridian of life. 400 pages, cloth, $1.00, same in gilt edges, $1.50.

"Lessons in Success; or, Bible Hints of the Creation in its Relation to Modern Science," by the Rev. T. G. Steward, D.D., and containing an important chapter on "Christian Evidences," by Bishop Campbell. This is an intensely interesting book, especially to young people. It will contain about 250 pages, 12mo, on clear beautiful tinted paper, and at the low rate of $1 00. The work is now in press under our own personal supervision. Orders, $1.00, mailing price.

"Bible Heroes; or, Stories from the Old Testament," by the Rev. J. H. Hodges by my own children, no parent will be without it. It will be found to be the most perfect epitome of Bible characters, and will be a most distance ahead of any thing of the kind ever published. The filler of the soil was slightly injured.

A man who quietly submitted to the weather, scouring, measuring, etc., required of police applicants under examination, has at last rebelled, and will appear in the other day after the examiners were through with him, but as much trouble was taken with witnesses. OR SKIN CANCER.

For nerve pain I suffered with a cancer so my face. Eight months ago a friend recommended me to use Hood's Sarsaparilla. I commenced to use it, and before I had taken one bottle the cancerous appearance was gone. I have taken three bottles and the inconvenience was all gone, and my health was restored. I am sixty-two years old, but my health has greatly improved. I am strong and hearty, and can do a good day's work. I have no fears of any return of the cancer, and feel that I am entirely cured. I have no hesitation in recommending Hood's Sarsaparilla to any one afflicted with cancer. Mrs. JOHN A. MCDONALD.

GREAT WAR STORIES.

The grander features of the War for the Union have been selected from the columns of the New York Tribune, and published in a handsome volume, entitled THE BLUE AND THE GRAY. The stories are told by the men who fought the battles, and they tell them in a graphic and interesting manner. Among the writers are Generals Sherman, Sheridan, Hancock, Howard, Slocum, Gibbon, Doubleday, Wilcox, Ruger, Colonel Theodore Lyman, Aide-de-Camp to General Meade, and many others equally well known. The book contains 600 pages, and is profusely illustrated with battle scenes, portraits of generals, maps, etc. It is sold by subscription only, and the price is $2.50 in cloth, $3.50 in leather, and $4.50 in half morocco. Specimen pages and terms to agents will be sent free on application. Address A. D. WORTHINGTON & CO., Hartford, Conn.

WILBERFORCE UNIVERSITY.

Our school will open Wednesday, September 2nd, 1885, and continue forty weeks. We have a full corps of teachers, and the Normal, Preparatory, Collegiate and Theological departments are in a flourishing condition. Our building is remarkably healthy and plain and comfortable. Board and tuition, $20 per month. Those who desire to enter should be present on the first day for entering the young is not surpassed by any institution in the country. Our high moral tone will be thankfully received by his parents and friends. Address the undersigned at Wilberforce, Ohio.

NOTICE.

A NEW DEPARTURE IN THE RECORDER. SALES BUSINESS.

On and after September 1st, all agencies for RECORDER sales will be made anew and on a different plan, indicated below. Present agents must settle in full up to the last issue in August, which will be on the 27th. Our new rules will be as follows: 1st. On applointing an agent he or she must sign a written contract binding each to sell and return one-half of the copies sent to us monthly and to make a full settlement of all claims at the end of every three months. 2nd. All papers unsold to be carefully preserved and reported with each settlement and held subject to our orders. They must be sorted, bound and returned to us when required. 3rd. Such agents will be allowed one-third of each annual subscription they obtain for the paper at $1.50 per year, they retaining fifty cents and sending us a set one dollar. Or, they can take subscriptions on our installment plan, collecting 10 cents in advance every two months, and sending us 20 cents.

These rules will be strictly applied to all except regular itinerant ministers. We are compelled to do this for the protection of the Department against severe loss. We issue about two hundred and sixty thousand copies annually. Two-fifths, or one hundred and four thousand copies are sent out to agents. On this number we lose from $1,200 to $1,500 year. Believing that all our brethren will favor any plan which promises to avoid such loss, the best we have resolved on the above rules. Please read them, note well and prepare to settle a year hence.

NOTE.—These new agreements will be furnished in blank to all who wish to become or continue agents after September 1st.

NEW BOOKS

that will be on sale by the Manager in September and throughout the ensuing year.

"Fifty Years and Beyond; or, Old Age and How to Enjoy it." A book of unadjustable value, as well as interest to all who have passed the meridian of life. 400 pages, cloth, $1.00, sums in full edged. $1.50.

"Sindiet in Genesis; or, Bible Views of the Creation in its Relation to Modern Science?" by the Rev. T. G. Steward, D.D., and containing an important chapter on "Christian Evidences," by Bishop Campbell. This is an intensely interesting book, especially to preachers, old or young. It will contain about 250 pages, 12mo. on clear beautiful paper, and sold at the low rate of $1.00. The work is now in press under our own imprint. Order, $1.00, mailing 10cts. extra.

"Bible Heroes; or, Stories from the Old Testament for Little Folks." Judging by my own children, no parent who would have his children imbued with the heroic spirit of Bible characters, could buy a better book. Our children devoured it at once. Price only 50 cents; by mail, 56 cents; registered, 65 cents.

"Voice from the Orient." This is a small volume of select sermons by Rev. M. M. Mangasarian, a native Greek, and pastor of the Spring Garden Street Prahyterian Church, of Philadelphia. The Sermons are unexceptionable reading for reading in leisure hours. Price, $1.00.

Rev. J. E. Webb has published an excellent Record Book for church stewards and trustees, with blanks for everything pertaining to their reports and business meetings. We have it well bound and well arranged. We have been nothing like it, nor half so convenient. The book is a necessity to all who use it. It is just the thing to aid in making correct records. For sale at our Publishing House, Price, $1.25.

"The Resurrection of the Redeemed, and Hades," by Rev. James Boggs. A book of 214 pages of well written matter well bound in cloth, for $1.00 per copy.

Orders for each or all of these works may be sent to us at once. Cash orders only.

NOTE TO AGENTS SELLING THE RECORDER.

On and after the 1st of June, agents selling 10 copies and over will be allowed 25 cents per copy; less than 10 (and a half), less than ten copies, 3 cents.

All agents now selling and in arrears for more than one month will be stopped after the 11th. After that all must settle the first of each month.

More than $400 is due us to-day on RECORDER sales alone. We shall sift our agents next week.

Now, dear friends and brethren, help us. We are endeavoring to do your work with energy and faithfulness, we pray you to aid us by your warm cause.

AGENTS WANTED.

Will our pastors who are not supplying the Book Concern with Hymnals please do so by sending for a package (or so best each week) at once? It is no more trouble to you, encourage some young man or boy, or, what is quite as good, a young woman to sell them. Profits second hand. Many of those who are now selling on commission are in debt. Let every one take hold of this. Let us bear each other's burdens. Send for terms. Sell the paper for five cents and send us three subscribers.

OFFER.

To the Ministers and Members of the A. M. E. Church:

We will give to every minister who will send me his Dollar Money by the 15th of August a gold medal of Bishops Payne and Asbury. We will be the first to send to the money? for we need it to pay the Bishops and General Officers of the Church and to help the Metropolitan Church.

2d. The pastor sending the largest amount of money by the 15th of Aug., 1885, will give him a "Bishop Turner's Book," or Dr. Tanner's "Outlines."

3d. Send in the money soon! Send it to Xenia, Ohio.

4th. Do the best you can to help me.

5th. We must have seventy-five thousand dollars this year. Who will be the first to start the ball—the Dollar Ball? Send on the dollars.

5th. Let every minister raise one dollar for each member this year. Try it once in your life.

7th. I will give a present to every church in the connexion that will raise one dollar for each member. We will have a roll of honor and usefulness, and the pastors who will raise one dollar for or from each of his members will be put down on that roll and published in the Christian Recorder.

The Bishops and General Officers must be paid.

The Metropolitan Church in Washington must be completed, by order of the General Conference. It is under way now. It will be the grandest church in the land when completed.

Don't wait for the conference but send the money to B. W. Arnett, Xenia, Ohio, as soon as you get it; if it is Saturday, send it to-day. Small sums help in work.

I am yours,
B. W. ARNETT,
Wilberforce, Ohio.

Manager's Notes.

We have on hand

the Revised Version of the Bible, just issued from the press. Two styles, $1 and $2 per copy. We want to sell them now. Please order them. Beautiful paper, clear type and most interesting reading. You never saw so clearly the meaning of many things as you will find in this new-ld Book!

Wakefield's Theology, the standard theological text book, adopted by the Bishops for the course of study. $2.50 by mail at your risk; $2.25 by express. Please order them. They are here and must be sold.

Then we have an excellent book—"Fifty Years and Beyond,"—a charming thing for older people and for those who intend to be old. It sends up—out down—the shining pathway of years with a harp and song. $2.00, postpaid. Must be sold. We have many more, but can't speak of them now.

What we must say

now, is that we are opening a regular campaign for the CHRISTIAN RECORDER. We want two thousand new subscribers, and all the old ones to renew. Now, appreciating the dullness of the times, we have resolved to put the paper within the reach of all, adopting the installment plan.

Installment

costs a little more, but is easier because it gives more time. Hence, we make the following offer to all who desire to have the RECORDER:

Send us 25 Cents and we will enroll your name in a special book kept for that purpose and will send you the paper for sixty days; then send us 50 cents, and two months after 50 cents, and two months later 50 cents more. Total, $1.75.

All our Pastors

are Agents for the RECORDER, and are hereby authorized to present this prospectus to their people and receive their enrollment fee (25 cents), and give their receipt for the same. [Note.—We will send a few blank slips of receipts to all who will act for us in this matter.]

On this Plan

we give full six months for paying the subscription.

"Pastor's Memorandum Book," by Rev. C. T. Shaffer. Price, 45 cents, no discount. An excellent book.

THE GREAT "RTBIUNE."

We call attention to the advertisement in our columns to-day of this old reliable" political newspaper. Of the many powerful daily and weekly papers published in this marvelous land, the great Tribune, founded by the immortal Horace Greeley, and by his genius and patriotism placed at the very head of all American papers, still holds its place. In spite of the enterprise and lavish expenditure of money by the metropolitan journals of our great cities, in the estimation of thousands of the best people in the Republic, the Tribune is still the best news paper published in the world. We can best discribe it to our readers by saying it is always full, always pure, always plain. It speaks clear, fresh sentiments on all public questions, whether or of politics or business concerns, or social matters. It is a safe, sound, unflinching advocate of the Republican doctrine and policies. It has demagogusism, it rebukes caste in our civil and industrial affairs. It is the best paper for farmers in existence. It is equally good for ministers. As for business men who want to know what is going on, it is indispensable, while it has made and unmade many a political fortune for those who were worthy on the one hand or unworthy on the other. But read what it says for itself in this issue, and then subscribe without delay. Our favorite of the Tribune issues is the semi-weekly. If you are able, by all means take it.

REV. P. P. JOHNSON, pastor of Dauphin Roads, North Carolina, reported at his conference that he had baptized thirty children during the year, and had baptised them all in the public congregation in the church, and that both parents were present in each instance, properly standing up as sponsors

NEWBERN DISTRICT was reported by Rev. G. W. Hunter. He thinks the financial report better than last year. He has held forty-eight quarterly conferences, baptised eighty persons. This district has had many conversions since death, several pastoral changes, several new buildings erected and old ones remodled. Four points have been added. Elder Hunter's report shows an efficient superintendency. He seems to be quite a varied elder, though he does not give the report of his work in the clearness and detail that characterized two other presiding elders' reports.

Raleigh District was reported by Rev. B. Lucas. Elder Lucas is sixty-four years old. He reported his district in good condition and very courageous. He had taken in two new, one from the Baptist Church and one from the C. M. E. Church. He has added seven on trial points to the district. He spoke very complimentarily of the ministers in his district and of the Sunday schools we reported in good condition. Improvements have been made in the district, and, in Raleigh, the Rev. R. H. W. Leak has begun the erection of a large and beautiful church building. A nice church has been built at Cedar Grove by Elder Hamilton. Elder Hamilton has also built a new church at South Lowell. Rev. Moody has built a new parsonage at Pittsfield. Rev E. D. Roberts has also built a new parsonage at Wilson's Mills. In examining local preachers for renewal of license, Elder Lucas says he asks them if they have more than one wife, if they study, if they hold to the Church's peculiar doctrine of holy. This is one of the hopeful signs of moral power in the African M. E. Church.

The Morganton District was reported by Presiding Elder W. H. Hall, D.D. This district covers nearly half of North Carolina. Dr. Hunter came into the district in April, '85, succeeding Rev. G. D. Jimerson, who had been transferred to the Virginia Conference. Elder Butler reported a warm reception by the brethren of the district. Pastoral reports from his work show marked success over last year's rating. His ministers are heroic. Revivals have attended nearly every charge, adding many members to the Church. The people are poor, but loyal. The work is thoroughly alive to the general claims of the connection; Sunday school, missionary work, etc. He has traveled between one thousand and two thousand miles, lectured over twenty times. They have commenced a new church at Asheville under Rev. B. F. Neale. In the district the Rev. T. Hagans, who visited Africa, has his pastoral charge. Seven new points added. This report was smouthed in excellent and chaste English, was comprehensive and analytic. The strength of the report commended Dr. Butler to the conference as one of their fairest leaders. The conclusion is, after hearing these four presiding elders' reports, the presiding eldership could be made successful in almost any part of our work could our men's abilities men be placed in the office and still leave us a good class of ministers for the pastorate. It is certain that in work like that in North Carolina, the office is indispensable [There has been some trouble growing out of exchange of ministers, etc.] This report also shows great improvements in Sunday school work and educational interests. The chief item of Thursday, outside of the reports, was a lecture on "The Romance," by Mr. T. Hoyt, of New York, and a witty talk by Dr. Johnson.

Thursday night the missionary meeting was opened by the Rev. W. H. Bishop in very appropriate and touching services. Bishop Turner made a stirring address, introducing the missionary meeting and missionary speakers. No man of the race is better posted regarding missionary movements and missionary lands than Bishop Turner. Especially is this true respecting Africa. For twenty-five years his voice has been among the loudest and his heart right and wrong, life and death. Church in behalf of Africa. No other bishop seems to so thoroughly awaken him and arouse all the fire of his nature in behalf of missionary resources and the wants of Africa. The conference was well instructed by his speech.

Dr. Lee's address delivered a very interesting and instructive lecture on Africa, showing specimens of its vegetable and mineral wealth, as well as specimens of the industrial interests concerning the capabilities of its inhabitants. He says there are 5,000 voters in Liberia. Africa is a paradise. He thinks there is no doubt that the African Methodist Episcopal Church would succeed wonderfully in that vast and wealthy continent. The very little that Liberia has done for the cause of her American Negroes would in Africa seem as the smallest grain of sand ocean. Elder Hagans spent a few months in Africa and would like to return there if property supported.

The Rev. J. W. Chambers, recently transferred from New Jersey, was introduced by Bishop Turner in highly complimentary language and he responded in a very eloquent, philosophical and statistical address, making more excellent points in five minutes than is our privilege to often hear. The Rev. Dr. Johnson followed in a short but pungent address, based on the text, "My people perish for lack of knowledge." The day of my power," arguing that the African Methodist Episcopal Church never failed up to the grand heroism of the fathers.

HAVE TOO HEAR the Manager's appeal? What say you? The Philadelphia pastors wrestled with the problem in their Monday meeting. The Bishop will be heard from in our next week's issue.

CHRISTMAS! We are going to have some nice sleep hymn books on hand for presents; cards, too. Come and see us.

EDITORIAL CORRESPONDENCE.

THE NORTH CAROLINA CONFERENCE—PRESIDING ELDERS' REPORTS.

The Wilmington District was reported by Rev. J. G. Fry. The report was in excellent order and the message to the conference was full of assurance and encouragement. The finances of the district are far in advance of the past year. There had been seventy-two 3rd and fifty conversions during the year. The elder held forty-four quarterly conferences, distributed 1,200 tracts, administered sacrament over fifty times, attended several scores of prayer-meetings and delivered many sermons. The report of this laborious elder compassed the subjects pertaining to the duties of the office more fully than is usual. The energy, industry vigilance and real spiritual care evinced by Elder Fry as strong influences being favorably upon our work wherever exercised. Elder Fry knows whereof we see that one preacher cannot hold a point, he is willing to give that charge two or three preachers if necessary. Your new points have been added.

The Morganton District was reported by Presiding Elder W. H. Hall, D.D. This district covers nearly half of North Carolina. Dr. Hunter came into the district in April, '85, succeeding Rev. G. D. Pastoral reports from his work show marked success over last year's rating. His ministers are heroic. Revivals have attended nearly every charge, adding many members to the Church. The people are poor, but loyal. The work is thoroughly alive to the general claims of the connection; Sunday school, missionary work, etc. He has traveled between one thousand and two thousand miles, lectured over twenty times. They have commenced a new church at Asheville under Rev. B. F. Neale. In the district the Rev. T. Hagans, who visited Africa, has his pastoral charge. Seven new points added. This report was smouthed in excellent and chaste English, was comprehensive and analytic. The strength of the report commended Dr. Butler to the conference as one of their fairest leaders. The conclusion is, after hearing these four presiding elders' reports, the presiding eldership could be made successful in almost any part of our work could our men's abilities men be placed in the office and still leave us a good class of ministers for the pastorate. It is certain that in work like that in North Carolina, the office is indispensable [There has been some trouble growing out of exchange of ministers, etc.] This report also shows great improvements in Sunday school work and educational interests. The chief item of Thursday, outside of the reports, was a lecture on "The Romance," by Mr. T. Hoyt, of New York, and a witty talk by Dr. Johnson.

Thursday night the missionary meeting was opened by the Rev. W. H. Bishop in very appropriate and touching services. Bishop Turner made a stirring address, introducing the missionary meeting and missionary speakers. No man of the race is better posted regarding missionary movements and missionary lands than Bishop Turner. Especially is this true respecting Africa. For twenty-five years his voice has been among the loudest and his heart right and wrong, life and death. Church in behalf of Africa. No other bishop seems to so thoroughly awaken him and arouse all the fire of his nature in behalf of missionary resources and the wants of Africa. The conference was well instructed by his speech.

Dr. Lee's address delivered a very interesting and instructive lecture on Africa, showing specimens of its vegetable and mineral wealth, as well as specimens of the industrial interests concerning the capabilities of its inhabitants. He says there are 5,000 voters in Liberia. Africa is a paradise. He thinks there is no doubt that the African Methodist Episcopal Church would succeed wonderfully in that vast and wealthy continent. The very little that Liberia has done for the cause of her American Negroes would in Africa seem as the smallest grain of sand ocean. Elder Hagans spent a few months in Africa and would like to return there if property supported.

The Rev. J. W. Chambers, recently transferred from New Jersey, was introduced by Bishop Turner in highly complimentary language and he responded in a very eloquent, philosophical and statistical address, making more excellent points in five minutes than is our privilege to often hear. The Rev. Dr. Johnson followed in a short but pungent address, based on the text, "My people perish for lack of knowledge." The day of my power," arguing that the African Methodist Episcopal Church never failed up to the grand heroism of the fathers.

THE NORTH CAROLINA CONFERENCE—PRESIDING ELDERS' REPORTS.

The Wilmington District was reported by Rev. J. G. Fry. The report was in excellent order and the message to the conference was full of assurance and encouragement. The finances of the district are far in advance of the past year. There had been seventy-two 3rd and fifty conversions during the year. The elder held forty-four quarterly conferences, distributed 1,200 tracts, administered sacrament over fifty times, attended several scores of prayer-meetings and delivered many sermons. The report of this laborious elder compassed the subjects pertaining to the duties of the office more fully than is usual. The energy, industry vigilance and real spiritual care evinced by Elder Fry as strong influences being favorably upon our work wherever exercised. Elder Fry knows whereof we see that one preacher cannot hold a point, he is willing to give that charge two or three preachers if necessary. Your new points have been added.

NEWBERN DISTRICT was reported by Rev. G. W. Hunter. He thinks the financial report better than last year. He has held forty-eight quarterly conference, baptised eighty persons. This district has had many conversions since death, several pastoral changes, several new buildings erected and old ones remodled. Four points have been added. Elder Hunter's report shows an efficient superintendency. He seems to be quite a varied elder, though he does not give the report of his work in the clearness and detail that characterized two other presiding elders' reports.

Raleigh District was reported by Rev. B. Lucas. Elder Lucas is sixty-four years old. He reported his district in good condition and very courageous. He had taken in two new, one from the Baptist Church and one from the C. M. E. Church. He has added seven on trial points to the district. He spoke very complimentarily of the ministers in his district and of the Sunday schools we reported in good condition. Improvements have been made in the district, and, in Raleigh, the Rev. R. H. W. Leak has begun the erection of a large and beautiful church building. A nice church has been built at Cedar Grove by Elder Hamilton. Elder Hamilton has also built a new church at South Lowell. Rev. Moody has built a new parsonage at Pittsfield. Rev E. D. Roberts has also built a new parsonage at Wilson's Mills. In examining local preachers for renewal of license, Elder Lucas says he asks them if they have more than one wife, if they study, if they hold to the Church's peculiar doctrine of holy. This is one of the hopeful signs of moral power in the African M. E. Church.

Personal.

—Bishop Lomax presided over the A. M. E. Z. Conference at Kinston.

—The Rev. R. Lucas makes a good presiding officer and is possessed of extensive medical information.

—The Rev. Jacob Thomas, of the A. M. E. Zion Church, residence in New York, attended the North Carolina Conference of his Church, at Kinston, N. C., last week.

—Rev. J. McH. Farley has resigned the editorship of the Star of Zion, and Hon. J. C. Dancy, editor of the North Carolina Sentinel, succeeds him, and the Sentinel and Star of Zion will be consolidated.

—The Rev A. A. Hamilton, of the North Carolina Conference, has traveled a circuit 1,000 miles in length between whose two points is twenty-five miles. The distance he has had to travel on foot, there being no steamline, railroad nor other conveyance.

Literature.

The writer of an Open Letter to The Century for December makes a very practical suggestion for the right co-operation among householders, involving the establishment of a new trade —that of "Universal Tinker." A man who shall take the contract of keeping household tools and who shall receive a stated salary from residents of a block or neighborhood.

Mr. Howells's annual farce has now come to be expected as a regular feature of the year, quite like Thanksgiving and Christmas. It will appear as usual, in the December HARPER'S, and introduce again our old friends of "An Sleeping Car." "The Register," and "The Elevator." "The Carriers" is the title, and it actually takes liberties with Boston Common. This awful fact lends confirmation to the rumor that Mr. Howells intends to desert Boston for New York. As for myself, I said that I never had been attended by great power. She constitutes the first instance of the ordination of a woman in the A. M. E. Church or any other church. It is a serious question whether it be not an innovation upon the customs of the Christian Church which has been established for ages. Mr. Hughes had been admitted on probation regularly and previously had been received into full membership regularly. If it was right and legal to receive her on probation and into full membership, it is right and legal to ordain her, provided she answers all the requisites for ordination. It's a serious question, however, whether this innovation upon the customs of all varieties of the Episcopal Church, made in the North Carolina Conference and threatened in the New Jersey Conference, is warranted by any development in Christian work. Where is the demand for such change? The last session of General Conference seemed to declare against lady pastors altogether. We have not run out of material for pastors. Women have always been great helpers; they have enough work of this kind.

At 2:30 services were conducted by the Rev. Dr. Tanner. The 310th hymn was sung by the Rev. W. B. Mazey in prayer. At this service four persons were ordained elders. Dr. Tanner's text was, 1 Cor. ii, 2: "For I determined not to know anything among you, save Jesus Christ and him crucified." His ordination consisted in a brief description of the duties of Cor lothians in the time of Paul; its fitness for the age and the capabilities of large cities generally to lead ministers to ruin. The theme of the discourse was "Preaching Christ." The discourse was delivered in good style and in such logic as is calculated to fix the attention of the hearers' minds Brethren hearing this excellent sermon are better prepared for the dissemination of the gospel than they were before. After this sermon and several stirring songs, Bishop Turner addressed the candidates for elders' orders in a few words, and followed with those sentences. After the address the following candidates were presented: Revs. F. P. Giles, D. Newby, A. R. Jennings and L. H. Brown. The committee presenting them, and Revs W. H. H. Butler, D.D., J. G. Fry, D. D. Lee, W. D. Cook and the Rev. J. W. Talfair. A wonderful religious exercise followed the administration of the Lord's Supper, the candidates kneeling. Fifteen persons came forward and asked the prayers of the pastors and church. The evening service was conducted by the Rev. J. W. Talfair. Acts xvi, 31: "Believe on the Lord Jesus Christ and thou shalt be saved." Subject: "Salvation by Faith." The sermon was one characteristic of the author. It was well received by the large audience, who, evidently, considered it a feast of fat things. The music in the A. M. E. Church is excellent on occasions.

Monday morning business was resumed. After the approval of the minutes, the Bishop called the roll of the ministers in the district, and responded in a very eloquent, philosophical and statistical address, making more excellent points in five minutes than is our privilege to often hear. The Rev. Dr. Johnson followed in a short but pungent address, based on the text, "My people perish for lack of knowledge." The day of my power," arguing that the African Methodist Episcopal Church never failed up to the grand heroism of the fathers.

NOTICE.

A NEW DEPARTURE IN THE RECORDER SALES HENCEFORTH.

On and after September 1st, all agencies for RECORDER sales will be made anew and on a different plan, indicated below. Present agents must settle in full up to the last issue in August, which will be on the 27th. Our new rules will be as follows: 1st. On appointing an agent he or she must sign a written contract binding each to sell and return one-half of the sales every month as monthly and to make a full settlement of all claims at the end of every three months. 2nd. All papers must to be carefully preserved and reported with each settlement and held subject to our orders. They must be counted, bound and returned to us when required. 3rd. Each agents will be allowed one-third of each annual subscription they obtain for the paper at $1.50 per year, they retaining fifty cents and sending us a net one dollar. Or, they can take subscriptions on one installment plan, collecting 80 cents in advance every two months, and sending us 70 cents.

These rules will be strictly applied to all except regular itinerant ministers. We are now compelled to do this for the protection of the Department against severe loss. We know about two hundred and sixty thousand copies are annually. Two-fifths, or one hundred and four thousand copies are sent out to agents. On this number we lose from $1,200 to $1,500 year. Believing that all our brethren will favor any plan which promises a existence of this great work, we have resolved on the above rules. Please read them, note well and prepare to settle at once.

NOTE.—These new agreements will be furnished in blank to all who wish to become or continue agents after September 1st.

Can insects distinguish shapes of objects with their eyes? A writer experimenting for a long time in an effort to solve this question, M. Plateau, physicist, of Ghent, has come to the conclusion that the theory laid down by Exner, namely, that an insect perceives with the eye only the intensity of light upon an object, and does not receive the impression of an object; but that it is not able to distinguish one object from another by its outward shape.

"Josh Billings," who died in Monterey, Cal., on Wednesday, was one of the most popular humorous writers in all the country some years ago. His name was Henry W. Shaw. He was born in Lanesboro, Mass., in 1820, he went West when about 17 years old and spent the greater part of his life in agricultural and other pursuits before he ventured, several years ago, to write for literature, in which he speedily secured popularity as a humorist, whose wit was pointed by, though by no means dependant upon, eccentric spelling. Mr. Shaw also achieved some success as a lecturer.

A Russian paper gives an account of the circumstances which have led to a most unique lawsuit. A rich lady at her death placed her dog Ortrop in the hands of a friend, with the request to provide for her with the annual interest on 1000 rebles, set aside for that purpose in her testament. The other day Ortrop died, and the lady who had charge of her took it for granted that the money was now her own. Another lady, however, appeared on the scene, who owned a son of Ortrop, and who claimed that her dog was heir to the income of the 1000 rebles, since nothing was said in the testament regarding the disposal of the money after the death of Ortrop. The result of the trial is awaited with interest.

NEW BOOKS OFFER.

To the Ministers and Members of the A. M. E. Church: -

1st. We will give to every minister who will send me his Dollar Money by the 15th of August a gold medal of Bishops Payne and Asbury. Who will be the first to send in the money? for we need it to pay the Bishops and General Officers of the Church and to help the Metropolitan Church.

2d. The pastor sending the largest amount of money by the 15th of Aug., 1885, I will give him "Bishop Turner's Book," or Dr. Tanner's "Outlines."

3d. Send in the money soon! Send it to Xenia, Ohio.

4th. Do the best you can to help me.

5th. We must have seventy-five thousand dollars this year. Who will be the first to start the ball—the Dollar Ball? Send on the dollars.

6th. Let every minister raise one dollar for each member this year. Try it once in your life.

7th. I will give a present to every church in the connection that will raise one hundred dollars. That is, I will have a roll of honor and usefulness, and the pastors who will raise one dollar or from each of his members will be put down on that roll and published in the Budget of 1886.

The Bishops and General Officers must be paid.

The Metropolitan Church in Washington must be completed, by order of the General Conference. It is under way now. It will be the grandest church in the connection when completed.

Don't wait for the conference but send the money to B. W. Arnett, Xenia, Ohio, as soon as you get it; if it is small, send it; many a small amounts help in work.

I am yours,

B. W. ARNETT,

Wilberforce, Ohio.

Manager's Notes.

We have on hand

the Revised Version of the Bible, just issued from the press. Two styles, $1 and $2 per copy. We want to sell them now. Please order them. Beautiful paper, clear type and most interesting reading. You never saw so clearly the meaning of things as you will find in this nowold Book!

Wakefield's Theology, the standard theological text book, adopted by the Bishops for the course of study. $2.50 by mail at your risk; $2.25 by express. Please order them. They are here and must be sold.

Then we have an excellent book—"Fifty Years and Beyond,"—a charming thing for older people and for those who intend to be old. It sends up—not down—the shining pathway of years with a harp and song. $2.00, postpaid. Must be sold. We have many more, but can't speak of them now.

What we must say

now, is that we are opening a regular campaign for the CHRISTIAN RECORDER. We want two thousand new subscribers, and all the old ones to renew. Now, appreciating the dullness of the times, we have resolved to put the paper within the reach of all, adopting the installment plan.

Instalment

costs a little more, but is easier because it gives more time. Hence, we make the following offer to all who desire to have the RECORDER:

Send us 25 Cents and we will enroll your name in a special book kept for that purpose and will send you the paper for sixty days; then send me 50 cents, and two months after 50 cents, and two months later 50 cents more. Total, $1.75.

All our Pastors

are Agents for the RECORDER, and are hereby authorized to present this prospectus to their people and receive their enrollment fee (25 cents), and give their receipt for the same. [NOTE.—We will send a few blank slips of receipts to all who will act for us in this matter.]

On this Plan

we give fall six months for paying the subscription.

"Pastor's Memorandum Book," by Rev. C. T. Shaffer. Price, 45 cents, no discount. An excellent book.

NOTICE.

All questions and business pertaining to advertisements seen in the RECORDER, and respecting correspondence to the RECORDER, should be addressed to Rev. J. C. Embry, Business Manager; not to the editor. There is no part of the business of this establishment requiring money to be sent to the editor; nor communications for the RECORDER, to the Manager. All orders for changing the direction of the paper, securing Sunday school or Church supplies, must be sent to the manager, not the editor. Please remember, nothing but articles for publication, or letters pertaining to the RECORDER, should be addressed to the editor, and they to him exclusively.

A GOOD revival is in progress at Wilberforce University.

A NEW paper has entered the field to deserve and claim the patronage of the colored people. The Christian Courier is printed at Lexington, Ky., and is a six column, clearly printed sheet, "devoted to the interest of the entire inhabitants of the world." Its field is large and we wish it a full measure of success.

ALREADY some of the good men of the Church are sending words of cheer to the Manager in favor of the general free-will offering called for on the 24th of January proximo. That is it, brethren; wheel into line, one by and by there be a solid assault on the old hillwork of indebtedness. It can be done. It can be taken. It must be. In the name of the strength of Israel it shall be. Next! Speak out, brethren, we want volunteers!

SOMEHOW the pages of our editorial correspondence appear to have gotten woefully mixed enroute to the compositor's room. We certainly did not design to have the Catholic consecration of all observers. His movements are erratic in some instances, but upon the whole there has not been extensive increase. The North Georgia Conference is a nervous, restless body, ever in a white heat, not so orderly in the transaction of business as the members of the North Carolina Conferences. Back of this ferment, however, there is a great influence at work. There is brain, there is religious energy and there is loyalty. There were ten incidents in Bishop Shorter's conduct that we particularly marked. First, he answered the question, "Who are elected to exercise the office of the episcopacy in the A. M. E. Church?" by starting the series with Daniel A. Payne and ending with H. H. Miles. What was Bishop Shorter thinking about? Have we but eight Bishops? Second, Bishop Shorter defended the old, worn-out ministers, the ministerial widows and orphans against the encroachments of the obstructional fever of the conference. We say, amen. The law makes no provision in the Dollar Money law for using the per cent for educational purposes. There is no provision to make elsewhere for education but not here. Our educational work must live, but not at the expense of our veterans.

There was a solemn time in the ranks of the old men recommended for deacons' orders when the question was asked, "Do you use tobacco?" The matter was pressed to an issue. Finally each of the elevens said, "I'll quit." Perhaps there were two or three of our elders and Bishops expect to have young men abstain from tobacco, while they are in many instances not abstainers. Of course the Bishop of the Fourth District is a tobacco shaver. The very staunchness and honesty of character in the Rt. Rev. James A. Shorter much more than counterbalances all faults that men can find in that character. We shall speak of this conference further next week.

Sunday the Sunday school services commenced at an early hour. Several ministers addressed the school, promptly four P. M. Rt. Haigler and Rt. Rev. J. P. Campbell. The songs were well rendered by the school, led by Dr. Gaines. The school is afforded by the evil found everywhere, the young men and young women are not in the school as largely as we should like. At eleven o'clock services were conducted by Dr. Townsend announcing the 611th hymn, which was sung with enthusiasm; Prof. L. E. Hall led in prayer. Scripture lesson, Isaiah lxvii; Text, Matt. xxii., 5, "But they made light of it." Theme, "The invitation of the gospel slighted." The speaker said:

This is the Lord's way of setting forth the introduction and reception of the gospel. This parable was a glorious view of God's dealings with men when the fullness of time had come. God sent forth his Son, who came into the world to save sinners.

What is religion supplied? Observe the language of this parable: the kingdom of heaven is like unto a king who sent forth his son to prepare a feast. He noticed that God has prepared for mankind a feast of fat things. It is a high honor and a great blessing which God has conferred upon us in the gospel invitation. The gospel invites the sinner to partake. I am so that thirtieth cut my transgressions for the sake of own sake." The gospel invites us to receive grace. Jesus says, I shall be in the heart and ye shall find, knock and it shall be opened." These words are not only free, but abundant. They are also characterized by a grand magnificence and fullness of mercy for the present life. "There is joy in the presence of angels over one sinner repenting." Read the history of the prodigal son, and behold the father's gracious reception. A picture of the glorious reception of sinners by the grace of God, by the spirit of adoption, whereby we cry Abba Father. What a change in the sinner's life when he comes not as a stranger and alien, but a friend of God, brought nigh by the blood of sprinkling. Such was the converted sinner at temple. He should ever remember the conscious of pardon, an habitual sense of his sins forgiven by the spirit of God. Read the Redeemer's liveth, and that he leaves in him the hope of immortal glory. The most wonderful thing in the parable "my oxen is written in the Lamb's book of life." Behold the friends and those mansion in the skies, a home in heaven. We most not be made to feel that we are no longer prodigals, but children of God. Think of the divine honor conferred in this considerations. And this invitation is free-to-be-weary, we are privileged to lay our weary heads upon the broad and gracious breast of Jesus. Do we sin? Yes; there is none good, no, not one. Do we fall? Yes, we do. Shall we act just right? By no means, yet though we sin we have an advocate with the Father, even Jesus Christ the righteous. At this point the speaker had the audience to sing:

"There is a fountain filled with blood
Drawn from Immanuel's veins,
And sinners plunged beneath that flood
Lose all their guilty stains."

He resumed, saying: Peace is also given. "Peace I give you; my peace I leave with you." The apostle, addressing the Philippians, says, "Be careful for nothing." Oh, what afflictions we have in this life. Sometimes we are cast down, clouds overhead are dark, but Jesus whispers, let not your hearts be troubled. Somehow or other I feel just now to be very close to my Lord. Let all the earth be silent, I feel that I know; let us step in. Let your requests be known unto God. The peace of God that passeth all understanding shall keep your hearts. It will keep him in perfect peace whose mind is stayed on God. However hard and rugged the way, let your mind be stayed on God. A Christian soldier must not be a coward, but bearing himself nobly under the promises, trust in God. The question is asked, Is it possible to possess joy in the midst of sorrow? Yes, my experience enables me to say yes. All things work together for good to them that love the Lord, for the eternal God is your refuge, and underneath are his everlasting arms, unfathomable rich, unsearchable. But death is coming on; how about that? Well, the sting of death is sin. Jesus has cancelled your sins. The sting is removed. As the Christian pilgrim approaches the dark waters he exclaims, "Though I walk through the valley and shadow of death I will fear no evil, for thou art with me, thy rod and staff they comfort me." What are the blessings of the future? First, an heritage incorrupted, undefiled and that fadeth not away. There is no poorer people on this continent than my people, but there is no time when we may not read our title clear to mansions in which there are and thieves never enter. The spotless robe of white will wear he moth eater, the golden streets will never be rewind, the gates of pearl will never be broken. Imperishable treasures are ours there. Eye hath not seen, nor has it entered into the heart of man to conceive the great blessings reserved for us. But salvation is too glorious and grand, the magnanimous and abundant to be restricted to a mere religion. Christianity is a part of that great scheme of Providence which includes the glory and honor of God's own Son. The gift bestowed is made commensurate with the dignity of Him by whom it is bestowed. "For the joy that was set before him Christ endured the cross, despising the shame, that he might bring many sons to glory—and includes you and me. We shall see him as he is some day. We have a grander conception of God here. We have our views, we see through a glass darkly now; after awhile we shall see him as he is. We shall know each other there. We shall see the great Host in his heavenly and help to crown him King of kings and Lord of Lords. Are our cities will be so enlarged that we shall not have room? Is it well our friends as they are. God would not have been so great pains to make the name that express our most tender and holy and precious, so sweet, if he intended to take us to leaven to forget the most sweet relationships. The Scriptures are replete in assertions warranting our expecting an enlarged state of heaven. I cannot dwell longer upon the great theme. Let us notice the duties that are given this glorious preferment of the gospel in many. Now in what our God says of other servants. Set forth, he doubtless referred to the gift of the gospel to the Jews, to whom the gospel was first preached, but they made light of it, and treated the man's invite despitefully. Jesus' own people were most spiteful in receiving Jesus. It is the history of the Jews to reject as the Saviour do we see anything despite of ourselves. Do we neglect? Do we not sadly slight the overtures of the gospel? The Lord does not invite to worldly pleasure, but to spiritual blessings; for instance, pardon Suppose a prince was to by my side and was designed to have one of these sail Bishop Turner to Africa for the planting Africa as soon as $10,000 could be raised for the work. Bishop Shorter is settling liberally thereto. Following his suggestion the Board has been directed to call upon the people for $10,000 each.

I affirm that under the law the Missionary Board is the legally constituted missionary authority of the Church, and that it is with them to send missionaries and teachers for the foreign and to send no missionary of any one but the Board. Let us have united, earnest action. Let us lay aside personal considerations; let everything be done upon agreement and according to law; thus and then will there be a united people will be encouraged and God's name be glorified. Now, we have just a few suggestions or recommendations from any one member to be considered and acted upon by the Board of any one Bishop were to insist upon raising funds and sending out missionaries to Africa independent of the Board, we can never succeed, for all would be confusion. Bishop Shorter has exercised supervision of all the mission fields of the Church except Africa, and as a meeting of the Bishops, perhaps the following year, Bishop Turner was appointed at the head of another branch of our Church work and Bishop Cain was given the control of the African work. For the sums or similar reasons he (Bishop Cain) did not go. Thus things continued until the meeting of the last General Conference in Baltimore, at which time all previous appointments and segregations ceased, but that last General Conference amended the law so as to place the management of all foreign missions and missionaries under the control of the Board of which all the Bishops are members, one of whom was to be president and superintending bishop. The following is the law regulating this matter:

"One of the Bishops appointed by the General Conference shall be Bishop in charge. By virtue of their office the remaining Bishops are vice presidents. The principal duty of the general supervision of all the mission fields of the Church except Africa, and the immediate control and support of annual conference."—Discipline, page 323, Article VI.

In keeping with the above law I was unanimously elected by the General Conference President of the Board, and therefore, superintending Bishop over all the mission fields of our Church outside of the annual conference boundaries except Africa. Bishop Shorter and all foreign fields in which our church may be established. Bishop Payne was placed at the head of the Sunday School Union. Bishop Cain at the Publishing Department, Bishop Lee at the Educational Department, Bishop Turner at the Parent Missionary Association, Bishop Gaines at the Financial Department, &c. The arrangement of the General Conference presided the necessity of annual appointments by the Bishops, except in the case of Bishop Turner in Africa. This engraver was the only man in the Church who could be trusted with cutting the image of Bishop Asbury on one side of the Quarterly Review Cross. He had been employed by the Rt. Rev. Bishop Dickerson and Dr. Arnett to cut the image of Bishop Asbury as well as with gold), which were issued for the Centennial Celebration of Methodism. The price of these medals was regulated principally by the making of the dies, which cost from $600 to $800. Now, the engraver, having the dies already made, can furnish them at much less cost. The engraver was the only man in the Church who could cut the image of Bishop Asbury on one side of the Quarterly Review Cross. The President of Wilberforce University, Dr. McDonald, engaged him to make the medals immediately, paying him some money in advance, and hoping thereby to get them at a much better Endowment Day. He was disappointed in the price, and to increase the interest in the educational work the medals did not come soon enough; consequently the Board was not ready to act. Grace is offered, but we neglect the grace of God, and the Saviour's grace; our private devotions our public services are neglected. Peace is offered, but we, alas! make light of it, and in the madness of cares wreck themselves to everlasting ruin. Let us then turn and hear the precious invitation to peace. Be the great God ever lastingly joyous future is ridiculed often when presented. But how shall we escape if we reject so great salvation? May the Holy Ghost impress our hearts now. Let us now time and eternity. Let us no longer make light of this, the most momentous subject, the salvation of our souls.

The Rev. Dr. Tanner followed the sermon with prayer. The benediction was pronounced by Rev. Dr. Tanner. Thus closed the afternoon session.

The Rev. Dr. Tanner followed the sermon with prayer. The benediction was pronounced by Rev. Dr. Tanner. Thus closed the afternoon session.

Sunday night Bishop Campbell preached the ordination sermon from the text, Rom. 1, 16. The Bishop introduced his subject by giving a running statement of Christian evidences as the basis of the great gospel subject of which Paul was not ashamed to preach.

The sermon contained some valuable historic points and very good instruction to the candidates for holy orders. The message was well received by the vast audience. The crowd was so great that it was impossible to take the sermon for the RECORDER. Bishop Shorter ordained nine deacons and eight elders. The crowded condition of the house prevented the services being as impressive as they would otherwise have been, yet with the seriousness and earnest devotion exercised by Bishop Shorter, together with the impressiveness of the sermon, the ordination was very solemn.

Those seventeen men are very promising looking and some of them have already accomplished good in very rugged fields. As we were impressed at the North Carolina Conference so were we at the North Georgia, that the A. M. E. Church has been the nursery of working wonders among our brethren all over the land.

EVENING SERVICES.

The services of the several evenings of the session were as follows: The Rev. C. S. Smith preached Monday night from Luke xvii, 20, 21. The sermon was thoughtful and exceedingly strong.

Thursday evening was devoted to the Missionary Anniversary, Bishop Campbell presiding. Bishop Campbell made an enthusiastic speech, speaking in glowing terms concerning Rev. Sam. P. Jones, Dr. Gaines, the union between the two races in the Atlantic contest between temperance and the general outlook in respect to our mission work.

Dr. Townsend's speech was instructive respecting the general status of our missionary work, showing that the outlook to-day is better than at any previous date. The Rev. T. W. Haigler read an interesting poem on Africa. Collection, $3.60.

On Friday evening the educational meeting was addressed by Revs. W. H. Johnson and B. F. Lee and Rt. Rev. J. A. Shorter.

PRESIDING ELDERS' REPORTS.

Atlanta District was reported by Dr. W. J. Gaines, presiding elder. Dan Gaines reported Bethel, Allen Temple, Shiloh and St. Paul. Atlanta is in good condition, having received many new members. Elder Yelser, of Allen Temple, having paid off over $2,000 on the new church. The work throughout the entire district has been enlarged. Many souls have been added, churches have been repaired, new property has been bought to the value of several hundred dollars.

Griffin District was reported by Rev. Andrew Brewn, showing the work to be in good condition. The ministers were reported in good active character. Nine hundred and fifty members have been added to the Church in this district. The church at Nanaus has been incorrectly decided to the pastor instead of the trustees in trust. There church is heavily in debt. There have been several organizations founded in the third district.

Athens District was reported by presiding elder A. J. Miller. His work is in good condition. New work has been opened and his ministers have been faithful. Some of his work is in the poor parts of the State, but all have tried to do. A property has been bought by the Jeffersonville Circuit for the purpose of opening a high school. In some sections of this district the colored people are scarcely aware of their freedom. Several new church buildings and parsonages have been erected.

The conference literary society held its session Monday afternoon. Two essays were read—one by Rev. C. M. Manning, on the subject, "What Constitute a Christian Pastor?" and one by T. W. Haigler on the subject, "Was Martin Luther a Great Man Outside of the Reformation?" We left the conference at night, just as Bishop Campbell was introducing Dr. B. T. Tanner, who was to deliver before the conference his excellent lecture on "Richard Allen's Place in History." The Bishop intimated that the conference would adjourn sometime Tuesday. It is a pleasure to be with Bishops Shorter and Campbell presiding over a conference. Bishop Shorter will preserve well his care of the interests of the aged ministers and the widows; in fact, an honest distribution of all conference funds. He said in an address to the conference: "Whenever I make my wife into my work, I never ask the conference nor anyone else to pay her way. I don't want her way paid." This statement was highly applauded.

Personal.

—The Rev. E. P. Holmes is stationed at Macon, Ga.

—The venerable Nelson H. Turpin, one of our African Methodist fathers, attended the North Carolina Conference and received an appointment.

—The Rev. J. O. Yeiser has accomplished a good work in Atlanta and has been reappointed to Allen Temple.

—The Rev. W. J. Gaines, D.D., has been instrumental a great work in leading the brethren of Georgia forward in establishing and opening Morris Brown College. He is grand and confidence in his State by both white men and colored.

—William H. Vanderbilt, the richest man in America, and possibly in the world, is worth a cent, says the New York. He was reputed to be worth about $200,000,000. His wife is worth $100,000,000. His death was sudden, being stricken with apoplexy while conversing with Mr. Garrett, President of the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad.

The poem printed on the first page of the RECORDER this week was written by Mrs. Mary E. Johnson (H. H.) four days before her death.

A new story by Joel Chandler Harris (Uncle Remus") was begun in the Century. It is entitled "Trouble on Lost Mountain," and it is accompanied by two pictures by young Kemble, who illustrated Mark Twain's "Huckleberry Finn."

The University, Chicago's critical journal, in its issue of December 3rd, contains a timely, thoughtful and trenchant article on the "Aims of the Historical research" craves by Dr. John Fiske, of the University of Michigan. Doctor Fiske calls attention to the many misleading absurdities perpetrated by this new order of students, and to the unscrupulous inherent futility of most of their investigations.

"Bread Winners Abroad" is the title of a volume to be issued immediately by J. S. Ogilvie & Co., of New York. It contains one hundred letters written by Robert P. Porter for the leading heads of the country, and also a concise, but true light the condition of the workingmen of this country. Address of welcome of this country. All who have or employ labor should give this volume careful attention. It is a book of protection to American industry, and should be in the hands of every man in the skies, a home in heaven. The University, Chicago's critical journal, in its issue of December 3rd, contains a timely, thoughtful and trenchant article on the "Aims of the Historical research" craves by Dr. John Fiske, of the University of Michigan. Doctor Fiske calls attention to the many misleading absurdities perpetrated by this new order of students, and to the unscrupulous inherent futility of most of their investigations.

"Bread Winners Abroad" is the title of a volume to be issued immediately by J. S. Ogilvie & Co., of New York. It contains one hundred letters written by Robert P. Porter for the leading heads of the country, and also a concise, but true light the condition of the workingmen of this country. All who have or employ labor should give this volume careful attention. It is a book of protection to American industry, and should be in the hands of every man in the skies, a home in heaven. We most not be made to feel that we are longer prodigals, but children of God. Think of the divine honor conferred in this considerations. And this invitation is free-to-be-weary, we are privileged to lay our weary heads upon the broad and gracious breast of Jesus. Do we sin? Yes; there is none good, no, not one. Do we fall? Yes, we do. Shall we act just right? By no means, yet though we sin we have an advocate with the Father, even Jesus Christ the righteous. At this point the speaker had the audience to sing:

"There is a fountain filled with blood
Drawn from Immanuel's veins,
And sinners plunged beneath that flood
Lose all their guilty stains."

He resumed, saying: Peace is also given. "Peace I give you; my peace I leave with you." The apostle, addressing the Philippians, says, "Be careful for nothing." Oh, what afflictions we have in this life. Sometimes we are cast down, clouds overhead are dark, but Jesus whispers, let not your hearts be troubled. Somehow or other I feel just now to be very close to my Lord. Let all the earth be silent, I feel that I know; let us step in. Let your requests be known unto God. The peace of God that passeth all understanding shall keep your hearts. It will keep him in perfect peace whose mind is stayed on God. However hard and rugged the way, let your mind be stayed on God. A Christian soldier must not be a coward, but bearing himself nobly under the promises, trust in God. The question is asked, Is it possible to possess joy in the midst of sorrow? Yes, my experience enables me to say yes. All things work together for good to them that love the Lord, for the eternal God is your refuge, and underneath are his everlasting arms, unfathomable rich, unsearchable. But death is coming on; how about that? Well, the sting of death is sin. Jesus has cancelled your sins. The sting is removed. As the Christian pilgrim approaches the dark waters he exclaims, "Though I walk through the valley and shadow of death I will fear no evil, for thou art with me, thy rod and staff they comfort me." What are the blessings of the future? First, an heritage incorrupted, undefiled and that fadeth not away. There is no poorer people on this continent than my people, but there is no time when we may not read our title clear to mansions in which there are and thieves never enter. The spotless robe of white will wear he moth eater, the golden streets will never be rewind, the gates of pearl will never be broken. Imperishable treasures are ours there. Eye hath not seen, nor has it entered into the heart of man to conceive the great blessings reserved for us. But salvation is too glorious and grand, the magnanimous and abundant to be restricted to a mere religion. Christianity is a part of that great scheme of Providence which includes the glory and honor of God's own Son. The gift bestowed is made commensurate with the dignity of Him by whom it is bestowed. "For the joy that was set before him Christ endured the cross, despising the shame, that he might bring many sons to glory—and includes you and me. We shall see him as he is some day. We have a grander conception of God here. We have our views, we see through a glass darkly now; after awhile we shall see him as he is. We shall know each other there. We shall see the great Host in his heavenly and help to crown him King of kings and Lord of Lords. Are our cities will be so enlarged that we shall not have room? Is it well our friends as they are. God would not have been so great pains to make the name that express our most tender and holy and precious, so sweet, if he intended to take us to leaven to forget the most sweet relationships. The Scriptures are replete in assertions warranting our expecting an enlarged state of heaven. I cannot dwell longer upon the great theme. Let us notice the duties that are given this glorious preferment of the gospel in many. Now in what our God says of other servants. Set forth, he doubtless referred to the gift of the gospel to the Jews, to whom the gospel was first preached, but they made light of it, and treated the man's invite despitefully. Jesus' own people were most spiteful in receiving Jesus. It is the history of the Jews to reject as the Saviour do we see anything despite of ourselves. Do we neglect? Do we not sadly slight the overtures of the gospel? The Lord does not invite to worldly pleasure, but to spiritual blessings; for instance, pardon Suppose a prince was to by my side and was designed to have one of these sail Bishop Turner to Africa for the planting Africa as soon as $10,000 could be raised for the work. Bishop Shorter is settling liberally thereto. Following his suggestion the Board has been directed to call upon the people for $10,000 each.

I affirm that under the law the Missionary Board is the legally constituted missionary authority of the Church, and that it is with them to send missionaries and teachers for the foreign and to send no missionary of any one but the Board. Let us have united, earnest action. Let us lay aside personal considerations; let everything be done upon agreement and according to law; thus and then will there be a united people will be encouraged and God's name be glorified. Now, we have just a few suggestions or recommendations from any one member to be considered and acted upon by the Board of any one Bishop were to insist upon raising funds and sending out missionaries to Africa independent of the Board, we can never succeed, for all would be confusion. Bishop Shorter has exercised supervision of all the mission fields of the Church except Africa, and as a meeting of the Bishops, perhaps the following year, Bishop Turner was appointed at the head of another branch of our Church work and Bishop Cain was given the control of the African work. For the sums or similar reasons he (Bishop Cain) did not go. Thus things continued until the meeting of the last General Conference in Baltimore, at which time all previous appointments and segregations ceased, but that last General Conference amended the law so as to place the management of all foreign missions and missionaries under the control of the Board of which all the Bishops are members, one of whom was to be president and superintending bishop. The following is the law regulating this matter:

"One of the Bishops appointed by the General Conference shall be Bishop in charge. By virtue of their office the remaining Bishops are vice presidents. The principal duty of the general supervision of all the mission fields of the Church except Africa, and the immediate control and support of annual conference."—Discipline, page 323, Article VI.

In keeping with the above law I was unanimously elected by the General Conference President of the Board, and therefore, superintending Bishop over all the mission fields of our Church outside of the annual conference boundaries except Africa. Bishop Shorter and all foreign fields in which our church may be established. Bishop Payne was placed at the head of the Sunday School Union. Bishop Cain at the Publishing Department, Bishop Lee at the Educational Department, Bishop Turner at the Parent Missionary Association, Bishop Gaines at the Financial Department, &c. The arrangement of the General Conference presided the necessity of annual appointments by the Bishops, except in the case of Bishop Turner in Africa. This engraver was the only man in the Church who could be trusted with cutting the image of Bishop Asbury on one side of the Quarterly Review Cross. He had been employed by the Rt. Rev. Bishop Dickerson and Dr. Arnett to cut the image of Bishop Asbury as well as with gold), which were issued for the Centennial Celebration of Methodism. The price of these medals was regulated principally by the making of the dies, which cost from $600 to $800. Now, the engraver, having the dies already made, can furnish them at much less cost. The engraver was the only man in the Church who could cut the image of Bishop Asbury on one side of the Quarterly Review Cross. The President of Wilberforce University, Dr. McDonald, engaged him to make the medals immediately, paying him some money in advance, and hoping thereby to get them at a much better Endowment Day. He was disappointed in the price, and to increase the interest in the educational work the medals did not come soon enough; consequently the Board was not ready to act. Grace is offered, but we neglect the grace of God, and the Saviour's grace; our private devotions our public services are neglected. Peace is offered, but we, alas! make light of it, and in the madness of cares wreck themselves to everlasting ruin. Let us then turn and hear the precious invitation to peace. Be the great God ever lastingly joyous future is ridiculed often when presented. But how shall we escape if we reject so great salvation? May the Holy Ghost impress our hearts now. Let us now time and eternity. Let us no longer make light of this, the most momentous subject, the salvation of our souls.

Sunday night Bishop Campbell preached the ordination sermon from the text, Rom. 1, 16. The Bishop introduced his subject by giving a running statement of Christian evidences as the basis of the great gospel subject

NOTICE.

A NEW DEPARTURE IN THE RECORDER SALES BUSINESS.

On and after September 1st, all agencies for RECORDER sales will be made anew and on a different plan, indicated below. Present agents must settle in full up to the last issue in August, which will be on the 27th. Our new rules will be as follows: 1st. On appointing an agent he or she must sign a written, contract binding each to sell and return one-half of the sales money to us monthly and to make a full settlement of all claims at the end of every three months. 2nd. All papers unsold to be carefully preserved and reported with each settlement and held subject to our orders. They must be counted, bound and returned to us when required. 3rd. Such agents will be allowed one-third of each annual subscription they obtain for the paper at $1.50 per year, they retaining fifty cents of each dollar as net cos dollar. Or, they can take subscriptions on our installment plan, collecting 50 cents in advance every two months, and sending us 20 cents.

These rules will be strictly applied to all except regular itinerant ministers. We are compelled to do this for the protection of the Department against severe loss. Our present list numbers two and sixty thousand copies annually. Two-fifths, or one hundred and four thousand copies are sent out by agents. On this number we lose from $1,200 to $1,500 year. Believing that all our brethren will like any plan which promises avoidance of this great loss, we have resolved on the above rules. Please read them, note well and prepare to settle at once.

NOTE.—These new agreements will be signed by April 1st, 1886, or will be become or continue agents after September 1st.

ADVICE TO MOTHERS.

Mrs. WINSLOW'S SOOTHING SYRUP should always be used for children teething. It soothes the child, softens the gums, allays all pain; cures wind colic, and is the best remedy for diarrhœa. Twenty-five cents a bottle.

With the drunkard life is real.

Catarrh is a constitutional disease. Hood's Sarsaparilla is a constitutional remedy. It cures catarrhine. Give it a trial.

DON'T SUFFER.

An old prescription, retired from practice, having had placed in his hands by an East India missionary the formula of a simple vegetable remedy for the speedy and permanent cure of Consumption, Bronchitis, Catarrh, Asthma and all Throat and Lung Affections, also a positive and radical cure for Nervous Debility, is all they so much desire, after having tested its wonderful curative powers in thousands of cases, has felt it his duty to make it known to his suffering fellows. Actuated by this motive and a desire to relieve human suffering, I will send free of charge, to all who desire it, this recipe, in German, French or English, with full directions for preparing and using. TO THE MINISTERS AND MEMBERS OF THE A. M. E. Church:

1st. We will give to every minister who will send with the Dollar Money by the 15th of August a gold medal of Bishops Payne and Ashury. Who will be the first to send in the money? for we need it to pay the Bishops and General Officers of the Church and to help the Metropolitan Church.

2d. The pastor sending the largest amount of money by the 15th of August, 1885, I will give him "Bishop Turner's Book," or Dr. Tanner's "Outlines."

3d. Send in the money soon! Send it to Xenia, Ohio.

4th. Do the best you can to help me.

5th. We must have seventy-five thousand dollars this year. Who will be the first to start the ball—the Dollar Bill? Send on the dollars.

6th. Let every minister raise one dollar for each member this year. Try it soon let your light shine.

7th. I will give a present to every church in the connection that will raise one dollar for each member. We will then see if we can't have a united effort and the pastors who will raise one dollar for or from each of his members will be the first supplied and will get published in the Budget of 1886.

The Bishops and General Officers must be paid.

The Metropolitan Church in Washington must be completed, by order of this General Conference. It is under way and when it is done it will be the grandest church in the connection when completed.

Don't wait for the conference but send the money to B. W. Arnett, Xenia, Ohio, as soon as you get it. If it is a small, send it anyway. Small amounts help in very much.

I am yours,

B. W. ARNETT,

Wilberforce, Ohio.

Manager's Notes.

We have on hand the Revised Version of the Bible, just issued from the press. Two styles, $1 and $2 per copy. We want to sell them now. Please order them. Beautiful paper, clear type and most interesting reading. You never saw so clearly the meaning of many things as you will find in this new old Book!

Wakefield's Theology, the standard theological text book, adopted by the Bishops for the course of study. $2.50 by mail at your risk; $2.25 by express. Please order them. They are here and must be sold.

Then we have an excellent book—"Fifty Years and Beyond,"—a charming thing for older people and for those who intend to be old. It sends up—not down—the shining pathway of years with a bang and song. $2.00, postpaid. Must be sold. We have many more, but can't speak of them now.

What we must say

now, is that we are opening a regular campaign for the CHRISTIAN RECORDER. We want two thousand new subscribers, and all the old ones to renew. Now, appreciating the dullness of the times, we have resolved to put the paper within the reach of all, adopting the installment plan.

Installment

costs a little more, but is easier because it gives more time. Hence, we make the following offer to all who desire to have the RECORDER:

Send us 25 Cents and we will enroll your name in a special book kept for that purpose and will send you the paper for sixty days; then send us 50 cents, and two months after 50 cents, and two months later 50 cents more. Total, $1.75.

All our Pastors

are Agents for the RECORDER, and are hereby authorized to present this proposition to their people and receive their enrollment fee (25 cents), and give their receipt for the same. Note.—We will send a few blank slips of receipts to all who will act for us in this matter.]

On this Plan

we give full six months for paying the subscription.

"Pastor's Memorandum Book," by Rev. C. T. Shaffer. Price, 45 cents, no discount. An excellent book.

NOTICE.

All questions and business pertaining to advertisements, to men in the Recorder, and requesting correspondence to the Recorder, should be addressed to Rev. J. C. Embry, Business Manager; not to the editor. There is no part of the business of this establishment requiring money to be sent to the editor; for communications for the Recorder go to the Manager. All orders for changing address of papers, subscribing Sunday school or Church supplies, must be sent to the Manager, not the editor. Please remember, nothing addressed to the editor relative to the support of education, showing that there is not only opportunity afforded to all children regardless of color, but also that the white man's taxes go very largely towards the education of the colored children. The State appropriates annually $6,000 to the Huntsville Colored Normal School, $4,000 to another colored normal school and $5,000 to the Mushaway Normal School. In his remarks, however, he said the two races had different spheres and different duties. Just how much the Governor included in his words, of course we cannot know; but he may have meant to express the sentiment so general that the negro's aspirations must not extend to the right reached by the white man. We also think he might mean simply that the colored people have peculiar duties regulated by circumstances which they may change and bring themselves to the better conditions and then have the spheres of the white and blacks as the whites. Which did he mean?

THE TUSKEGEE NORMAL SCHOOL

Having read and heard much of this institution, we readily accepted the invitation to spend Friday, 11th inst., there. Tuskegee is a small, very old town, the seat of Macon county, Alabama. Its site is elevated, its streets wide, its buildings very many of them new and all are moving about in that peculiarly easy and quiet manner that characterizes nearly all Southern towns. The school is situated just outside the corporation. There are two hundred acres or more of land belonging to the institution. On it are two large buildings, Porter Hall and Alabama Hall; the former containing recitation rooms, the library, offices, chapel, young ladies' study and sewing room; the latter contains the ladies' dormitories, reading room, parlor and the general students' dining room. Those two buildings are very large, well built and carefully kept. Alabama Hall is not quite completed. It is four stories, including the basement. It has been constructed by students under the direction of the general manager of the farm, Prof. Ferguson, and Prof. Brown Washington in carpentry. Ferguson has sewn made and burnt all the bricks. There are nearly three hundred students in attendance, coming from Alabama and the States contiguous. The faculty is composed of ladies and gentlemen of noble bearing, good scholarship and excellent teaching ability. We attended the recitations in a variety of topics and pronounce the instructors at Tuskegee equal to the best. The air of general life at the institution is business like, enthusiastic, energetic, courteous, intellectual and Christian. There are no fewer looking students on the contrabands. Those attending the Tuskegee Normal School. They all perform manual labor in pay for their board, eight dollars per month, tuition being free. The have the following branches of industry for young ladies, cooking, laundrying sod sewing. For young gentlemen, carpentry, blacksmithing, farming, masonry, painting and printing. The common schools are under their control, thus affording an avenue for the immediate activity of several of their students under the direction of the Principal of the Normal work, and a class of advancing students, well prepared to enter the institution. The aim of this school is not intellectual culture, seems to be not so much to take the pupil into the higher realms of learning as to give him a thorough comprehension of the fundamental elements, so well equipping him that he is able to continue his studies under the very best advantages, either privately or in a more advanced institution. The teachers are chiefly Hampton students and are modeling their school after Hampton generally. This is the system of education that is bound to win to a Republic like ours where, between the servant class and master class, there must be a continual change of places year by year, regulated by the variations of fortune, the development of intellect, the exercise of genius and stability of morals. The State of Alabama appropriates $3,000 annually to this school; besides this, there are persons in the North pouring into their treasury almost a constant stream of aid. Principal Washington and Assistant Principal Miss Davidson are meeting with surprising success soliciting. The State food and the Peabody fund, together with many handsome donations by societies of women as well as men, are enabling the institution not only to perpetuate its influences, but also to develop its facilities. Professor Washington and his assistants are well worthy the confidence manifested in them both by patrons and supporters.

TALKING WITH a good old Georgian a few days ago, we could feel a sense of sadness as he said, "All the great men of our State are now dead, except Joe Brown. Joe Brown's got more sense than all the other men in the State. There's Bra Hill, Alexander H. Stephens, Cobbs and that class; well, Toombs still lives, but is fast dying. Our great men are all gone. It is over-production in the workers." But there is it not barely possible that this last expression, instead of being the key to the powers that produce great men, is the betrayal of the secret of the present lack of great men? Education, our girls, Colonel, quite equally with your boys; then Georgia will regain her former greatness. As education that relates to but one side of man is not likely to produce strong men.

WE SPENT a few hours in Charlotte, North Carolina, December 2nd. This place has a rather unenviable record relative to the oppression of colored people, both in the anti-bellum and post-bellum days. Dr. Tanner and the editor of the RECORDER visited the North Carolina Conference of the M. E. Church, South, Bishop Keener presiding. It was a rather pleasant affair. Even though we were unnoticed, we were unmolested in the enjoyment of a comfortable seat of our own selection in the main auditorium. One striking feature of their proceedings was the large mortality that had taken place among the ministers in the previous year. The most of the deaths were of men who had retired from twenty-five to fifty years.

OUR READERS will observe a considerable modification in the tone of the Mobile Register, an article from which we herewith publish, on the way in which it used to speak of the race. It does not yet speak as it should speak and as it can honorably afford to speak. In intimation is that the colored ministers are more nearly right than formerly on the consideration that in the earlier days they advised the masses of our people how to vote and that "how" was Republican. Now they are advising more to education and industry and less to voting. But withal the fact that the Register recognizes the power of our ministry is worth much and is to be taken as a sign of the dawn of better days for our race in the South.

ON CHRISTMAS story is the production of a beautiful little daughter of our esteemed brother, the Rev. Lawrence Thomas, of Columbus, Ga.

THE DEATH of Mr. Vanderbilt was unexpected. So are the deaths of nearly all men; yet what should he so much expected as death?

EDITORIAL CORRESPONDENCE.

THE ALABAMA CONFERENCE.

In company with Dr. Townsend we entered Montgomery, Ala., Tuesday morning, 8th inst. The Alabama Conference, Bishop T. A. Payne, D.D., presiding, met on Friday, December 4th, Bishop Turner assisting. The conference session was characterized by considerable trouble concerning alleged irregularities on the part of two ministers. There was some excitement and strong sentiment in the Alabama Conference, men whose loyalty, enterprise, learning and piety commend them to their great constituency as well worthy the high trust which has been reposed in their counsels. Yet, as in all our work, Alabama needs more strong men. We come up with our good agent, the Rev. M. R. Wilcox, at Montgomery. Surely the people have reason to be proud of their brother well did in respect to the outer man, for he is as fleshy as is consistent with a hook agent.

"I am well for an old man," was the reply of Bishop Payne to our inquiry concerning his health. Well he might have said so, for, though, at sixty-six, showing the marks of years, he is strong in the maintenance of the qualities that have signalized him among men for the past forty-five years. The contrast between him and Bishop Turner is great, but it is an excellent contrast, bringing out between the conservatism of the one and the energy of the other a splendid combination.

Elder Townsend, being obliged to leave early Wednesday morning, held the Missionary meeting Tuesday night. A severe rain storm prevented a large congregation. Services were opened by Rev. Wm. Bradwell.

Bishop Turner made one of his characteristic enthusiastic addresses on Africa. His eloquence depicted the hopefulness of the negro-land and the negro race is exceedingly glowing colors. It is well known that the Bishop's race theory loolodes the thought that the red man is the representative of the past, the white men the representative of the present and the black man the representative of the great future.

The financial reports show a very close condition of affairs in the State. Some Dollar Money reports reached only one and seven-tenths per cent. per capita. One minister had received but nine dollars salary. He had purchased a lot and built a church with $300; another had three members, three probationers and two local preachers.

SUNDAY'S SERVICES.

The morning services were very thoughtful and impressive. Bishop Payne preached respecting the Christian home.

In the afternoon Bishop Payne delivered a large Sunday school meeting. Addresses were made by Revs. Mixon, of the North Alabama Conference; C. E. Harris, of the Alabama Cosference; M. R. Wilcox, ser agent; C. S. Smith, and others. The speeches were good. The large audience appreciated the departure from the usual course of Sunday afternoon meetings. Secretary Smith was very enthusiastic. It was his day.

At night Dr. Smith preached from the text, Isaiah 45, 2. Subject, "Divine Providenm in the Settlement of Race Problems." It is unnecessary to comment on a sermon by Dr. Smith. He had preached to the Montgomery people often when in the State legislature. They were glad to see their former courageous young champion.

The financial condition is, to many minds, better as the year ends. Dollar Money reaching about $200 more than then. There were several pastors whose respective salaries had not reached $100; but we must remember that many of our ministers who report from $10 to $150 salary per year, have probably conducted a considerable secular business. But there is no doubt that dues are hard in Alabama. There are thousands of men out of employment. It is said that, in Mobile county the are five hundred colored men with absolutely nothing to do. There are comparatively few who are receiving living wages for their labor. Twenty-five to seventy-five cents is all that is paid for a day's work at common labor, with rarest exceptions.

The essays of the conference included some good ones. The better were those of Revs. Derricks, Dixon and Harris, the latter being excellent. The scholarship of this conference has been retarded by ruggedness of the work and the sparseness of schools at which the brethren could study, to say nothing of the fewness of men able to assist in secreting the itinerant ranks from time to time. Added to those difficulties is the, that nearly all of the work is arranged in large circuits. There are some members of the conference who will make very useful men. They are all courteous and thoughtful. The work of education is retarded by various circumstances.

The complete failure of the conference in their attempt to establish the Garfield Memorial University has tended to discourage them. They are said to have sunk, unrecoverably, over $2,000.

The evenings of the conference were devoted to anniversary meetings and the discussion of topics relative to the General Departments. Our business was very poor at Montgomery. Of course we were, M. R. Wilcox, represented as chiefly.

Dr. Dorcett is meeting with great success in medical and surgical practice in Montgomery. The surgical operations that have been performed by his skilled hand have been of such character as to attract the attention of not his immediate co-practitioners alone, but, in one case, the medical profession of the world.

Dr. Dorcett is a man of splendid physique, which bearing, affable disposition and courteous recognition of manhood. His office is in the central part of the city and wears a highly professional appearance. His personal and social reputation in Montgomery stands A No. 1, as his professional. In him are the prophecies of an excellent future.

SOME ENTERPRISING MEN.

There are several extensive contracting builders in the city of Montgomery. Among these are James Hales, the former-in-law of Dr. Dorcett, and W. M. Watkins, both of whom have amassed considerable real estate and have done some of the finest jobs of carpentry in the city.

Mr. Lovelace is doing a large mercantile business, as is Mr. G. W. Washington, formerly member of the Alabama legislature and a prominent politician. Elder Harmon, of the Zion Church, is also engaged in mercantile pursuits. He is a carpenter by trade and a good one, too, of course we do not say it is true, that thinking his end was nigh a year or so ago, he willed his entire property to his "old master." This true or not, the still lives and lives on the sunshine from his property. May he live long enough to change his will and turn his wealth over to Zion Wesley Institute, is the "prayer of your unworthy servant."

THE CHURCHES.

The Baptists have two large congregations in the city. The Second Baptist Church folks are erecting a fine building on the more comely site in the city, about midway between the government buildings and the capitol building, on the corner of Decatur Street and Dexter Avenue, the finest and greatest business street in Montgomery. This new building is of brick, has a good basement and is 85x56. The church represents the more progressive element of the Baptist people of the city, hence the more open sesame of the colored people was easily overcome. The old mother church and set up for themselves. The "white folks" were seriously opposed to their building on the popular corner, but once again from the capitol grounds, and offered them great financial inducements to exchange that site for another less pretentious. Elder McCane, the pastor, it is said, informed them that he would have to appoint a committee to wait on the Lord before giving them a reply. When he reported back negatively the "white folks" thought him a hard-headed representative of a hard-headed class. The city papers so published the Baptist people of that church, declaring them a nuisance and urging white men to withhold all aid from them. Thus far they have scarcely been called on, but it is altogether probable that the tasteful, specious church building will decidedly protect that in which the white Baptists worship, will tend to overcome this perverseness and that they will finally be glad to help their brethren. The members of this church were very kind to us, and, notwithstanding numbers of conference, and really seemed determined to out-methodist the Meth-dists in this respect.

The African Methodist Church is large, beautiful building, richly furnished inside, having a basement. It is nearly out of debt. The members and friends took excellent care of the ecefrrecoe. There was one peculiarity connected with thier relationship to the conference that struck us, that is that comparatively few attended the evening meetings. At the North Carolina and the North Georgia Conferences the evening audiences were so great that there was little room for all. There was room enough at Montgomery.

REAL ESTATE.

The proportion of real estate owned by colored people exists that of the other cities that have come under our observation. The growth of the city is very commendably set off and arranged. It includes some of the nicest houses of the city. Some individual holders have twelve or fifteen houses. The paris settled by colored people are neat and inviting. There are signs of thrift among them throughout the city. Near the city many also two large tracts of land; in some cases reaching above a thousand acres.

THE SCHOOLS.

There are three school buildings in the city. The one which case on the Swayne, School of which Prof. Dones was principal. The other on Jackson Avenue School, of which Prof. Lewis, of Macon, Ga., is principal. There are about 800 pupils in the schools of the city. They are as fine looking as any other 800 children in the State of Alabama. The institutions are very well prepared for their work and they perform it in a very commendable way. We shall say more about these schools and others in a later issue. We simply say here that any one who visits them and observes their movements on hut have large hopes for the race.

Personal.

—Dr. Smith is exciting the Church to higher activity in respect to Sunday school work.

—Mr. Thomas Smith, of Montgomery county, Alabama, owns over one thousand acres of land.

—Revs. Job Jett and Rogulus Person were in the first Alabama Conference and are still traveling.

—Rev. I. N. Fitzpatrick, Secretary of the Alabama Conference, was re-appointed to Bethel Church, Montgomery.

—Rev. William Bradwell, especially appointed to Mobile, Ala., is one of our pioneers, having been there twenty years since coming from the Georgia Conference.

—The Rev. Lewis Hillery has been in the Alabama Conference since its organization. He is now stationed at Union Springs.

—For one hundred and fifty persons have been added to the Church in the St. Joseph, Mo., District within the present year and a purchase secured at Hiawatha. The people in that district are earnestly at work.

—Rev. John Jasper, the Southern colored preacher of strong astronomical convictions, is the author of a book that has been offered a handsome sum for a British lecturing tour, and, at last accounts, was considering the proposal.

—R. J. Smith, Esq., formerly of Washington, D. C., graduate of Howard University law school, and brother-in-law of Dr. Dorcett, and W. M. Watkins, both of whom have amassed considerable real estate and have done some of the finest jobs of carpentry in the city.

—Rev. C. E. Harris, the polished scholar of the conference, was appointed to the capital, where, in the reconstruction period, he was a leader in our legislature he, with nineteen others, including Rev. S. S. Smith, held the "other side" at bay for several days.

—Rev. F. J. Brown has filled several of the important charges in the Alabama Conference with success and satisfaction to the people. A large petition was made by the Opelika people for his return, but the wisdom of the appointing power gave him a wider position.

—The veteran photographer, J. P. Ball, was at the Alabama Conference and took a very correct picture of the conference in three groups. It is said that Mr. Ball has been the best photographer west of the Alleghanies. For many years he ranked among the most popular artists on Fourth street, Cincinnati.

—A committee from the joint meeting of stewards and trustees of Bethel A. M. E. Church, Quincy, Ill., at a recent farewell reception to Rev. J. W. Henderson, the retiring pastor, presented him a purse containing his departure and declaring that their relations to each other have always been of the most cordial character in business and social intercourse.

—The Rev. Glenn Hunter joined the Alabama Conference in 1876. His first appointment was Mt. Zion Circuit. Afterwards he served Selma and Prospect Ville. At the conference of 1883 he was appointed presiding elder of the Union Springs District. He has purchased property at every place he has served. He is a native of Georgia but has spent the most of his life in Alabama.

EDUCATIONAL DOTS.

BY REV. WM. D. JOHNSON, D.D., SECRETARY OF EDUCATION.

The last Redowment Day, general rains throughout the South notwithstanding, realized $10,000 against $6,000 last year. We have just returned from visiting the Macon, North Carolina and North Georgia Conferences. Capacity, earnestness and energy marked all their proceedings. The full notes of Rev. Dr. B. F. Lee, Rev. R. R. Dowos and others render it unnecessary for extended remarks here. Rev. Dr. B. T. Tanner and myself visited the Allen University, Columbia, S. C., and found in President J. W. Morris and his noble faculty working like busy bees instructing the two hundred students in attendance. Morris Brown College, of Atlanta, is largely attended under the sea of collegiate life. Prof. I. M. Burgan, of Paul Quinn College, Waco, Texas, writes: "The school is in a prosperous condition, but sadly needing money." Johnson College, of South Carolina, will shortly re-open at Kittrell Spriuce, where they have accommodations for three hundred students.

THE ANNIVERSARY OF THE LITERARY SOCIETIES.

Our needs are so pressing that we earnestly call upon every minister and friend of education to make January 1st, all of the societies of the connection the first Monday night in January, particulars of which will be given in another column of the RECORDER. Let the first Lord's day in January be set apart as a day of prayer and let there be collected on Out of the ears at least two hundred dollars will have $1,000 for the book ground rent, gas bills, conveyancing, &c. This will leave seven hundred dollars; this would leave seven hundred dollars for the committee to raise, but in addition to the $1,000 as insurance to be secured, which willbe nearly one hundred dollars more. Let other leaders and the committees, on touching up, find it will be found that $1,000 will be raised on the day of January at least eight hundred or eight hundred and fifty dollars to meet every expense. Not eight hundred and fifty dollars have been collected at all the anniversaries, but all we do ask is that all the societies shall be raised on the fourth Sabbath of this present month at the several meeting in Quinn Street Church.

The property that has been taken in the enterprise by the good, Christian people of Bethel and other churches warrants the committee to the holler that at the grand opening and re-dedication on the third Sabbath in January, 1886, they will be able to secure the whole amount. Let not the last dollar of the first of January. The presiding Elders, B. H. Cain, D.D., and Bishop J. P. Campbell, D.D., LL.D., will both be present and officiate; also the Book Agents Manager, Rev. J. C. Embry. The programme of services for the occasion will be published in time.

OBSERVER.

Philadelphia, Pa.

From the Mobile Register.

A DANGER TO BE GUARDED AGAINST.

The Boston Herald sees a "new danger" for the South in the future. It says: "The bidding of money for the votes of the colored citizens in the recent election in Atlanta points to a new peril in the future. When the black vote shall be divided, and bought with object of solicitation by rival party agents, suppression or defrauding will give place to corruption. Education, social and moral, is the only safeguard for the future."

Without referring to the intimation by the Herald that suppression and cheating as regards the colored vote have been extensive in this section, we remark to the Boston Herald observer that the danger that it apprehends has long been the subject of anxious thought by many in the South. It is no idle fear that a large portion of the colored vote may in time be bought and sold at elections, and our politics become so corrupt as to bring evil upon us. Already is local elections the power of money over the negro vote has been shown. It is true that many colored men score a bribe, but the intelligent majority of the race with scorn at the idea of the danger that we allude to is not an apprehension.

That education, moral and moral, is the only safeguard against this danger we realize fully. To bring the case, the utmost care should be exercised to choose persons who are well qualified to act as teachers for the colored youth. But how can the grown men and women be reached? They can be reached to a great extent through an educated ordinary, and therefore every effort that is made by the different denominations to train colored men for the work of the ministry is an effort in the direction of making colored men better citizens of the State and of the nation. Much of the hopefulness of the race is the years immediately following the war was due to the intelligence and incredible zeal of the unlearned colored preachers. Now the educated preacher is demanding a supervisor of peace, good order and good will, more and more. The work of education is a delightfully big mind.

As for the rest, we all should acknowledge that on colored voters the responsibilities they incurred when they were enfranchised are being doubled as each We should seek to elevate them and make them understand the ostere of the ballot and that the fact that their permanence depends on the character of the voters of the country, and on the exclusion of corruption from public affairs. Revolutions never go backward. The colored vote has come to stay. We must seek to improve him.

TWO SIGNIFICANT PARAGRAPHS.

In Georgia colored people own 600,000 acres of load and pay taxes on about $10,000,000 of property. In the South colored people pay their taxable property is put down at about $100,000,000. Of this amount almost all but $1,000,000 is paid during Bishop D. A. Payne's term as Presiding Bishop of the Seventh First Episcopal District, he asked the question, "What is the reason for the responsibleship condition?" A brother answered the question by repeating the language of one of the speakers at that church, it being this: "During a recent revival service, when at least two or three score persons professed faith in the Lord Jesus Christ," he said the majority all were from among the anxious seat shouting and singing the words, 'This is not my home, I'm long to a foreign land;' and shouted down the aisle, out of the door and into the street, the last of them." They were seen at Bethel and other churches that they were not prepared to be at home in the world. Of course we do not say it is true, that thinking his end was nigh a year or so ago, he willed his entire property to his "old master." This true or not, the still lives and lives on the sunshine from his property. May he live long enough to change his will and turn his wealth over to Zion Wesley Institute, is the "prayer of your unworthy servant."

Bishop Payne, to us, is a splendid illustration of the fact that the mind is the man. Physically he is not strong, but mentally he is a giant. Of course the book of life will not be opened until the judgment day, but we have no doubt that when it is opened Bishop Payne's physique will be found to have been a splendid mind.

CONCERNING THE MANAGER'S APPEAL

HEAR WHAT THEY SAY.

The preachers' weekly meeting of Philadelphia and vicinity, embracing points in New Jersey, passed a resolution on Monday last endorsing the Business Manager's appeal to the Church for a general collection January 24th, to be applied on the publication debt, paying off the old bills. They pledged themselves to do all in their power to make the movement a success. Thos. Gould was chairman and Bro. Bolton secretary.

I hope and pray you much success. I hope your project for extra efforts in raising funds to liquidate the standing debt will be duly considered, heartily accepted, vigorously carried out and made a blessing to the Church.

Faithfully yours,
JAS. H. A. JOHNSON,
Bishop.

I heartily appreciate the situation of the Business Manager of our Publishing House and will present the matter to the Philadelphia Conference, which is now in session, and will do what I can to help the publication of the sermons of our late lamented brother, Rev. Dr. Pierce, in January; but where men have circuits as I have (each of which is two days.

Respectfully,
F. C. CREWS.

TRENTON, N. J., Dec. 18th, 1885.

DR. EMBRY:—Dear Brother: Your circular requesting me to take a collection in my charge is before me. Allow me to say that I am in full sympathy with the efforts of the Education Department. I like your plan much and would commend it to all the brethren. I will attend to the matter on the Sunday in January, D. V. I think if all the pastors do likewise it will bring together a large sum.

WM. H. YOCUM.

BATESVILLE, ARK., Dec. 15th, 1885.
DEAR BROTHER:—Enclosed find $10, my helper. I shall make one tremendous effort to help you out of debt.

M. F. A. EASTON.

FROM NEW MEXICO.

BY FRANK WILLIAMS.

It is quite seldom, I presume, that you ever receive a communication from this section of our connection, and I propose to supply us with reference to the doings of the A. M. E. Church here. I therefore, perhaps, be proper to make a few preliminary or explanatory remarks as to the condition of the soil before I sow the seed.

I believe it is not generally known throughout the East that there is a church of the A. M. E. connection in the south-west territory. Yet it is true. Just three years ago Elder A. H. Dunlap was sent to New Mexico by the Kansas Conference and organized the first congregation in the Territory. Elder Dunlap remained here, having in his charge all that were of African descent, for a year or more, from the time of his arrival some time in the month of March, 1884, when he left, and in May, in the same year, he sent us Rev. J. C. Curtis, who remained with us until the following September, when the conference met in Kansas City, and was returned to us by the action of the conference, and the Presiding Elder of Kansas, Rev. Dr. Lee, in the fall of 1885, at which time Rev. J. Wilson was appointed to this charge. Rev. Wilson has since arrived to take charge of the work.

On the 15th of last July, Presiding Elder B. F. Watson paid us a visit with the intention of holding a quarterly meeting, but owing to the inclemency of the weather, and the fact that the people were not notified in time, the meeting was postponed until the 25th of July, when we made arrangements for a lot on which to build a church, which we secured a contract with parties to put an adobe building on the lot for us to worship in. We succeeded in raising some funds and the builders went to work and completed the house in about three months after between the minister and the builders, which left us $90 to pay. We also bought an Episcopal Methodist Hymn Book, which cost us $2.50, and a Bible, which cost us $3.50. We have also purchased a stove, which cost us $20.00, and have paid out for other necessaries about $20.00 more, leaving a balance of $50.00 still due on the house. We have also purchased a lot on which to build a parsonage, which cost us $100.00, and have paid $50.00 on the same, leaving a balance of $50.00 still due on the lot. We have also purchased a lot on which to build a parsonage, which cost us $100.00, and have paid $50.00 on the same, leaving a balance of $50.00 still due on the lot. We have also purchased a lot on which to build a parsonage, which cost us $100.00, and have paid $50.00 on the same, leaving a balance of $50.00 still due on the lot.

Our membership is small, numbering only twenty-five, but we are all of one mind and one spirit, and are determined to push the work of the Lord to the front. We have a Sunday school of about thirty scholars, with Sister Mary Williams as superintendent, and Sister Mary Williams as assistant superintendent. We have a prayer meeting every Thursday evening, and preaching every Sunday morning and evening. We have a Quarterly Conference every three months, and a Love-feast every first Sunday morning in each month. We have a Missionary Society, with Sister Mary Williams as president, and Sister Mary Williams as secretary. We have a Temperance Society, with Sister Mary Williams as president, and Sister Mary Williams as secretary. We have a Literary Society, with Sister Mary Williams as president, and Sister Mary Williams as secretary. We have a Debating Society, with Sister Mary Williams as president, and Sister Mary Williams as secretary. NOTICE.

A NEW DEPARTURE IN THE RECORDER SALES BUSINESS.

On and after September 1st, all agencies for RECORDER sales will be made anew and on a different plan, indicated below. Present agents must settle in full up to the last issue in August, which will be on the 27th. Our new rules will be as follows: 1st. On appointing an agent he or she must sign a written contract binding each to sell and return one-half of the sales money to us monthly and to make a full settlement of all claims at the end of every three months. 2nd. All papers unsold to be carefully preserved and reported with each settlement and held subject to our orders. They must be counted, bound and returned to us when required. 3rd. Such agents will be allowed one-third of each annual subscription they obtain for the paper at $1.50 per year, they retaining fifty cents and sending us a net one dollar. Or, they can take subscriptions on our installment plan, collecting 30 cents in advance every two months, and sending us 20 cents.

These rules will be strictly applied to all except regular itinerant ministers. We are compelled to do this for the protection of the Department against severe loss. We issue about two hundred and sixty thousand copies annually. Two-fifths, or one hundred and four thousand copies are sent out to agents. On this number we lose from $1,200 to $1,500 year. Believing that all our brethren will favor any plan which promises avoidance of this great loss, we have resolved on the above rules. Please read them, note well and prepare to settle at once.

NOTE.—These new agreements will be furnished in blank to all who wish to become or continue agents after September 1st.

HORSFORD'S ACID PHOSPHATE,

A RELIABLE ARTICLE.

Dr. E. Cutter, Boston, Mass., says: "I found it to realize the expectations raised, and regard it as a reliable article."

The fare from Portland, Or., to Vanconver, W. T., is ten cents each way, owing to steamboat competition.

All statues in the squares and public gardens of Paris must be furnished hereafter with inscriptions indicating the subject represented.

Tinder boxes are still made in limited numbers, as there are yet a few families in England that adhere to that old method of striking a light.

A family named Warman, in Upper New Jersey, recently received news that they were heirs to a fortune in England of several million dollars the famous prima donna, has written an article on "The Right and Wrong Methods of Teaching Singing," for the YOUTH'S COMPANION. This is her first appearance as an author, but her article is said to be of remarkable value and interest.

CHRISTINE NILSSON,

The offered reward of a guinea for each typographical error pointed out in an Oxford Bible (new version) has only been earned in three instances, it is said.

ADVICE TO MOTHERS.

MRS. WINSLOW'S SOOTHING SYRUP should always be used for children teething. It soothes the child, softens the gums, allays all pain, cures wind colic and is the best remedy for diarrhœa. Twenty-five cents a bottle.

Beer made of bananas and said to be a prophylactic against malarial fevers, is used in the Congo country.

An invalid was badly scared and deeply disgusted by a draught of what an Albany grocer had sent for port wine, but which, through a misunderstanding, was pork brine.

In boring an artesian well at Cedar Key, Fla., lately, the drill passed through several logs embedded in rock at depths ranging from fifty to one hundred and twenty-five feet.

The corset has again shown its usefulness as a body guard, a young woman, in Montgomery, Ala., on its account, having just escaped the plunge of a knife in the hands of her husband.

The financial problem that is distracting the authorities of Waterbury, Conn., is how to pay bills approved to the extent of $18,000 by the Finance Committee with only $4000 of a cash balance in the treasury.

Milk drinkers in Chicago have been disturbed a little by the results of a series of tests made by a professor there, who reports that but a small percentage of the lacteal fluid be analyzed was up to the standard.

A female sheriff in Greene county, Ind., has put up a notice to the effect that as prisoners do not care to be visited, and she has her housework to do, no visitors will be admitted to the jail under her charge.

A gigantic kite covered with red, white and blue muslin, was raised at Flushing, L. I., on Sunday, by 18 men with gloved hands. The wind was very strong and some of the men let go the cord, which was cutting their hands, and the others were suddenly thrown into a bog of yellow mud with great force.

The new building for the State, War and Navy Departments, now being erected in Washington, has already cost nine millions dollars, and is the largest granite edifice in the country. It covers about four and a half acres. If placed in a straight line the pipes in the structure would extend nearly forty miles.

Less than ten dollars was the amount involved in a lawsuit begun in 1882 by a Geshen county (N. Y.) farmer against a creamery proprietor, on a milk bill. Lately the Supreme Court, to which the case was carried, gave a decision which puts over $400 in costs, besides the original claim and interest, on the creamery proprietor.

A machine which is said to enable the operator to set type and stereotype at the same time was experimentally tested in Baltimore a few days ago and several newspaper men from different parts of the country are reported to have invested in it for its value in book and job work, though doubling whether it can be made to meet the requirements of a newspaper composing room.

An old silver mine, supposed to have been worked by Spaniards a century ago, has been discovered in Presidio county, Tex. It is in the mountains, two miles from the Rio Grande, and on the opposite side of the river, on the Mexican side, are an old smelting works and fort whose existence has long been known. Native silver of good quality is said to have been found in the mine by its recent discoverers.

A Boston man once travelled over the South and published a letter stating that it was beginning an unprecedented era of prosperity in the matter of manufacturing. A few years later he fell as if he had been the cause of the great prosperity in the South, and a good many newspapers were so paralyzed with his check that they thanked him for the progress that had been made.—Savannah News.

NEW BOOKS

that will be on sale by the Manager in September and throughout the ensuing year:

"Fifty Years and Beyond; or, Old Age and How to Enjoy it." A book of incalculable value, as well as interest to all who have passed the meridian of life. 400 pages, cloth, $1.00, same in gilt edges, $1.50.

"Studies in Genesis; or, Bible Views of the Creation in its Relation to Modern Science," by the Rev. T. G. Steward, D.D., and containing an important chapter on "Christian Evidences," by Bishop Campbell. This is an intensely interesting book, especially to preachers, old or young. It will contain about 250 pages, 12mo. on clear beautiful paper, and sold at the low rate of $1.00. The work is now in press under our own imprint. Orders, $1.00, mailing 10cts. extra.

"Bible Heroes; or, Stories from the Old Testament for Little Folks." Judging by my own children, no parent who would have his children imbued with the heroic spirit of Bible characters, could buy a better book. Our children devoured it at once. Price only 50 cents; by mail, 55 cents; registered, 65 cents.

"A Voice from the Orient." This is a small volume of select sermons by Rev. M. M. Mangasarian, a native Greek, and pastor of the Spring Garden Street Presbyterian Church, of Philadelphia. This is an exceedingly interesting book for reading in leisure hours. Price, $1.00.

Rev. J. E. Webb has published an excellent Record Book for church stewards and trustees, with blanks for everything pertaining to their reports and business meetings. It is well bound and well arranged. We have seen nothing like it, nor half so convenient. The book is arranged for four years. It is just the thing to aid in making correct records. For sale at our Publishing House. Price, $1.80.

"The Resurrection of the Redeemed, and Hades," by Rev. James Boggs. A book of 214 pages of well written matter, well bound in cloth. Price, 50 cents.

Orders for each or all of these works may be sent to us at once. Cash orders only.

AGENTS WANTED.

Will our pastors who are not supplying the RECORDER to their people, please do so by sending for a package to be sent weekly? If it is too much trouble to you, encourage some young man or boy, or, what is quite as good, a young lady whom you could recommend. Many of those who are now acting as agents are ladies. Let every one take hold of this. Let us hear from our workers. Send on your orders. Sell the paper for five cents and send us three cents. Address

J. C. EMBRY, 631 Pine street.

NOTE TO AGENTS SELLING THE RECORDER.

On and after the 1st of June, agents selling 10 copies and over will be charged 2½ cents a copy, (two cents and a half); less than ten copies, 3 cents.

All agents now selling and in arrears for more than one month will be stopped after June 11th. After that all must settle the first of each month.

More than $400 is due us to-day on RECORDER sales alone. We shall sift our agents next week.

Now, dear friends and brethren, help us. We are endeavoring to do your work with energy and faithfulness, we pray you to stand by your own cause.

BISHOP TURNER'S BOOK.

Any one wishing to purchase Methodist Polity, can write to my wife and it will be returned by mail immediately upon remitting the price. Paper bound 70cts., cloth bound, 85cts. Address, Eliza A. Turner, 28 Young St., Atlanta, Ga., or the Manager, who has them, 631 Pine St., Philadelphia, Pa.

H. M. TURNER.

THE BEST TONIC

Strengthens the Muscles, Stimulates the Nerves, Enriches the Blood, Gives New Vigor. PHYSICIANS AND DRUGGISTS RECOMMEND IT.

Eng. J. L. Myers, Fairfield, Iowa, says:

"Brown's Iron Bitters is the best I ever used from medicine I have known in my 30 years' practice. I have found it especially beneficial in nervous or physical exhaustion, and in all debilitating ailments that keep us hourly on the system. Use it freely in my own family."

Mr. W. F. Brown, 27 Main St., Covington, Ky., says: "I am completely broken down in health and troubled with pains in my back. Brown's Iron Bitters entirely restored me to health."

Genuine has above Trade Mark and crossed red lines on wrapper. Take no other. Made only by BROWN CHEMICAL CO., BALTIMORE, MD.

OFFER.

To the Ministers and Members of the A. M. E. Church:

1st. We will give to every minister who will send me his Dollar Money by the 15th of August a gold medal of Bishops Payne and Arbury. Who will be the first to send in the money? for we need it to pay the Bishops and General Officers of the Church and to help the Metropolitan Church.

2d. The pastor sending the largest amount of money by the 15th of Aug., 1885, I will give him "Bishop Turner's Book," or Dr. Tanner's "Outlines."

3d. Send in the money soon! Send it to Xenia, Ohio.

4th. Do the best you can to help me.

5th. We must have seventy-five thousand dollars this year. Who will be the first to start the ball—the Dollar Ball? Send on the dollars.

6th. Let every minister raise one dollar for each member this year. Try it once in your life.

7th. I will give a present to every church in the connection that will raise one dollar for each member. We will have a roll of honor and usefulness, and the pastors who will raise one dollar for or from each of his members will be put down on that roll and published in the Budget of 1886.

The Bishops and General Officers must be paid.

The Metropolitan Church in Washington must be completed, by order of the General Conference. It is under way now. It will be the grandest church in the connection when completed.

Don't wait for the conference but send the money to B. W. Arnett, Xenia, Ohio, as soon as you get it; if it is small, send it anyway. Small amounts help in work.

I am yours,
B. W. ARNETT,
Wilberforce, Ohio.

Manager's Notes.

We have on hand

the Revised Version of the Bible, just issued from the press. Two styles, $1 and $2 per copy. We want to sell them now. Please order them. Beautiful paper, clear type and most interesting reading. You never saw so clearly the meaning of many things as you will find in this new old Book!

Wakefield's Theology, the standard theological text book, adopted by the Bishops for the course of study. $2.50 by mail at your risk; $2.25 by express. Please order them. They are here and must be sold.

Then we have an excellent book—"Fifty Years and Beyond,"—a charming thing for older people and for those who intend to be old. It sends up—not down—the shining pathway of years with a harp and song. $2.00, postpaid. Must be sold. We have many more, but can't speak of them now.

What we must say

now, is that we are opening a regular campaign for the CHRISTIAN RECORDER. We want two thousand new subscribers, and all the old ones to renew. Now, appreciating the dullness of the times, we have resolved to put the paper within the reach of all, adopting the installment plan.

Installment

costs a little more, but is easier because it gives more time. Hence, we make the following offer to all who desire to have the RECORDER:

Send us 25 Cents and we will enroll your name in a special book kept for that purpose and will send you the paper for sixty days; then send us 50 cents, and two months after 50 cents, and two months later 50 cents more. Total, $1.75.

All our Pastors

are Agents for the RECORDER, and are hereby authorized to present this proposition to their people and receive their enrollment fee (25 cents), and give their receipt for the same. [Note.—We will send a few blank slips of receipts to all who will act for us in this matter.]

On this Plan

we give full six months for paying the subscription.

"Pastor's Memorandum Book," by Rev. C. T. Shaffer. Price, 45 cents, no discount. An excellent book.

It is well bound and well arranged. We have seen a number like it, but our book excels all. The book is arranged for four years. It is just the thing to aid in making correct records. For sale at our Publishing House. Price, $1.25.

"The Resurrection of the Redeemed, and Hades," by Rev. James Hogge. A book of 250 pages of fine clear print and neat, well bound in cloth. Price, 50 cents. Orders for each of these books will be sent to us at once. Cash orders only.

AGENTS WANTED.

Will our pastors who are not supplying the RECORDER to their people, please do so by sending for packages to be sent weekly? If it is too much trouble to you, encourage some young man or boy, or, what is quite as good, a young lady whom you could recommend. Many of those who are now acting as agents are ladies. Let every pastor take hold with us and help us from our workers. Send on your orders. Sell the paper for five cents and send us three and keep the rest.

J. C. EMBRY, 631 Pine street.

OFFER.

To the Ministers and Members of the A. M. E. Church:

1st. We will give to every minister who will send me his Dollar Money by the 15th of August a gold medal of Bishop Payne and Ashbury. Who will be the first to send in the money? For we need it to pay the Bishops and General Officers of the Church and to help the Metropolitan Church.

2d. The one pastor sending the largest amount of money by the 15th of Aug., 1886, I will give him "Bishop Turner's Book" or "Dr. Cornish's Outlines."

3d. Send in the money soon! Send it to Xenia, Ohio.

4th. Do the best you can to help me. We must have seventy-five thousand dollars this year. Who will be the firs to start the ball—the Dollar Ball? Send on the dollars.

5th. Let every minister raise one dollar for each member this year. Try it once in your life.

7th. I will give a present to every church in the connection that will raise one dollar for each member. We will have a roll of honor and usefulness, and the pastors who will raise one dollar per from each of his members will be put down on the church roll and published in the Badget of 1886.

The Bishops and General Officers must be paid.

The Metropolitan Church in Washington must be completed, by order of the General Conference. It is under way now. It will be the grandest church in the connection when completed.

Don't wait for the conference but send the money to Rt. Rev. B. W. Arnett, Xenia, Ohio, as soon as you get it. If it is small, send it anyway. Small amounts help in wonderful.

I am yours,

B. W. ARNETT,
Wilberforce, Ohio.

NOTICE.

All questions and business pertaining to advertisements seen in the RECORDER, and requesting correspondence in the RECORDER, should be addressed to Rev. J. C. EMBRY, Business Manager; not to the editor. There is no part of the business of this establishment requiring so little to be sent to the editor nor communications for the RECORDER, to the Manager. All orders for changing address of the paper, from one post day school or Church supplies, must be sent to the Manager, not the editor. Please remember, nothing but articles for publication should be directed to the editor, and they to him exclusively.

HOME AGAIN.

Though our visit to the South has been exceptionally pleasant, we are glad to be at home again, where we can see the good work that comes to the RECORDER before they are printed, where we can see to with loved ones in our own "hired" house.

LOYALITY.

Nothing seems more prominent on the surface of our Church work at the present time than a general and earnest loyalty. Go where you will you will observe this. There is nothing seems to hurt a minister of the connection more than to be charged with disloyalty. Bishop Allen's work, under divine direction, is receiving appreciation by the colored people than ever before. We cannot say at the same time that the comprehension of law is on the increase. Somehow we must have left a considerable of our legislative work in an ambiguous condition in '84, for it seems difficult thus far to secure a uniform action throughout the connection as we should like. If an organization once begins to step across the line, except in cases of pleasure and deepest emergency, there is likelihood of an almost fatal breach; for just as naturally as one sin makes others easier does the violation of law make others perilable. Upon the great loyalty of heart we may expect our Church to set itself right on the points that are bones of contention during the present quadrennium.

THE LAW.

The Financial Board has addressed a circular to the annual conferences asking that they grant the General Treasury seventy-five per cent. of the Dollar Money instead of the sixty stipulated by law. So far as heard from all the conferences so requested have conceded to this request in some way excepting the Columbia.

The Macon and North Georgia Conferences loosed the tea per cent. Bishop Payne makes the point in his conference that it is not for the conference to ask this favor of the conference, but the conference to remember that it has not complied with the law upon which this retention of 40 per cent. for local purposes is based. The law upon Dollar Money, section first, says that the minister shall collect for or from each member, the sum of one dollar annually. Upon this section all the succeeding sections are based. The eighteenth declares that the conference shall remit 40 per cent. This, according to the Bishop, means 40 per cent of one dollar for or from each member. He does not, therefore, put the request before the conference for action.

THE NEW YEAR.

The New Year will enter to-morrow. The reflections of to-day should be serious and resolutions for the coming year very carefully made. There are many superstitions abroad relative to the first day of the year; one of which is that whatever one does the first day he will do all the year. It would be well if those who are inclined to vicious-ness could fear this and thereby refrain from wrong-doing the first day and all succeeding days of the year. Instead of this influencing the action of this class, they sad many not usually given to vice, regard this day as especially adapted to extraordinary vices. Many a man and woman will drink strong drink to-morrow who have not drank since last year; but some who drank last New Year's day for the first time since the previous year are sow sad drunkards. Many of these who have been in this new year class for several years will begin this year their first year in the life of settled drunkards. So it is with reference to many other species of sin. Why not sow how straight we can walk on the first day of the year? There is a chance for improvement everywhere. Let us improve.

A happy new year to all who will abstain from ordinary vices to-morrow, and to those who will refrain from entering upon new vices. Happy New Year to all.

MINISTERIAL QUALIFICATIONS must be as good to-day as ever before, to say the least. We cannot afford to go backward. Near favoritism will not take the place of examination any further than the conference reception. After that the young minister has no man between him and his audience. No man can help him out. Hence every candidate should be glad to submit to the decision of the examination of the committee and feel that they have done him a favor by examining him and themselves credit by reporting him truly. If the committee report a candidate deficient the conference should not pass him the same as if he had stood the examination except the work is really suffering for that man, or should a presiding elder or Bishop take him up.

THE COLUMBIA CONFERENCE was looked forward to with not a little apprehension that the trouble that had been brewing for several months at Columbia, S. C., would prove difficult to settle, but it seems to have so far adjusted itself before the session of conference as to be under the control of reason and Christianity. It will afford those interested in peace and good will pleasure to know that the affair was settled in such a way that there is not likely to be any further trouble. Allen University in that conference will continue to grow and all the affairs pertaining thereto, should be addressed to the editor, and they to him exclusively.

THE DESTRUCTION of the Kittrell Springs school property brings a sad loss upon our Church. This was a work in which the North Carolina Conference consecrated high hopes. It was purchased last fall, the Johnson school property at Raleigh having been sold and the proceeds put into this new institution.

THE ATLANTA CONSTITUTION thinks the colored scholar stands a better chance for other labor than that of the lower grades in the South than is the North. If this is true it is sad commentary on the prejudice of the majority of the men in the North; and we have a suspicion, since retorering from the South, that it is true.

CHRISTMAS DAY was the fiftieth birthday of the Rev. Dr. B. T. Tanner, and his friends made it a pleasant day for him. The evening entertainment was characterised by good cheer. We bid Dr. Tanner farewell for a short years, wishing him all the blessings of a man "fifty years and beyond." If spared a few years, we shall join him.

COLUMBUS, GA.

Like nearly all Southern towns, Columbus is old, laid out in rectangular blocks with spacious streets, numbering about twenty thousand inhabitants. There are two Baptist churches, one C. M. E. Church and three A. M. E. Churches in which the colored people of the city worship; possibly more. Revs. Lawrence Thomas, J. A. Davis and M. Brookes are the pastors of our city churches. Being especially the guest of Rev. Thomas, we worshiped in his church Sunday morning and night and in Rev. Davis' in the afternoon. The day was very inclement. The pastor says it is impossible to have a respectable audience there on rainy Sundays. There are about six hundred members, but not more than sixty or seventy were present. They were a devoted few. On Monday night, the weather being cold, there were not more than two hundred and fifty out to the class meeting. Elder Thomas is preparing to purchase a large library for his large Sunday school. Superintendent Spencer is rallying the folks to activity. They had a festival last Wednesday night to collect money with which to prepare for the Sunday school Christmas tree, which will cost them over one hundred dollars. The church building where Rev. Thomas preaches is of brick, dimensions about 80x100. It was built under the direction of Dr. W. J. Gaines, who did service in Columbus that will never die. The second church is a very neat frame about 60x40, painted white. Everything inside is well finished and cheerful. This church was built under the supervision of Dr. John G. Mitchell, who is exceedingly kindly remembered there. The Rev. J. A. Davis is pastor at present. We had the pleasure of hearing him preach a good sermon. He is entering upon his first year. We did not see Rev. Brooklos' church, het met the good brother, who is cheerful and hopeful concerning his work.

There are 1886 pupils in the day school of Columbus, taught by good native teachers. The schools are sicely graded and instructed by good methods. The seals of graduation is plain to one visiting the sixteen rooms. There is no universal development evident in nearly all the pupils. Philadelphia gets no better results from its scholastic system than Columbus, if as good. The present city superintendent, Hr. Mosby, has wrought many improvements in their system, and is as earnest of the colored schools as of others, visiting them regularly and requiring the teachers to meet him once a week. since then nothing has been received. I am not responsible for the ignorance of the Missionary Board through its Treasident. Let me inform them that since the meeting in Columbus, Ohio, the most important communications have been secured by me from Sierra Leone, Free Town, tendering a whole conection in Africa to unite with ours. With churches built, out of debt, and Sabbath school almost of seventy three standing, with a vast opportunity opened to our connection of taking hold of the tribal relations there and holding natives well educated and experienced Christians to assist in the heathen. Then we have a vast field opened in Liberia for twenty-five missionaries to Africa. The possible reasons for the issuance of this Popes bull is found in the fact that some two months ago I officially notified Bishop Shorter, as President of the Missionary Board to his residence, as the secretary, that I desired five hundred dollars, and to close or vacate certain communications from Africa; that I had appointed January 4th as the time for holding the second annual conference in Africa. I also stated the importance of this work, realizing the vast work being accomplished; that I had been appointed by the Missionary Board had commissioned Rev. T. H. Hagens to look after our church in Monrovia; that he had been appointed by me, as a Bishop of this connection, having full power to act in the absence (in office); to hold a conference and to ordain those needing the same, and establish the conference on a firm basis This has been done. The Missionary Board He has returned, made his report and placed the minutes of conference in the same in my hands, and I have placed them in the hands of Manager Embry to be published. I do not feel been in constant correspondence with Africa since that work was started, now three years ago; have been working and keeping burning the fire of love there by Bros Flegler, Ireos and Campbell. I am now and have been in constant communication with the brethren there and they have looked for my arrival for the new year. The Missionary Board, with its President, have persistently refused to grant one dollar that I might do anything out there. Bishop Shorter ought to know that the appointment of myself to the work in Africa was made since the General Conference, in the house with Bishop Brown, at which time he was appointed secretary and all the work accomplished by the Bishops, while at work. Bishop Disney was present and was assigned his part of our general work in The West India Conferences were projected and presented to the Board and were accepted; ten new conferences, over which Bishop Disney was to preside and to be assisted by Bishop Campbell or Brown, or any other of the Bishops who might have the time to go with him. At this meeting Bishop Wayman was assigned to the Baltimore Conference, Bishop Turney, North Carolina and Virginia Conferences, R. H. Cain remained over Africa, Bishop Shorter was not assigned to Africa nor West Indies by the House of Bishops, who made all the arrangements of the work of each by mutual agreement. The Columbus meeting of the Board was made at this meeting, and I was there and know nothing of any change in that particular That Bishop Shorter is the Bishop of all our mission work by virtue of his presidency of that Board is not questioned by me or any one interested. I have always been ready for any application for money or aid for any foreign work of the Church and the Society must be made to and through him per secretary Recognizing this, I am one of the Bishops of the Church, having appointed a Missionary Conference to Africa which has been assembled three years, apply to the presidents and secretary of our Church for the means under the law and we are answered with a long letter in public print informing me of being ambitious and that I am usurping authority by proposing to go to Africa to hold conference.

Surely the President of the H. P. Society has been dreaming. He says that I presented some documents at the Columbus meeting from Africa, but heard nothing. I am not responsible for the ignorance of the Missionary Board through its President

NOTICE.

A NEW DEPARTURE IN THE RECORDER SALES BUSINESS.

On and after September 1st, all agencies for RECORDER sales will be made anew and on a different plan, indicated below. Present agents must settle in full up to the last issue in August, which will be on the 27th. Our new rules will be as follows: 1st. On appointing an agent he or she must sign a written contract binding each to sell and return one-half of the sales money to us monthly and to make a full settlement of all sales at the end of every three months. 2nd. All papers unsold to be carefully preserved and reported with each settlement and held subject to our orders. They must be counted, bound and returned to us when required. 3rd. Sixth agents will be allowed one-third of each annual subscription they obtain for the paper at $1.50 per year, they retaining fifty cents and sending us a net one dollar. Or, they can take subscriptions on our installment plan, collecting $0 cents in advance every two months, and sending us 20 cents.

These rules will be strictly applied to all except regular itinerant ministers. We are compelled to do this for the protection of the Department against severe loss. We issue about two hundred and sixty thousand copies annually. Two-fifths, or one hundred and four thousand copies are sent out to agents. On this number we lose from $1,200 to $1,500 year. Believing that all our brethren will favor say plan which promises avoidance of this great loss, we have resolved on the above roles. Please read them, note well and prepare to settle at once.

NOTE.—These new agreements will be furnished in blank to all who wish to become or continue agents after September 1st.

OFFER.

To the Ministers and Members of the A. M. E. Church:

1st. We will give to every minister who will send us his Dollar Money by the 15th of August a gold medal of Bishops Payne and Asbury. Who will be the first to send in the money? For we need it to pay the Bishops and General Officers of the Church and to help the Metropolitan Church.

2d. The pastor sending the largest amount of money by the 15th of Aug., 1885, I will give him "Bishop Turner's Book," or Dr. Tanner's "Outlines."

3d. Send in the money soon! Send it to Xenia, Ohio.

4th. Do the best you can to help me.

5th. We must have seventy-five thousand dollars this year. Who will be the first to start the ball—the Dollar Ball? Send on the dollars.

6th. Let every minister raise one dollar for each member this year. Try it once in your life.

7th. I will give a present to every church in the connection that will raise one dollar for each member. We will have a roll of honor and usefulness, and the pastors who will raise one dollar for or from each of his members will be put down on that roll and published in the Budget of 1886.

The Bishops and General Officers must be paid!

The Metropolitan Church in Washington must be completed, by order of the General Conference. It is under way now. It will be the grandest church in the connection when completed.

Don't wait for the conference but send the money to B. W. Arnett, Xenia, Ohio, as soon as you get it; if it is small, send it anyway. Small amounts help in work.

I am yours,

B. W. ARNETT,

Wilberforce, Ohio.

Manager's Notes.

We have on hand

the Revised Version of the Bible, just issued from the press. Two styles, $1 and $2 per copy. We want to sell them now. Please order them. Beautiful paper, clear type and most interesting reading. You never saw so clearly the meaning of many things as you will find in this new old Book!

Wakefield's Theology, the standard theological text book, adopted by the Bishops for the course of study. $2.50 by mail at your risk; $2.25 by express. Please order them. They are here and must be sold.

Then we have an excellent book—"Fifty Years and Beyond,"—a charming thing for older people and for those who intend to be old. It sends up—not down—the shining pathway of years with a harp and song. $2.00, postpaid. Must be sold. We have many more, but can't speak of them now.

What we must sav

now, is that we are opening a regular campaign for the CHRISTIAN RECORDER. We want two thousand new subscribers, and all the old ones to renew. Now, appreciating the dullness of the times, we have resolved to put the paper within the reach of all, adopting the installment plan.

Instalment

costs a little more, but is easier because it gives more time. Hence, we make the following offer to all who desire to have the RECORDER:

Send us 25 Cents and we will enroll your name in a special book kept for that purpose and will send you the paper for sixty days; then send us 50 cents, and two months after 50 cents, and two months later 50 cents more. Total, $1.75.

All our Pastors

are Agents for the RECORDER, and are hereby authorized to present this proposition to their people and receive their enrollment fee (25 cents), and give their receipt for the same. [Note.—We will send a few blank slips of receipts to all who will act for us in this matter.]

On this Plan

we give full six months for paying the subscription.

"Pastor's Memorandum Book," by Rev. C. T. Shaffer. Price, 45 cents, no discount. An excellent book.

THE DYING YEAR.

Take off this crimson robe,
White yellow broidery and brown;
Undeep the jeweled belt;
And from my feet remove the crown
Of gold. Think not they grace
The closing eye, the pale, still face?

Ye. I would fain be fair
When they who knew me in the pride
Of being beauty, come,
A silent throng, and stand beside
My couch, with hated breath,
To see the face kissed while by Death.

No bring to me snowy robe,
With border pearl and sweet to fold
About my fluttering heart
And limbs that feel even so strangely cold.
And on my upper breast
The white-lily sanctimonia shall rest.

For rose and passion-flower
Are mine no more. Think you they still Will glow and perfume yield
If laid upon a heart grown chill?
Ah me! from this sad hour
I wear no rose, no passion-flower.

And let the winter bring
His wrath of crystal gems, and now
With glittering sword
Of icy diamonds deck my brow,
That soon shall raze and sever
How sweet a year to pass away!
—Virginia B. Harrison, in the Independent.

NOTES BY THE WAY.

BY BISHOP A. W. WAYMAN.

MR. EDITOR:—This is the last time I shall say anything to you and your readers in the year 1885, for before this reaches them 1885 will have made its report to eternity. After the close of the West Texas Conference, I dropped down to Atlanta, the capital of the state, to spend one night with Rev. A. Grant, who had just been removed from that station and appointed to the district There was a general lamentation among the members and congregation when they found out that Brother Grant was not returned to their station another year; but when they ascertained he was their presiding elder they appeared to be satisfied. From Austin I went to San Antonio and spent one night. I'm raised so hard that there was no congregation out so I had the pleasure of seeing one night.

Saturday amidst the falling rain I left for Weimar. I never saw it rain hard er in my life than it did that day. About two o'clock it cleared away and it was cold all Saturday night and Sunday, so much so that a very few people turned out that day, for the people are very much afraid of a little cold weather in Texas. At Weimar there is a new church that was to be dedicated that day; but the weather was too cold On Monday I went to the town of Columbus. Here our people have erected another new church. It is far enough completed to hold services in.

Tuesday I left for Monroe, La., via New Orleans, and reached the conference one day late. This was the first time in twenty-two years that I have ever been twenty minutes late at any of my conferences. We have no church at Monroe, La. and, therefore, the conference was held in the United States court room. This was the first time in my life that ever I attended conference where we had no church, and so far as I know, we have not had a church in that place since we were driven out by the rebels during the war. Rev. Jefferson Long is the only preacher we have in that place, and he is not a member. The North Louisiana Conference has started out with a new idea to hold conferences where we have no churches and no members, and thereby get members and a church. It work ed well at Monroe. I don't know how well it will work at Alexander The brother who advocated the conference going to Alexander was the one appointed there. I left Monroe on Tuesday morning at six o'clock, on to Vicksburg, Miss., to Jackson, Atlanta, Ga., Charlotte, North Carolina, Lynchburg, Va., to Washington, D. C., and then to Baltimore, Md., where I found all quiet along the line. At the preachers' meeting on Saturday Revs. John J. Herbert and Wm. M. Johnson were reported sick. I am in winter quarters waiting for special calls.

Baltimore, Md.

BISHOP TURNER TO THE MINISTERS OF HIS DISTRICT.

ATLANTA, Ga., Dec 24th, 1885.

MINISTERS OF THE FIFTH EPISCOPAL DISTRICT:

Dear Brethren:—I have been holding conference since the middle of September up to the present; have just gotten through assisting our great Senior and am at liberty once more. But now before me are hundreds of unanswered letters, many of which should have been answered months ago, but owing to the fact that ever since the close of later in twenty will ever provide any writing conveniencies for you—I mean have you to stop where there are ordinary lamps, warmth, quiet, &c.—these letters in the main have not been replied to. Many of which send no reply at this late day, for if no reply could do no good, our were scores ever necessary at the first. The presiding elders could have attended to the business better than I; for they understood it better, being upon the ground and acquainted with the condition of affairs, whereas, in many instances, I know nothing of the about trivial matters and I have about as much recollection of them and know as much about the holiness referred to as an Idiot. In most cases, too, the letters are long, illegible, indecipherable and crazy—runable, which taxes every one who attempts to read it, for human system until one wishes he were dead to get out of this maddening mass, that he might get rest in the grave yard. I have felt this repeatedly, I am sure, and am about that mood now

Think of it, after bawling your lungs out nearly and your throat sore every eight annual conferences and then bored within an inch of your life by every minister who has a complaint, till you lie down exhausted to sleep and dream that a hundred preachers are chasing you over the hills and across the plains with snakes in their hands, which they are trying to throw around your neck Then you must preach till you can scarcely stand upon your feet, and when you do get a chance to run home, boggling to procure a little rest, the first thing your wife does after kissing you is to poke you a basket of letters and papers, which would require two or three weeks to examine and answer; not always because the business is so important, but because you have to labor so hard in many instances we find out what the writer is trying to tell you.

Now, this is to notify all the ministers in my district that it is my will and pleasure, unless absolutely impracticable, that you refer all business to your presiding elder, to whom it justly belongs, and relieve me as much as possible until I examine the mail matter which accumulates before the business of interest to the Church, prepare a short and long form of trials for our members and preachers, as I have been requested to do by some of our Bishops, and visit and attend to some important business in the Virginia Conference, which conference I have shamefully neglected, and have done but little better by the North Carolina Conference, which, but for the fact that I have work ed day and night, except for a few but weeks last July and August, I would feel condemned. I am sure, however, no man could have worked more seriously. That others could have worked to better advantage I do not deny, for I am a poor tool at best and have a possible realization of it.

It has been in my mind to call a preaching elders' convention in Louisville, Ky., for the purpose of the next quadrennial conferences in Kentucky and Tennessee, and invite all the presiding elders of the West, Northwest and Southwest to join to with us and to call another in Wilmington or Raleigh, N. C., for the benefit of the Virginia and North Carolina, and North I invite all the presiding elders of the West, Northeast and Southeast to do the same, and have two great presiding elder conventions for general and mutual instruction of that department of our ministry by lectures, interpretations of the Bible, by mutual conferences, how to give practical organization to the Church, &c., &c., so as to see if we cannot remedy or obliterate the causes of so much complaint if such causes exist, for to think of abolishing the office at our next General Conference, as some few are talking, is literal madness. It cannot be done without ruin to the Church and disgrace to the race; nor should such babble be indulged. Reform is what we need in the office, not abolition There are scores of presiding elders in our Church who do not understand their business, nor does the fault-finding preacher understand it any better.

Whether I will call such conventions or not will be a matter of more mature consideration. I have only consulted Bishop as to its propriety or advisability, and he—Bishop Peyne—thinks highly of it. I wish to confer with some more before inviting their presiding elders, to say the least. I am sure the money spent in travel to and from such a convention would be money much needed instead of wasted. I say this despite the whim of some protestant would-be economic utilitarians, which our Church is so famous in producing. We have a host of great evil objectors from derful at fault finding, courageous at tearing down, heroic at picking to pieces, but would not construct a mansion large enough to hold a gnat in a year.

Yours for the Church and Heaven,
H. M. TURNER.

THREE SCORE AND TEN YEARS OLD.

CHUCK XVII.

BY REV. B. W. ARNETT, D.D.

The A. M. E. Church will be seventy years old April, 1886. It has been three score and ten years since our fathers met together, sang, prayed and organized one of the grandest organizations among colored men in the world. They launched their vessel on the sea of Time Since then the sea has been rough and stormy, the waves have blown fresh and loud, yet she has continued on her mission, bearing precious the word of instruction to the freeman. It was in that little conference of moral heroes, where hearts were joined to hearts and hands joined to hands, and at the sacred altar of Christianity they bound themselves with the adamantine chain of personal obligation to give of their lives, time, talents and money for the elevation of the race and the salvation of the souls of men and women What a great mission was this, but how dark was the night. What faith it required to see the star of race hope in the future; but they saw and we have conquered. What wonderful things have happened since that time! What changes in Church and State! What agencies are now at work for the moral, religious and financial interests of the race How the little one has become a great nation. Who can enumerate the princes who have come out of Egypt, or who can name the daughters of virtue and intelligence who have graced the page of the history of the race by their deeds of mercy and works of faith. When our fathers met in 1786 it was dark as midnight, now we have the morning of freedom and the day-dawn of liberty. Then there were slaves groaning under the yoke, now we have no slaves within our borders; there are no masters on our soil, every one can own himself and serve God; he has no master save God and his own free will.

Now, I call the attention of the Church to this fact of history. We have studied the history of the past, now we must see how far we have come on the King's highway, and see what we have to travel to reach the aim of the fathers. Let us see how the fathers did their work, and see what has to be done to meet with the demands of the age Let us go to the battle-field and examine the old forts, the breastworks, the graves of the heroes who sleep in the broken obelis, the country where the heroes sleep in unknown graves amid the evidences of conflict, war and final victory. Let each of us renew our obligations to the flag of redemption and the ensign of glory to the cross.

But how are we to improve the time this year for the glory of God and the advancement of the Redeemer's kingdom? First, we want a revival of religion, primitive and holy, throughout the connection; let each of the Bishops asks his own method in his own district to bring the churches together. Let the presiding elders at their quarterly meetings preach on the work of the Church and urge the ministers and layman to labor for the outporting of the spirit of God.

And, Let Philadelphia unite its churches in a general celebration of the event in April in the mother church and go to each of the other churches not only to have speeches, but go to try to have a religious revival in them.

3rd, Let everybody raise a collection for the Metropolitan Church, of Washington, so that on the last Sunday in May, 1886, the anniversary of the Church in Baltimore where Bishop Allen triumphed over his enemies while the spirit of God filled the house and many souls were converted to God.

4th, We must raise $100,000, of Dollar Money. Is it too much to ask for? Can we not raise that amount? I think we can. If the M. E. Church can raise one million dollars for the holy cause of missions, cannot the A. M. E. Church, with her 2,500 ministers and the largest organized body of the negro race, raise $100,000 for general purposes? All we want is to make the effort. Let everybody move in one direction and then we will have money for the deficiencies What say you, brethren? In 1883 I asked for fifty cents and he came. But one will say that we cannot make so great an increase. I think we can. The district of Bishop Ward this year has made an increase If the same is kept up throughout the Church we would have over one hundred thousand dollars In the State of Arkansas his increase this year was $975.23, and in the North Mississippi Conference it is more marked. Tennessee will invite all the people to a dollar help. We are doing a great work; we cannot afford to stop. Every church in the land is calling for more money that they may do more work for Jesus. We must do the same We want labor as never man labored. We must do all that is possible for us to do, for there is much demanded of us, and much is expected of us on the account of superiority of organization, numbers, intelligence and operations Hoping to hear a grand report from the conferences yet to meet, then we will roll on in the shout of victory as the columns of the army of the living God move on to the conquest of the world.

ATLANTA NEWS.

WHISKEY MUST GO—THE ATLANTA DISTRICT AHEAD.

BY REV. W. O. OAINES, D.D.

MR. EDITOR:—Bom has been ordered to leave Atlanta all of it, by the 25th of next July. The whiskey men carried or from [illegible] seat to Judge Clark of the Superior Court, and he, too, like the other honest Judge, decided in favor of prohibition No one could decide otherwise than the wicked one himself. The whiskey men are still fighting, but they are fighting against fate. God is for us in this fight. All wholesale liquor houses will have to close after the 25th of January, 1886, as I understand law. Just think what a mourning among the barrels and bottles as they go to some other city. I believe Congress should submit this question to the States and let each State take the vote outside of any political question and vote the worst evil outside of slavery and prejudice to the negroes that there is in America. Get whiskey out of the way and let men be sober for a few years and they will correct all these other evils I can truly say that there exists to day the best feeling between the colored and white people of Atlanta, and I trust in Georgia, that there has been since the war. White men and colored man worked side by side during the whiskey campaign The best women of both races worked together against the sale of whiskey I will not write any more on that subject, for you are not enthused as I am

Our conference is just over and the ministers are getting down to their work for a good year's harvest for Christ. The Atlanta District led the van in the Dollar Money; about $700 was raised. Brethren, let us lead still farther in the front on Atlanta District. The rain prevented the Endowment Day from being a success in the Georgia Conference last year, but, brethren, try to let this conference year make up losses Bishops J. P. Campbell, D.D., J. A. Shorter and Dr. C. S. Smith, Tenner and Townsend spent a little time with us in Atlanta. It was our pleasure to entertain them, they said pleasantly, at our home. They attended the dedication of Morris Brown College, which you have heard of Dr. H. F. Lee called upon us. He loved to upon the children in the School and said some good things to them Dr. Smith, Townsend, Tenner and Lee all expressed themselves as being very well pleased with Morris Brown College. Our work in the College is doing very well for a young school.

Atlanta, Ga.

ORDINATION.

AT THE A. M. E. CHURCH, GREENVILLE, S. C., DEC 20TH.

REPORTED BY REV W. D JOHNSON, D.D.

At 11 30 A M. Rev. S. H. Jefferson introduced the service singing of hymn 105b: Stand up and bless the Lord," etc. A fervent prayer was offered by Rev J. S. Pridean. Rev. Jefferson of sed in the 9th hymn, "Father, in whom we live," etc. Bishop Jermiah Shorter took the seat, Mark. 1. 21: His name shall be called Jesus, for he shall save his people form their sins," and said:

I. Why does Jesus save sinners?

II How does he save them?

III What is the class of sinners whom he saves?

IV. When does he save them?

All who believe the Bible admit that Jesus saves sinners. He came to seek and save the lost. Like sheep on a dark day lost upon the mountains, we wander until Jesus seeks and saves us. He saves because he loves us. "God so loved the world that he gave his only begotten son, that whosoever believeth in him should not perish, but have everlasting life." That was a wonderful love between Jonathan and David, but it dwindles to insignificance compared with the love of God for a sinner. That was a great love affair love between Ruth and Naomi, but does not approach the intensity and depth of the love of God; it is unspeakable.

"Angels, assist our mighty joys—
Strike all your harps of gold;
But when you strike your highest notes,
His love can ne'er be told."

Herein is love, not that we loved him, but that he loved us and sent his son to be the propitiation for our sins. He is the fountain, the source and fullness of love that came flowing to us through his cross while our arms were raised in impious rebellion against him. We had no claim upon him; in Adam we broke our allegiance with God, but because of his everlasting love he came over the mountains of our iniquities to save us and "translate us into the kingdom of his dear son." Not alone we get to heaven, we are now in that kingdom

How does Jesus save us? It is by the atonement. Earth knows of no such arrangement. Earthly titles give us no claims upon heaven. The atonement applies itself alike to the rich and poor, the bond and the free. There is no royal path here, but a straight and narrow path for all nations, peoples, kindred and tongues. All who come through Jesus move upon a common level, and the man who will not come that way cannot come at all.

"No bleeding bird, nor bleeding beast,
Nor hyssop branch, nor sprinkling priest,
No running brook, nor flood, nor sea
Can wash the dismal stains away."

But Jesus casts out the devils and makes the heart a fit temple for the indwelling of the Holy Ghost." All our evil dispositions must be referred to another cause and not any deficiency on the part of the cleansing power of the atonement. I believe in the perseverance of the saints—not that a man travels toward heaven today and towards hell to-morrow. We must go forward crying, "Life, life, eternal life!" You must know that Jesus saves you or you can never stand the storms of hell. No one else can effect your salvation—it is a personal affair between you and God. You must be washed in the blood of Jesus.

What class is saved? All that need him of every nation and clime. All are provided for in the blood of the atonement.

"All the fitness he requires
Is to feel the need of him."

How plain, how simple! I need not go to Jerusalem; I need not descend the mountain, need bring no pigeon or heifer, only feel my need of Him, saying, "Lord, save or I perish." He never failed such an one. He sees the first motion of a repenting sinner The father says, "Is not that my son?" and runs out to meet him; the fatted calf is killed, the best robe is brought, the ring is put upon his finger, and from the sound of music and joy the invitation goes out, "Come and rejoice with me, for this my son was lost and is found, we dead and is alive again." We should all remember the time when we were received into the household of God by the blood of Jesus. God is not a hard man. There is joy in heaven over the sinner that repenteth. There is but one condition of salvation, but one question to be asked—do we need Him? He made the dumb beast speak, and after that, said to the man, "Had the beast carried you forward I would have slain you." If the sinner is not saved the fault is all his own. Who does God save the sinner? To-day is the day of salvation; now is the accepted time. Come to him now and be saved. I say to candidates for the ministry, be careful to preach Jesus and not yourselves Hide yourselves behind the Cross and there forge shot and shell for the destruction of sin and satan. Never mind the big sermons, it is your business to save sinners and save souls at the time. Bend all your energies to this and God will make you a grand success.

AFRICAN METHODISM IN HAMILTON, CANADA.

BY REV. J. A. JOHNSON.

This is a beautiful little city of about 43,000 inhabitants, situated at the head of the first of the great chain of lakes, with a large and important bay bounded with picturesque scenery, the delight alike of foreign and local pleasure seekers The city has a manufacturing centre and aside from the many towering and smoky chimneys are numerous "spires whose silent fingers point to heaven" The educational interests are all industriously fostered. No distinction is made on account of color. Here, as in all places in the world, the gang of dynamiters, who, it appears, seriously call their league to destroy the Church of San Francisco on account of their general monopoly and despotism, thereby causing much suffering among others who seek a living, but cannot obtain it, have their agents at work. They are caught with all their destructive machines have been locked up awaiting trial.

A contleued ovation has been rendered to Prof. I. C. Price, of Zion Wesleyan College of North Carolina, who is among the publishing $10 000 as part of the sum required by the philanthropist Dodge. who gave towards the institution $5,000 if $20 000 could be raised in addition. Senator Leland S suffered subscribed $5 000 of the $10.000. The Senator is as well as Mr. Dodge philanthropic and liberal enough to be held in grateful remembrance for their kindness le assisting to give our people a better education. Professor Price had the leading churches of this city open to him and the press and general public acknowledge him as a cultured scholar and refined gentleman. We had the pleasure of listening to his lecture on "Negro Capabilities," which gave entire satisfaction. More in my next.

A REVIEW OF "GENESIS READ."

BY "WILL."

Among the more important and learned books issued during the year just closing, treating upon scientific investigations as they have related to the foundations of religious faith, is to be reckoned "Genesis Read," by Rev. T. G Steward, D.D., published by the A. M. E. Book Rooms, Philadelphia. The scope of the book is succinctly stated in the preface, a careful reading of which paves the way for an intelligent reading of the volume. In this the writer clearly defines his own standpoint in the first two lines; he gives the purpose of the book when he says, "That positivism which, * * * * * would rule out the Scriptures altogether as a mere mythical legend is examined and traced to its basis of authority." The book is learned in a style, whether religious or secular, spiritual or temporal, reaches us first through the intelligence. I am not unmindful of the Scripture which says, "With the heart man believeth unto righteousness," but we must be intelligent before we can be saved. Hence the book is adapted to all classes, and is the outcome of many years of study and research; their conclusions have been examined with the same processes employed by theseives by our author, and a subtle skill has been used in the arguments which will attract the educated mind.

Great patience and thorough study have been used by the author in examining the works of the antagonosts of Genesis, and, to the student of these characters who set up a philosophy of their own against the Mosaical teachings, the book will prove an index of inestimable value A resume of the historical contained le the book of Genesis as given in chapter IV., which is clear and reasonable, and which some scholars are given apologetically, there can be found in no sense an apology for aiding the scientists.

Chapter V. gives the confirmations of the history from various sources in a manner which scholars will appreciate Chapter VI. deals with and defines the modern forces put in use against the Bible, and honestly says, "And it is a matter to say that this body of evidence * * * has never been destroyed and never can be without overthrowing the foundations of all history and disrupting the ordinary relations of men." It is voluminous, coherent and lovulnera ble as any system in religion will find. Successful assault upon the Bible is, however, hopeless through historical criticism Research upon this field, either in the examination of records or in searching the antiquities and places, the study of monuments or deciphering of hieroglyphics, has all tended thus far to confirm the claims of the Bible and to establish Prof. Leland S suffered the Christian religion. The enemies have recognized the utter futility of further effort by any direct assault upon these ramparts, and, masking themselves under cover of the leads and sciences, are seeking to bring up against the Bible the forces of rational lem, morality and physical science."

The book concludes with a summary of the arguments used. It is not definite, it does not aim to be, but its object is clearly set forth in the preface that a wayfaring man reading it, "though a fool, need not err" In reading the book Aside from being read with reverence to the controversy involved, the volume is a rare one for the ordinary Bible student, much of the difficulty presented to the mind of the reader of Genesis who has also studied some what the book of nature, will be cleared away by its perusal, and what at times appears cloudy will be made bright as the sunlight The author is a scholar well equipped for the task he gave himself and his book can be claimed among the learned productions of they.

From a sentimental point of view it is a mutual credit that so precious a volume issues from our own printing house. It is elegantly printed, clearly free from typographical errors and should have an immense sale every in our own Church, but through the general trade.

HOW SALT IS MA

"About two weeks ago I read a novel entertainment held here for a grand object in view," said Colonel Wm. of the school board. "It was a bazaar held in the old salt warehouse in Salt Lay. Ohio. I asked, having for its object the benefit of a bearer. I considered my presence and cash, and several days the bazaar closed with $70 in hand buying the vehicles manufacturers of salt at Turk's is a fact," continued the captain smoothing of lustre to one who has seen the process, which, by the by, is performed wholly by nature. Build a shed in the sun doing the work. Sand is preferable as an agent. Then where I loaded, there is a large enough to cover several acres in extent. Then divided into numerous square spaces by means of low four feet high. Water is admitted from the sea to a reservoir, and in suitable density tested by a hydrometer. It is then usually allowed to evaporate in the reservoir the sea water is admitted into the brine pool, which is about ninety-eight degrees, but is reduced by the admixture to about sixty degrees. It is then run into the pools by small wheels like those of a side wheel steamer, placed on the side of each, and worked by the laborers Salt makes in about six weeks. In the process of granulation the salt changes its color—first flesh, and then chalk like to a beautiful pink The strain upon the eyes is very great when looking into the beds. When the crystal is formed on the bottom the brine is pumped out by a wheel. The salt is then raked into heaps and put into half bushel bags to be loaded. The process is going on continually, and there is always plenty of salt on hand The rainy season began to set in about the time I sailed, and the little salt can be made while it lasts, probably till next March The salt is piled in heaps on the car, and rain has little effect on it, but of course would reduce the saline qualities of the still pools of brine The salt is used principally for beef packing. Salt car belongs to Great Britain, and has about 600 inhabitants, mostly colored The manufacture of salt is the principal labor-giving interest, the laborers making themselves shell work, some are Baptists, Wesleyan and Church of England churches on the cay Cacil eight feet high grow on the cay, sod are about the only vegetation to be seen."

WHAT A CENT GROWS TO.

A cent seems of little value, but if this is only doubled a few times it grows to a marvellous sum. A young lady in Portland caught her father in a very rash promise by a knowledge of this fact. She modestly proposed that if her father would give her only one cent on one day, and double the amount on each successive day for just one month, she would pledge herself never to think of him anothercent as long as she lived. Not stopping to rue over the figures in his head. and not supposing it would amount to a large sum, he was glad to accept the offer at once, thinking it also a favorable opportunity to include a possible marriage dowry in the future. On the twenty-fifth day he became greatly alarmed, lest if he complied with his own acceptance he might be obliged to be declared a bankrupt on his own petition. But on the next day the young girl demanded only the pretty little sum of $5,368,709.12! The astonished merchant was only too happy to cancel the claim by advancing a handsome cash payment for his folly in allowing himself to give a bond for his word, he considered as good as his bond—without noticing the consideration. The young lady promptly proceeding to return to the old custom of advancing of money same day until otherwise ordered. If the old gentleman had fulfilled his promise, his daughter would have had, upon the receipt of the thirtieth payment, the snug little sum of $10,486,317.44.

SAMUDU.

THE COMING HANNIBAL, OR NEGRO LEADER.

In August last a dispatch written by Mr. Lewis, United States Consul in Sierra Leone, was given to the public by Secretary Bayard In this dispatch Mr. Lewis gave a graphic description of a new native leader in Sierra Leone who was carrying all before him. Mr. Lewis regarded Samudu, the new Hannibal of the uncivilized nations of Interior and South Africa, as the forerunner of a new civilization, and he intimated that this new chief would open a way to the emigration of the colored people from the United States. He saw in Samudu's operations the beginning of a new era of prosperity for Liberia, Sierra Leone and adjacent countries.

It is stated that Samudu has learned the value of European weapons of war, and that one reason for his rapid movement toward the coast is to reach a place where he can purchase such materials in large quantities. This is thrown out as a hint to America and England, or to the manufacturers of rifles and pistols, that a great trade in all materials of war may spring up, and Sierra Leone will be the field of this trade It is further stated that this new African leader is acting in harmony with the views of the government of Liberia, and is on the roads and encouragement of trade, and that so far as he is concerned there is no probability of a religious or a race war. If this is true we may look for good results from this new African chieftain in fatherland—The Conservator.

NOTICE.

All questions and business pertaining to advertisements come in the RECORD-ER, and all reading correspondence to the RECORDER, should be addressed to Rev. J. C. Embry, Business Manager; not to the editor. There is no part of the business of this establishment requiring money to be sent to the editor; nor communications for the RECORDER, to the Manager. All orders for changing address of the paper, sending Sunday School or Church supplies, must be sent to the Manager, not the editor. Please remember, nothing but articles for publication, or letters pertaining thereto, should be addressed to the editor, and they to him exclusively.

BOOK THIEVES.

It may seem ridiculous, even untrue, to state that there are a few ministers who steal books from laymen. They are a conscience morale of this kind: "The man who has this book has no need of it, yet it may be very difficult to get him to realize this fact. I just need this book; I cannot buy it, therefore I will take it." Shame! shame! You are as guilty as if you had stolen a pig or a piece of gold.

"In thy pure eye it is a sin
To steal a penny or a pin."

A BISHOP'S WORKSHIP.

Recently, while in Atlanta spending a few minutes at the beautiful and commodious residence of the Educational Secretary of the Third District, Rev. W. J. Gaines, we were informed that a carriage ordered by Bishop Turner of Georgia, at the door to convey us to the Bishop's residence, 28 Young Street. Arriving we found the Bishop among his piles of newspapers, stacks of letters and reams of books, preparing to go to the North Alabama Conference in session at Huntsville. Next to the marks of comfort and protection, Bishop Turner's home is marked as the place of a man whose mind is making efforts to grasp the popular thoughts of his time as well as the religious. There is no wonder the Bishop writes such letters as we find in this issue of the RECORDER.

HOPEFUL.

There is little in our present status among other varieties of this American whole that is discouraging, while there is very much to inspire us with hope. It is true our political influence just at this juncture does not appear very great. We have few men in State legislatures, but one in Congress, and he in the lower house; no lieutenant governors, our usual complement of foreign American consuls, Mr. Douglass, Recorder of Deeds at the Capital, some clerks in the departments, &c. But with us as a sag city of America's best people. Indeed, it is not the best people as a rule who are placed in our political offices. Our grievance is not that we are out of office, but that where our power would be greater we are without the power of doing much of practical work in regulating offices and office holders. This is a serious grievance, yet not most serious, for it is likely to be of short duration; it may be taken opportunity to weigh parties and compare principles to attend industries and all-mankind; but its happiest element is that it must soon terminate by reason of new political crystallizations that will form soon.

We can never in a republic yield the right to vote without serious damage to ourselves. Yet we can attend the more carefully to our education for a few years with great profit, not education in the loose and narrow sense, but in the best sense, embracing our entire character and practices. Our past progress is not sufficient to fatter us into a state of weakness, but it is sufficient to encourage us to bolder activities. In all this great work the A. M. E. Church must have large share. The homes, the pulpits, the educational and religious life of our people must look to our Church as among the most experienced leaders of colored men for examples and aid. We must fit many of the great men and women for their great work. The indications are that we are to do this well.

MENTAL IMPROVEMENT.

For the young, after the thoughts respecting their own spiritual salvation, there are none so important as those respecting the work of mental culture for the present year. Those thoughts are important to the old as well. They include the treatment of the body as related to mind, as well as the treatment of mind itself, involving all sanitary considerations and all mental exercise.

Associations, surroundings and supports. How shall rooms be arranged to condnce to wholesome rest and refreshing sleep at nights? What food shall be eaten that the body may not somehow the mind least and support it best? What general regulations shall be made for each day's duties? What old books shall be read; what new ones purchased? What papers shall be dropped and what new ones taken? are all important at this cease. The tastes of a people are improved immensely by adopting a system of orderly and regular action. Of course there is frequently some necessity for infringing upon this system, but it can be maintained as a general outline. The greatest difficulty with those who have not brought themselves under subjection to rules of mental action, is to avoid the ruling themselves without their own path, sinking year after year into a state of negligence by the end of the second or third month in the year. Especially is this true with those who have not had the drill of a well-ordered school and a well-ordered home in earlier life. There is this word of encouragement for those whose years always are in self-deception for negligence: if you will continue to make improvements this year one month after you find the inclination to yield to irregularity growing large, you will observe a great increase of power to overcome the tendency to weaken and to correspond the weakening of the tendency itself.

It is a misfortune that there is any variety of business that disallows one hour daily for reading; yet there are scores of such varieties. Men who are robbed, for it is robbery of the meanest sort, must be considered largely as the machines of other minds. They increase the powers of mental durability, direction and appreciation are wanting in a majority of the elements that enter into the cause of a generous mental development.

There are, however, millions who have their daily lives in systematic mental improvement. Rightly appreciated and properly used this will make of them very different persons by January, 1887. The members of every family should secure a good secular and religious newspaper next to the Bible. Newspaper culture is intended to prevent mental culture from being narrow, foreign, antiquated and stiff. Among other secular papers we would recommend the New York Freeman, the Boston Advocate, the Cleveland Gazette, the New York Tribune, Cincinnati Commercial and the Atlanta Constitution and Philadelphia Ledger and Sunday Journal. Of course the CHRISTIAN RECORDER should be included among good religious papers.

A VERY IMPORTANT MOVEMENT.

At the Philadelphia Preachers' Meeting last Monday, comprised of A. M. E. preachers in and near the city, of both the Philadelphia and New Jersey Conferences, resolutions were passed pledging $300 to Bishop Cain from those two conferences by the 21st inst. This money, with others raised elsewhere in the district, the Bishop intends to apply to the payment of the expenses of his trip to Africa. During the past three years, as is generally known throughout the connection, Bishop Cain has spoken frequently about taking this African trip; having collected some money in the West for that end and about the last juncture does not appear very great. We have few men in State legislatures, but one in Congress, and he in the lower house; no lieutenant governors, our usual complement of foreign American consuls, Mr. Douglass, Recorder of Deeds at the Capital, some clerks in the departments, &c. But with us as a sag city of America's best people. Indeed, it is not the best people as a rule who are placed in our political offices. Our grievance is not that we are out of office, but that where our power would be greater we are without the power of doing much of practical work in regulating offices and office holders. This is a serious grievance, yet not most serious, for it is likely to be of short duration; it may be taken opportunity to weigh parties and compare principles to attend industries and all-mankind; but its happiest element is that it must soon terminate by reason of new political crystallizations that will form soon.

NOTICE.

A NEW DEPARTURE IN THE RECORDER SALES ROOMS.

On and after September 1st, all agencies for RECORDER sales will be made anew and on a different plan, fully stated below. Present agents must settle in full up to the last issue in August, which will be on the 27th. Our new rules will be as follows: 1st. On appointing an agent he or she must sign a written contract binding each to sell and return one-half of the sales money to me monthly and to make a full settlement of all sales at the end of every three months. 2nd. All papers unsold to be carefully preserved and reported with each settlement and liable subject to our orders. They must be counted, bound and returned to us when required. 3rd. Such agents will be allowed one-third of each annual subscription they obtain for the paper at $1.50 per year, they retaining fifty cents and sending us a net one dollar. Or, they may take subscriptions on our installment plan, collecting 50 cents in advance every two months, and sending us 20 cents.

These rules will be strictly applied to all except regular Illuminati colporteurs. We are compelled to do this for the protection of the Department against severe loss. We lose about two hundred and sixty thousand copies annually. Two-fifths, or one hundred and four thousand copies we send out on agents. On this number we lose from $1,000 to $1,600 per year. Believing that all our brethren will favor any plan which promises avoidance of this great loss, we have resolved on the above rules. Please read them, note well and prepare to settle at once.

NOTE.—Those new agreements will be furnished in blank to all who wish to become or continue agents after September 1st.

It is said that thousands of pounds of peppermint oil are being held back by the farmers with this expectation.

A mammoth's remains have been discovered near Yreka, Cal., by miners. They were found 45 feet below the level face. The horn is five and a half feet long, in the shape of a cow's horn, and is eight inches in diameter at the base. The teeth and other bones are of a mammoth size. An animal same in proportion to them would weigh at least ten tons alive. The ivory, the horn, etc., give evidence that the animal was one of the bovine species.

The times when wit solely on the Queen of Sweden and her daughter was a very quaint uniform, consisting of a tunic, petticoat and breeches made of with gold lace. Their attire included a wonderful head-dress, consisting of a kind of embroidered skull cap from which rise three ostrich feathers, none of which is less than three feet high. A newspaper correspondent had to hide himself under the table in order to sketch these magnificent flunkeys at his leisure.

NOTICE.

All questions and business matters in advertisements are seen in the RECORDER, and requesting correspondence to the RECORDER, should be addressed to Rev. J. C. Embry, Business Manager, not to the editor. There is no part of the business of this establishment requiring money to be sent to the editor, or for communications for the RECORDER, to the Manager. All orders for change of address of the paper, securing Sunday school or church agencies, must be sent to the Manager, not the editor. Subscribers removing, nothing but articles for publication, or letters pertaining thereto, should be addressed to the editor, and they to him exclusively.

THE MISSING LINE.

We are not acquainted with the writer whose article we clip from the Witness; but infer that he is a colored man. If he is certainly not well informed on the revival powers of many colored ministers. They preach to a people among whom white "missing links" have seldom labored in the same manner as that in which they labored among white people. Manners do not extend this ecusorism to every element of the common manhood in the race to write "fossil wanting." The colored minister is very much like all other colored citizens.

THE MEETING OF THE EXECUTIVE BOARD OF PUBLICATION.

The Rev. Dr. Derrick was the only member of the Executive Board of Publication, excepting the chairman, Rt. Rev. R. H. Cain, from a distance, who put in appearance on the first day. Dr. Derrick never fails to come. Dr. C. Ashury was absent on account of affliction and Dr. J. H. A. Johnson on account of an engagement made prior to receiving notice of the meeting. The two Wayman and Campbell, together with Drs Tanner, Embry and Steward, sat with the Board during the greater part of its session.

The reports of the business of the General Publishing House and the Magazine Department were decidedly encouraging. The Book Concern shows a much smaller indebtedness than at any time within the past eight or five years. The magazine is supporting itself very nicely. The Board expressed themselves as dissatisfied with the large disregard of our Publishing House by ministers of the Church, both as to the publication of works and the sale of books that they have not written themselves. It was reported to the Board that our Church ritual has been published in Atlanta, Ga., our certificates of ministerial appointment in Florida and towns of other cities. (Wonder how the publishers secured the A. M. E. seal for the pastoral credentials). It is also said that it was declared in a very recent conference that "we have no publishing house." (If this is true, we have no literature, no church property, no ministry.) The Board is very anxious that this weak, undermining attack should cease, and that our Publishing House should have the full sympathy and confidence of the connection. Without this it must daily grow weaker instead of stronger.

The appeal of the Manager for a collection by the entire connection January 24th was fully endorsed by the Board. This, as we said earlier, is not only a request for generosity with reference to the present, but to help relieve the Church of old debts carried for many years. These old debts have been discharged at the rate of $600 or $800 annually under the present management, but if only this rate is to be maintained the embarrassment must continue for too long. The Manager's appeal does not ask for a large collection, but for a consideration of some value from each church. Could he divide himself by 2500 and present himself before each congregation on the 24th inst., he would return to the office, remain and count for the excess $20,000. Will not the entire ministry try to reach one-fourth that sum? Five thousand dollars would require nothing more than that every preacher would lay the matter before his people after he had taken his regular local collections for the day, urging the matter on the ground of the economy itself, as the Lord's Treasurer, for, after all, that is the only just way to excite interest and concerted action in any of our general work. Hear the appeal, brethren, and answer liberally.

THE RACE QUESTION.

The efforts of a peculiar people, such as we, to rise among a great people already strong in wealth, governing powers and condition, yet, withal, exercising all the wickedness known to men, are necessarily met by the strongest opposition and condemned by the most insidious dangers. The depth of the thraldom of slavery and the height of the exhibition of American citizenship are separated by so great a distance, the length of time to travel is so great, that a thousand life boats as on our way. The forty years in the wilderness took the Hebraws from a civil state, whose ratio to the best scene of civil liberty in their times was much greater than was ours to the best at the time of our emancipation. They knew where they were to go. They had a high hand and an outstretched arm to uphold and guide them out from the midst of their enemies, crush their opposers and turn that in our favor. We are required to assert at once a manhood like that built upon our sweat and blood through two centuries, and, right in their midst, present equal bearings in morals and intellect with them, or retain the place of slaves. This is true for the South alone; scarcely more is the South than in the North. The facts, that it is scarcely more so in America than is any other country of equally high civilization. This demand is made upon every one of us with a cruel forcefulness that there is among the American people neither set of persons, outnumbering us by many thousands, as ignorant as we are, nor class, composed of all the varieties of the human race outside of ourselves, and some, indeed, as truly identified with us by blood as others classified with us, but back of whom and connecting bridge has been heared. They say there is an undue proportion of immorality among the negroes. That is, the number of criminals in every hundred colored persons is greater than the number of criminals in every hundred whites. They too frequently forget that the proportion is not properly of simple ratios but of compound. They ask the cause of us as of men many more hundred years advanced. They ask the same of us as of any other poor among them, though we have less encouragements, less facilities and less considerations.

The majority of the people around us are hard on us. But they themselves have ungoarded poste, ungarrisoned fortresses and many strong places unprotected, by means of which enemies are daily forcing an entrance. In a few centuries the race now strong and the arrogant will be brought low by these strong enemies whose siege is wisely and strongly laid. Though not likely to be greatly weakened. The strongest may be greatly weakened. The strongest strong men among them, on the principle of the survival of the fittest, will constitute the successors to the present great race of the world. Among those strong men there must be a sprinkling of colored men in much larger proportion than that of the white varieties, or the case of the negro will already have been settled by extinction.

In order to be ready for that day colored men must arouse now and take into a severely close examination their condition. This examination will show its weaknesses for that emergency or an emergency of any kind. We have little property, little culture, little political power, little literary influence and little moral strength. We have a few social and benevolent organizations, a few ecclesiastical organizations and a very few of us are slightly organized with white men in all these ways, but rarely with the "three-fold cord" that cannot be broken easily. Our poverty, our color, our ignorance, and our sinner are all cast in a heap and constituted a mountain of opposition against us.

How shall we provoke strength to retreat the antagonism and secure to ourselves the superior strength? First, abandon the vices and practice virtue. Fornication, adultery, rapine and murder must cease. These vices found in a week race render them doubly obnoxious because they are likely to beat, besides their heinousness, per se as a relation to all the other race varieties that awakens their hatred and brings it down upon the weaker variety with indiscriminate vengeance, which, every indiscriminate vengeance, which, every indiscriminate, is, to a manifestly a just and unrighteous that it is likely to awaken an unjust and indiscriminate retaliation. The result must be disastrous to the weak. Intemperance and other habits that demoralize the mental muchinery and thus degenerate men must not be practiced by us or very soon they will cast us into the bands of like strong irreoverably. We must build up character strong that it can resist these destructive elements and offer to our country, at the end of the next half century, its very best material in every sense. This can be done not only by a rousing movement by the whole race very soon—a movement underlain by a dogged determination to which everything else, morals excepted, shall bend. We can never overcome the opposing forces by tactics like their own nor with their arms and accoutrements. Ours must be superior—those against which "there is no law," those that cannot be gainsaid, those that must endure. They must consist in those excellent implements by means of which one's own spirit may be overcome and the whole body brought under subjection to the law of reason and righteousness. We cannot much longer endure the terrible querebrum cast upon us on account of ill-advised, unsupportable, unchaste and horribly cruel acts perpetrated by many members of the race. If continued, causes mentioned above in this article will combine from both sides to hurl the races into inextricable conflict. The negro must by all reasonable methods, seek to avert such a state of affairs; but his best work is that of self-control and moral self-culture. We must be saved from the attacks of passion and the underminings of ill-conduct.

Our societies, our conventions, associations, conference, schools, churches, papers, books, and, in fact, all our individual and united efforts, must be directed largely against our weaknesses and in encouragement of our better life.

THE REV. T. MCANTS STEWART was admitted to the bar of New York City last week. He has seemed to drive the title reverend away from himself during the past two years with apparent persistency; just why, probably few know. We would regret the departure from the ministry of one so useful as he proved to be. We pray that he may succeed in his return to the profession of his first choice. We do not call in question the right of any Christian to follow the direction of the Holy Spirit. Every minister in the Methodist Church is supposed to have declared that he believed himself moved by the Holy Ghost. We remember the farewell to the pulpit valedictory published in the "New Era" by the first brilliant orator and extensive traveler, Rev. J. Sella Martin, fifteen years ago; also the more recent case of Rev. Mr. Mills, of Chicago. It may be very strongly questioned whether all of those gentlemen have not made a mistake in abandoning the pulpit entirely if they entered it properly. As to the Rev. Martin, it is well known that he regretted his step and would have been glad to have resumed his old profession before his death, if he did not do so. We wish Mr. Stewart success in the success that see he attained, and shall always maintain a sincere interest in him.

IN SPEAKING last week of positions of public prominence held by colored men, we attended to have left out one in the United States Congress. Of course we all know that there are two, the Hons. O'Hara and Smalls, whose services are highly appreciated by the race, as well as by their immediate constituency.

THE LATE CENSUS of South Carolina shows great progress in all respects. In the city of Charleston there are about 5,000 more colored persons than white, the difference in favor of the colored being principally children.

Personal.

—The Ohio Republican caucus has renominated John Sherman for the Senate.

—Emperor William celebrated the twenty-fifth anniversary of his reign January 2.

—Bishop Wayman preached to Mount Zion M. E. Church, Manayunk (Philadelphia) last Sunday.

—Mr. Joshua B. Lippincott, of the celebrated publishing house of J. B. Lippincott & Co., died at his residence in Philadelphia last week, ending a business life of about fifty years of continually growing success.

—Mr. William Steward has recently compiled and published a pamphlet on the Bridgeton Chronicle on the "History of Methodism in Cumberland County, N. J." Mr. Steward has long been connected with the Bridgeton papers for several years.

—The Honorable John M. Laogston has been elected President of the Virginia State Colored Normal School at Petersburg. This places Mr. Langston at the head of the State having a very large colored population. It is a place of power as well as honor Few men can turn the opportunity to greater advantage to the race than Prof. Langston.

—The Rev. George C. Mills, the talented Chicago minister, who left the pulpit for the stage three years ago, died suddenly in Glendale, Pa., during a few days ago. He showed courage enough, but was forced to give bail before leaving town. The difficulty grew out of a mistake made by his agent, Mr. Mills, in connection with a dispute with the managers of two opera houses in Chicago, which he managed.

—Now it is our old friend, the Rev. John Wesley Garaway, whom the "Ohio State" has invited. Elder Garaway performed the marriage service which preceded one of twain in respect to race variety as we have ever known. The union has enough strength in an old rusty lock, which has had little use in its history, to give Garaway some trouble. The bridegroom was a minister in the penitentiary for th a crime of (?) doing Ohio wait to go and do likewise?

DEATH OF THE REV. H. H. LEWIS.

BY A. M. THOMAS, JR.

The Rev. Henry Harrison Lewis, the beloved pastor of Vine Street A. M. E. Church, died Dec. 30th, at his home on William Street. Mr. Lewis had been ill for about three weeks with pneumonia, and his sad affliction but only closely followed an attack of apoplexy. Mr. Lewis was born on June 22nd, 1840, in Maryland. Receiving his education at a school of the Methodist Church, Mr. Lewis early felt the strong encouragement to the heaven-born calling, which, soon manifested itself as well as to the church and congregation that had sustained a great loss in their pastor's death. A meeting of the choir discussed in solemn tones, "Near-er, my God, to Thee." The people early took the last and farewell look upon the face of him whom they loved from the church to the cemetery, led by a large number of carriages, was borne to Forest Lawn Cemetery, one of the world.

Long before the appointed hour the anxious and sorrowful throng began to fill the edifice in which the beloved and lamented pastor was wont to call his flock together. Yet he still lay, silent in death, at his home, surrounded by family and friends. And how we are reminded at the words of Longfellow:

"There is no flock, however watched and tended
But one dead lamb is there!
There is no fireside, however defended,
But has one vacant chair."

At precisely 12 o'clock, the hour appointed for the services at the house, the elements seemed to be at war. The heart throbs of the family and friends by a gentle flow of tears, but they continued until the day was gone. At the house at one o'clock, after prayer by Bishop Campbell, the funeral cortege started for the church, where they arrived at 1:15 o'clock, and after long, solemn, but very consolatory address, delivered by Bishop Campbell, the funeral church edifice as perhaps seldom, if ever, before in its history, was crowded to repletion.

Bishop J. P. Campbell, of Philadelphia, presided in the absence of the pulpit Revs. Horace Talbott, of Elmira; L. McBeckrit, of Philadelphia; Y. T. C. Oliver, of Lockport, and El der G. W. Crawson, of Canada. The pall-bearers were Messrs. Wm. Lewis, Wm. J. Lloyd, Alfred Lane and Joseph Keller, of the Bethel A. M. E. Church. The church was bedecked with mourning emblems, the pulpit was draped and some floral tributes were borne in a carriage, one of the corpse, family and friends, while the choir sang "Nearer, my God, to Thee," "Jesus, lover of my soul" "When the mail pulmonary sorrow is passed and the last sad knell of the Rev. Mr. Beckett read a brief biographical sketch of the deceased, after which the Bishop delivered the funeral address, choosing as his text 1 Thess. iv. 13, 14 and 15 verses. The Bishop remarked "Will there be a resurrection of the dead? If it were not so, why the great debate in the order of that resurrection?" After giving reasons why or manifestations of the Lord's resurrection, and part in the original designs of the Creator, the Bishop proceeded to speak of the happy way, to answer the question with which he opened his discourse. He concluded that the order of the resurrection was, first, Christ himself; second, that of the saints and then the wicked. Certainly, the resurrection of the sore deemed.

"Elder Lewis," said the Bishop, "was a sweet preacher. White and colored people wept under his preaching. I know no one who did not like to hear him." There were no sectarian lines allusions to the faithfulness of the deceased to his cause. At the conclusion of the Bishop's address, Rev. Mr. Talbert made a few feeling remarks concerning his associations with the deceased, both private and ministerial Mr. Talbert closed with the pastor's encouragement to the bereaved family, widow, son and daughter, as well as to the church and congregation that had sustained a great loss in their pastor's death. A selection by the choir discoursed in solemn tones, "Near-er, my God, to Thee," after which the family took the last and farewell look upon the face of him whom they loved from the church to the cemetery, led by a large number of carriages, was borne to Forest Lawn Cemetery, one of the world.

Elder Lewis was a man of power. He was one of love and was crowned with success. Under his guidance the membership of the church has nearly doubled and the church debt has been almost liquidated. Mr. Lewis was at his death presiding elder of the North-arrival I found Rev. Horace Talbott, of Elmira and Bishop J. P. Campbell. The Bishop conducted the services, assisted by Revs Talbot and Beckett, while the Bishop was delivering the discourse many eyes were filled with tears and many hearts were sad because of the loss of their dear pastor. He was interred in the Forest Lawn Cemetery to await the sound of the Resurrection trumpet of the last day.

NIAGARA FALLS TO JACKSONVILLE, FLORIDA.

BY L. T. M. PEEK.

'Twas the day before Christmas
Ere Santa Claus' had been said,
And through various streets to the station
The cab that carried me sped.

It was not the only one that the cab carried, however, for my sister was along. So she was three years ago, too, when I started for Britain's busy shores. The scene at the house, too, was similar and when I saw my grandmother, mother, sister, brother, cousins and those various proven friends good-by that was more than I thought I thought of Jacksonville, Florida, as being quite a distance off, but after further deliberation and prayerful consideration, made application and joined the Philadelphia Conference in 1862, then in session at Philadelphia, Pa., and presided over by Bishop A. W. Wayman. His first appointment was to Jacksonville, but as I was not acquainted with the pulpit Revs. Horace Talbott, of Elmira; L. McBeckrit, of Philadelphia; Y. T. C. Oliver, of Lockport, and El der G. W. Crawson, of Canada. The pall-bearers were Messrs. Wm. Lewis, Wm. J. Lloyd, Alfred Lane and Joseph Keller, of the Bethel A. M. E. Church. Elder Lewis was a man of power. He was one of love and was crowned with success. Under his guidance the membership of the church has nearly doubled and the church debt has been almost liquidated. Mr. Lewis was at his death presiding elder of the North-bondage and to be the law-giver to a redeemed nation. Under like happy influences was the childhood of David passed as he acknowledged in his subsequent days of power and prosperity, in humble praise and thanksgiving "O Lord truly I am thy servant; I am thy servant and the son of thy handmaid." David here recognizes his mother's influence and praises God in honor of her memory.

Look and observe from what families the Christian ministry is filled. Religion receives its greatest support. Where do sympathy, love and free friendship usually abound? Where does peace flow as a river and righteousness abound as the waves of the sea? Open if you please, the rods cabin door of the preacher! Christian mother and be both a cradled of love, peace and goodwill. As the twig is bent, so the tree is inclined. Her H. B. Lewis was born June 22nd, 1840. His parents were devoted to train up their children in the way that they should go. The subject of this sketch, therefore, soon showed signs of usefulness, for he delighted to preach, professed for any emergency that might arise in his life. He was happily converted to God when seventeen years of age, under the ministration A. M. E. Chapel, near Berrytown, Md. At the age of twenty-one he was appressed to preach the gospel of peace to the lost and sin-sick souls around him. After due deliberation and prayerful consideration, he made application and joined the Philadelphia Annual Conference in 1862, then in session at Philadelphia, Pa., and presided over by Bishop A. W. SCRIPTURAL REFLECTIONS.

THE SIN OF COVETOUSNESS—THE RUIN OF RICHES—THE ABOMINATION OF LUST—THE DUTY OF THE GOSPEL MINISTRY.

BY REV. J. W. MALONE.

"And Jesus said unto them, take heed and beware of covetousness: for a man's life consisteth not in the abundance of the things which he possesseth." Having food and raiment, let us be therewith content." Godliness with contentment is great gain. Those who will be rich fall into temptation and a snare, and into many foolish and hurtful lusts, which drown men in destruction and perdition, because they have forsaken the right way and have gone astray. Some, coveting after money, have gone in the way of Cain and ran greedily after the error of Balaam for reward and perished in the gainsaying of Korah. Many shall follow their pernicious ways by reason of whom the way of truth shall be evil spoken of. And through covetousness shall they with feigned words make merchandise of you. The preacher of riches and destitute of the truth, seeing gain is godliness but departing for the power thereof. From such sort are they which creep into houses and lead captive silly women laden with sin, led away with divers of lusts. Ever learning, and never able to come to the knowledge of the truth. Such things which they ought not for filthy lucre's sake. Lovers of pleasure more than lovers of God.

Such are the sad and sadness shall was worse and worse, deceiving and being deceived. And for this cause God shall send them strong delusion that they should believe a lie; that they might be damned who believed not the truth, but had pleasure in covetousness, unrighteousness and lust; but we, O man of God, flee these things and follow after righteousness, godliness, faith, love, patience, meekness. Fight the good fight, lay hold on eternal life, whereunto also thou art also called. Covet earnestly the best gifts, and yet show, I unto you a more excellent way. Preach the word, be instant in season and out of season, reprove, rebuke, exhort with all long-suffering and doctrine. Watch in all things which become sound doctrine. Make full proof of thy ministry.

Feed the flock of God which is among you, taking the oversight thereof, not by constraint, but willingly; not for filthy lucre, but of a ready mind; neither as being lords over God's heritage, but being examples to the flock: and when the chief shepherd shall appear, ye shall receive a crown of glory that fadeth not away.

THE VOICE OF A SOLDIER.

In reading the Philadelphia Inquirer of the 29th inst., the General John A. Logan has offered in the Senate a resolution proposing to equalize the bonus of the soldiers. In reply to the objects to General Logan's proposition on the ground, first, that it brings the government under extra expense; second-ly, that it would overpower the objection of General Grant's veto, which followed while he was President. The following is the reply of General President Grant to his action:

"First, That it appropriates from the Treasury a large sum of money as a gift to soldiers who have served their country.

"Second, I do not believe that any considerable proportion of the soldiers who, it is supposed, will be the beneficiaries of this appropriation are applicants for it, but their friends will resolt more in a measure for the relief of claim agents and middle men who intervene, or would intervene to collect or discount the bounty granted by it."

We feel in sympathy those soldiers who nobly fought without money and without equal bounty, with their brethren who have received the bounty and they have been exempted from the payment of taxes for this crime in cases where heavy bounties have been paid. Would President Grant have said: "O, they were unequally rewarded for services; let them have a lighter portion of taxes." Such is the record shows that there was no such disposition. Poor Wallace Baker, of Company I., 55th Massachusetts Regiment, Polly Island, who bed fought without pay or bounty, was shot down by a dog, he having, under the discouragement of the cruel neglect of the United States government, resolved not to fight any longer, though as brave as the bravest.

The United States makes legal agreement with every soldier, that the pay should be equalized in pay for equal service, but many of the heroes of the 54th and 55th, who fought like heroes, having been discharged on account of physical disability, and never did receive equal compensation with others. In the name of the thousands of the black brigade, I ask that the United States government no longer ridicule our valor and mock our dead martyrs.

NENNOOK.

If we did not know it to be so, it would be hard to believe that any salvation could make its home in the midst of the almost perpetual snow and ice of the far north. And yet many are the immiels than are generally supposed to do so live in their intense cold, and have accommodated themselves to their surroundings. For example, the mosquito and yellow fever do not exist, nor do the horse the appeal of the Business Manager to the ministers, churches, and personal circular on the same subject enclosed herewith. We trust our pastors and people will give a hearty response.

The Bishops and members of the Executive Committee of the Board of Publication, met in this city on Thursday last, January 7th, authorized the following statement and resolutions to be published in the RECORDER and Review of the RECORDER:

"The Rev. Dr. Derrick, pastor, or any other order of the ministry, preaching on the first Sunday in each month in Zion Church, Timothy, though a pastor, was commanded by his great spiritual faith, to go to Bethlehem, to the Conference. The evangelist, like the pastor, may be in an ecclesiastical sense, but he is never be a layman. The evangelist, while the Manager's appeal in the ministry and churches for assistance to clear up the burden so long and heavily resting on the shoulders of the project has our unqualified approval, and we beg to cast ourselves upon the sole of the churches. The Manager referred to the Publishing Committee, the Department, but has to contend. On motion of Rev. W. H. Derrick a committee of three was appointed to draw up a preface and publish the same against all interference with the legitimate work of the Publishing House of our own Church. Adopted.

On motion the Financial Board was unanimously requested to continue the present organization for the ensuing year. The Board passed resolutions thanking Rev. Dr. Corbin, the Review and the literary work of the Church.

Present at the Executive meeting:
B. H. CAIN, Chairman.
M. W. BECKLEY,
A. W. WAYMAN,
WM. H. DERRICK,
B. T. TANNER,
Secretary.

THE FINANCIAL CALL OF THE MANAGER.

The brethren of the connection will please note the special request of Manager Embry to make a contribution to aid the Book Department. If the brethren will make the effort there will be raised ample to meet the demand and lift the present indebtedness. I hope a united effort will be made to accomplish this much desired end.

Yours truly,
B. H. CAIN,
Chairman of the Publishing Committee.

CONCERNING THE MANAGER'S APPEAL.

READ WHAT THEY SAY.

The preachers' weekly meeting of Philadelphia and vicinity, embracing points in New Jersey, passed a resolution on Monday last endorsing the Business Manager's appeal to the Church for a general collection January 24th, to be applied exclusively toward paying off the old debts. They pledged themselves to do all in their power to make the movement a success. Theo. Gould was chairman and Rev. Bolton secretary.

I hope and pray you much success. I hope your project for extra efforts in raising funds to relieve the publishing debt will be duly conceivable peace, in the undecided tone, decided cat and made a blessing to the Church.

Faithfully yours,
J. H. JOHNSON.

I heartily appreciate the situation of the Business Manager of our Publishing House. I will do all I can to help the matter to my congregation and try to raise a collection to assist in paying off its debts.

PARIS, MO., Dec. 5th, 1885.
REV. J. C. EMERY:

DEAR BROTHER—God speeding life! I will do all I can to help the Publication of the RECORDER at your set time in January. I will raise what I can, and write as I have you could to name two days. Respectfully,

F. C. CREWS.

TRENTON, N. J., Dec. 18th, 1885.

DR. EMERY:—I received your circular regarding the publishing debt, and in my charge for our Publishing Department, and will endeavor to do what I can.

Yours truly,
J. H. JOHNSON.

I shall be on the 24th inst. and will do much I shall send it also at once. God will keep you and bless you in your prosperity.

I am yours most respectfully,
M. W. BECKLEY.

Mr. Benjamin Harper, of Fox Chase, Pa., comes as as usual on the first of the year, with $2.00 to renew his name to the paper at less than cost, and so without a murmur or even being asked for it, he pays his dollar. God bless the old man, and, too, with a hearty God bless the RECORDER.

CHICAGO, ILL., Dec., 1885.

DEAR BROTHER EMERY:—I have read your appeal published through the RECORDER and heartily endorse it. I have circular requesting each pastor to raise a collection on the 24th inst., and I hope to aid in lifting the burden from our original Publishing Department. I heartily concur in the movement and shall try with feigned words make merchandise of you. We feel in sympathy those soldiers who nobly fought without money and without equal bounty, with their brethren who have received the bounty and they have been exempted from the payment of taxes for this crime in cases where heavy bounties have been paid. Would President Grant have said: "O, they were unequally rewarded for services; let them have a lighter portion of taxes." Such is the record shows that there was no such disposition. Poor Wallace Baker, of Company I., 55th Massachusetts Regiment, Polly Island, who bed fought without pay or bounty, was shot down by a dog, he having, under the discouragement of the cruel neglect of the United States government, resolved not to fight any longer, though as brave as the bravest.

The United States makes legal agreement with every soldier, that the pay should be equalized in pay for equal service, but many of the heroes of the 54th and 55th, who fought like heroes, having been discharged on account of physical disability, and never did receive equal compensation with others. In the name of the thousands of the black

CARD.

PRESIDENT'S OFFICE,
WILBERFORCE UNIVERSITY,
WILBERFORCE, O., Oct. 30, 1885.

Kind Friends:—For the past three months ago we furnished you a small card, stating that our buildings were located and sealed, and requested you, in view of this necessity, to befriend Wilberforce University by liberal donations in your locality. The time has come when we must meet our obligations, which we have done in part. But we have not by any means all the money you have collected, by reason of which we now look, please. If you desire to see it longer you will please to you. We have opened a Roll of Honor in the Wilberforce Review, and amongst shall be mentioned. Please do not disappoint us. We expect your answer within a week.

Yours sincerely,
JOHN M. BROWN,
Pres't Wilberforce University.

Geenine Friends of Wilberforce University, not to name merely but to-day, will please send us their names and what they have done:

THE FIRST GREAT ANNIVERSARY OF THE LITERARY SOCIETIES OF THE A. M. E. CHURCH.

In accordance with provision of Discipline, page 200, Article 2, the General Board of Education, at its session in Boston, Mass., October 22nd, 1885, fixed all the literary societies which have been or may be formed in the connection, to be the first Monday in January, 1886.

This order was also spread upon the minutes of Columbia College, in their session held on October 29th, 1885, and is sanctioned by Bishop H. M. Turner, Bishop Daniel A. Payne, the General Literary and Historical Association, and Rev. Richard Harper, B.D., Secretary of the same.

Now, therefore, in order to meet the growing demands of the age, and the educational work, we call upon all our ministers, members, friends to do all in their power to make the occasion a success. We ask ministers who may not be able to organize a literary society in time to meet the event, will please call the attention of the day and public meeting some distinguished person to deliver an address, or discuss, upon some appropriate subject. Society may be raised by a small admission fee, to meet the necessary appropriation by the society, etc. The following is appointed as the week, at which the pastor or other responsible officer, shall preside and instruct the society. Rev 243, Athens, Ga., such moneys as may be given for education, stating, in full, the object for which it is given to the church, with the names of the persons contributing, to be published in our annual report.

NOTICE.

A NEW DEPARTURE IN THE RECORDER SALE SCHEMES.

On and after September 1st, all agencies for RECORDER sales will be made anew and on a different plan, indicated below. Present agents must settle in full up to the last issue in August, which will be on the 27th. Our new rules will be as follows: 1st. On applointing an agent he or she must sign a written contract binding each to sell and return one-half of the sales money to us monthly and to make a full settlement of all claims at the end of every three months. 2nd. All papers unsold to be carefully preserved and reported with each settlement and held subject to our orders. They must be scented, bound and returned to us when required. 3rd. Such agents will be allowed one-third of each annual subscription they obtain for the year at $1.50 per year, if they retaining fifty cents and sending us a net one dollar. Or, they can take subscriptions on our instalment plan, by collecting 30 cents in advance every two months, and sending us 20 cents.

These rules will be strictly applied to all except regular itinerant ministers. We are compelled to do this for the protection of the Department against severe loss. We issue about two hundred and sixty thousand copies annually. Two-fifths, or one hundred and four thousand copies are sent out to agents. On this number we lose from $1,200 to $1,500 year. Believing that all our brethren will favor any plan which promises avoidance of this great loss, we have resolved on the above rules. Please read them, note well and prepare to settle at once.

Notice—All new agreements will be furnished in blank to all who wish to become or continue agents after September 1st.

ADVICE TO RUSTICS.

MRS. WINSLOW'S SOOTHING SYRUP should always be used for children teething, as it relieves the child, softens the gums, allays all pain, cures wind colic and is the best remedy for diarrhœa. It will surely save a babe.

CONSUMPTION CURED.

An old physician, retired from practice, having had placed in his hands by an East India missionary the formula of a simple vegetable remedy for the speedy and permanent cure of Consumption, Bronchitis, Catarrh, Asthma and all Throat and Lung Affections, also a positive and radical cure for Nervous Debility and all Nervous Complaints, after having tested its wonderful curative powers in thousands of cases, has felt it his duty to make it known to his suffering fellows. Actuated by this motive and a desire to relieve human suffering, I will send free of charge, to all who desire it, this recipe, in German, French or English, with full directions for preparing and using. NEW BOOKS

that will be on sale by the Manager in September and throughout the ensuing year:

"Fifty Years and Beyond; or, Old Age and How to Enjoy It." A book of incalculable value, as well as interest to all who have passed the meridian of life. 400 pages, cloth, $1.00, same in gilt edge, $1.50.

"Studies in Genesis; or, Bible Views of the Creation in its Relation to Modern Science," by the Rev. T. G. Shearard, D.D., and containing an important chapter on "Christian Evidences," by Bishop Campbell. This is an interesting and valuable book, especially to preachers, old or young. It will contain about 250 pages, 12mo, on clear beautiful paper, and sold at the low rate of $1.00. The work is now in press under our own imprint. Orders, $7.00, mailing 70cts. extra.

"Bible Heroes; or, Stories from the Old Testament for Little Folks." Judging by my own children, no parent who would have his children imbued with the heroic spirit of Bible characters, could buy a better book. Our friend Howard has illustrated it at cost. 50 cents; by mail, 55 cents; registered, 65 cents.

"A Voice from the Orient." This is a small volume of select sermons by Rev. M. C. Mangiavacchi, a native Greek, and pastor of the Spring Garden Methodist Episcopal Church, Philadelphia. This is an exceedingly interesting book for reading in leisure hours. Price, $1.50.

"The Rev. E. W. Walsh has published an excellent Record of Sacred Anniversaries and trustees, with blanks for every. Also a book pertaining to their reports and business meetings. It is well bound and well arranged. We have seen nothing like it. Any half so complete. The book is arranged for four years. It is just the thing to put in the hands of rect records. For sale at our Publishing House. Price, $1.25.

"The Resurrection of the Redeemed, and Kindred Truths," by Rev. James Boggs. book of 214 pages of well-written matter, well bound in cloth. Price, 50 cents. Sent by mail for each or all of these works may be sent to us at once. Cash orders only.

AGENTS WANTED.

Will our pastors who are not supplying the RECORDER to local people please do so by sending for a package to be sent weekly? If it is too much trouble to you, incorporate some good man or boy, or, what is quite as good, some good woman, to do the small recommend. Many of those who are now selling are agents as ladies. Let every one take hold of this. Let us hear from our workers. Send on your orders. Sell all the papers for five cents and send the three cents. Address

J. C. KEARNEY, 631 Pine street.

NOTE TO AGENTS SELLING THE RECORDER.

On and after the 1st of June, agents selling 10 copies or more will be charged 2½ cents a copy, (two cents and a half cents each) for copies, 2 cents.

All agents now selling and in arrears for sales since one month will be stopped after June 15th. After that all must settle the first of each month.

More than half of our fees on to-day on RECORDER sales alone. We shall sift out non-paying agents.

Now, dear friends and brethren, help us. We are in deep earnest. We work

OFFER.

To the Ministers and Members of the A. M. E. Church:

1st. We will give to every minister who will send us a dollar Money by the 15th of August a gold medal of Bishop Payne and Asbury. Who will be the first to send us the money? for we need it to pay the Bishops and General Officers of the Church and to help the Metropolitan Church.

2d. The pastor sending the largest amount of money by the 15th of Aug., 1886, I will give him "Bishop Turner's Book" or Dr. Tanner's "Outline."

3d. Send in the money soon! Send it to Xenia, Ohio.

4th. Do the best you can to help me. Do it now. We must have seventy-five thousand dollars this year. Who will be the first to start the ball—the Dollar Ball? Send on the dollars.

5th. Let every minister raise one dollar for each member this year. Try it once in your life.

7th. I will give a present to every church in this connection that will raise one dollar for each member. We will have a roll of honor and neofrience, and the pastors who will raise one dollar for or from each of his members will be put on that roll and published in the Budget of 1886.

The Bishops and General Officers must be solid.

The Metropolitan Church in Washington must be completed, by order of the General Conference. It is under the charge of the writer. It will be the grandest church in the connection when completed.

Don't wait for the conference but send the money to B. W. Arnett, Xenia, Ohio, as soon as you get it; if it is small, send it anyway. Small amounts help in way.

I am yours,

B. W. ARNETT,

Wilberforce, Ohio.

Manager's Notes.

We have on hand

the Revised Version of the Bible, just issued from the press. Two styles, $1 and $2 per copy. We want to sell them now. Please order them. Beautiful paper, clear type and most interesting reading. You never saw so clearly the meaning of many things as you will find in this new old Book!

Wakefield's Theology, the standard theological text book, adopted by the Bishops for the course of study. $2.50 by mail at your risk; $2.25 by express. Please order them. They are here and must be sold.

Then we have an excellent book—"Fifty Years and Beyond,"—a charming thing for older people and for those who begin to be old. It sends up—not down—the shining pathway of years with a harp and song. $2.00, postpaid. Must be sold. We have many more, but can't speak of them now.

What we must say

now, is that we are opening a regular campaign for the CHRISTIAN RECORDER. We want two thousand new subscribers, and all the old ones to renew. Now, appreciating the dullness of the times, we have resolved to put the paper within the reach of all, adopting the instalment plan.

Instalment

cents a little more, but is easier because it gives more time. Hence, we make the following offer to all who desire to have the RECORDER:

Send us 25 Cents and we will enroll your name in a special book kept for that purpose and will send you the paper for sixty days; then send us 50 cents, and two months after 50 cents, and two months later 50 cents more. Total, $1.75.

All our Pastors are Agents for the RECORDER, and are hereby requested to present this proposition to their people and receive their enrollment fee (25 cents), and give their receipt for the same. [Note.—We will send a few blank slips of receipts to all who will act for us in this matter.]

On this Plan

we give full six months for paying the subscription.

"Pastor's Memorandum Book," by Rev. C. T. Shaffer. Price, 45 cents, no discount. An excellent book.

NOTICE.

All questions and business pertaining to advertisements sent in the Recorder, and requesting correspondence to the Recorder, should be addressed to Rev. J. C. Embry, Business Manager; not to the editor. There is no part of the business of this establishment requiring money to be sent to the editor or communications for the Recorder, to the Manager. All orders for change of the place of paper, securing Sunday schools or Church supplies, must be sent to the Manager, not to the editor. Please remember, nothing but articles for publication, or letters pertaining thereto, should be addressed to the editor, and they to him exclusively.

DON'T FORGET.

Next Sunday is Book Concern Day. This day is not a General Conference day, but it is generally observed as such. If you will do something for the Concern that day, brother, you will help raise from $2,000 to $5,000 surely. This is addressed to every reader of the Recorder, is not asked that the day be given to this subject, but that even the entire collection of any single service, but that each church will collect and send some money. There is an honorable pledge by the Manager that the money shall be applied exclusively to the discharge of the debts and not to maintain current business.

GOD'S HERITAGE.

The Church is the Lord's, bought by a precious price, the blood of his Son. Ministers are his under shepherds. All business relations and convocations in the Church are to the end that God may be glorified in human salvation. Do we sometimes forget this fact and feel that the Church is ours instead of God's? Does not this humanizing, the Church, stand in the way of our spiritual success?

All arrogance in the exercise of powers deputized to us by our Bishop of souls; all flourishing of our scepter; all separating ourselves from men by conventional presumptuous services; all demand that the weaker shall be constantly manifest their appreciation of the great difference between them and their under shepherds are contrary to the spirit and design of the ministry. Indeed, we are a rule unscripturally in government. The best rulers are those who accomplish the duties of their office without any conspicuous jealousy of their power.

The Christian ministry, above all other forms of relationship between men, must hold its influence by a manly setting forth to common life and actions the fact that its officers are God's men and that the Church is God's heritage. This is their ground of authority, their reason for being brave in resistance, earnest in their proclamation, firm in office and gentle in their dealings with God's heritage. It is also the reason why they should be thoroughly faithful to their Lord, lest they prove unfaithful stewards; why they should know their field, its subjects, its properties, its demands and its possessions. It is reason for scrupulous faithfulness, for which will finally come to a reckoning with them by rightful authority and will demand of them full returns for all their handling his own heritage or possessions.

THE AFRICA TEN THOUSAND.

The Secretary of Missions has issued the Missionary Gem, a little service and song paper prepared especially for Easter service. In this number an especial appeal is presented by the Secretary for the ten thousand dollars for African Missions. The money may be raised easily. It must awaken within us a new interest and a high degree of fervor to be called upon to aid in a definite and arranged way in the work of our Church in Africa. It is vain to cry out "inability" when three cents from each member will make the money. If our Bishops, presiding elders, pastors, people and friends will heed the appeal of Secretary Townsend and all go to work at once, there will be no shortcoming in this matter. Dr. Townsend seldom makes shortcomings in official matters.

The Church gave about eleven thousand dollars for education last year. It can as easily give ten thousand to the African work on Easter Day. It will be after spring is fairly open throughout the greater part of our work. The twenty-fifth of April is the latest date on which Easter can come. Let us make our contribution the greatest that the Church has ever made to any cause in one day. Bishop Cole's going to Africa in February will render it so much the more necessary that our Easter offering be large, for he will doubtless establish missions that will draw upon us almost immediately as well as make it our duty to aid works already established that recently expressed themselves as anxious to unite with the African Methodist Episcopal Church. If we are going to do anything for Africa now, we must have the ten thousand; with any less we will be indulging in child's play to talk about having any African work. The proposition stands: ten thousand for Africa, or an acknowledgement that we are not to doing anything in Africa.

THE JANUARY A. M. E. REVIEW.

The A. M. E. Review for January opens with a steady article by T. Thomas Fortune, Esq., on "Civil Rights and Social Privileges." Mr. Fortune's paper is a clear, logical presentation of the facts of and distinction between civil rights, which belong to every citizen is a republic, and social privileges, which are regulated entirely by individuals and the social laws enacted by customs according to tastes and convinciences. He shows on what an unjust legal status American social tastes have been formed and how we can get the majority of those considering human rights under American law to give active to the dark rare-varieties. Mr. Fortune advises the colored American to use the same weapons that have conquered for the white man, courage, culture, cunning and wealth. The thoughts of this paper are cast in well chosen words and sound logic. It may be well regarded as a fine composition.

Dr. W. S. Scarborough follows Mr. Fortune in a classical paper on "Fatalism in Homer and Virgil." It is well known that Prof. Scarborough has been some time ago accorded a place on the platform of the philologists of the day by merit and despite constructing prejudices. This paper, read before the American Philological Association at its annual session in New Haven, 1885, and published in the Review, shows a range of classical scholarship that goes far in guaranteeing that place, earned, and will add much strength to the reputation of the learned article is that the Iliad and Æneid are particularly characterized by fatalism.

"The Negro Problem is the South," employs the essay pen of Rt. Rev. H. M. Turner, D. D., LL. D. This subject, though often treated, seems never to tire and Bishop Coin has very pleasantly and easily interwoven the thoughts of the best men of the two great parties with his own in a fabric, which, if not exceedingly strong, is beautiful and cheering. His conclusion is that in the good time coming there will be one homogeneous nation governed by intellectual and moral worth and controlled by Christian influences. "Then there will be no East, no West; no North, no South; no black, no white; no Saxon, no negro, but a great, happy and united nation."

Dr. D. Augustus Straker, whose thoughtful pen finds time to tell of other than the thoughts of our own land and our own American negro race variety, gives us a picture of the beautiful, rich Orinoco Valley, the recent movements of the great powers with reference to its redemption, the ill methods by which men and nations have dealt with Africa in the past, yet the wonderful worth discovered in the "Dark Continent" even under these methods, the wealth and wonders that may yet be found in the "Dark Continent" and its dark people when God's doc time shall come and the wilderness shall be made to blossom.

Dr. J. H. A. Johnson, not "I. H. A," as the printers have made it, presents us a beautiful paper on "Plein Humanity Without Distinction." The writer treats the race question with a master's hand; increasing in interest and in ardor at every step. Contrasted with Mr. Fortune's paper this is mild and runs into the every day common life side of the subject.

The poetry of this number is by Rev. M. E. Lambert, "My Dream;" Rev. Albery A. Whitman, M.D., "Woods and Rocks," and "The Heart's Harvest," by A. Wills Menord, reproduced on our first page. What reals say one of these three gems will not have to consult the rhyme nor the capitalized initials to know that the is reading poetry. Dr. Whitman's verse is highly and clearly original, shrewd, pure and noble. Prof. E. A. Clark, A.B., gives number I. of a series on "Science, By Unscientific Methods." This paper contains in showing the superiority of the inductive method; the gain in time, quality and quantity in the use of this method in educational processes, not to the exclusion of the deductive method, but as the essential method. The article is instructive and will prove a pleasant study to the mind of metaphysical cast. The Rev. J. C. Embry treats the great subject "Barbarism in our Civilization," with his characteristic pointed, vigorous style, under the division, "The leading features of our civilization, the moral and ethical standards of this civilization and the barbarous practices and manners descended from the rude centuries past and still prevailing in our times."

"The Commercial Position of the United States Upon the High Seas" is a paper prepared by Jesse Lowum, A.B., LL.B., showing the real and comparative wealth and commercial assertion on the seas.

"The Life of Lord Lawrence and its Lessons" is sectioned by Dr. Blyden. Those who read the Doctor's first paper will read this with extraordinary relish. Learned and in excellent spirit, it will richly repay all readers.

Prof. T. B. Snowden treats the subject "Development" under the following heads, "Physical, commercial, intellectual, racial, economic and religious." The Rev. A. J. Chambers in gorgeous rhetoric treats "England's Rule in Ireland." The writer defends Ireland against England's misrule, and says that her methods have been nobled and not the wisest for either herself or her Irish subjects. The editorials of the Review are strong and well chosen, treating the following subjects, "The Imperative Status of the A. M. E. Church Historically," "The Press a Necessary Adjunct to Successful Missionary Work," "The Perpetual Virginity of the Holy Mother," "The Supplementary Character of the Scriptures," and "Our View Sustained." Book and Review notices is full. If you miss the Review you will miss more than you will ever know. Its reading will inspire you with a better notion of our people.

A BROTHER WRITES respecting as editorial that appeared in the Recordan, a short time ago, on the subject of ministerial qualifications, "We need more Holy Ghost among our ministry." This is true, widely true; but does not remove the other wants. There has been considerable talk within the past two years, to the effect that we have demanded education so long that we have created a fairly educated ministry, but have paid too little attention to the spiritual qualifiesctions. There may be some truth in it; but we dare not yet turn away from the subject of education. We must by our hold of it. Het we do not exclude the spiritual condition by any means when we speak of educating the ministry. We mean above all things else, that our ministry shall have self-salvation; that they shall be fully consecrated to God through Christ. We must not say less about education and attend less to edncation, but we must "give ourselves more nento prayer." We must "shun the appearance of evil." We must "lay aside every weight and the sin." We must cease self-glorification and "glory in the cross of Christ." We must have courage to meet wrong-doing ministers face to face and "reniure such a one." We must have callings, not trades, evangelists, etc., good and great men, however great their powers to gather people and build up brick walls.

BRETHREN, urge the people to subscribe for the Recorder. It is to the interest of the ministry to have the laity well informed. Every dollar invested by the good people in the paper is an enhancement of the people's worth by many dollars. It should be a part of poor work as ministers to circulate the Recorder and not have every church and one subscriber for this year. Not only one, he will do his part of increasing our list by 2,000. But every minister can secure, on an average, five new subscribers and have increase our list by more than 10,000. You get your per cent. for the work, brethren, the Recorder is made stronger, your people are stronger and God is glorified.

WE DO NOT hear of many revivals this winter. How is it? There is no one in the Church who does not see the need of more spiritual life and power. The Rev. O. E. Herbert has had considerable religious interest in his church at Chester, Pa., and the first of fifty years ago; his honorous commensis on the Americanness in some respects, English novels; his genial analysis of some remarkable novels by an unknown English writer that have hitherto escaped notice; his characterization of Balzac's "La Peau Chagrin," and his summary about our critics: all in his inimitably happy style, will be a rich treat to the expectation of a department of this The Editor's Drawer, conducted by Charles Dudley Warner, is exceptionally good.

THE TEN THOUSAND MUST COME.

MR. EDITOR:—Can the A. M. E. Church raise $10,000 on Easter Sunday for Foreign Missions? is a question which has been asked by many people, but do not know the strength of our great connection. The Missionary Secretary of the Methodist Episcopal Church asked for "one million" and it came, and why? Simply because every Bishop, elder, deacon and preacher gave his unqualified endorsement and their sons; secondly, the great willing heart of the Church responded and the end was reached.

The grandest achievement of the Church, in my opinion, would be to see $10,000 in one day upon God's altar for the redemption of the race. Can it be done? Will not each Bishop "speak in no uncertain sound" and urge the collection? Will not each elder, from all the forces in his charge and say the work shall be done. Let no one excuse himself on any account. The proposition means a amount may be raised in some way or another. We leave that with the pastor, only let the money be raised. Will not each Sunday school experintendent, with his corps of teachers bring the children forward in the grand work? Then let the missionary societies here and there do their utmost.

Last of all, are there not a number of good men and women who will write us a card and say, "I will give one dollar for five, ten or more dollars?" Dear friends, in the name of all that is holy and good let us unite and the work is done. Who will respond? The programme for Easter services are out. Let the pastors send in their orders for the number needed and we will have them free of charge. Do not delay, but order at once. All communications addressed to Rev. J. M. Townsend, 916 S. Literature.

Harper's Magazine for February opens with a thorough study of the present condition of the British Navy, by Sir Edward Reed, late Chief of Construction in the Admiralty, who, by-the-way, notices at some length the importance of American open European naval construction. The illustrations—embracing twenty-two—are for the most part from drawings by Chevalier De Martino. Very appropriately the frontispiece to the number is a fine engraving from a drawing by J. L. Davidson, representing the battle of Trafalgar. We have another fine illustment of "She Stoops to Conquer," with four characteristic illustrations by E. A. Abbey, one of which—a full page picture—accompanies a song which Miss Dorothy Nevile sings to Tony Olliver Thorne Miller, in an article entitled "Living Fells," treats of the wild animals whose anntony enables them, like the Australian, to live in the trees out of a sphere. Mr. Howells's charming novel, "Indian Summer," is concluded in this number. Miss Ellen Hutchinson writes an able and suggestive article on "Women's Clubs," in which a very instructive comparison between the European trade-school and system known as the Russian-American. Chas. Dudley Warner treats of "Education as a Factor in Prison Reform." Ex-Minister S. G. W. Benjamin contributes a very interesting description of the "Tazieh, or Passion Play of Persia," as witnessed by him at Royal Tahieh of Teheran. Poems are contributed by Miss Dora Read Goodale and Charles W. Coleman, Jr. Mr. George William Curtis, in the Easy Chair, discusses the "Duty of Public Amusements; some forgotten poets; the wonders of our neighbor eighbor, Mexico; and lodiscriminate simplicity. Mr. W. D. Howells's second "study" in even more exacting style than the first His brilliant sketch of Agassiz (apropos of the life recently published) "seems to him a fairy tale of biography;" his quaint review of M. de Rancourt's observations of "America, 1777 and 100 years ago; his humorous commensis on Americanness in some recent English novels; his genial analysis of some remarkable novels by an unknown English writer that have hitherto escaped notice; his characterization of Balzac's "La Peau Chagrin," and his summary about our critics: all in his inimitably happy style, will be a rich treat to the expectation of a department of this The Editor's Drawer, conducted by Charles Dudley Warner, is exceptionally good.

JAMAICA LETTER.

BY REV. N. B. STEWART.

MR. EDITOR:—Ere I had left British Guiana (with an expectation of meeting the Rt. Rev. J. P. Campbell, Gay, and others at the annual conference which I heard was to convene on the 24th of December at the the A. M. E. Church at St Thomas, D. W. I.) I proposed giving you a report of the work in the mission field at the aforementioned place, but having swing to unforseen circumstances, I did not do so. As an adage "Better late than never," I solicit of you to accept a few lines, first on the present situation, and after which in the British Guiana mission field. The heading of my letter will shew where I am. "God moves in a mysteri'ous way his wonders to perform." Observed and perplexed has been my past time since I left Demerara. I embarked early in December in the barque "Elizabeth Sanderson" with the intention of taking passage on some other vessel for my destination, but after we had been out several days, and the wind and current against us, and being obliged in such by the first few days, we were thrown entirely out of our course. When the storm had ceased the Captain found that he was unable to location, he could not tell where he was at all, but by observation he made out that we had passed Barbadoes and that there was no possibility of our going there at all. Hence I found myself in Jamaica, as I had been does was to gohy the wind, which the storm attacked us again he was likely to be driven, and we were driven into Port Royal through a pilot (Dod) who met us at sea and brought the vessel to its destination. I am now on the shore of Jamaica for three weeks. I have been kindly welcomed, but was in indigent circumstances, there was no possibility of my leaving.

On the whole this island is as the other places in the Antilles, very hilly; the region of the mountains is such as fords me much pleasure to behold its pleasantness. It is a beautiful and magnificent and bold very responsible position officially as well as in mentantility in Mexico, the chief favorite of the Third Napoleon, and the enforte nate commander of the great army that surrendered at Metz, is a prisoner in Madrid. WHAT WE NEED.

BY REV. ALEXANDER PALMER.

MR. EDITOR:—You will allow me space in your paper to say a few words to the readers of the African Methodist Episcopal Church. I reason in the last Recordan, of Wednesday, speaking of the ministerial qualifications, and that they may expect when they come before the annual committee at the conference. I will say that there is something else of greater importance to our Church to be considered than simply to stand an examination to show that he can read and write. That is, he must understand the principles of the Church, and not to go to the Church with their great learning, overlooking the duties of the Church without having to make them accept something they cannot understand. As for myself, I feel that I am the smallest among our preachers, and if I know anything at all it is by the word because I believe it. I have taken up after the conference at Lexington, Mo., by presiding elder G. W. Guy, and sent to Ralls, Mo., where I have been now for six years. My steamer only takes one day from Portsmouth to Hannibal, so on the next day you will be surprised to hear of my being in the Church preaching to a crowd, and bye we may be able to send one of our missionaries. Oh! I have just received a letter from my wife, and she is now in the Philadelphia Conference, with the Rev. Miller. Probably we will be able to meet the appreciation of his name. The illustrations I am doing soma good for the Church. I made up my mind to leave on the 7th of this month, and go to Port-au-Prince. I cannot leave my family in Ralls, Mo., and after that I will, D. V., cross to St. Thomas and then hasten to Demerara. I have been invited by several persons to pay my passage to my destination. Brethren, I am in destitute circumstances. Deo fidus scabies crux mihi anchora. I am a young man (school masters) who were trained in the college here, who have applied to be admitted into the ministry. Now, in order to make my work a success, I went out among the brethren and helped them in their meeting this winter and laid my plans before them for a church in Ralls and they have promised a hearty co-operation, and I can say the Lord has blessed my efforts in the construction of my church, especially in Springfield where we carried on the meeting three weeks and the Lord was with us every night. I had all the churches doing well except at Kansas City, which is in a bad shape, but I pray that God will soon lift it out of the mud.

TIMBER AND METAL SHIPS.

When timber gave place to iron and steel in the construction of war ships, the naval possibilities of Great Britain became practically illimitable. Prior to that period the greatest of England's docks yards largely stored with recent deliveries of Italian and other oak timber of this description.

But here it may not be inappropriate for one whose earliest professional studies were devoted to the construction of ships, but whose more recent labors have been most largely devoted to the live sea, to express a passing tribute of respect to the constructive genius of those great builders in wood who devised and built the wooden walls of Old England's glory. Those noble ships of the good old times. Skillful builders were they who planned and set the scheme, which meshed them to the greatest strength with the least weight of timbers and planks into the Grace de Dieu of Great Harry's Day (1514), the Sovereign of the Seas of Charles's reign (1637), the Royal William of half century later (1692-92), the Victory immortalized by Nelson, and in our own early day such superb ships as the Duke of Wellington, and scores of others those who have made a study of the history of sea science will appreciate the difficulties which the designers of those ships had to overcome.

With the introduction of iron and steel for ship-building purposes the ascendancy of the British Navy over the world for timber suitable for the frames and planking of ships, and for masts and Great Britain, which early became, and that for romains, first and greatest for producing and using iron and steel for ship purposes.

The memorable marine of Bay-Bishop recently made some strictores on the conduct of some of the ministers in the M. E. Church; hence the banding by the Herald.

A FORTUNATE CITY.

If Baltimore has not been the Athens of America she makes good promise to become such. The promise comes from the inspiration not first of learning and literary culture, but of Christian faith. One magnificent benefaction suggests another. First Mr Peabody gave to Baltimore a magnificent library for specialists and scholars. That gave the suggestion and example to Johns Hopkins, who founded the most inspiring institution for developing high scholarship in every branch to be found in the United States, and which almost makes its unnecessary for students to go to Europe to pursue his studies under satisfactory conditions. These great gifts followed by the third magnificent gift of over a million dollars by Enoch Pratt, which will make the whole system of Boston, to all the citizens, was inaugurated last week.

As Mayor Hodges, in his speech accepting the gift for the city, said, it is just one thousand years since the first public library for English-speaking people was opened by the greatest of English kings. After freeing his people from the yoke of the Danes, Alfred came about to see what best gift he could present his people. His answer was recorded in the live sea, in passing tribute of respect to the constructive genius of those great builders in wood who devised and built the wooden walls of Old England's glory. Those noble ships of the good old times. Skillful builders were they who planned and set the scheme, which meshed them to the greatest strength with the least weight of timbers and planks into the Grace de Dieu of Great Harry's Day (1514), the Sovereign of the Seas of Charles's reign (1637), the Royal William of half century later (1692-92), the Victory immortalized by Nelson, and in our own early day such superb ships as the Duke of Wellington, and scores of others those who have made a study of the history of sea science will appreciate the difficulties which the designers of those ships had to overcome.

A QUAKER MISSIONARY'S EXPERIENCES.

"The Quaker Missionary" of the American Sunday School Union, in the New York Observer, A gray-haired man who was noted for earnestness was deeply impressed by the death of his wife, and a dying request before, had accepted Christ as his Saviour and pleaded strongly with his friend, earnestly testifying to the truths of Christianity. The old man, who had repelled all Christian appeals to himself, said, "There is a land where my wife is dead, and a dying request he will be. We'd better have an other missionary meeting soon for him." The result was, after a few days, the conviction of sin became so strong that, on his way to his work, he sank down on his knees, and the old Quaker found peace in Christ. Taking home to his wife with "the glad tidings" of Jesus, soon after was baptized by the Lord, and now they, who were so poor for evil, are working for souls, and a prayer-meeting, after the way of salvation had been presented, and the question was asked, "Who will accept of Christ now?" instantly a tall, manly form arose, saying, "I will be the first and said: "I will." His wife cried to Christ, but she cried lustily for mercy, confessing its great wickedness and his faith that Christ was able to save him. The next day his wife came to Christ, and with streaming eyes he besought the people to accept Christ as their Saviour. The next night he was at the meeting, believing in Jesus, and now they rejoice together and realize the blessedness of training their children for Christ. Another prayer-meeting was born of Christ. On the evening of this day Bishop Payne gave a short lecture upon what he termed the "So called Potion of our Church with the B. B. E. Church," and the union of the A. M. E. Z. Church with the A. M. E. Church. Of the first he said he was opposed to it in the past, was opposed to it at present and would oppose it in the future. But from the second he thought much good would result.

CHICAGO, ILL., Dec., 1885.

DEAR BROTHER EMBRY:—I have read your letter in reference to the Recorder, also received your special letter, and will say I have taken up a collection on the last Sunday in January, and will bring the burden from our crippled Publishing Department. I heartily concur in the movement and sincerely hope that all the Church on that day will come up to the help of the Publishing House and upholding the movement, not by words only, but by deeds. BOOK ROOMS OF THE A. M. E. CHURCH, 631 Pine St., Phila., Jan 7th, 1886.

We, the undersigned, have met together at a meeting of the Executive Committee of the Board of Publication, after full hearing and consideration, endorse the appeal of the Business Manager to the ministers, bishops, and the personal circular on the same subject, issued January 1st, 1886. We trust our pastors and people will give a hearty response.

R. H. CAIN, Chairman,
J. P. CAMPBELL,
A. W. WAYMAN,
W. B. DERRICK,
M. W. BECKLY,
By request of the latter,
C. ASBURY, Sec.

The Bishops and members of the Executive Committee of the Board of Publication, met in the Book Rooms Thursday last, January 7th, authorized the following statement and resolution to be published in the Christian Recorder, in connection with the proceedings of the session:

1. We are highly pleased with the report of the Manager for the portion of the Publishing Department since last April. We are satisfied that the business has been faithfully and vigorously conducted. The financial part of the Review has been conducted with signal ability and success.

2. Resolved, That we hereby endorse the Manager's appeal to the ministers and churches for assistance to clear away the burden so long and heavily resting on the Publishing House, and pledge ourselves to co-operate with the Manager in securing the same.

3. We have heard with pleasure the report of the Missionary Secretary, and commend the same to the favorable consideration of the next General Conference.

4. Resolved, That the Book Agent be instructed to have printed 30 per cent of the Bishop's Address, delivered at the session and an exposition by Bishop Payne on the Itinerancy, and that the Secretary have the same distributed to the ministers of the connection.

ON THE SECOND DAY

pastoral reports were made. The Bishop gave a short address, and the first upon a point of law raised by Rev. M. M. Moore in regard to the service who refuse to perform their duties in the church, and secondly upon a point of law raised by Rev. J. C. Embry relative to probation members. One of these was decided to be given up a project and publish the same against all interference with the legitimate work of the Publishing House of our own Book Adopted.

On motion the Financial Board was unanimously requested to continue the appropriation of $2,000 annually for the ensuing year. The Board passed resolutions complimentary to the Rev. D. Cornish, the Review and the literary work of the Church.

Present as the Executive meeting:
R. H. CAIN, Chairman,
J. P. CAMPBELL,
A. W. WAYMAN,
WM. B. DERRICK,
M. T. TAGGART,
Secretary.

THE FINANCIAL CALL OF THE MANAGER.

The brethren of the connection will please note the special request of Manager Embry to make a contribution to aid the Book Department. If the brethren will make the effort there will be ample means to meet the demand and lift the present indebtedness. We hope a solid effort will be made to accomplish this much desired end.

R. H. CAIN,
Chairman of the Publishing Board.

CONCERNING THE MANAGER'S APPEAL.

HEAR WHAT THEY SAY.

The preachers' weekly meeting of Philadelphia was held Monday, embracing points in New Jersey, passed a resolution on Monday last endorsing the Business Manager's appeal to the Church for a general collection January 24th, to be applied exclusively towards paying off the old debts. They pledged themselves to do all in their power to make the collection a success. Rev. Dr. Gould was chairman and Bro. Holton secretary.

I hope and pray you much success. I hope your project for extra efforts in raising funds to liquidate the standing debt will be a success. I have just indorsed, vigorously carried out and made a blessing to the Conference.

Faithfully yours,
JAS. H. A. JOHNSON.

I heartily appreciate the situation of the Publishing House and will present the matter to the connection at large and will do a collection to assist in paying of its debt.

A NEW DEPARTURE IN THE RECORDER SALES BUSINESS.

On and after September 1st, all agencies for RECORDER sales will be made anew and on a different plan, indicated below. Present agents must settle in full up to the last issue in August, which will be on the 27th. Our new rules will be as follows: 1st. On applocting an agent he or she must sign a written contract binding each to sell and return one-half of the sales money in six monthly and to make a full settlement of all claims at the end of every three months. 2nd. All papers must hold to be carefully preserved and reported with each settlement and held subject to our orders. They must be counted, bound and returned to us when required. 3rd. Such agents will be allowed one-third of each annual subscription they obtain for the paper at $1.50 per year, they retaining fifty cents and sending us a net one dollar. Or, they can take subscriptions on our installment plan, collecting 30 cents in advance every two months, and sending us 20 cents.

These rules will be strictly applied to all except regular itinerant ministers. We are compelled to do this for the protection of the Department against severe loss. We issue about two hundred and sixty thousand copies annually. Two-fifths, or one hundred and four thousand copies are sent out to agents. This number we lose from $1,200 to $1,500 year. Believing that all our brethren will favor any plan which provides a reduction of this great loss, we have resolved on the above rules. Please read them, note well and prepare to abide by them.

NOTE.—These new agreements will be furnished in blank to all who wish to become or continue agents after September 1st.

BETHEL BELL.

Walking up Sixth street a few days ago, we stumbled upon one of the prominent members of "Old Bethel" church, the mother of us all. Leaving him to pass on up the street, we were arrested by his eloquent, "say!" Then said he, "In passing through the country I see sleepless and hells on churches of nearly every denomination, how is it that we have none on "old Bethel!" We informed him that several of our churches West and Big men, and a man whose responsibilities under God were due to a world composed of one race, whose horoscope was too narrow, even at the verge of the grave, to take in more than a single race, and whose love was oceans of stronger, and, at the same time, poorer mental powers than he, but a world of such men would be far away from God and would soon come to a destruction like that of Sodom. Behold the Christianity is not this best obvious in "thinking minds? Then if we would have an educated race, in the pulpit, church, and desire to help in this work, would it not be well for our Sunday schools to make this our work effectually? Would it not be well for us to put one of our many collections, say, the fourth, for perfect endowment? Commence with the oldest, Shiloh first, and when that her beyond all embarrassment, then the next, and so on through the entire category of our schools. Ten thousand troops sustained over a vast territory cannot accomplish the work as one hundred, if they are concentrated. In some instances of liberality, as well as other purposes, colleges possible will hasten the mock consummation. Let it be so. We fear in this respect it is not so much quantity needed as quality. With our forces united divided, which is the result?

Next, if our beloved Wilberforce is struggling against odds, with her faculty and students, let us help her out, not in sufficient apparains; and still worse, no endowment; compelled to rest under the debt of a mortgage, the finest forces are divided between a half dozen or more fields.

Second, there is Allen University struggling, both debt and financially embarrassed. Concentration of forces is the watch word. What is true of Allen is true of Shorter, Lane, and the "Mecca," Morris Brown and our other institutions of learning. Let the arm of their usefulness hampered and fettered because there has not been a concentration of effort, union and of mind? It seems like shooting in the air. We long to help the one, but in a minute we halt then to miss it with twenty shells. We would that it could be considered as dictating to the powers that be, but merely suggesting a few points as prelude to the same thing in concentration of means a surer and more speedy success will be realized.

FLORIDA FINDINGS.

BY REV. J. I. SAWYER.

MR. EDITOR:—The day is beautiful and bright, and I feel inclined to send you a few lines to help thinking; but some how or other I have failed to write. Some weeks past I have read in the CHRISTIAN RECORDER a letter written by Mr. L. T. M. Peer, dated Jacksonville, Fla., in which the colored people were asked to sit together in a first-class car in order that other people might have seats ossoiled by ex-batchel occupants, so it brought to my mind a little incident that very recently a colored gentleman, who has been a resident of Florida for many years of Florida, was riding in a smoking car of the cars, and I noticed a number of white men who could have set in any other car in the train, asked us

NOTICE.

A NEW DEPARTURE IN THE RECORDER SALES BUSINESS.

On and after September 1st, all agencies for RECORDER sales will be made anew and on a different plan, indicated below. Present agents must settle in full up to the last issue in August, which will be on the 27th. Our new rules will be as follows: 1st. On sportioning an agent he or she must sign a written contract binding each to sell and return one-half of the whole number to us monthly and to make a full settlement of all claims at the end of every three months. 2nd. All papers need to be carefully preserved and reported with each settlement and held subject to our orders. They must be sorted, bound and returned to us when required. 3rd. Such agents will be allowed one-third of each annual subscription they obtain for the paper at $1.50 per year, they retaining fifty cents and sending us a net one dollar. Or, they can take subscriptions on our installment plan, collecting 25 cents in advance every two months, and sending us 90 cents.

These rules will be strictly applied to all except regular itinerant ministers. We are compelled to do this for the protection of the Department against secret losses. We have about two hundred and sixty thousand names annually. Two-fifths, or one hundred and four thousand copies are sent out to agents. On this number we lose from $1,500 to $1,500 year. Believing that all our brethren will favor any plan which promises avoidance of this great loss, we have resolved on the above rules. Please read them, note well and prepare to settle at once.

NOTE.—These new agreements will be furnished in blank to all who wish to become active agents after September 1st.

ADVICE TO MOTHERS.

MRS. WINSLOW'S SOOTHING SYRUP should always be used when children are suffering from pain, and the little sufferer rewarded by its use. It will relieve the poor little child at once. It is perfectly harmless to the most delicate infant, and will certainly relieve GRIPING in the BOWELS, and WIND COLIC, and by giving health to the child, rest to the mother. We believe it the best remedy in the world in all cases of DYSENTERY and DIARRHŒA in children, whether it arises from teething or from any other cause. Full directions for using will accompany each bottle. None genuine unless the fac-simile of CURTIS & PERKINS, New York, is on the outside wrapper. Sold by druggists throughout the world. Price 25 cents a bottle.

CONSUMPTION CURED.

An old physician, retired from practice, having had placed in his hands by an East India missionary the formula of a simple vegetable remedy for the speedy and permanent cure of Consumption, Bronchitis, Catarrh, Asthma, and all Throat and Lung Affections, also a positive and radical cure for Nervous Debility and all Nerv ous Complaints, after having tested its wonderful curative powers in thousands of cases has felt it his duty to make it known to his suffering fellows. Actuated by this motive and a desire to relieve human suffering, I will send free of charge, to all who desire it, this recipe, in German, French or English, with full directions for preparing and using. Sent by mail by addressing with stamp, naming this paper, W. A. NOYES, 149 Power's Block, Rochester, N. Y.

NEW BOOKS

that will be on sale by the Manager in September and throughout the ensuing year.

"Fifty Years and Beyond; or, Old Age and How to Enjoy It." A book of invaluable rules, as well as interest to all who have passed the meridian of life. 400 pages, cloth, $1.00, sums in gilt edges, $1.50.

"Studies in Genesis; or, Bible Views of the Creation in its Relation to Modern Science," by the Rev. T. G. Shearard, D.D., and containing an important chapter on "Christian Evidence" by the Bishop Campbell. This is an intensely interesting book, especially for students, old or young. It will contain about 350 pages, 12mo. on clear beautiful paper, and sold at the low rate of $1.00. The work is now in press under our own imprint. Orders, $1.00, mailing free.

"Bible Heroes; or, Stories from the Old Testament for Little Folks," Judged by my own children, no parent who would have his children imbued with the heroic spirit of Bible characters, could buy a better book. Our children devoured it at once. Price only 25 cents; by mail, 35 cents; registered, 65 cents.

"Notes from the Orient." This is a small volume of select sermons by the Rev. M. M. Mangasarian, a native Greek, and pastor of the Spring Street Presbyterian Church, of Philadelphia. This is a remarkably interesting book for reading in leisure hours. Price, $1.00.

Rev. J. E. Webb has published an excellent Record Book for church stewards and trustees, with blanks for everything pertaining to their reports and business proceedings. It is very bound and well arranged. We have seen nothing like it, nor half so convenient. Price, $1.50. Send for post-paid to examine. It is just the thing to aid in making correct records. For sale at our Publishing House. Price, $1.50.

"The Resurrection of the Redeemed, and Hades," by Rev. James Inskip. A book of 214 pages of well written matter, well bound in cloth. Price 75 cents.

Orders for each or all of these works may be sent to us at once. Cash orders only.

AGENTS WANTED.

Will our pastors who are not supplying the RECORDER to their people, please do so by sending for a package and trying to work it up. If it is not for trouble to you, encourage some young man or boy, or, what is quite as good, a young lady whom you could recommend. Many of those who are now acting as agents for this paper, at one time took hold of this. Let us hear from you. Send on your orders, and we will sell the paper for five cents and send us three cents. Address

J. C. EMBRY, 661 Pine street.

NOTE TO AGENTS SELLING THE RECORDER.

On and after the 1st of June, agents selling 10 copies and over will be allowed 2 cents per copy, (two cents and a half); less than ten copies, 3 cents.

Agents will please note this and arrange for more than one on a month's supply after June 11th. After that all must settle the last day of each month.

More than $400 is due us to-day on RECORDER sub claims. We shall sift our agents next week.

Now, dear friends and brethren, help us. We are entering on a new field of work with energy and faithfulness, we pray you to stand by your own cause.

It is a recent English wedding the bridesmaids carried large bunches of grapes instead of flowers.

OFFER.

To the Ministers and Members of the A. M. E. Church:

No. 1. We will give to every minister who will send us his Dollar Money by the 15th of August a gold medal of Bishops Payne and Ashbury. Who will be the first to send in the money? for we will send it to you by the Bishops and General Officers of the Church and to help the Metropolitan Church.

No. 2. The one person sending the largest amount of money by the 15th of Aug., 1886, I will give him a "Bishop Turner's Book," or Dr. Tanner's "Outlines."

No. 3. Send in the money soon! Send it to Xenia, Ohio.

4th. Do the best you can to help me.

5th. We must have twenty-five thousand dollars this year. Who will be the first to start the ball—the Dollar Ball? Send on the dollars.

6th. Let every minister raise one dollar for each member this year. Try it! once in your life.

7th. I will give a present to every church in the connection that will raise one dollar for each member. We will have a roll of honor and nonhonor, and the pastors who will raise one dollar for each member of his members will be put down on that roll and published in the Christian Recorder.

The Bishops and General Officers must be up.

The Metropolitan Church in Washington must be completed, by order of the General Conference. This is the way now. It will be the grandest church in the connection when completed.

Don't wait until the conference but send the money to B. W. Arnett, Xenia, Ohio, as soon as you get it; if it is sent to me, I will say nay. Small amounts do not help.

I am yours,

B. W. ARNETT,

Wilberforce, Ohio.

Manager's Notes.

We have on hand the Revised Version of the Bible, just issued from the press. Two styles, $1 and $2 per copy. We want to sell them now. Please order them. Beautiful paper, clear type and most interesting reading. You never saw so clearly the meaning of many things as you will find in this new old Book!

Wakefield's Theology, the standard theological text book, adopted by the Bishops for the course of study. $2.50 by mail at your risk; $2.25 by express. Please order them. They are here and must be sold.

Then we have a excellent book—"Fifty Years and Beyond,"—a sharing thing for older people and for those who intend to be old. It sends n—ect down—the shining pathway of years with a harp and song. $2.00, postpaid. Must be sold. We have many more, but can't speak of them now.

What we must say now, is that we are opening a regular campaign for the CHRISTIAN RECORDER. We want two thousand new subscribers, and all the old ones to renew. Now, appreciating the dullness of the times, we have resolved to put the paper within the reach of all, adopting the installment plan.

Installment

cents is little more, but is easier because it gives more time. Hence, we make the following offer to all who desire to have the RECORDER:

Send us 26 Cents and we will enroll your name in a special book kept for that purpose and will send you the paper for sixty days; then send us 50 cents, and two months after 50 cents, and two months later 50 cents more. Total, $1.75.

All our Pastors

are Agents for the RECORDER, and are hereby authorized to present this prospectus to their people and receive their enrollment fee (25 cents), and give their receipt for the same. [Note.—We will send a few blank slips of receipts to all who will act for us in this matter.]

On this Plan

we give full six months for paying the subscription.

"Pastor's Memorandum Book," by Rev. O. T. Shaffer. Price, 45 cents, no discount. An excellent book.

We further state, with all confidence, that Ayer's Cherry Pectoral

Cures Incipient Consumption.

Consumption is the blighting plague of our nation. In its silent march through the land, it is stealing away from our homes thousands of the brightest and best of their kindred. If, however, the disease is taken in time, its terrible ravages may be prevented by the use of Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. Prof. F. Sweetzer, of the Maine Medical School, Brunswick, Me., writes: "Medical science has produced no other anodyne expectorant so good as Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. It is invaluable for diseases of the throat and lungs." George E. Wilson, Battle Creek, Mich., writes: "Ayer's Cherry Pectoral has been added to my file by Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. I had been given up to die, with what my friends believed and supposed was Consumption. I was weak and emaciated, and could hardly speak. I procured a bottle of Ayer's Cherry Pectoral, and, before it was all taken, I was about my business. I am now in good health and healthy man ever since." Mrs. S. H. Jackson, Fay Reservoir, L. I., writes: "Ayer's Cherry Pectoral saved me from Consumption, many years ago." A. C. Bell, New Glasgow, Nova Scotia, writes: "For more than twenty years since, when a young man, I had a terrible cough, for a long time. My physician and friends thought my friends thought I was going into a decline. By the use of Ayer's Cherry Pectoral, the alarming symptoms disappeared, and I speedily recovered my health."

EXAMINATION.

Our class meetings, official boards, and all our conferences have as a part of their work, directly or indirectly, examination of standing, character or acquirements of individuals. These examinations are to be conducted in the proper spirit, with good sense and the proper end in view. All irrelevancy, jesting, efforts to merely show the committee or conference's learning, or to puzzle the persons under examination are not only indications of weakness, but fail to meet the object of the examination. We have heard of silly questions being put to candidates for license that had no connection with the requisitions of the pulpit, nor warranted in common sense. The object of examination in the Methodist system is to learn whether standing, quality or quantity is up to the demands of the Church. It is not to puzzle the candidate or person, but to inquire of him, not only what he knows, but what he can parade.

SENIORITY.

The Senior Bishop subject finally becomes interesting in all Episcopal churches at times. We notice that the good bishops of our sister church, Z. M. E., discussed it at their recent session, concluding that Bishop J. J. Jones should for the present be regarded as senior. Though the settlement of seniority in office may seem to be something easily accomplished or done where two or three Bishops are elected and ordained at the same conference it becomes quite a nice point in question. It should not assume sufficient importance to make any trouble. The difference of a few minutes might be divided by the number of those elected and they graded by standard time. Bishop Turner, both before and since his own ordination as Bishop, held that an Episcopal Methodist Church should as a rule ordain one Bishop at each General Conference. The statistics of our own Church show that we have averaged just one Bishop for every General Conference. This would sustain the correctness of Bishop Turner's notion. Other prominent men among us have advocated this practice. Of course they know that this rule must be varied at times.

WHAT SHALL I PREACH!

There are probably few ministers who have not asked this question. It is important, too. Around the outsiders and within are many intimations and suggestions at times, but at some other times, like a human being, he can scarcely see what is around him or find anything orderly in his mind. Nor has he always the power to "get up" a sermon. Sometimes after "getting up" the sermon he is unable to get it "down;" that is, he is unable to find in it any joyousness for his own heart. He is unable to bring it into that blessed, inexplicable relation that answers all questions regarding his being sent by God to deliver that especial message. He may be eloquent and effective, but he condemns himself after preaching; not because he preached, not because of what he has done, but because of something wanting, something undone. What is this? It is the absence of interest in Christ, of love of Christ, of the true conception of his living presence and power of his salvation. Sometimes the minister is fearful lest he preach the same sermon that he had preached to his congregation before. This will not allow him a respectable standing in the community. Sometimes he is fearful that his elocution is faulty. He is fearful that he will fail to preach himself to the people satisfactorily. He forgets for the moment that he is not sent to preach himself, but Christ. A better question than what shall I preach? is, what ought I to preach? or what must I preach? Poor, weak preachers, what ones we do by oratory, what by originality, what by learning, in the way of preaching Christ when we leave the anointed life, the efficacious blood, the consecrated love, the holy presence and the matchless grace of the blessed Christ out! Preach Christ Jesus the Lord and him crucified! "I begin and again to commend myself to you," said Paul. The very assurances of our Saviour are to the effect that we shall not succeed commending ourselves to men, but must commend to the presentation of the Christ who commends his love to us and in that while we were yet sinners he died for us. A sermon that leaves its hearer thinking deeply, repentantly and faithfully, is worth a hundred sermons that simply raise the dust and leave the sadness bathed in tears. Tears and shouts are easily gained, but connection with Christ that brings the life into harmony with his life is the object of preaching.

COLONEL W. HANNIBAL THOMAS makes some good suggestions relative to our finances. He will have some trouble in locating for us that place whose name is a dim sound, "The South," with sufficient distinctness to allow any distribution of the one-fourth of the Dollar Money as suggested. On that point the present law is about as good as the original proposition. From 30 to 40 per cent of the Dollar Money is distributed in the territory in which it is collected, in almost any way that the conference may elect. Thousands of it are used for local educational institutions in some Annual Conferences. The fact that several prominent editions who were instrumental in getting Bills Crandall in jail because of her philanthropic labors for the colored race—The Philadelphia Evening Telegraph.

By the principles of equity and the revelation of morality who knows but all the marrying to silly, wicked people, the separation of husband and wife, the sacrifice against the education of colored persons will not after awhile find a heart in America that will show itself ashamed of its barbarous treatment and make restitution so far as possible? Who knows but that after a long, long while poor suffering colored man will find a heart in America, the home of the brave, that will make liberal amends for the heartbreaks of sorequisited toil and inhuman suffering!

IT IS PLAIN enough to any one in any respectable sense acquainted with the history and present status of Ireland, that its clamor for home rule, notwithstanding all the money invested by northeast Irishmen in the Parnell members' salary, is to be looked upon with suspicion as to its ability to maintain any rule. It may be that England does Ireland serious injustice, but it is very probable that Ireland does Ireland more injury than does England. A people so helpless and so little interested that they cannot support their representatives without drawing upon Irishmen and non-Irishmen all over civilization show little assurance of the ability to maintain home rule. Well do we remember the remarks of the Rev. McMullen, representative of the Irish Wesleyan Church, bearing greetings to the A. M. E. Conference in 1880, saying that the religious condition of Ireland was seriously low, owing to the predominance of Catholicism.

PRESIDENT CLEVELAND declines giving the Senate the papers, &c., touching removals and appointments. The President may of course be courteous in this step, but it comports poorly with his former service to the country as the President of the whole people. It is not only a matter of party, but of principle that is involved in the President's removals and appointments. There were probably never more men appointed by any President in ten months who were obviously ofjectionable to the people, not exclusively of the opposing party, but many of the ruling party, than during the ten months of Mr. Cleveland's administration. It does not look most in the Republicans to inquire why the President has appointed so many of this class of men; nor would it seem a reflection upon the President whose guarantees of honest and righteous government are so numerous.

WE REGRET STRONGLY inclined to the belief that if Bishop R. R. Disney should address a letter to Bishop D. A. Payne, Jacksonville, Florida, he could receive the long desired "Freedmen" article. We are sure the Church would be glad to know what the Bishop has to say on the subject. The Church has waited long for him or some one else to speak. The article is understanding not only charges Bishop Disney with dishonorable conduct, but indiscriminately charges the same upon any or all of the Bishops of the A. M. E. Church, excepting Bishops Shorter and Payne. It has long been a matter of surprise that nothing has been said.

THE REV. DR. JOHN T. JENIFER, pastor of the Charles Street A. M. E. Church, Boston, has arranged a service book for his congregation, containing, besides the ordinary ritual, a liturgy, select Psalms, other scriptures and several hymns. The book is on thirty-two pages and presents a chaste appearance. We shall be good Episcopalians after awhile whether good Methodists or not. We are returning to the robe, the dioceses, the House of Bishops, and shall we have the Apostolical succession!

MR. W. W. GAMES, of Philadelphia, has been appointed by the proper authorities to solicit funds for the examination of the noble educational work at Waco, Texas. William Paul Quinn College has in Mr. Games a good business man. Whether she has a successful agent in the future must determine. We take pleasure in assuring the public that all contributions made to Mr. Games will be faithfully applied to the purpose for which they were collected.

WE GAVE no authority to publish the fact, but it is stated in the Southern Leader that the Rock Florida Conference has been put off from February 18th to March 2nd. We have been authorized by a New Jersey presiding elder to publish that Bishop Cain has deferred the time of holding the New Jersey conference from April 8th to April 22nd on account of the Bishop's going to Africa.

THE REV. J. MITCHUM continues to whack at the tobacco shewers. We mean not the least disrespect to tobacco shewing preachers when we say that it is a shame that such sparkling pearls before swine. Yet keep at it, Brother Mitchem; you are on the right side if not the winning side. Keep at it. If they do not yield to you, they will to tobacco.

BISHOP TURNER'S visit to Philadelphia, last week, was in the interest of ministers of his work, procuring for them a large number of books, such as encyclopedias, scientific and theological works. Bishop Turner is also preparing to hold one or more presiding elder conferences this year; one to the South-east and one in the Southwest.

IN A RECENT NUMBER of the Star of Zion, organ of the Z. M. E. Church, Bishop J. W. Hood considers the article of Bishop Campbell's that appeared in the RECORDER some weeks ago. As we returned from the South in company with Bishop Campbell we met Bishop Hood on the train.

THE SALISBURY PRESBYTERIAN in England has been brief, but rather fiery, and not nowise. The new Ministry will do well if its life be not even briefer than was that of Lord Salisbury. The Irish Parnell machinery is likely to make short work of it largely to show the Irish consistency power.

THE COULD'S RECORDER for February is enlarged and printed in four columns instead of three, as heretofore. Its appearance is chaste and its contents instructive. The object of a children's paper and presents a whole appearance. We shall be good Episcopalians after awhile whether good Methodists or not. We are returning to the robe, the dioceses, the House of Bishops, and shall we have the Apostolical succession!

THE "FREE LANCE," a Nashville paper, gives a brilliant notice of our Sunday School Department headquarters in Nashville, giving in detail the general appearance of the office and its furniture.

PHILADELPHIA had a large fire on Arch Street between 7th and 8th last week, burning several large business establishments and the St. Cloud Hotel.

WE NOTICE in the West Texas Conference report that the Pearsalls and Pan Qolan College attended the session.

Personal.

—The Hon. John R. Lynch is said to be reading law in Washington.

—President Solomon, of Hayti, is reported to have been assassinated.

—The Rev. G. W. Pegram, D. D., is having a gracious revival in Hamilton, Ont.

—John B. Gough will lecture in the interest of Music, Philadelphia, February 15th.

—Archbishop Gibbons, of Baltimore, it is thought, will succeed the late Cardinal McCloskey.

—Mr. W. C. Lee and Dr. Jaas Gould, of Gouldtown, were in Philadelphia several days recently.

—It is stated that the Hon. Frederick Douglass has tendered his resignation to the President as Register of Deeds.

—The Hon. John M Langston will lecture in Union A. M. E. Church, 16th and Fitzwater, Tuesday evening, February 16th Subject, "Hayti"

—Secretary Lamar and ex-Governor Colquitt are lay delegates to the opening session of the General Conference of the M. E. Church, South.

—The Rev. T. Gould wonders what we could have meant by saying that revivals were scarce. The membership has been nearly doubled this week.

—Miss Mary E Miller, formerly a student of Wilberforce University, was married in Philadelphia 23th inst. Miss Miller died in the full triumph of faith.

—The Rev. Mr. Dove has been appointed to succeed the Rev. Mr. Bell as the pastorate at Kansas City, Mo. We sincerely trust that he will be greeted pros perity under his administration.

—The Rev. Dr. John T. Jenifer, pastor of the Charles Street A. M. E. Church, Boston, has arranged a service book for his congregation, containing, besides the ordinary ritual, special services for varied occasions, a liturgy, selected Psalms, other Scriptures and several hymns.

—Rev. Henry Johnson, of the Church of England, has been appointed archdeacon of the Upper Niger He is of pure negro blood, and was born of parents who were formerly slaves. He is highly educated, and has translated the New Testament into several of the languages of West Africa.

—President Seelye, of Amherst College, recently received from the Rev. J. American Review, in payment for an article, a check which Seelye exchanged him by his munificence He told one of his students that labor had been so small and the recompense was so large that he had concluded to make a practice of the latter. Then he gave each member of the class, which numbered one hundred, a handsome copy of Tennyson's "Essays."

Literature.

The Quiver for February is an attractive number and opens with an illustrated poem, "While as Sheep." The Christmas weather of the old fashioned kind seems to see. This is followed by a pertinent paper from the pen of Rev. R. H. Lovell on "Toil and Sloth." In which the value of work is not only urged but proved. Another poem, "Inasmuch," by Margaret Hayeraft, precedes the serial, "The Heir of Sandford Towers." Then we are given an admirable description of "Two Famous London Churches," St. Margaret, Westminster, and St. James', Piccadilly, by W. Manrica Adams. Very appropriately comes a paper on "The Opening of the Year," by Rev. Howson, which is well worth reading and laying to heart. The number of this magazine has an admirable way of mixing the grave and the gay in a manner quite to the taste of the reader. The Paper That Was Cried Over," is a clever little story in two chapters, which is followed by a very interesting paper dealing with the model homes of some fishermen on the Northumberland coast. There is also a poem, "Ophir," which is enriched by a beautiful illustration. In the series, "The Conquests of the E. C. S.," we have a short story of Wm. Penn," and a great story in it. Then follow some odds and ends and after them a strong story, "Matthew Dacre's Trust," by Rev. F. B. Bowes. The Rev. Hugh Macmillan writes on "About a Pottery Mound" outside the city of Rome, which is followed by the concluding paper on "Truth and Truthfulness." The Quiver Arrows are as usual the last shot from The Quiver. Cassell & company, limited, New York, 15 cents a copy, $1.50 a year in advance.

BISHOP DISNEY SPEAKS.

MR. EDITOR:—Rumor says that an article was published in the New York Freeman some months ago over the signature of seven or nine men who objected to the election of the so-called Bishop M. E. Church at Chatham, Ontario. I is stated that I was the subject of the article. Rumor says that I am a very clever man. Now, Mr. Editor, I have tried my very best, again and again, to get the paper in which the article was published, but I have not been able, up to the present time, to succeed. I wrote to the editor of the Freeman and kindly asked him to send me a copy of the paper, and I have written to friends in New York City and elsewhere, and solicited their aid in the matter, and still I have not received a copy of the paper containing the article. I have been very anxious to see it, and am not less so now, and I shall thank you, Mr. Editor, or any one will be kind enough to send me a copy of the New York Freeman containing it. It is said to be dated on or about the 1st of August, 1885. I am very sorry that I have not had the opportunity of seeing the article referred to, but I say, without fear of successful contradiction, that if it did contain anything calculating reflections upon my moral, religious or official character, the charges are malicious falsehoods.

R. R. DISNEY.

LETTER FROM THE EDITOR OF THE "REVIEW."

MR. EDITOR:—In keeping with my promise, he kind enough to accept the following for the dear old RECORDER, which for so many years commanded the thought of my head and of my heart.

Entering the cars at the Broad Street Station, my attention was first attracted to the two really little sanctums of the colored lady and a white lady. Most familiarly did they talk, and when the final moment of parting came, they as tender y blessed one another as ever Christian sisters could be. Said the one thought I "Is she really white?" Thereby as a matter of fact she was light hair and straight, brown eyes and a color as white as the paper upon which I write. But was she really white? One would think that that which is purely a matter of fact would be real. But not so, with the contradictions and misrepresentations of American prejudice. With it a thing may be and not be, at the same time—the door both open and shut—one of the philosophers has substantially agreed And I am prepared to say, that neither of the white lady proved to be really colored. She was white with the color of snow in life and in interest, but manifestly not of us as to blood. And, singularly enough, a fine opportunity presented itself to reside see prejudice in its true colors. Just beyond Atzandria, Va. there entered the car three ladies. A business looking white gentleman preceded them. Just beyond the door. One of the number, in so far as round shoulders, obesity, black hair and skin then curly, and sem-burnt cheeks could indicate, was evidently colored as is the writer. Yet, while the three mentioned lady was colored, she was white, out of sight. Now, in Virginia, the country is filled with them, especially in Richmond, as is also in many cases of Mr. Lewis, of New York, they are not known.

Colonel Archibald's said a white gentleman to Mrs. Anderson, the colored lady of the R. E. Lee, "I am colored in the eye, he thought she was white. Now, Mr. Editor, I have tried my very best, again and again, to get the paper in which the article was published, but I have not been able, up to the present time, to succeed.

Now, Mr. Editor, I have been appointed to succeed the Rev. Mr. Bell as the pastorate at Kansas City, Mo. We sincerely trust that he will be greeted pros perity under his administration.

—The Rev. Dr. John T. Jenifer, pastor of the Charles Street A. M. E. Church, Boston, has arranged a service book for his congregation, containing, besides the ordinary ritual, special services for varied occasions, a liturgy, selected Psalms, other Scriptures and several hymns.

—Rev. Henry Johnson, of the Church of England, has been appointed archdeacon of the Upper Niger He is of pure negro blood, and was born of parents who were formerly slaves. He is highly educated, and has translated the New Testament into several of the languages of West Africa.

—President Seelye, of Amherst College, recently received from the Rev. J. American Review, in payment for an article, a check which Seelye exchanged him by his munificence He told one of his students that labor had been so small and the recompense was so large that he had concluded to make a practice of the latter. Then he gave each member of the class, which numbered one hundred, a handsome copy of Tennyson's "Essays."

Literature.

The Quiver for February is an attractive number and opens with an illustrated poem, "While as Sheep." The Christmas weather of the old fashioned kind seems to see. This is followed by a pertinent paper from the pen of Rev. R. H. Lovell on "Toil and Sloth." In which the value of work is not only urged but proved. Another poem, "Inasmuch," by Margaret Hayeraft, precedes the serial, "The Heir of Sandford Towers." Then we are given an admirable description of "Two Famous London Churches," St. Margaret, Westminster, and St. James', Piccadilly, by W. Manrica Adams. Very appropriately comes a paper on "The Opening of the Year," by Rev. Howson, which is well worth reading and laying to heart. The number of this magazine has an admirable way of mixing the grave and the gay in a manner quite to the taste of the reader. The Paper That Was Cried Over," is a clever little story in two chapters, which is followed by a very interesting paper dealing with the model homes of some fishermen on the Northumberland coast. There is also a poem, "Ophir," which is enriched by a beautiful illustration. In the series, "The Conquests of the E. C. S.," we have a short story of Wm. Penn," and a great story in it. Then follow some odds and ends and after them a strong story, "Matthew Dacre's Trust," by Rev. F. B. Bowes. The Rev. Hugh Macmillan writes on "About a Pottery Mound" outside the city of Rome, which is followed by the concluding paper on "Truth and Truthfulness." The Quiver Arrows are as usual the last shot from The Quiver. Cassell & company, limited, New York, 15 cents a copy, $1.50 a year in advance.

BISHOP DISNEY SPEAKS.

MR. EDITOR:—Rumor says that an article was published in the New York Freeman some months ago over the signature of seven or nine men who objected to the election of the so-called Bishop M. E. Church at Chatham, Ontario. I is stated that I was the subject of the article. Rumor says that I am a very clever man. Now, Mr. Editor, I have tried my very best, again and again, to get the paper in which the article was published, but I have not been able, up to the present time, to succeed.

TOBACCO PREACHERS.

THE BEST PLAN TO BIG THE A. M. E. CHURCH OF THEM

BY REV. J. MITCHUM.

The example of tobacco using preachers is like that of a cancer in the human system, exceedingly injurious to society and especially to the young and rising generation. The practice of such men is to sow the gospel and pastors of our churches the seed of tobacco to a physical, mental, moral and financial injury to the church where such men labor. Such men are unscrupulous, unsentimental, unchristian and unmoralizing habit. be checked among the people to whom the gospel in the A. M. E. Church? As a rule, they think it to be a very difficult problem to solve for several reasons. First, they have said and said that the best way is to keep tobacco preachers out of the conference, but they have proven to us that this is not practice. This has succeeded with some hearts are so much like their mouths, that they will spend years to get there, and, James y. 18th, was read by Rev. S. Jones, Twenty-seventh Street Church. The subject, "Prayer," was made the disciplines in the Methodist Church" The Rev. Dr. Lee, presiding elder of the district. He said that the character and conduct of each had its effect upon all.

Brother Walters, of Zion Church, was then called upon to preside for a little over two years, has been given a benefit by the Board of Church Extension and pastor. He expects to leave soon for the South.

Our Union Protracted Meeting is started at Bethel, the elders from the various churches assisting. As per previous announcement Pray for us.

San Francisco, Cal.

MRS. HARPER'S APPEAL.

SISTERS IN A COMMON CAUSE:—Permit me to call your attention to this much neglected department in our union. Our Sabbath-schools offer the opportunity of helping "a race who have been for ages in the depths of ignorance," a race into whose lives the shoots of Christian civilization are still projected. In helping them in the cause of God who would some year enough to the leper to touch him, and who healed the blood-lowsome skin and tainted blood, to make the blind to see, the deaf to hear, the darkness from his eyes, to the sinful woman to have a place in His great heart, you cannot but feel a sympathetic response to the call for help to the record of her labors for a little over a hundred years

Our work is to the right, a little further on in the conservatory, which is filled with cool ferns, palms and orchids, both native and foreign, where the lover of botany has a fine botanical study at hand. Here also is an arbor covered with different species of beautiful climbing vines, placed there to the sustaining the lives of numerous small fishes, the kind kept by ladies in globes in the parlors. Then to the right is the conservatory is the music stand, where concerts are given by the band, and in pleasant weather music mingles its strains with the mirth and merriment of the gay throng. Rocky mountains to the east gain a line of steam cars take us to the Pacific Ocean and its beautiful harbor of San Francisco, where we have become a city of one million of people, scarcely a century old. Standing on a platform of the Pacific Ocean and its beautiful harbor of San Francisco, where we have become a city of one million of people, scarcely a century old. Standing on a platform of the same car, on the ocean side, a quarter of a mile in front of you are three separate breakers projecting high out into the water, and literally covered with seals of such a variety of colors as would please the heart of a Landseer or Rosa Bonheur The lume is well spared in looking at these mammals of their gambols with their young. Crafts of every conceivable variety and size are also seen, from the ship of sion to the deep water mansuch of the ocean coming in and out of the Golden Gate.

On a higher elevation, to the rear of the cars, we have a beautiful garden in course of construction. By exiting from the car on the opposite side from the sating house, you are allowed entrance by the gain keeper, where you will find a pleasant drive of four miles, set with miniature artificial landscapes. Here images of the gods of heathen mythology are placed promiscuously, Apollo, Venus, Diana, Neptune, Mars, Ceres, Minerva, Pluto, Proserpine, Saturn, Juno, Bacchus, Vulcan, Mercury, Cupid, Hercules, Jupiter, Hebe, Vesta, Aurora, Flora, Pomona, Terra Mater, Bishop's Campbell, Bishop Payne, Bishop Turner, Bishop Brown, Bishop Disney, Bishop Gaines, Bishop Shorter, Bishop Wayman, Bishop Lee, Bishop Tanner

NOTICE.

A NEW DEPARTURE IN THE RECORDER SALES BUSINESS.

On and after September 1st, all agencies for RECORDER sales will be made anew and on a different plan, indicated below. Present agents must settle in full up to the last issue in August, which will be on the 27th. Our new rules will be as follows: 1st. On applointing an agent he or she must sign a written contract binding each to sell and return one-half of the sales money to us monthly and to make a full settlement of all claims at the end of every three months. 2nd. All papers unsold to be carefully preserved and reported with each settlement and held subject to our orders. They must be counted, bound and returned to us when required. 3rd. Such agents will be allowed one-third of each annual subscription they obtain for the paper at $1.50 per year, they retaining fifty cents and sending us a net one dollar. Or, they can take subscriptions on our installment plan, collecting 30 cents in advance every two months, and sending us 20 cents.

These rules will be strictly applied to all except regular literature salesmen. We are compelled to do this for the protection of the Department against severe loss. We have now about fifty and sixty thousand copies soneally. Two-fifths, or one hundred and four thousand copies are sent out to agents. On this number we lose from $1,200 to $1,500 year. Believing that all our friends will love us a clean will and promise avoidance of this great loss, we have resolved on the above rules. Please read them, note well and prepare to settle at once.

NOTE.—These new agreements will be furnished by mail to all who wish to become or continue agents after September 1st.

ADVICE TO MOTHERS.

MRS. WINSLOW'S SOOTHING SYRUP should always be used for children teething. It soothes the child, softens the gums, allays all pain; cures wind colic, and is the best remedy for diarrhœa. Twenty-five cents a bottle.

Those with whom we can apparently become well acquainted in a few moments are generally the most difficult to rightly know and understand.

NEED NO MONEY.

and we might also say—time and pain as well, in our service to good housekeepers and laborers. If you have a necessity existing always to have a perfectly safe, remedy warranted for the relief and prompt cure of the ailments peculiar to women, address us in the commend strongly and unqualifiedly Dr. Pierce's "Favorite Prescription"—woman's best friend. It will save money.

Our 'steamed contemporary—The oyster.

Many imitators, but no equal, has Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy.

A case of restoration to life of a person supposed to be dead has occurred in Dalton-in-Furness. The daughter of a man named Newell had been ill for three months, and it was reported that she was dead. She was placed in a coffin, and the hour of the funeral fixed. A short time before, however, she gave signs of reviving and the coffin and a shroud were sealed in. The girl is now recovering.

In the bottom of Washoe Lake are living springs of pure water, and Steve Woodward, the old boatman, draws his supply of drinking water exclusively from this source. In order to obtain it he pulls out in his boat to the middle of the lake where they are located and, sinking a large demijohn, he pours it full with a stone, draws the cork with a string, and when it fills it draws it to the surface.—San Francisco Alta.

In consequence of a report drawn up by M. Persoz, Professor of Chemistry in Instigation Bureau, the Prefect of the Seine has decided to suppress the fleeing wash house mounted in the cleaning the quays of Paris. Thus, for the sake of the health of the Parisians and also of numerous visitors, one of the last of the characteristics of picturesque features of Old Paris will be swept away.

A bee-keeper having been told that, if, through being repeatedly stung by bees, had become impervious to any unpleasant sensation when attacked by them, resolved to experiment on his own person. He kept a record of the number of times he was stung, and when he began to cease feeling the shock of the stings. The result was that all sense of feeling had gone when he had been stung three thirty times in a few weeks.—New York Mail and Express.

A DANGEROUS TOY.—The French police have forbidden the sale of a dangerous toy known as the "Sonde Courbet." It resembles a thimble and is filled with powder; when thrown on the ground it explodes. It is said to be a form of the detonating balls familiar to the youth of our country. It has caused several accidents, and the authorities have seized every sample that they could find for sale, and have prohibited any further manufacture of these bombs. —British Medical Journal.

Two candidates for the office of constable, Brokoski and Ives, received an equal number of votes at the recent election in Chicago, and, as the statute provides, the question of which should have the office was decided by lot. A Judge took down a volume of reports of the Supreme Court, and told the contestants that the one who found at the top of the left-hand page the letter nearest the beginning of the alphabet should carry off the prize. Brokoski found the letter A, and Ives the letter "W." The former was, therefore, sworn in.

Charles Ott, who immigrated from Germany to this country in May last and settled near Mexico, Missouri, purchased the other day by his dog Fritz, which he had left on the other side in charge of his brother. Fritz set up for him while at work. How the animal succeeded it is impossible to say, but soon or more miles was a mystery to Otto, who wrote to Castle Garden officials and asked if Fritz entered the country through Jot-port. The canine did arise through New York, as the following account of the animal's long jaunt, as told in the Journal of that city, will explain: The quartermaster of the steamship Lardom, who heard of the story of Fritz's boarding-house keeper, said that Fritz never left the wharf at Hoboken after his master sailed but waited until another vessel came in and went on board. Some days the American bark, and after unloading sailed for Antwerp as a passenger. The bark landed in New York and on the arrival of Fritz, it is claimed, was found by a boarding-house keeper, who took him to a Castle Garden employe, who, from the name on his collar, found that he belonged to Otto. A search of the books told where Otto had gone, and attaching a card to the dog's neck, directing him to his master, he was sent west in charge of an immigrant. The immigrant, it is presumed, fancied the dog, and resolved to keep him. He therefore took of the collar. Fritz by some instinct must have traced his master and surprised him as the letter says. Fritz is described as a large St. Bernard, with an intelligent face and splendid coat of hair.

NEW BOOKS

that will be on sale by the Manager in September and throughout the coming year:

"Fifty Years and Beyond; or, Old Age and How to Enjoy It." A book of incalculable value, as well as interest to all who have passed the meridian of life. 400 pages, cloth, $1.00, same in gilt edges, $1.25.

"Studies in Genesis; or, Bible Views of the Creation in its Relation to Modern Science," by the Rev. T. G. Selby, D.D., and containing an important chapter on "Christian Evidences," by Bishop Campbell. This is an intensely interesting book, especially to preachers, old or young. It will contain about 260 pages, 12mo. on clear beautiful paper, and sold at the low rate of $1.00. The work is now in press under our own imprint. Orders, $1.00, mailing 10cts. extra.

"Bible Heroes; or, Stories from the Old Testament for Little Folks." Judging by my own children, no parent who would have his children imbued with the true spirit of Bible characters, could buy a better book. Our children devoured it at once. Price only 50 cents; by mail, 55 cents; registered, 65 cents.

"A Voice from the Orient." This is a small volume of select sermons by Rev. M. N. Manjasarian, a native Greek, and pastor of the Spring Garden Avenue Presbyterian Church, of Philadelphia. The is an exceedingly interesting book for reading in leisure hours. Price $1.50.

Rev. J. E. Webb has published an excellent Hymn Book for church services and trustees, with blanks for everything pertaining to their reports and business meetings. It is well bound and well arranged. We have seen nothing like it, for half or more money. The book is arranged for four years. It is just the thing to aid in making orderly records. For sale at our Publishing House. Price, $1.50.

"The Resurrection of the Redeemed, and Hades," by Rev. James Boggs. A book of 216 pages well written matter, well bound in cloth. Price, 50 cents.

Orders for each or all of these works may be sent to us at once. Cash orders only.

AGENTS WANTED.

Will our pastors who are not supplying the RECORDER to their people, please send us a list of names for a canvass to be sent weekly? If it is too much trouble to you, encourage some young man or boy. What is quite as good, a young lady whom you could recommend. Many of those who are now selecting as agents are ladies. Let every pastor have a bold offering, and we bear from our workers. Send on your orders. Sell the paper for five cents and send us three cents. Address

J. C. EMBRY, 661 Pine street.

NOTE TO AGENTS SELLING THE RECORDER.

On and after the 1st of June, agents selling 10 copies and over will be allowed 2 cents a copy, (two cents and a half); less than ten copies, 3 cents.

Any agent who is selling still and is nearer than one month will be stopped after June 11th. After that all must settle with us for the end of each month.

More than $400 is due us to-day on RECORDER sales alone. We shall call our agents next week.

Now, dear friends and brethren, help us. We are endeavoring to do your work with energy and faithfulness, we pray you to stand by your own cause.

BISHOP TURNER'S BOOK.

Manager's Notes.

We have on hand

the Revised Version of the Bible, just turned from the press. Two styles, $1 and $2 per copy. We want to sell them now. Please order them. Beautiful paper, clear type and most interesting reading. You never saw so clearly the meaning of many things as you will find in this new old Book.

Wakefield's Theology, the standard theological text book, adopted by the Bishops for the course of study. $2.50 by mail at your risk; $2.25 by express. Please order them. They are here and must be sold.

Then we have an excellent book—"Fifty Years and Beyond,"—a charming thing for older people and for those who intend to be old. It sends up—not down—the shining pathway of years with a harp and song. $2.00, postpaid. Must be sold. We have many more, but can't speak of them now.

What we must say

now, is that we are opening a regular campaign for the CHRISTIAN RECORDER. We want two thousand new subscribers, and all the old ones to renew. Now, appreciating the dullness of the times, we have resolved to put the paper within the reach of all, adopting the installment plan.

Installment

costs a little more, but is easier because it gives more time. Hence, we make the following offer to all who desire to have the RECORDER:

Send us 25 Cents and we will enroll your name in a special book kept for that purpose and will send you the paper for sixty days; then send us 50 cents, and two months after 50 cents, and two months later 50 cents more. Total, $1.75.

All our Pastors

are Agents for the RECORDER, and are hereby authorized to present this proposition to their people and receive their enrollment fee (25 cents), and give their receipt for the same. [Note.—We will send a few blank slips of receipts to all who will act for us in this matter.]

On this Plan

we give full six months for paying the subscription.

"Pastor's Memorandum Book," by Rev. O. T. Shaffer. Price, 45 cents, no discount. An excellent book.

NOTICE.

All questions and business pertaining to advertisements seen in the RECORDER, and requesting correspondence to the Business Manager, should be addressed to Rev. J. C. Embry, Business Manager; not to the editor. There is no part of the business of this establishment requiring money to be sent to the editor; nor communications for the RECORDER to the Manager. All orders for changing address of papers, giving both post-day school or Church supplies, must be sent to the Manager, not the editor. Please remember, nothing but articles for publication, or letters pertaining thereto, should be addressed to the editor, and they to him exclusively.

OUR MISSIONARY DEPARTMENT.

This department is designed to organize and notify our home missionary work as well as the foreign. It is the intention of the Secretary of missions to have a correspondence with each county local boards, but conference missionary committees also. The organization of this work tends to quicken the activity and strengthen the interest of the people and preachers. We have never made a large effort in the missionary field. We have always acted feebly. We are now called upon to do what cannot be called more than a week act. Two thousand dollars from four hundred thousand persons cannot be called large, while any less than this on Easter Day will be a disgrace to the connection. Could we calculate on a universal action by the entire Church we could assure the Board department $25,000; this without knowing anything about how much each church would collect. All we ask is a universal effort and we have the money.

HOME READING.

Notwithstanding the many thousands of newspapers published, there remain thousands of homes into which no newspaper enters. The home without good books and good papers is deprived of two of the most precious means of proper home feeling, setting and living. Indeed, the reading which makes one home a house is of the highest value. A school education, even though acquired at the very best institutions, is not as likely to be a complete education without such general home reading as with this. The presence of home of books and papers adapted to all stages of life are excellent tests of the natural bent of mied as well of the strength of mied. As a rule the child that has no taste for home reading will never make a great scholar. Good books and papers are absolutely essential to good citizenship. The man who feeds on the edorotion acquired years ago depends upon the past. He lives in the past. The reader of current literature alone can be up with his times. Everything is changing; knowledge constitutes no exception.

THE PROPER TIME.

It is easy enough to find all the ministers you want to declare that just before conference is the best time to collect the greater part of all our annual dues for the connectional work. Probably nine ministers in every ten will join in this fallacy. The reasonableness of the idea is not set forth one, further than that the people are used to it and that they give liberally that the appointing power may be given a good opinion of them.' But those who will try it for three consecutive years in their respective appointments, will find that all their faults will be greatly enhanced by regular, stated effort throughout the year. We can often hear ministers, whose conferences meet in sixty days, say they will take their conference collections on certain Sundays within that time. What is the secret of this is, they will declare this is best. This is one of the reasons that our work seems to be burdensome and drags itself along as a very severe task to the people. Our annual average to all general purposes is by no means burdensome. It is to the ministry that we must look for this needed reform. There are few members, few churches that would not come to the aid of the ministry to their efforts and thus give a liveliness and interest to our denominational work that would soon make it as pleasant as is our local work.

IT IS ONLY a little more than two months till Easter day. If every reader of the RECORDER will begin now to interest himself in the $10,000 for Africa April 26th, we shall be sure to raise it above all that is to remain in our local work. But we have reason to fear that many fewer than half the churches will pay no more attention to the missionary day as such than to St. Patrick's Day or Washington's Birthday, and that non-half of these that do set will do so with one week's notice to their people and that one half of this half will do so with little enthusiasm and less enlightenment. We hope for a general movement on April 26th. We want to raise $10,000 for Africa, but we want to insure a growth in our home work also. We want to support our Island work. Reading the article of Rev. N. B Stewart in this issue; you will see something of how much we need to strengthen our support of this work. We must give our foreign mission work respectable support or disgraceful abandonment very soon. Is the active, large and strong movements of the religious world of to-day there cannot long be for us a middle place.

THERE IS SCARCELY an end to the trouble one man, misguided by false conceptions or vicious principles, can make. He can shunt as easily life destroy a whole religious society as he can an individual. If this man have the power gained by the opportunities of three years' pastorate in a church, his influence for evil is many times multiplied. If he personally displays his power, but if he would regard the matter properly he would know that it is only the power of a worm whose hidden, subtle action and incidental stoppage are to receive as much credit as his intellect and brilliancy. Than it should be remembered that until large human attachments to men are dependent upon love nor even admiration of moral character. Flattery and patronage, glittering subterfuges and flourishes draw men to unite with those whom they do not love, but ultimately allow them to miserably fall off, and if they do not forget the old bad relation, they seriously regret it, and the one who had such great power suddenly has lost it.

WE ARCHIVED a letter recently, while attending to Brother Embry's office during his absence, saying that "two letters had been sent to 'Lee,' addressed to 601 Pine Street, and no answer had come." That is all we have to say to subscribers for the RECORDER." The letters had reference to a letter meent for this office containing $1.50 for RECORDER subscription, but addressed to 601 Pine Street. Now, of course the letter never came to our office. We have no connection with 601. The two letters never reached "Lee." He is never found at 601 Pine Street. Any person receiving a postal note can sign the name and collect on it. Postal notes are not the safest way of sending money, because no one is responsible for them. The money order is the safest way. Should neither ever be lost, the registered letter. We are very sorry to lose the subscription. If the friend will direct a letter to 631 Pine Street, it will be ask eowledged.

GERMANY, like England, now makes it plainly understood that she is one of the GREAT POWERS. The great powers are not limited or regulated by any moral scheme that asks from them a yielding of rights or privileges in favor of other powers or ciass. Prince Bismarck declares the German Poles must go. He agrees that they shall receive a reasonable price for their lands, but a price must be settled by them. They must be launched from their cenetry because they do not acquiesce in all that the Prince and the Kaiser do; they must go. After awhile Prussia will experience something like the experience of England, she will attempt to drive an na a middle place.

REV. J. H. BEAR will have meetings of more than usual interest at Morris Brown Chapel, Ridge Avenue, Philadelphia, Sunday, 14th. He expects all sorts of Bible reading books and cards reigroed, and expects to realize handsomely upon them in behalf of the indebtedness of the mission.

THE SUNDAY SCHOOL REVIEW for February is a beauty. It is the prettiest and most instructive number that we have noticed in the entire series of the Review. This monthly paper should receive a large patronage.

BOOK NOTICES.

"Without Blemish" is the title of Mrs. J. H. Walworth's new book, which claims to deal with "to-day's problem," i. e., the race problem. The author may be congratulated on having formed a good plot and developed it in a graceful and attractive style of composition. The story is laid in the old plantation of Virginia previous to Secession home, whose proprietor died in the Confederate war, leaving a widow and a youthful son, with everything around them changed by the fortunes of the war. The son is sent to Germany to be educated; the widow visits a friend in Cleveland, Ohio, where, at an orphanage she secures two orphan girls, one of whom is said by the mairon to be like-wise, but in the distance of negro blood, judging from her features. Mrs. Stanhope, the Southern boneSotoress, is given to understand that she cannot have the two girls unless she will take them as absolute equals, and will never betray the probability mentioned above. This she finally agrees to do. Taking them to her Southern home, she often regrets this agreement, though her darker girl proves the more interesting of the two. She is served about the same degree of intimacy as the other, however. Gentle, but plain, lines are laid almost everywhere. The girls are given equal advantages and are allowed to move in their limited society alike. But it turns out after a while that connections of consanguinity are supposed to be discovered between one of these nameless girls and a beautiful mulatto girl, who had gone from this very Southern spot to Cleveland in the meantime immediately following the war; also between this same nameless girl and a prominent white Southern man. Though "without blemish" the thing is supposed to be settled, the probability given place to certainty and the poor young woman goes omeay "her own people" and our author mestiess this golog.

At length, after she has taken the step, she meets one man, half mulatto woman, supposed to be her mother, to live in a cabin with her and devoted herself to the edeoation of "her race," it is found that the whiter of the two girls, instead of the darker, is the daughter of the mulatto woman, and the darker one is not only "without blemish" in respect to all that relates to noble womanhood, but in respect to all that relates to the purest blood. She is then educated at a time when this really white girl, as to color, was to be married to a prominent white man. But just in time to save the disgraceful catastrophe of a blessing, a plague appears; the beautiful white girl, arrayed in her beautiful bridal robe is enveloped in flames and buret to death, while the girl who is not white is not, so far, but is as to race, is saved to live into society (?) She is then fit company for the noble (?) white man, who is father of the illegitimate, but beautiful, really white girl, whom our author secretly inclenieates to prevent her degrading the Caucasian race by intermarriage. Grading society with work is an overly inhumane and without the slightest right to claim to a settlement of the problem of to-day. It is, notwithstanding all this, a clear illustration of the foundation of the pro-slavery sentiment of American color prejudice; a muse is white not because be is white, but because be thinke he can prove himself pure from negro blood, and because he is lucky, never mied how white, if his blood is not allianse with this race can be proven. What sehline humbuggery! Cassell & Co., publishers, New York.

"People and Preachers in the Methodist Episcopal Church" is the title of book of 320 pages, by John Wright, published by the Messrs. J. B. Lippincott & Co., Philadelphia. It is a general and critical review of the Methodist Episcopal polity from the D. D. Handy, supplemented by the hopeful, faithful, suffogging work of the membership, deserves the respect, and god high appreciation of the whole connection. We should feel bound to increase our Dollar Mooey by $15,000 this year for this purpose.

THE REVIVAL SERVICES at Union Church, Philadelphia: Macedonia, Camden, and the A. M. E. Church of Chester are continuing with great results. Elders Newton and Steward have received nearly twenty members each, and Elder Herbert nearly one hundred. The influences of the revival in Chester are wonderful. The colored churches throughout the city were and are much reached by the spiritual outpouring.

WE MUST REFER Brother Mitchem to the published account of the consecration of the cremion of the B. M. E. Church with the A. M. E. Church. It is probably in one of the December, 1884 copies of the RECORDER. We would also refer him to the reply Bishop Disney gave to an article to the effect that he published a few months ago by trustees of one of the churches in Canada.

Personal

—Mr. Gladstone has again taken the English Premiership.

—Rev. A. H. Newins and the Campbell people are having a considerable revival.

—Bishop H. M. Turner has been elected a member of the Executive Committee of the Civil Service Reform League in New York.

—Bishop Ceio has been advised by his physicies not to call for Africa, and the proposed trip will be deferred for several months. This is wise.

—The Rev. L. M. Beckett, B D., is meeting with success at Owego, N. Y. Five members have been received into the church and done considerable financial business.

—The Rev. A. H. Newton, pastor of Macedonia A. M. E. Church, Camden, N. J., will offer prayer in the New Jersey Legislature several mornings in March and April.

—The Rev. Thomas J. Derrickc, of Newark, N. J., preached in Calvary Church Sunday morning before the Knights of Pythias, and in Zion Wesley Church, Philadelphia, at 3 o'clock, and in Bethel Church, Philadelphia, at night.

—The Rev. Rufus L. Perry, editor of the National Monitor, Brooklyn, called at the RECORDER office last week. Brother Perry has taken the Monitor from its hands now and intends to issue it regularly hereafter and should have a large patronage.

—Rev. J. J. Herbert, the oldest intimate minister in the Baltimore Conference, is very ill at Catonsville, Md. His son, Rev. Charles Herbert, A. M., B. D., is with him. Brother J. J. Herbert still mastered. Ten days ago he was ago that he had but one week to live.

—The Defiance says: "The Rev Joseph S Flipper, the brother of H. O. Flipper, has been appointed pastor in charge of Bethel Church, the largest in the State of Georgia, in the A. M. E. connection. This appointment secures the union of all abolonicists and we now look to see old Bethel built up, as used to be. Mr. Flipper is a rare scholar and a Christian gentleman and we wish him every success."

—Mr. Henry M. Stanley, the African explorer, declares that when he comes on his tour through the "Dark Continent," he must be "laggage a large collection of books. But of the number of his men was lessened the books had to be left by the way side, until finally, when less than three hundred miles from the coast, he had left only the Bible, Shakespeare, Goethe's "Sartor Resartus," Carlyle's Narrative and the Pilgrim's Progress. At Ziogo the Shakespeare was abandoned, and Edward Hertie, the last volume, and, last, "Sartor Resartus" were also thrown down unto the Bible going through to the end.

Temperance.

NOTES ON THE TEMPERANCE CONFLICT.

Lewis D. Vail, Esq., of this city, attorney for the Law and Order Society, has compiled from the Mayor's Election Proclamations a statement of the growth that of seven hundred and thirty two policing places in the City of Boston and fifty are saloons. Mr. Vall adds: "The whole machinery of the elections, from the primary caucuses to the polimary, and ultimately to the general elections, a controlled largely by those in tavern keepers. The few respires that all drinking loss shall be closed on the day of election, but who ever knows of a drinking house being closed on a day when the presence of the voters make a harvest for the tavern keeper such as is reaped on no other day? The accessibility of the election officers of drinking proclivities to the use of liquor when an election is held in a saloon is an evil that the records of our courts show in many trials to be pernicious to the purity of elections. Nothing is easier than for clean-handed but self-controllable election officers or either side to get the officers of the other side fuddled, and then perpetrate any fraud, or nothing but a recount, made through the tedious process of the courts, is any remedy." This is a significant revelation of the close connection between the liquor system and politics, and of the extent to which it is responsible for municipal, State and national corruption. All who love their country should unite at once to destroy the rum power.

The following statistics and deductions from them have been collated from official sources by the well known philanthropist, Mrs. Elizebeth Thompson, of New York: There are 900,000 persons, adult males for the greater part, employed in the manufacture and sale of liquors in the United States. This is one to every sixty of the entire population. These men, mainly uneducated, are taken from the productive, that is to say, wealth producing, employments. They are a tax on the workers, adding no one element of wealth to the community or country at the nation. At the low wages which all of the public could earn they would receive for the 300 working days of the year $375,000,000. We can estimate the loss of permanent wealth that this aggregate of wage implies and suggests? The Federal statistics show that there are in the United States 600,000 persons, under the age of twenty in the drinking habit, could have earned $180,000,000, which, added to the other loss, makes the cost, and the loss to the service of the army of makers and sellers and consumers of the necessaries the wage basis only, amount to the aggregate of $1,171,291,000 per annum. "This vast sum," writes Mrs. Thompson, "is $3 per capita for every man, woman and child in the country. It is nearly equal to our gold, silver and paper circulation. It would be enough to build and equip 30,000 miles of railroad, or pay the cost of the public schools for twenty-five years; or support the navy for seventy-five years; or purchase 1,000 miniatures, or pay the entire national debt of the country, minus the $1,000,000,000 it would now take to fore God, for thus nensing this cast prefit. The cost of supporting the work is another. This is why the white man's railion does not exert more influence over the colored man. It is why the colored seon he makes each slow moral progress as he does. It is why so few of the better colored men are skopical. We believe that the blood of the martyrs is sufficient to cleanse from prejudice as well as from sin. Therefore, the more intimate the relations of the people and the brother's morality and intelligence but the more possible is the early and complete moral and intellectual standard of the whites. Then churches are now calling for an educated, but only one educated especially the desire of the young people, and the ministry is astonishly give their hands of dollars to the support of other churches, missions and schools.

Third, look at his material progress. Hon. J. J. Spellman, speaking of the Christian negro, says: "In the New Orleans exposition, says: "It presents a most complete exemplification of the material development and substantial progress the race has made in the last twenty years." Another says: "The genious desigus in mechanism, the skill in the manufacture of furniture, articles of fancy work, the various agricultural products, the display of growth and other material and industrial developments were an irresistible and convincing argument that the negro, as a race, was too much embarrassed, and with any fair chance in the struggle for life to contest, would realize the happy future that his friends theorists have fancied."

The negro raises annually 10,000,000 bales of cotton, averaging $45.00 per bale, making an aggregate of $135,000,000. This makes him the bone and sinew of the South. He owns one-fifth acres of land in the South and is worth $1,000,000 taxable property. He owns, manages, and edits over 200 newspapers. He is the vanguard of the Christian army in the South, and increasteadily at his trade. He is also accumulating wealth by that means. His entire business tact is daily being brought in question and the day is not far distant when he will be among the leading business men of his section. His progress in the past has been unusually enlarged upon Suffice it to say that have certainly established the claim more than a few months ago, namely: That it means years of hard, diligent, and faithful work. Boone had in mind that makes the man—well intentioned, cultivated mind, and that he must assimilate himself in this realm. It was the first and has demonstrated it. His white brother has enjoyed intellectual culture for centuries—in many gre for twenty years, still his mental growth has been so rapid as to prove his mental brotherhood equal to that of the Caucasian. We judge the future by the past. He will in the future remain the same.

THE BIBLE AND THE DEAD LANGUAGES.

BY REV. B. SETHORE.

Study! study! is the cry of every man who fills the pulpit of to-day, from the highest D.D. to the lowest class-leader in the church. Even every newspaper printed by negroes of this land the same cry of the study, but what study? Is study a the important point, and what use will we make of it? Is it the study of the DEAD LANGUAGES? Because it does by man but might have been but the study of the living languages and the philosopher is lost in the linguist.

JOYFUL ENTERTAINMENT AT THE HOME FOR AGED AND IN-FIRM COLORED PERSONS.

BY WILLIAM STILL, ESQ.

On Thursday evening last the old folks at the Home were tendered a rare treat by the choir of Z'ar Church. The occasion was one to entertain most it was announced that "refreshments" would also at the some, etc., and to add to the interest of the occasion most was it known that the celebrated Jubilee singers from Fisk University would be present to participate in the exercises. Therefore when Prof. Maurice, the leader of the choir, entered the room with the well trained band, it was evident that the old people were to be plentifully regaled even before the first air had been executed by the band. This was soon the case, when by the hearing of the ear, then by doubtless heard of them often by report. Suffice it to say that the choir, under the inspiration of the occasion, and in the presence of the old folks, seamed doubly qualified for their high mission, and the band and their three quarters sang unfalteringly quite a number of choice selections of an appropriate character to the unbounded delight of all present. It was worth while to have been present to witness the scene. The school of the Old Ones in school "in session" and the old people drinking it down with a relish that was truly refreshing. Indeed, it was a treat all around. And the best of it was the occasion was not a solitary one. It was but one of a series of delightful entertainments which have been given during the winter and spring, and that in two weeks from the present writing the choir from the Lombard Street Central Presbyterian Church would most likely favor the Home a like treat. Such an announcement was received with hearty appreciation.

It may not be amiss to add here that the Home is in a very prosperous and satisfactory state at present, under the able management of Mrs. Brown, and honest Mr. Brown, as helper, has equally well qualified for their positions and the managers and friends of the Home ought to do anything within reason for the welfare of the Home. This was the sentiment of the Board of Managers at their last meeting, and the sentiment was received with hearty approval. Whether opposing elders or Bishops be always right or not, it is certain that whether in the Home or elsewhere, the principle of any of our families, the best rule is the light to them all: It is not because we are old that we should be ashamed of a time when we were not so religious as we are now, and to say that nothing was done in the days of our fathers and mothers, because they were not blessed with the light we have, is not to do them justice. Let us be thankful for the light we have, and improve it, and be willing to let others do the same.

NOTICE.

A NEW DEPARTURE IN THE RECORDER SALES BUSINESS.

On and after September 1st, all agencies for RECORDER sales will be made anew and on a different plan, indicated below. Present agents must settle in full up to the last issue in August, which will be on the 27th. Our new rules will be as follows: 1st. On appointing an agent he or she must sign a written contract binding each to sell and return one-half of the sales money to be monthly and to make a full settlement of all claims at the end of every three months. 2nd. All papers unsold to be carefully preserved and reported, with each settlement and held subject to our orders. They must be counted, bound and returned to us when required. 3rd. Such agents will be allowed one-third of each annual subscription they obtain for the paper at $1.50 per year, they retaining fifty cents and sending us a net one dollar. Or, they can take subscriptions on our installment plan, collecting 30 cents in advance every two months, and sending us 20 cents.

These rules will be strictly applied to all except regular itinerant ministers. We are compelled to do this for the protection of the Department against arrears loss. We issue about two hundred and fifty thousand copies annually. Two-fifths or one hundred and two thousand copies are sent out to agents. On this number we lose from $1,200 to $1,500 a year. Believing that all our brethren will favor any plan which promises avoidance of this great loss, we have come to the end on the subject. Please read them, note well and prepare to attend at once.

Note.—Before new agreements will be furnished in blank to all who wish to become or continue agents after September 1st.

HORSFORD'S ACID PHOSPHATE,

VERY SATISFACTORY IN PROSTRATION.

Dr. P. P. Gilmartin, Detroit, Mich., says: "I have found it very satisfactory in a case, nothing else, where prostration attendant upon alcoholism."

Dr. Pierce's "Favorite Prescription" is not extolled as a "cure all," but admirably fulfils a sleepiness of purpose, being a most potent specific in those chronic weaknesses peculiar to women. Further on Dr. Pierce have a treatise on Diseases Peculiar to Women, 160 pages, sent for 10 cents in stamps. Address World's Dispensary Medical Association, 663 Main Street, Buffalo, N. Y.

One is just as liable to "slip up" on too much modesty as he is to stub his toe over too much cheek.—Whitehall Times.

Eruptive, pale tumors, fistulæ and all diseases of the lower bowel (except cancer), radically cured. Send 10 cents in stamps for book. World's Dispensary Medical Association, 633 Main Street, Buffalo, N. Y.

NEW BOOKS

that will be on sale by the Manager in September and throughout the season of year.

"Fifty Years and Beyond; or, Old Age and How to Enjoy It." A book of incalculable value, as well as interest to all who have passed the meridian of life. 400 pages, cloth, $1.00, same in gilt edges, $1.50.

"Studies in Genesis; or, Bible Views of the Creation in its Relation to Modern Science," by the Rev. T. G. Barnard, D.D., and containing an important chapter on "Christian Evidences," by Bishop Campbell. This is an intensely interesting book, especially to preachers, old or young. 45 well-printed short 250 pages, 12mo, on clear beautiful paper, and sold at the low rate of $1.00 The work is now in press under our own imprint. Orders, $1.00, mailing 10cts. extra.

"Bible Heroes; or, Stories from the Old Testament for Little Folks." Judging by my own children, no parent who would have his children imbued with the heroic spirit of Bible characters, could buy a better book. Our children devoured it at once. Price only 50 cents; by mail, 55 cents; registered, 60 cents.

"A Voice from the Orient." This is a small volume of select sermons by Rev. M. M. Mangasarian, a native Greek and pastor of the Spring Garden Street Presbyterian Church, Philadelphia. This is an exceedingly interesting book for reading in leisure hours. Price, $1.00.

Rev. J. E. Wahh has published an excellent Record Book for church officers and trustees, with blanks for everything pertaining to their reports and business meetings. It is well bound and well arranged. We have seen nothing like it, nor half so convenient. The book is arranged for four years. It is just the thing to aid in making correct records. For sale at our Publishing House.

"The Resurrection of the Redeemed, and Radiant Hope," by F. de Jesus Boggs. book of 214 pages of well written material, well bound in cloth. Price, 50 cents.

Orders for each or all of these books may be sent to us at once. Cash orders only.

AGENTS WANTED.

Will our pastors who are not supplying the RECORDER to their people please do so by sending for a specimen to be sent weekly? If it is too much trouble to do so, suppose some good young man or boy, or, what is quite as good, some young lady whom you could recommend. Many of those who are now getting agents spare no labor. Every one take hold of this. Let us hear from our workers. Send on your orders. Sell the paper for five cents and send at three cents. Address

J. C. EMBRY, 631 Pine street.

NOTE TO AGENTS SELLING THE RECORDER.

On and after the 1st of June, agents selling 10 copies and over will be charged 2½ cents a copy, (two cents and a half); less than ten copies 3 cents.

All agents now selling and in arrears for more than one month will be stopped after June 11th. After that all must settle the first of each month.

More than $400 are due us on RECORDER sales alone. We shall sift out names next week.

Now, dear friends and brethren, help us. We are endeavoring to do your work with energy and faithfulness. We pray you to stand by your own cause.

BISHOP TURNER'S BOOK.

Any one wishing to purchase Methodist Polity, can write to my wife and it will be returned by mail immediately upon receiving the price. Paper bound, 75cts., cloth bound, 85cts. Address, Ellen A. Turner, 28 Young St., Atlanta, Ga., or the Manager, who has them, 631 Pine St., Philadelphia, Pa.

H. M. TURNER.

NOTICE

To Secretaries of Annual Conferences.

DEAR BRETHREN:—Please to bind or to send us immediately, a copy of your minutes when printed. We have important matters to send out from this office and desire to know the address of all the ministers. Yours in Christ,

RUSSIAN RHEUMATISM CURE.

RUSSIAN TRADE MARK. RHEUMATISM CURE.

NONE GENUINE UNLESS THEY BEAR THIS TRADE-MARK NONE GENUINE UNLESS THEY BEAR THIS TRADE-MARK

ARE YOU OR ANY OF YOUR FRIENDS AFFLICTED WITH RHEUMATISM?

We, the exclusive Importers and Sole Agents in the United States and Canada for the Russian Rheumatism Cure, offer to the suffering public,

THE ONLY POSITIVE CURE FOR RHEUMATISM!

This Remedy while never before introduced in this Country, is not new but well and favorably known throughout Europe, where it has been used with unparalleled success. Before accepting the agency we ascertained beyond the peradventure of a doubt, its efficacy.

CASES UNDER OUR PERSONAL OBSERVATION HAVE BEEN CURED BY THIS REMEDY, WHERE ALL OTHERS HAD FAILED.

This is no oil or liniment but a simple Salve and Powder, which properly applied has NEVER YET FAILED TO CURE the most stubborn case. Its popular use in Europe and its Cures, warrant the emphatic statement and positive assertion that this Cure, and this only will eradicate this painful disease. Remember this Cure is for Rheumatism only. We do not pretend to cure all the ills that flesh is heir to.

IT IS FOR RHEUMATISM ONLY

If those skeptical will call, we will refer to many of our most prominent citizens, and in some future issue of this paper we will publish some of the words of blessing and grateful outpourings from the hearts of those once sufferers but who have been relieved by this Cure.

PRICE for complete Russian Rheumatism Cure $2.50 per box. No further outlay NECESSARY.

If ordered to be mailed, enclose ten cents additional. If to be registered, twenty cents additional.

Manager's Notes.

We have on hand

the Revised Version of the Bible, just issued from the press. Two styles, $1 and $2 per copy. We want to sell them now. Please order them. Beautiful paper, clear type and most interesting reading. You never saw so clearly the meaning of many things as you will find in this new edition.

Wakefield's Theology, the standard theological text book, adopted by the Bishops for the course of study. $2.50 by mail at your risk; $2.25 by express. Please order them. They are here and must be sold.

Then we have an excellent book—"Fifty Years and Beyond,"—a charming thing for older people and for those who intend to be old. It sends up—not down—the shining pathway of years with a harp and song. $2.00, postpaid.

Must be sold. We have many more, but can't speak of them now.

What we must say

now, is that we are opening a regular campaign for the CHRISTIAN RECORDER. We want two thousand new subscribers, and all the old ones to renew. Now, appreciating the dullness of the times, we have resolved to put the paper within the reach of all, adopting the installment plan.

Installment

costs a little more, but is easier because it gives more time. Hence, we make the following offer to all who desire to have the RECORDER:

Send us 25 Cents and we will enroll your name in a special book kept for that purpose and will send you the paper for sixty days; then send us 50 cents, and two months after 50 cents, and two months later 50 cents more. Total, $1.75.

All our Pastors are Agents for the RECORDER, and are hereby entheried to present this proposition to their people and receive their enrollment fee (25 cents), and give their receipt for the same. [Note.—We will send a few blank slips of receipts to all who will act for us in this matter.]

On this Plan

we give full six months for paying the subscription.

"Pastor's Memorandum Book," by Rev. O. T. Shaffer. Price, 45 cents, no discount. An excellent book.

J. C. EMBRY, Manager.

All questions and business pertaining to advertisements seen in the RECORDER, and requesting correspondence in the RECORDER, should be addressed to Rev. J. C. Embry, Business Manager; not in the editor. There is no part of the business of this establishment requiring money to be sent to the editor nor communications for the RECORDER, to the Manager. All correspondence, including address of the paper, secretary of Sunday school or Church supplies, must be sent to the Manager, not the editor. Please remember, nothing but articles for publication, or letters pertaining thereto, should be addressed to the editor, and they to him exclusively.

"WIDE THE MARK."

If this is meant to apply to the members of the M. E. Church and the public generally as appreciating the Bishop, then it is true to the letter, but if it is designed to include the A. M. E. Church as not fully appreciating or treating him with any respect, it is wide the mark. Witness the affair at Columbia, N. C., now going on in which the Bishop is kicked out of his church at that place, while the doors of the M. E. Church are thrown open. Come now, Rev. Lee, your people need teaching, but they are acting on what they have had, we guess.—Christian Herald.

The above is in reference to mention of Bishop J. A. Shorter in the RECORDER as being highly respected by the people in Georgia and South Carolina. Could we believe the Herald meant to be serious, truthful, sensible or logical, we should give it further consideration.

WORKERS TOGETHER.

The London riots, the American coke riots and the threatening attitude of the laboring classes generally seem about to end the spectacion of the capitalist, "What are you going to do about it?" Arbitration is fast taking the place of bayonets. The wealthy corporations are sure that the laboring classes are wild and far from reasonable, but they are led to see that they, themselves, may have been unreasonable. The organized labor obstinacy and the organized monopolists represent the extremes of society, but with them on one side or the other, the masses must go. It is a question, then, which concerns all men, how in the next few years to be united on both sides be brought into their proper relationship? The destruction of property can not improve the general condition of men. Communism is an impossibility in any country where the sun has ever shone. The fact is, there is a race here that men do not know how to treat. Only after the storm that it sure to come, sooner or later, will they learn. These surges, back of which there is so extensive and intense feeling, will after awhile cease general revolution, with different results in different countries; everywhere modifying existing forms of association and government. Our own country is probably the best for the poor, and it is severe enough here. Hundreds of thousands have not proper food, comforts nor school advantages. Nor are they to be censured in a greater part of the cases. They could not get these benefits. No one can censure the other hundreds of thousands are comfortable, many having more than they can really use; but when it is observed how largely the poor class contribute to the support of the rich, and how the greater part of the indecencies to waste and sin are presented by the wealthy, it is hard to endure the grinding results.

There can be little doubt that where the rich are prodigal and the poor under them are frugal, where the rich are immoral and the poor connected with them are highly moral, and yet the wealthy increase in riches and the poor to poverty, there must be a lack of justice in the use the great wealth-power. The two classes are working together for the good of one side only. There have been some attempts made recently to equalize the profits of large establishments above a certain per cent among employes as well as owners. This is a step in the right direction. But there is not nearly enough wisdom among men to render any scheme of this kind practical. Until the race becomes sufficiently wise to overcome evils it must be subjected to them.

SABBATH—SUNDAY.

These two names are applied to the day of rest with equal significance. They both mean, now, the first day of the week. Sunday is the legal term and the one used by a majority of English speaking men. The Society of Friends and all the classes of religionists who observe the seventh day as rest and worship day, call our common Sunday, "First Day." The Jews have no especial reverence whatever for the day. They still adhere to the seventh day in accordance with customs as old as their peculiar racial and religious institutions. In the Hebrew tongue the word Sabbath is used. This word is derived from a word meaning rest. This word Sabbath, literally, has a peculiar adaptation to the day of rest; while Sunday has neither any Jewish nor Christian signification, but rather a heathen connection. When men were satisfied with distinguishing days by numbers only, there was no religious significance whatever. It is not necessary that there should be any such significance. All days are alike; with reference to sin of them there is no especial law necessary whereby the duties of one shall be distinguished from those of others. The only divine law referring to them is, that all work shall be done in them. This distinguishes them from the seventh day, in which the Divine law says no work shall be done. These terms are clear, definite and positive; all will not say, the universal affirmative and the universal negative. No mind of ordinary powers can make any mistake here. The Sabbath is that being informed of this positive law as delivered to a people professing to believe in and revere the great God who issued the law, it would appear clear that this people would never dream of violate this law, especially when the positive threatened upon those who violate it and the blessings conferred upon those who keep it are stated. To re with whom the weakness of men on this subject is patent, it seems very inconsistent that we should at the same time profess to believe in God and yet so generally disregard this law; that we should find it at all necessary to explain and define the law; that we should under God's providence find it necessary to the development of what we call a proper system of civilization to cross this law, bend it, break it on almost every hand; that after all those centuries of belief and attempted following, we should find so little agreement as to the day to be observed.

Is it not time that men should by a fresh drawn either from the Jew's day to the Christian's nor from the Christian's to the Jew's, but that after all these centuries all men should fall far exceptional good to assist in so generally observing a seventh day. In Philadelphia, Brooklyn, Chicago and other cities there has been an attempt made by different classes of men to re-establish the sanctity of Sunday. To some cases the people to municipal authority have been based upon laws absent one hundred years old. Strange that they should overlook the law of three thousand years.

BISHOP ALLEN.

One hundred and twenty-six years ago last Sunday, this great man was born—born to be great, though born a slave. The spirit that estimated him from boyhood to the day of his death to be born to have been characterized by strong individuality, determination, honesty, courage, foresight, sentiently, piety and consecration. His conceptions of moral freedom and the competitive association of the religious establishment of many centuries.

The TRIBUNE ALMANAC for 1886 has made its appearance. This work has long had the reputation of a standard book of reference for political and statistical information. The Almanac for 1881 and 1885 had the annual sale and as it is stated that considerable pains have been taken to present in the Almanac for 1886 a complete and accurate statement of the gold and silver coinage from the beginning of the Government, and the production of those metals, as also President Cleveland's Inaugural Address, the new issue will be in demand also. In addition to statistics, tables, the Almanac gives summaries of all the important laws passed at the last session of Congress, statistics of all the operations of the Government, and lists of all the officials at Washington, and of the new Congress, together with a large variety of other general information. There is no official statement of the new postage rates, among other things. Price, 30 cents a copy.

The RELIGIOUS HERALD read carefully the very logical paper of Prof. B. K. Sampson in this issue. The subject selection, could hardly receive a finer treatment than in this article. It is a wonder how any one can be so blind as to require this argument when, viewed from any point, there is everything in favor of the equality of the races as to moral qualities and moral development. After all this enlightenment the mere fact of color is not yet educated out of the character whence spring all the vicious crimes known to the darkest ages of the world, while the colored race have made considerable progress in moral growth. But the article under consideration is no stronger to its demand for education than the one now before us. Should the Blair bill become a law, the money of the government invested in common school education will bring better returns than any other national investment.

The most flourishing coöeregation in this city is the A. M. E. French evening coöeregation. This is acknowledged by the members of all the other churches. I speak three times on Sabbath: at 10 o'clock A. m. in French, at 3 o'clock P. m. in English and at 7½ o'clock P. m. in French Our Sabbath school is composed of French and English children, and it counts at 9 o'clock A. m. It is the best Sabbath school in the city. We have prayer meeting on Sabbath at 9 o'clock A. m., also on Friday at 7½ P. m. We preach also in French on Wednesday at 7½ P. m. Our church should do more than what she has done, and become the leading church in the city, but she cannot on account of her poverty.

The members of the white Wesleyan Church, who are, by far, wealthier men and women than those of our church, are not called upon to support their pastor, and there are always the collections for their church and amply supported by the Mother Church of England. The priests of the English church, over which is Bishop James J. Holly, D.D. LL.D., are likewise supported by the Mother Church in the United States. Besides, the other denominations are encouraged by their mother churches in sums such as they, from time to time, need them, but the A. M. E. Church looks for the children and prepare for their mothers to provide. It is high time, I submit, that the A. M. E. Church ministers should be treated with as much consideration as the other denominations. Let us have a fair treatment.

A WORD FROM HAYTI.

CHURCH PROGRESS IN THE CAPITAL—THE BIBLE SOCIETY—WELL BEGUN WORK NEGLECTED.—REV. N. R. STEWART'S UNEXPECTED VISIT—HIS WORK IN BRITISH GUIANA—KEY A M. E. WAY TO PREACHING FOR SANTO DOMINGO—THE TWO EXPECTED BISHOPS WITH THE MISSIONARY SECRETARY.

BY REV. J. GEORGES DORSE, B.D.,
MISSIONARY TO HAYTI AND PASTOR TO PRO TEMPORE OF ST. PAUL A. M. E. CHURCH.

MR. EDITOR:—I cannot, through your paper, avail myself of the opportunity to inquiries of the friends of missions and of my well-wishers about my long silence. Not wishing to be regarded as "la cote noire." I will wait till I come to the States. However, I will ask you to do me the favor of publishing these few items.

The only thing that sustains and encourages me to press forward in the ministry here is the assurance of my call and the large congregation we have here. As some of my friends look and see how I am neglected by, and without encouragement from, the Missionary Board of the M. E. Church, I hear from time to time offered me positions that can bring me from $800 to $1,000 a year; but when I attempt to ascertain them, I fancy that I can the State expressed words, "Woe is unto you if you preach the gospel," therefore, I resolve to bear my hardships with patience. Perhaps the Haytiens are more enlightened than their African brethren in America until, I say with the white Wesleyan minister who is laboring in this city, and who has labored for years in Africa, that he would rather labor anywhere in Africa and all my life time than to spend a week years in Hayti." The Haytiens are very intelligent. They will most be won to God like all the other races that were in rebellion against the Mighty Power previous to their conversion. This being the case, I think that the missionaries who are here should be cared for; not only those in the city, but all the other missionaries as well, for they are the ones who are doing the greater part in the work of winning the world to the Lord. Since our most worthy brother Bishop Nazrey left Portau-Prince, last April, we have received into full membership fourteen persons, five males and eleven females; we have now on probation 14 persons, nine males and 4 females; we have married one couple, Brother Charles Dorsinville to her Mathilda Fisher; we have baptized 9 infants; we have buried 8 persons, 4 males and 3 females. Also without date we locate 1; left with certificates 6; the present membership is about 30.

After different documents were read and several speeches were made, the following officers were elected: President, Rev. Paul Lochard; Vice President, Bro. Jean Louis; Corresponding Secretary, Rev. J. J. Lilavois, Deputy Secretary, Bro. Solomon Hass; Treasurer, Rev. J. Justa Prescoir, Recording Secretary, Bro. A. Belfiels; Secretary for book-keeping, Rev. S. Georges Dorcé. To-day many regretting the name "Church" as the nolearned, the rich as well as the poor. It concerns white and black. It concerns all who feel a common interest in the nation's welfare; but it concerns the benighted and degraded, whose condition to-day pleads for relief and sympathy. Should the fact be true, there are those who grant the capability of a certain race to the exercise of intellectual knowledge, but question the possibility of their high moral development, and upon this theory base their objections against the education of the masses. But to concede to any man, all things being equal, the ability to grasp an intellectual truth, is a virtual acknowledgement of his capacity to embrace and practice all the virtues found in the catalogue of human excellence, and hence the development of the moral faculties.

Endowed with a moral nature, man is eminently fitted to discriminate between right and wrong, and to ignore the capability of any people to develop their moral powers renders them at once irresponsible of crime. But the law makes no such exemption and it matters not in what condition man is placed, there is a moral agency, no argument, however ingenious, that can alienate him from the attributes of a common humanity. There is no power on this side of civil laws is essential to the dignity and high standing of our government. But a wall of separation between Church and State can not destroy the conduct of the people. All grants of power from the people. They determine what functions are to be performed, what duties are required and what penalties are provided if order to maintain a just and wholesome government. In all the eventful changes there is an necessary demand upon the people for wise decisions. As the circumstances and wants of the people change special laws are required to meet the exigencies. The Constitution law guarantees to the State the right to pass laws for the public good, provided it be in accordance with the common sense of things! The Constitution of the United States creates the States, and in proportion as a single State is benefitted so is the nation extended. But what about a nation grant? What gives one country superiority over another? Not the display of magnificent armies and navies, nor the grandeur of extended territory. Take away the language of Sir William Jones we ask again:

What constitutes a State?
Not lofty raised battlements,
Nor the rich tillage, nor the busy mart,
No—magnificent courts and courts deciding,
Where ignorance is bliss,
'Tis folly to be wise.

Not this minded people.

Not these shall build a nation's name,
Not these, high-headed, educated men,
Who their duties know, and knowing, dare

In the interest of humanity and the world. When the despotism of the nations of the earth shall cease to be known republic, it was once thought that the time would come when the tools of tyrants, showing most conclusively that liberty is inseparable from the Christian knowledge, and that ignorance is its own destroyer. Shall the people of this country have the God opportunity to rescue this central son of civilization from the hands of Washington and Grant, from the clutches of imperial infamy? Rich in the resources of the world, yielding greater aids to our physical enjoyment or national consternation per capacity in the world's populous Onward, still seeking the purer light, let it not languish now! It is the hope of the world that the people will do.

Like the shores which look out upon the outcrop of the Thames, the Rhine and the Rhone, our rivers shall yet be crowded with a mass of moving beings. The Christian people of to the enjoyment of another coming period from which shall be reached a moral temple for the habitation of a more beautiful posterity. Every retarded influence and every endearing sentiment to the cause of that posterity, it would seem a matter of small moment, when viewed in the light of eternity, when opposed by the teachings of intellectual science, devil from the beginning, though gulfed by an inward consciousness, may plead for the impulse of passion and becomes a law unto itself, and ignores the Bible as an restraining influences, quickened by the light of education and governing his nature, he might then be capable of the dangerous enemy to civilized society. Such a character is to be contemplated only by every recreant to humanity and digni ty, and every philanthropist will at once conclude that intellectual education is detrimental to a people because of any moral and dedicated influence.

Without education and its progressive influences upon the human family, the grand mind for its eternal mission, the grand work of God and Deity will be forestalled. But educate a man, train him in the school of morals, instil into his mind principles of virtue, and he will be soon with the ennobling qualities of true manhood, and will be a powerful coöperation of the golden rule as he should practice it, let the holier influences of a pure and honest life be seen and felt in his heart and we have at once, regard for God, regard for man, and a person in whom all good men will delight to associate. The inclination of right principles is the kind of education that should be placed in the free school system of our country, and upon this we base our claim for the true teacher. Intellectual and moral training must go hand in hand, if the masses, and upon this hangs the safety of our government.

There are two things upon which, to defence to the claims of justice, are willing to stake our cause for the righteousness of the bill, but argue that it is not only constitutional to make it a law. To dispute this position is to call in question the Constitution of the nation itself. But the right be disputed, let it be decided that Congress has power to make this appropriation, that the appropriation of the States, and in proportion as the ratio of population of the nation involves the right of control, the question of sovereignty. That right has been conceded by the people and courts, and in the early history of the republic, when an unlicensed public opinion demanded aid, it came in the form of a national necessity and was ratified by a different practice of conduct. Now the government its implied wants. That it is necessary for its safety. Not that the nation must perish through a precipitancy of legislation, but that there is a danger in this superabundance, which necessitates a concerning against the evils incident to its existence. The States find it impossible to correct these evils. The people of the North and South, except from the general government? They feel that this enactment is a necessity to ourselves. The desire to support and protect the commonwealth is original in every human heart. Even that support efficient for good a man will reach the masses. For says the gifted Montesquieu, "It is in republican governments that the whole power of education is required." It serves as a restraint against the popular ignorance and its concomitants; it gives certain to the people to assert their rightful sovereignty, the natural result of illiteracy is to invite antagonisms between the representative and the constituent, and the non-governing element is ever ready to encroach upon the governing element. It is only when they have been educated that they can appreciate the blessings of its fruitage. Let then, the bill be made a law; let us call in science and knowledge to unlock the doors of darkness, that each citizen shall become the pa triot and honest citizen, and the blessings of our onward course coming generations shall boast the worth of the priceless legacy of a free, virtuous, powerful, intelligent and well ordered people.

ABETTING DESECRATION.

I notice in the discussion in regard to Sabbath breaking it is stated that Sunday is not a holiday, and that we need not church goers demanded it and pointed to the fact a few days ago, upon inquiring where a certain regiment was stationed, the reply was given: "He was impossible for the Trustees to bor row money. Had not all seen to it some scores the doors of the institution would have been closed to the study. Endowment Day came to their help. Every person who had ever been down to the very brink of Jordan," slowly recovering. The trustees have this day expense for repairing, stationary, stamps, etc., are $46 87, while the receipts are $1,000 00, and the difference is $3 54. This shall be raised by voluntary contribution. We do not want to be under the necessity of regular Endowment Day money to meet expenses.

THE CHOCOLATE GIRL.

Possibly most of the people who are familiar with the picture of the Chocolate Girl, which has for so long an advertisement, think it a creation of some artist's fancy. On the contrary it is a portrait, the portrait of a certain Viennese woman, and has a romantic history attached to it. It seems that some years ago a young German student of high birth fell desperately in love with a pretty chocolate girl who served him with that delicious beverage in a Vienna café. She was a respectable girl and not an honorable gentleman and he married her. He fell poor at her humble origin, and had her portrait painted by a fashionable artist in the plainest costume she ever wore while she sat at the counter, and the portrait is now among the most valued art treasures of the German count.

Our honest convictions may be very true, but it is the occasion and method of our own utterances of them that best prove our own wisdom.

I wish to say that in this report I have purposely omitted my name in credit for just the amount of money received from each of the pastors and presiding elders of the conference. Some of the pastors sent in the whole amount of the money to me, others sent seventy five cents, a dollar and twenty five cents and twenty five cents. I sent to Dr Johnson. In Dr. Johnson's report all report, each church will get credit for the whole amount it raised. There are some churches in the Pittsburg and Baltimore Conference that ought to have sought to appear in this report, but do not. Some of the pastors have written me over to Presidents S. T. Mitchell, and Dr. Johnson, and I have referred over by him to me, but I failed to secure the names of these churches and their pastors Kentucky Confederate Endowment Day Raisers," published in the CHRISTIAN RECORDER of January 28, 1886, we asked the ministers who had not received receipts for Endowment Day money, or who had not received receipts for money raised by the cards, to let us hear from them. We have received no response to our request. Now we hope that the ministers of Washington and Georgetown, Wilmington and Dover, New Jersey and Kentucky Conferences whose Churches are not reported will give us the amount of money raised and have it paid to S. T. Mitchell, and they shall appear in the RECORDER. We desire in behalf of the great educational work to which this pastor, to the churches and to the children of the Methodist Episcopal District our sincere and heartfelt thanks for what they have done. The richest blessings of our Heavenly Father rest upon them. The general report compared with the 5 st shows a decided improvement. Let us be encouraged and go forward. NOTICE.

A NEW DEPARTURE IN THE RECORDER SALES SCHEME.

On and after September 1st, all agencies for RECORDER sales will be made anew and on a different plan, stated below. Present agents must settle in full up to the last issue in August, which will be on the 27th. Our new rules will be as follows: 1st. On appointing an agent he or she must sign a written contract binding each to sell and return one-half of the sales money to us monthly and to make a full settlement of all claims at the end of every three months. 2nd. All papers unsold to be carefully preserved and reported with each settlement and held subject to our orders. They must be counted, bound and returned to us when required. 3rd. Such agents will be allowed one-third of each annual subscription they obtain for the paper at $1.50 per year, they retaining fifty cents and sending us a set can dollar. Or, they can take subscriptions on our installment plan, collecting 50 cents in advance every three months, and sending us 20 cents.

These rules will be strictly applied to all except regular itinerant ministers. We are compelled to do this for the protection of the Department against severe loss. We issue about two hundred and sixty thousand papers annually. Two-fifths, or one hundred and four thousand copies are sent out to agents. On this number we lose from $1,200 to $1,500 year. Believing that all our brethren will favor any plan which promises avoidance of this great loss, we have resolved on the above rules. Please read them, note well and prepare to settle at once.

NOTE.—These new agreements will be furnished in blank to all who wish to become or continue agents after September 1st.

ADVICE TO MOTHERS.

MRS. WINSLOW'S SOOTHING SYRUP should always be used for children teething. It soothes the child, softens the gums, allays all pain; cures wind colic, and is the best remedy for diarrhœa. Twenty-five cents a bottle.

"Wedding gossets" are furnished to order at the agency in Paris.

Pile tumors, rupture and fistula, radically cured by improved methods. Book, 10 cents in stamps. World's Dispensary Medical Association, Buffalo, N. Y.

No less than $1,500,000 is needed to finish the Capitol at Albany.

The most severe cases of scrofula readily yield to Hood's Sarsaparilla.

At present M. Pasteur is the sole manufacturer of the virus of rabies.

Use Dr. Pierce's "Pellets" for all bilious attacks.

The class of cadets which will leave West Point at the next commencement is declared to be the largest in number and highest in efficiency ever graduated from the institution. There are seventy-eight members of the class.

The following advertisement appeared in a Vienna newspaper: "A respectable married couple of whom the husband is no dancer, desires to make the acquaintance of an equally respectable couple where the wife is no dancer, in order to visit balls in company."

"I can not understand," says Mr. Labouchere in the London Truth, "why English royalties should almost invariably marry beggars and paupers, who as once proceed to do all they can to obtain and manage, directly or indirectly, to sparate both themselves and their unhappy relatives on this long-suffering country."

A pretty little incident is told of a recent adjustment on the part of the capitals's wife and children were lost. They had on board a few tame doves. When the body of the wife was found on the shore a dove was on the body, and flew to the house to which the body was conveyed, and, by pecking at the window, gave the sad alarm.

Those who, having recovered from the Hyrcolic fever of youth, now run to the other extremity of Injidel coast, will enjoy this stray leaf blown over the sea: "When Lord Byron published his sentimental, 'Farewell,' after his separation from his wife, the matter was the subject of much after-dinner comment. Curran's opinion was once appealed to. 'I protest,' said he, 'I do not understand this kind of whimpering. Here is a man who first weeps over his wife, and then wipes his eyes with the public.'"

NEW BOOKS

that will be on sale by the Manager in September and throughout the ensuing Year:

"Fifty Years and Beyond; or, Old Age and How to Enjoy It." A book of incalculable value, as well as interest to all who have passed the meridian of life. 400 pages, cloth, $1.00, sans in full edges, $1.50.

"Studies in Genesis; or, Bible Views of the Creation in its Relation to Modern Science," by the Rev. T. G. Steward, D.D., and containing an important chapter on "Christian Evidences," by Bishop Campbell. This is an intensely interesting book, especially to preachers, old or young. It will contain about 250 pages, 12mo. on clear beautiful paper, and sold at the low rate of $1.00. The work is now in press under our own imprint. Orders, $1.00, mailing 10cts. extra.

"Bible Heroes; or, Stories from the Old Testament for Little Folks." Judging by my own children, no parent who would have his children imbued with the heroic spirit of Bible characters should buy a better book. My children devoured it at once. Price only 50 cents; by mail, 63 cents; registered, 65 cents.

"A Voice from the Orient." This is a small volume of select sermons by Rev. M. M. Mangasarian, a native Greek, and pastor of the Spring Garden Street Presbyterian Church, of Philadelphia. What is an exceedingly interesting book for reading in leisure hours. Price, $1.00.

Rev. J. E. Webb has published an excellent Record Book for church stewards and trustees, with blanks for everything pertaining to their reports and business meetings. It is well bound and well printed. We have seen nothing like it, nor half so convenient. The book is arranged for four years. It is just the thing to aid in making correct records. For sale at our Publishing House. Price, $1.50.

The Resurrection of the Redeemed, and Believers," Rev. James Boggs. A book of 214 pages of well written matter, well bound in cloth. Price, 60 cents.

Orders for each or all of the above may be sent to us at once. Cash orders only.

AGENTS WANTED.

Will our pastors who are not supplying the RECORDER to their people, please do so by sending for a package to be sent weekly? If it is too much trouble to solicit subscriptions by mail or boy, or, what is quite as good, young lady whom you could recommend. Many of those who are now supplying their families last year will not take hold of this. Let us hear from our workers. Send on your orders. Send the paper for 6 weeks and send as three cents. Address

J. C. EMBRY, 631 Pine street.

NOTE TO AGENTS SELLING THE RECORDER.

On and after the 1st of June, agents selling 10 copies and over will be charged 2½ cents a copy, (two cents and a half); less than ten copies, 3 cents.

All agents now selling and in arrears for more than one month will be stopped after June 15th. After that we will not settle the first of each month.

More than $400 is due us to-day on RECORDER sales alone. We shall sift our agents next week.

Now, dear friends and brethren, help us. We are endeavoring to do your work, with energy and faithfulness, we pray you to stand by your own cause.

BISHOP TURNER'S BOOK.

MY HANDS WERE SO SWOLLEN THAT NOT A PIN WOULD PASS BETWEEN MY FINGERS.

I COULD NOT BEND MY HEAD OR BODY.

PHILADELPHIA, December 17, 1885.

I suffered from rheumatism in my back and in my limbs so terribly that, although assisted with a cane, I could hardly walk any more and I was at times so still that I could not bend my head or body. My barber, who could only walk with great difficulty, kindly said one day: "Mr. McAllister, why don't you go to Pfaelzer's?" They have a remedy that helped my niece in less than no time." I started and limped with pain, assisted with a cane, to their place of business and asked Mr. Pfaelzer for his Cure. It was owing to me with no promise or guarantee; on the contrary, Mr. Pfaelzer said to me: "We only know this for that it is an excellent remedy and no matter how it works on you please tell us the honest truth about it." I told him I would with pleasure, for I have tried everything I knew and heard of and found no relief, and if his Cure would help me it would be the greatest thing on earth. I tried the Russian Rheumatism Cure and I never a man was surprised and happy it was myself, for inside of two weeks I was completely cured of my former trouble and I have never since ceased me the least ache or pain. I make this statement to Messrs. Pfaelzer Bros. & Co., because I deem it not only a duty to the public at large to let them know the true work of the Russian Rheumatism Cure, but because I also feel more thankful to Messrs. Pfaelzer Bros. & Co.

So I might not, forgiven of all to-night.

FORT WAYNE, INDIANA, Feb. 6th, 1886.

MESSRS. PFAELZER BROS. & CO.,

Gentlemen:—A friend of mine, a member of my charge, Mr. Schafmaker was afflicted with Rheumatism, so that he was bedfast and could not for a long time stand on his feet. I sent for the Russian Rheumatism Cure. After using the first box he was much better. The second day after he commenced to use the second box he was out of bed. The second box was all he needed and is now moved so that he intends to go to work on next Monday, believing himself entirely cured. Mr. Schafmaker is a member of the Lutheran Church, and I especially feel thankful to you for having the courage to put up a remedy for rheumatism in this section was unwarranted by any real necessity, and consequently I shall always that it was altogether gratuitous in his assumptions and unlawful in its effects. Thankfully, I will show that it is the work of a kind God with me and sage, violative of the solemn vows made to the Methodist Episcopal Church, and the individual members, revolution-ary in character and practically null and void.

But to return to the first point. The General Conference was accomplishing its legitimate work and could have disbanded with entire dignity when the action of this section not been taken. There were nine Bishops and nine districts, and, according to the usage of the Church from the foundation of the Church up to 1880, these nine Bishops could have arranged the work. Perhaps they would not have made the same arrangement that the committee did, but who could say in advance that it would have been a worse arrangement. The only possibilities before them were the same, or a different, and certainly could not be worse. There was no proof of their inability to agree among themselves and minimally make such arrangements; and in the absence of this proof, and with the record of many years in their favor, it is safe to presume that the nine districts would have been mutually presided over by the nine Bishops, even had the General Conference failed to assign them by section, which could be done by a majority of the Roman senate. I do not care to advance any further at present than merely to say that there was no manifest necessity for such action, and if the committee or the members of the General Conference knew of any which was unknown to the public, they did not bring it out when they had a capital opportunity to do so in reply to Bishops Brown and Foster. Either they did not think the matter worth an argument, or they had no argument to make. It cannot be that they regarded the speakers themselves as so far Sanh than as not to merit a reply. How the occasion needed a Mark Antony! But the Anthony did not arise, but rather sat in solemn silence all, and voted "aye" when the question was put.

PREACHERS AS POLITICIANS.

BY WILLIAM HANNIBAL THOMAS

In the world of mankind, a single idea and fixed purpose determine its epochs; the specialties are the leaders Few men possess the rare gift of concentrability and comprehensive judgment, which may be regarded as representing the highest order of mind; the general principles of any vocation. The motive has its source in the heart, and the success and spirit-ess for a single calling, which, if diligently pursued, will insure reasonable success. Though a special bias for a trade or profession does not, as a rule, go with the pre-requisites that an individual is best qualified to pursue that particular line of work. The glamour of extrinsic embellishments, and false views of designation, frequently mislead the judgment when too late for retrieval. As unfortunate individuals hopelessly estrange a person fr the wrong pursuit. Not a few would make good farmers or mechanics who are now poor preachers or incompetent doctors and lawyers. They have professed to be specialists in the line of the knowledge requisite to intelligently fill the duties of professional life. Especially is this true in a large measure of people, who are eagerly striving for association in the several professions without due consideration of their peculiar qualifications. Much of the precipitant haste is due to an inadequate comprehension of what constitutes the real qualifications of professional knowledge, and further to the common but erroneous idea that a professional life is easier than a career of mechanical industry. Many professions without due consideration of fitness or qualification. Much of this precipitant haste is due to an inadequate comprehension of what constitutes the real qualifications of professional knowledge, and further to the common but erroneous idea that a professional life is easier than a career of mechanical industry. Many of these professions would dispel such illusions. It is to be regretted that the term profession is applicable to duty which gives substantial honor to the possessor, and not to the numerous coppers for this office of merit bring ridicule to the wearer; although many are willing to wear it. The people. For a preacher may pose as a scientific divine and at the same time be ignorant of the elementary principles of science; or a lawyer may claim as a specialty the law of libel and yet be out of its ability to draw a complaint or frame an indictment, or a physician may presume to a knowledge of medicine, for scarcely be able to write a correct formula of a prescription. These examples illustrate my statement that there is a growing tendency among the ambitious to seek an accurate knowledge of the duties characthe many persons of the age to enter the various walks of professional responsibility, or the fact that many criminal lawyers are ignorant of the outcome and penalty of incompetency, malpractice, and the rights and purposes of such persons, since an insatiable craving for a professional at the expense of other considerations. What I have said, though a long preface, is an introduction to the subject under consideration, viz., preachers as politicians.

I lay down the general proposition that no preacher is the sacire work of the Church for which he has received his training, for a political leader, and, at this stage of our discussion, I cannot conceive of any emergency that would justify a preacher in seeking public office or engaging in the political affairs from that advice and example which is the work of the ministry, and impart to his followmee. I am heartily in favor of a law being enacted by the Church which will prohibit clergymen from holding office—elective or appointive—during the term of their ministry. It would be better for all classes if no ordained preacher was ever in political work, or else be required to resign his ministerial office before he can be eligible to any political position. If preachers have been engaged in politics. There are worthy exceptions, but they are few, and, as a rule, the preachers were incompetent legislators and officials, and were a disgrace to themselves and the worst enemy of race interest. I will not indulge in details, but I am willing to stand by the record of the past.

But to return to the first point. The General Conference was accomplishing its legitimate work and could have disbanded with entire dignity when the action of this section not been taken. There were nine Bishops and nine districts, and, according to the usage of the Church from the foundation of the Church up to 1880, these nine Bishops could have arranged the work. JOHN B. GOUGH.

Many thousands in America and Europe lament the loss of this good man. The sum of his influence should be recorded as equal to that of almost any other man of his century. For forty-five years he has portrayed the terrors of intemperance, enjoyed success of ridding the country of it and given his own experience of a state of fall mastery over the fearful passion by the grace of God. He has electrified millions by his wit and eloquence and let a tear by his pathetic portrayal of suffering. His oratory was decidedly original. He lacked the classic appearance of Phillips, the rounded oratory of Douglass, and the eccentric art of Cook, but he had the magnetism that held his audience equally with any of them and left as lasting impressions. It is safe to assert that no other man has exerted greater influence upon the lower classes to hope and act for a better life, and upon the intemperate class to struggle against the monster intemperance. His loss to the country is not surpassed in the loss of any of the list of great men whom America has bidden the everlasting farewell in the past eight months.

THE FIRST EDUCATIONAL DISTRICT.

An analysis of Dr. Mitchell's report for the First Educational District will show that it has the same conference paid more money than the city of Philadelphia. One of these was the Philadelphia conference, more than half of whose money was raised in the great city. The Western great cities show up rather poorly, not one of them having reached one hundred dollars; Cincinnati, $18, and Columbus, O., $00. Yet Columbus has no debt. The fact is the great church of Cincinnati, which is probably not so much in debt as the Walnut Hill Church of the same city, is proportion to the membership, paid nothing. The church on the hills redeemed the city by paying $18. The Wilkesbarre church paid $1220, the largest sum paid by any church in one conception. Its membership was not over 75, while Springfield, sixteen miles away, with a membership of about 300, paid only $12.21. Only three societies reached more than $100, viz, Wilberforce; Bethel, New York and Bethel, Philadelphia. The report shows conclusively that if we were to set ourselves to work in earnest, we could easily collect ten thousand dollars in this district this year. We were not half so hard worked as we could afford to be for the sake of education. The silent churches alone could easily send in $2,000, while those which gave to be giving, could, by regular arrangement, give more than four times what they have done. The report also shows the great value of just this kind of movement. Let the Church settle down upon the notion that it is not to concern itself about education, but must leave all of this to school boards, while all other denominations are going into the educational work with all their might, and we shall find ourselves with little influence after twenty years.

BISHOP PAYNE.

As previously stated, this good and useful man reaches his seventy-fifth birthday this day. Bishop Daniel A. Payne is a man of rare character. Were he one of the more favored race he would occupy a very different place in this country from what he does, but in the kingdom of which he is the long-term of triedritizen he ranks without race reference. We have other men who may be superior theologians, as Bishop J. P. Campbell, who also takes his age in February, being 71 years old this inst, and men as firm, true and earnest as Bishop Shorter, and better orators, as Bishops Wayman and Ward. Few of our Bishops and leaders have had more trying positions to fill than Bishop Payne. He must forever be classified among the pioneers of education among the colored Americans. Of course in actual and direct scholastic work such men and women as Charles Hurd, John R. Blackburn, Peter H. Clark, the late James Waring, Fannie M. Jackson-Coppin and Sarah J. Woodson Early would be ranked among the foremost. It is not especially in this direction that Bishop Payne will always be recorded as an educator, but in his connection with the people from his early manhood up to the present. He has been able to impress his own noble character upon the race as very few others have done. The office of Bishop is not the most conducive to this end. Bishop Payne has succeeded well in it, however. So decisive, uniform and consecutions is he in all he says and does, that every one who once learns him knows him and those who know him love him. His life has been a noble theme in it. Often the words of the poet on our first page might have expressed his feelings:

"Keep not your kisses for my dead, cold brow
The way is lonely, let me feel them now;
Think gently of me; I am travel-worn,
My faltering feet are pierced with many a thorn."

We have been Bishop Payne well and very intimately for over twenty years. We do not hesitate to say that the world has never accorded him his proper place. The A. M. E. Church has had a respect for him, but none too high an appreciation of him. Only after he is gone will the colored Americans know what they have had in the person of Daniel Alexander Payne.

MORNING SERVICE.

For worship all hours should be considered suitable, but there are many circumstances that modify our feelings with reference to worship. If the body be very weary or indisposed, or the mind be very heavily burdened, it is not so easy to enter fervent worship as it is under other conditions. The people of the earlier years of Christianity laid great stress on the break-of-day service, sunrise service, etc. These early moderings were the result of a desperate effort to resist and to overcome the tendency to slothfulness and drowsiness with reference to morning worship. But reason that suggests both very late and very early meeting services should be avoided as much as possible. Punctuality with reference to individual and home life must not be broken up nor any oftener than is absolutely necessary. A very early meeting tends to disturb the regularity that should characterize all the Lord's days. The morning service whose beginning how varies from 10:30 to 11 should be the chief service of the day. That hour comes after the morning duties are discharged and the family prepared for service. The mind is refreshed by the night's sleep, the body rested from the morning's relaxation and strengthened by the morning's repast. A little time has been given to enter into the state and study of worship. This is a service that should be made of high interest to all. All parts should be arranged to make excellent and lasting impressions. Everyone who can possibly do so should be present to resist of a deep and strongest meeting. The strongest and most earnest sermons should be prepared for that hour. Instead of an absent choir, there should be given the very strongest and most interesting song service. The programme of the hour should be arranged with great care. The dismissal should be regular and there should always be a dismissal. It is an encouragement to disorder in run the public service right on into the morning class meeting without a formal dismission; for there are likely to be some in the audience who do not wish to remain to class and some who cannot do so. Nevertheless this, there should always be a clear, decisive close to each special kind of service, and Sunday should be a day of rest as well as worship. Service should not be made one unbroken string from morning till night. It is better to intermit than to order to spend so long a time, as is often done, in taking up collections. It does not indicate strength of church management to spend an hour in collecting two or three dollars. Many persons are kept from our services, not by being solicited to contribute to the church, but by being obliged to remain prisoners an hour, while some illiberal souls are being bombarded for their money. Of course there are instances in which we cannot do jost as we would like in reference to this matter. But our course in this respect has a two-fold ill-enclining influence upon the young. First it inclines upon the afternoon service, usually for Sunday school, and secondly it leads them to practice the same custom when they assume church relations and responsibilities. It should be one of our objects in the morning service to inspire the soul with the spirit of worship for the latter part of the day so that "Jesus all the day long should be the soul and the song."

SECRETARY TOWNSEND has been attending some of our Southern conferences. In all his talk he expresses large hopes relative to the ten thousand for Africa, as well as liberal funds for our Haytien missionaries. It it plain from letters received at this office that we need large funds for this purpose. We must enable our missionaries in more than one country. We must sustain the good name of the Church among the people whom we have promised to help. We must even show a stronger evidence of our good purpose than we have ever yet done. Respecting Africa, we can not really say that we have any work there in the very best sense, but that we are striving.

REMEMBER that Missionary Day and Easter day are one and the same and will occur on April 25th, the day also Secretary Townsend expects to raise $10,000 for Africa, besides what he may raise for domestic and Haytien missions. It will require efforts on the part of the pastors, but it will be fruitful of good results. It needs just the aid that RECORDER GIVE, BROTHER. To round it up nicely your church and Sunday school MUST BE IN IT. Two months is not a long time to prepare to raise $10,000; we must have $5,000 for each month. The missionary day may be a rainy day, like edcestion day, so we should try to raise $20,000 to be sure of $10,000.

THE MANAGER'S correspondence in this issue will be read with great interest. The Columbia trouble will not be unexpected to mesy who have known of threatened rupture there since about the time of Bishop Dickerson's death. Much concerning the case has been published in the Columbia Register and the Charleston News and Courier in the past year. There was a committee called in not on the case. This committee suspended Dr. Waters until the next session of the Columbia Conference.

YE ARE OF MORE VALUE than many sparrows. All the money, the property, the preference and the power that can be bestowed upon or worn by man are as nothing when compared with himself in proper shape and quality. What will it profit a man if he gain the whole world and loose his own soul? may well be followed by what will the whole world gain from a man, whatever he give to it, if he withhold his own soul?

THE RECORDAN will not be issued any more this winter, and we sincerely trust that its patrons will be well satisfied with both the winter and the RECORDAN, wishing the former an undisturbed retirement and the latter increased usefulness.

—The venerable Rev J. J Herbert still remains on the sick list. We stated recently that Elder Herbert was the oldest minister living in the A. M. E. Baltimore Conference. He corrects this statement by saying the oldest man in the Baltimore itinerancy, but not the oldest itinerant.

—Rev. T. T. Jenifer, Dr. Derrick assisting, celebrated "Purefathers' Day" in Charles Street Church, Boston, 14th inst. All the time looking for the cloud to subside and talking about obstacles and is encouragement and cheer. The class of ministers hill everything they touch. Such an one cannot fail to accomplish a Christian pastor. If we search history carefully we will see the men who have left their mark behind them, are the men who have been successful in winning souls to Christ, have all been men of great moral courage. Look at Moses, who, in obedience to God, with great courage confronted Pharaoh, the king of Egypt. We see Elijah with great courage standing on Mount Carmel in the defence of the cause of God against a nation. Again we read that when the apostles were brought before the council, they perceived their boldness and took knowledge of them, that they had been with Jesus. The courage just what every Christian minister needs. I remember reading a story where a missionary from India was invited to address the General Assembly of the American Missionary Society on the wants of India. This old, gray haired missionary, after a brief address, told the pastors who was present to go home and stir up their churches and

WHAT CONSTITUTES THE ACCOMPLISHED CHRISTIAN PASTOR?

BY REV JOSEPH C SHAW.

The subject under consideration is of the greatest importance, and, indeed, there is no subject which should be more fraught with greater interest than this one. More especially when we consider the vastness of the responsibility which rests upon the Christian pastor. When we consider it in its length, breadth, height and depth, and as it is in time and eternity, we feel safe in saying that it is the subject of subjects.

The first qualification needed to constitute the accomplished Christian pastor is a converted heart. Such is the economy of Christ's kingdom, that God's servants must be born again. The Christian pastor, for Christ says, "Except a man be born again of the spirit he cannot see the kingdom of God." His must of necessity experience this change of heart before he can be a Christian pastor, and then all other necessary qualifications must be added to this, that we might have the accomplished Christian pastor. The ministry, is through all ages, the great centre around which they have revolved, and on which they are all subordinate It is the ministry which God's presence and that which is so essential to the prosperity of the Christian Church. It is this that the world needs, looks for, and must have—a converted ministry, a ministry in whose heart God has set a fountain which shall cannot be a Christian minister. What constitutes the accomplished Christian pastor? Piety and devotion. No grace or cross can behalf a church than a pious and spiritually minister. There is nothing which can supply the place of this deficiency in morals. How can he necessarily invest himself of power to be, himself, has not seen and felt its virtue? How can he preach sermons that are sure when he himself is a stranger to conviction? How can he guide the trembling steps of an inquirer to the hill of Calvary, when he himself has never sought shelter under the blood of victim? How can he urge to a thorough consecration of life while there is such a wonderful discrepancy in his life? How can he unfold the map of heaven to others when he has no evidence of blessedness when he, himself, has no hope of heaven? My brethren, when a man is as the sign-board, which points the way, but takes no steps itself. By chain and fascinate the admiring crowd; he may let loudly of the pearly gates and golden harps of the ransomed, yet, wanting in piety, all his impressive gifts and performances become as sounding brass or a tinkling cymbal, and will all the finish and polish which resembles only the life-like but lifeless beauty of a corpse laid out in state and decorated with the pomp of death.

The prosperi y of the savior Church was owing to the intense piety and the glowing zeal of their ministry. They triumphed in every place where the religion fell lifeless before the power of the gospel of Christ. The heathen altars were demolished, the temples abandoned and the banner of the cross raised in triumph on every steep. Every one essential secret of their might was the piety of the ministry. The apostles were invexhed against sin in every city of Greece for a century in vain, but not his appeal here accompanied by the simplicity and devotion. The same elements are needed now as then to constitute the accomplished Christian pastor This is an important element, as the Christian ministry can not be successfully established ministry without this element. The great calamity that can befall a Church, to that of an ungodly or an ignorant ministry. Those whom the founder of our religion selected as its first champions were men of high moral character. They were men of high seond young men to India to preach the gospel to those heathen. He spoke with such boldness that after awhile he fainted and they carried him to his room. When he recovered he asked where he was. He was told, and asked what circumstances he had been carried there. He "Yes," said he, "I was making a plea for India. I did not finish my speech, did I?" His wife said that he did not. He said, "Well, take me back, and let me finish." They said, "No, you will die in the attempt!" "Well," said he, "I will die if I don't," with supper he was taken back, and as they brought him upon the platform with a trembling voice he said, "Fathers and brethren, I fear that I will not let your sons go to India to carry the gospel! I have spent twenty-five years of my life there. I have lost my health and have come home with sickness and shattered health, and if I be true that we have no strong young men to go to India we must go back, and we have and be off to-morrow, and I will let those brethren know that I did counsel live for them I will die with them."

This is courage backed up by love for God and humanity. This is the kind of a Christian minister should have, and this is the kind we would see established Christian pastor. He must be a man of prayer, and to do what he does for the glory of God. He must have the courage to go to the throne of grace and entreat, by talking so thought for to-morrow. He must be a man of faith.

What constitutes the accomplished Christian pastor? I have spoken briefly, he is a converted man, he is a godly man and devoted ministry, 3rd, of an educated ministry, for he is a progressive ministry; but there is another touch by the Divine Artist, which is so essential to the accomplished Christian pastor. 5th, and last, but indeed, not the least, he must be a man of courage. He must not be afraid to be singular. He must not be afraid to say his say. He must not be afraid to speak out his mind concerning the promised land. He must not be afraid to speak out the whole truth respecting the giants in the land. He must not be afraid to say that the cities are walled up to heaven, and that we are able to go up and possess the land. He must not be afraid to say that the children of Anak are there, but he must not be afraid to say that the Lord is with us. He must not be afraid to say that we are as grasshoppers in our own sight and in the sight of our enemies. He must not be afraid to say that we are well able to overcome them. He must not be afraid to say that the Lord is with us." He must not be afraid to say that we are more than conquerors through him that loved us. He must not be afraid to say that we are kings and priests unto God. He must not be afraid to say that we shall reign on the earth. He must not be afraid to say that we shall be like unto Christ, for we shall see him as he is. He must not be afraid to say that we shall be satisfied when we awake in his likeness. He must not be afraid to say that we shall be presented faultless before the throne of God with exceeding joy

NOTICE.

A NEW DEPARTURE IN THE RECORDER CALLS ATTENTION.

On and after September 1st, all agencies for Recorders sales will be made anew and on a different plan, indicated below. Present agents must settle in full up to the last issue in August, which will be on the 27th. Our new rules will be as follows: 1st. On appointing an agent he or she must sign a written contract binding each to sell and return one-half of the sales money to us monthly and to make a full settlement of all claims at the end of every three months. 2nd. All papers unsold to be carefully preserved and reported with each settlement and held subject to our orders. They must be counted, bound and returned to us when required. 3rd. Such agents will be allowed one-third of each annual subscription they obtain for the paper at $1.50 per year, they retaining fifty cents and sending us a net ou dollar. Or, they can take subscriptions on our installment plan, allowing 30 cents in advance every two months, and sending us 20 cents.

These rules will be strictly applied to all except regular itinerant ministers. We are now ready to do this for the year, we have resolved on the above rules. Please read them, note well and prepare to settle at once.

NOTE.—These new agreements will be furnished in blank to all who wish to renew or continue agents after September 1st.

ADVICE TO MOTHERS.

MRS. WINSLOW'S SOOTHING SYRUP should always be used when children are suffering from pain, whether the gums, colic, or any other form of disease. Twenty-five cents a bottle.

Catarrh and Bronchitis Cured.

CATARRH, a new name of suffering from that old disease, Nasal Catarrh, is caused by the presence of a living parasite in the nasal passages, which completely ruins and saps the life from the system. Any sufferer from this dreadful disease sending a self-addressed stamped envelope to Dr. L. Peters, 4 Cts., 112 Chambers Street, New York City, will receive the recipe free of charge.

The city of Boston has a colored policeman.

CONSUMPTION CURED.

An old physician, retired from practice, having had placed in his hands by an East India missionary the formula of a simple vegetable remedy for the speedy and permanent cure of Consumption, Bronchitis, Catarrh, Asthma, and all throat and Lung Affections, also a positive and radical cure for Nervous Debility and all Nervous Complaints, after having tested its wonderful curative powers in thousands of cases, has felt it his duty to make it known to his suffering fellows. Actuated by this motive and a desire to relieve human suffering, I will send free of charge, to all who desire it, this recipe, in German, French or English, with full directions for preparing and using. Sent by return mail, by addressing with stamp, naming this paper, W. A. NOYES, 149 Power's Block, Rochester, N. Y.

BEWARE OF IMITATIONS.

Imitations and counterfeits have again appeared. Be sure that the word "HORSFORD'S" is on the wrapper. None are genuine without it.

What a vast deal of time and ease that man gains who is not troubled with the spirit of impertinent curiosity about others; who lets his neighbor's thoughts and behavior alone; and confines his inspection to himself, and cares chiefly for his own duty and conscience.

ANOTHER LIFE SAVED.

About two years ago, a prominent citizen of Chicago was told by his physicians that he had Bright's disease. They said his system was so debilitated that there was nothing left to build on. He made up his mind to try a "new deal in cards." He got some of Dr. Pierce's "Golden Medical Discovery," and took it according to directions. He began to improve from the first week, took the treatment for some months, and is to-day a well man. He says the "Discovery" saved his life.

Queen Victoria, it is said, contemplates issuing a decree against the barbarous fashion of wearing the bodies of birds on bonnets. Many of her Queenly subjects would, no doubt, be powerful. A dead bird is a strange ornament for the head-dress of a Christian lady. Get Hood's Sarsaparilla, which notices even the fall of a sparrow, cannot approve of the needless destruction of creatures of his hand for such a purpose.

A man named John Ryan while digging a well in Sonoma county, Cal., a short time ago, slipped on a ladder, breaking a leg and bung head down-ward in such a manner that he was in danger of drowning. Just then, when the Pacific coast paper which tells the story, Mrs. Ryan, at her home, over a mile away, was seized with a presentiment that her husband was in peril, and hastened to the well, arriving just in time to save his life.

Any one interested in more interesting facts about these things can be supplied by the President of the Underwood Water Company to dig in the big artesian well; the company's land near Portland, and beneath the sea; and the latter agent and people believed to be the richest in Atlanta. It is to this custom, says a member of the Councils of the city, that death from asphyxia so often occur, and not to any ignorance of the use of gas on the part of the man or boy who is suffocated in his sleep when the gas is turned on again early next morning.

Little Mabel was saying her prayers the other night, and when she finished the usual petitions for earthly blessings for herself and family, when she suddenly paused, and looking up into her mother's face said:

"There is one thing more I want to ask for mamma; can I?"

"Certainly, if it is nothing wicked," was the reply.

At this the little one proceeded: "And make all our folks stylish, amen."—Boston Budget.

NEW BOOKS

OFFER.

To the Ministers and Members of the A. M. E. Church:

1st. We will give to every minister who will send me his Dollar Money by the 15th of August a gold medal of Bishops Payne and Asbury. We will be the first to send to the money? for we need it to pay the Bishops and General Officers of the Church and to help the Metropolitan Church.

2d. To the preacher sending the largest amount of money by the 15th of Aug., 1886, I will give him "Bishop Tanner's Book," or Dr. Tanner's "Outlines."

3d. Send in the money soon! Send it to Xenia, Ohio.

4th. Do the best you can to help me.

5th. We will have a twenty-five thousand dollars this year. Who will be the first to start the ball—the Dollar Ball? Send on the dollars.

5th. Let every minister raise one dollar in his congregation for the Recorder this year. Try it once in your life.

7th. I will give a present to every church in the connection that will raise one dollar for each member. We will have a roll of honor and no selfishness, and the pastors who will raise one dollar for each member will be mentioned in the past down on that roll and published in the Recorder.

The Bishops and General Officers must be paid.

The Metropolitan Church in Washington must be completed, by order of the General Conference. It is in the way now. It will be the grandest church in the connection when completed.

Don't wait for the conference but send the money to W. H. Arnett, Xenia, Ohio, as soon as you get it; if it is small, send it anyway. Small amounts help in war.

I am yours,

W. H. ARNETT.

Wilberforce, Ohio.

All agents now selling the RECORDER for more than one month will be stopped after June 15th. After that all must settle the first of each month.

More than $400 is due us to-day on RECORDER sales alone. We shall all our agents next week.

Now, dear friends and brethren, help us. We are determined to go on this work with energy and faithfulness, we pray you to stand by your own cause.

What we must say

now, is that we are opening a regular campaign for the CHRISTIAN RECORDER. We want two thousand new subscribers, and all the old ones to renew. Now, appreciating the dullness of the times, we have resolved to put the paper within the reach of all, adopting the installment plan.

Installment

costs a little more, but is easier because it gives more time. Hence, we make the following offer to all who desire to have the RECORDER:

Send us 25 Cents and we will enroll your name in a special book kept for that purpose and will send you the paper for sixty days; then send us 50 cents, and two months after 50 cents more, and two months later 50 cents more. Total, $1.75.

All our Pastors

are Agents for the RECORDER, and are hereby authorized to present this proposition to their people and receive their enrollment fee (25 cents), and give their receipt for the same. [Note.—We will send a few blank slips of receipts to all who will ask for us in this matter.]

On this Plan

we give full six months for paying the subscription.

"Pastor's Memorandum Book," by Rev. C. T. Shaffer. Price, 45 cents, no discount. An excellent book.

NOTICE.

All questions and business pertaining to advertisements seen in the RECORDER, and requesting correspondence in the RECORDER, should be addressed to Rev. J. C. Embry, Business Manager, not to the editor. There is no part of the business of this establishment requiring money to be sent to the editor nor communications for the RECORDER, to the Manager. All orders for changing the address of the paper, securing Sunday school or Church supplies, must be sent to the Manager, not the editor. Please remember, nothing but articles for publication, or letters relating thereto, should be addressed to the editor, and they to him exclusively.

APPROVED OF GOD.

Within the last six weeks we have published some excellent communications on "the ministry." We can observe no greater event among this class of men than more of the true Christian education, an education that awakens all manly powers in the interest of our calling and profession; an education that will inspire so discreet and respectable walls and talks as will render us the terror of none but evil doers and as against their evil; an education that will lessen such department as will commend us to all Christians with whom we associate, and always acceptable of God. Gentility of conduct will follow this kind of education. Christianity begets a sort of familiarity, but never a heedlessness. The relation between ministers and their flocks is supposed to be easy and sanctified always, unbecoming never. There can be no mistake that of many charges of inconsistency and gross immorality against which ministers are called upon to defend themselves, too many are grounded on those who were those facts passed by the civil courts instead of the ecclesiastical, would send them into lasting disgrace. Very many of them grow out of a lack of Christian education, education by the principles that sustained, supported and conducted Jesus who, while going about doing good, manifested no mere love for Martha and Mary than for Lazarus; and Indeed, three General Conference have assembled and adjourned with little having been said on this question.

The exuberance of 1872 decided that Bishops should reside in their respective fields, but for some reason the law was never enforced. Principally, doubtless, because the law made no suggestion or provision for its own execution. No one could be so inconsiderate as to expect the Bishops of the Church to erect their own houses in their districts each four years. The conference could set the execution of the law only on the condition that suitable houses be provided for the Bishops. Every observer must see what we are losing by failing to put this law, which has never been repealed nor abrogated, into effect.

Within less than 125 miles we have 9 Bishops residing (3 in one city); towards the Eastern extremity of our extensive work, 600 miles from them and near the Northern border of our work, we have two within speaking distance of each other. In Ontario, where our work is considerable, the eighth Bishop and in the South, sixth. The decidedly heaviest part of our work is, with the single exception that Bishop Turner is in Georgia, without regular episcopal presence. There can be no question respecting his defence of this charge in this respect. Many of our saddest denominational disturbances and grievances result from the remoteness of the Bishops. Some of the messages taken of this failure on our part that cannot be appreciated by one who does not travel through the country where our people are thickest, our work greatest and our Bishops fewest. What shall we do? Shall we erect ten houses in our ten districts for our ten Bishops? No; the impracticability of such a movement is apparent even upon the very surface. Our district boundaries are merely temporary. Our number of districts is liable to modifications. It is hardly likely that there will ever be much said concerning the majority of our present Bishops, but it is altogether probable that all Bishops in the future will be obliged to observe certain regulations made by General Conference for their places of residence. It is not at all unlikely that the present stationing will be broken up by movements of some of our present Bishops if the Church would provide for their suitable places. If something is not done in this line the future will point back to episcopalian episcopacy as in no small degree responsible for a scattered Africa Methodism. The great West, South-west and South, where nine-tenths of our people are located, righteously and reasonably demand the presence of their chief pastors and overseers as visitors, presidents of conferences and settlers of disputes.

The next conference will doubtless say whether there shall be resident Bishops, whether it says each Bishop shall reside in his district or not, and whether it says where all the Bishops shall reside or not. It is not unlikely that it will order episcopal residences erected under proper supervision.

It is a serious question with many ministers and laymen whether the district plan is the best for the Church. This question will be agitated much more in the future than in the past. The wide mission fields opened to us in the West Indies and Africa, if taken in hand properly, wisely and warmly, will necessitate very different supervisory work from that under which the Church acts at present. In fact, more than ever before the practicability of the rotary supervision will be discussed. The presiding eldership is altogether likely to be here to stay. Its staying is an incessant argument for a rotary supervision.

"THE NEGRO A FAILURE."

Recently Professor H. C. White, Professor of Chemistry and Agricultural Science in the University of Georgia, has pronounced the negro a failure as to agriculture. Read his reasoning:

"Here we have a State of fine climate, soil and resources, with the greatest room for improvement, but the country is absolutely without a peasantry. The people who occupy the rank of peasantry are ignorant, shiftless class, seemingly not desirous of any improvement. There is almost then a low state of morality and little disposition to acquire property, nor are they susceptible of that training which enables them to work our land to the best advantage. Our country cannot be improved without a good labor, educated labor, and that labor, in thinking over the whole matter, I have made bold to inquire whether or not the lack of a saving middle class is not the point in our Southern system, and whether or not the labor difficulty is not at the bottom of all our trouble?"

His remedy:

"This, of course, leads us to hunt for the remedy. I contended: 1. We must live independently of the class of labor [yet attempting] ourselves small areas. This leads to intensive farming. 2. This of course means scientific farming. We must educate up to the point of appreciating the fact that many undreamed scientific agriculture. Our State scientific and agricultural schools must be built up and fostered. The state is sick of the mechanic arts, and this is where our technological schools must come in, to raise up young mechanics and train Southern labor. This system of thoroughly educating small farms will leave a large amount of unoccupied and uncultivated land—larger than now remains. Now, to make a country prosperous and to increase our power of population, and in order that this prosperity may come before the negro succeeds in ruining this country, we must have work for immigration. That is our only hope."

"What is your specific plan?"

"I think the State, the railroads, and associations should unite in advertising and attracting the interests of the State to the Southern people and in Europe, where thousands of immigrants and thousands of settlers are seeking homes and would come South if the matter was properly presented to them. This idea is not to pay people to come north, but we can advertise and encourage them to come South. An appropriation of $5,000 a year would be sufficient to publish pamphlets and distribute them, even employing an agent to look after Georgia's interests abroad. What a great thing, for instance, would it be for the central railroad to employ agents to induce immigrants to settle along the lines of its road. It would pay them an hundred fold by building up their country and developing their property in every way."

The man who travels from New York to New Orleans or from Detroit to Savannah with his eyes and ears open to sights and sounds and his heart open to reason and right will read Prof. White's findings and propositions wondering how a wise man can be so ignorant and how a man who does not wish really to do anything against the negro can set such false logic to work so coolly against him. It is very true the poor condition of the South and the presence of the negro have a logical connection, so has the former as intimate connection with the white men of the South. It is notoriously known that the people of the South are characterized by love of ease, distinguishing titles and much land. It is known that if every negro were removed from the South and the white man left alone there alone with all his immigrants influenced by Professor White's $5,000—a proposition itself showing how inadequate is the Professor's mind to deal with great emigration schemes—and there will remain in the South a lassitude, a shiftlessness, a lack of taste and absence of scientific methods and processes that will be appalling when compared with the thrifty part of the world. The fact is altogether probable that Prof. White may learn that the condition of Ireland and that of the South are already too near alike in respect to the "peasant class." There is more of the Irishman in the South, not too black a peasantry.

Prof. White and the whole South are responsible for the negro's incompetency as a skilled workman. They have trained him by their wisest and severest methods and set before him their exemplars, which he has failed to see as a failure, most respects, improving upon a few. It is the white man of the South, the native white peasant, who, with disbelled hair, covering an ignorant head, his wife and children crowded in a cart drawn by one ox, as well as the negro, who sleepily enters the Southern town and gives to its shiftless, woe-begone appearance.

It is not the black man alone who fails to beautify the South. The rudely constructed houses of millions of white men, their cow-sheds, railroad stationhouses, their starved soil, their poor fences, their lack of blooded stock, absence of horse, their piney hay stacks, its comparative illiteracy are all of these laid at the door of the defenceless negro!

How does Mr. White make his statement respecting the incompetency or imbecilism of the negro to grapple with science, in the face of the living facts all around him, excepting right where he is probably looking, on the olden times? And even here will he not, if he honestly inquires, find thousands of instances in which the civilization of the South has really been amended by the genius of the negro? Has not a negro suggestion turned sod shaped many a sobeone in social life, in mechanical art, in agricultural pursuits? Have not millions of slave owners and slave managers relied more upon the genius of their negroes than upon their own white-seated minds? What is Prof. White going to do to eradicate the malignant diseases and the "ignorant, shiftless" peasants to both live where the latter cannot live?

We suggest that Prof. White unite with Dr. Hayward and other good Christians in the State and spend the $5,000 in instructing the blacks and the whites instead of increasing the already overburdened state of illiteracy with recruits from Ireland and Italy. Meanwhile we offer the opportunity to call the attention of our people to the necessity of improvement in mechanical and agricultural arts. Read books and papers on agricultural subjects, mechanics and common-life topics. Practice habits of thrift. Mark a people worthy of the confidence and support of all good people. Our churches and our school teachers could do much in directing and strengthening labor-organizing and labor-refusing associations. The people who settled this country forced our race here to do their work. They have tried by every price within their gift to hold us in a servile state; even to the giving up of their best blood. This spectacle is true of the South, but really true of the country as a whole. Now, let us refuse to be driven from the important post of labor without a desperate effort to hold our places. Let the effort be made to enable fathers who hoped and prayed so long for our freedom.

We shall be known by our work. The fact that many of the great mining interests are supported by negro labor and when white men are ungovernable; the fact that much of the nicest railroad work of the South is done by colored men, shows the miscalculation of Prof. White. Georgia is about to abolish the whiskey traffic. Let her do this and she will confer a greater blessing upon herself than by crowding the already overcrowded working classes there with foreign recruits. If many thousand workmen would leave the State it would be a blessing to all concerned, but to increase the number would seem self-destructive.

THE PLEA of the greater part of the South that they can take care of the race question seems late. They have been on trial in this matter many years. What have they done for the negro? The commonplace notion which they have of the race question may find a general acquiescence of Northern white men, but will never have the endorsement of Christianity. The system of ethics by which the Southern mind has been trained for half a century differs materially from the general ethics of the entire civilized world. The maniel genius made by that ethics that makes such senseless distinctions between men of one race and those of another as the Southern ethics made, must be changed very slowly.

PROMPTNESS in churches, like promptness in individuals, is worth everything it costs. The securing of a valuable spot for the erection of a church building, the acceptance of an opportunity offered for religious impressions, the acceptance of the presence of the hour of refreshing when it comes from the Lord underlies the great success of the very successful minister and the very successful congregation.

ELDER C. T. SHAFFER must have overlooked our published statement relative to the special appeal of the Manager. He has probably overlooked also the fact that emergencies sometimes arise in the best systems, and that the case of our Publishing House is an example. Many thanks for the $15.

Personal.

—Don't fail to read the Manager's circular "costing" the price-list.

—The editor of the RECORDER is on a short business trip to Wilmington.

—Dr Smith may congratulate himself on the beautiful appearances of the Sunday school papers, Child's Recorder and Review.

—Mr. George W. Cable gives readings of his new romance, "Dr. Sevier," "Grande Pointe," in Association Hall, next Monday and Thursday evenings of this week.

—The Rev. J. T. Hagins is in Philadelphia with papers from the Rt. Rev. S. R. Cain, D.D., consulting the superintendent of Missions in Africa. He states that he expects to sail on the next steamer out.

—Mrs. F. E. W. Harper is in the West. The Cincinnati (O.) Despatch speaks very complimentarily of her lectures in that city recently: Mrs. Harper never fails to impress those who appreciate strong reasoning on the temperance evil.

Literature.

Vick's Magazine for February is especially attractive, and contains many hints of value for the coming season of year, which is the time of preparation for the beauties of summer flowers.

The Quiver for March opens with a novel paper descriptive of some note-worthy Welsh scenes, and the reader who has given little or no thought to this subject will be surprised to find how much art has been brought to bear and how much money spent on these architectural fishing boats.

The Century is bringing out several Southern writers whose names have not been hitherto widely known. Mal Corin is the author of a Southern story in the February number, and in the March number appears a story of Louisiana, entitled "John Toner's Experiment," by Mrs. Margaretta V. Saxon Kernan, with a full-page illustration by Mr. Kemble.

We have just received from the publishers a handy little book, entitled "Hymns, Crochetings and Embroidery," which gives full instructions to all who desire to become successful workers in this essence of the best instructions and 84 pages, bound in paper cover. The book will be sent by mail to any address for 15 cents, by J. S. Ogilvie & Co., Publishers, 31 Rose street, New York.

General Sickle's "Shiloh Reviewed," in the March Century, is accompanied by two lively communications from Commodoras on the Civil War," dealing with some of the numerous controversies in regard to that contest. Colonel S. H. Lockett, who was on General Bragg's staff, describes what he saw to prove that the Union army was taken by surprise, and also states his opinion that General Beauregard was responsible for the incomplete victory on the first day. On the other hand, Colonel Alex. R. Chisolm, of General Beauregard's staff, maintains that the battle was splendidly in the latter respect should be shifted to General Bragg.

We have received the New Guide to Rose Culture, published by the Dingee & Conard Co., West Grove, Pa., (see advertisement) and take pleasure in recommending it as one of the handsomest and best catalogues of the season. This company makes a specialty of growing and handling roses, and offers nearly 500 varieties, including all the latest and choicest of the finest standard sorts. They also offer choice hardy shrubbery, climbing vines, fine seeds, bulbs, plants, etc., by mail or express, as desired, and are well-known and reliable florists. They have a large and worthy establishment in the country, and all purchases made from them are sure to be satisfactory.

Among others, the following writers will appear in the near number of the Review: A symposium by Dr. Hamilton upon the question: "The Ordination of Women: What is the Authority for It?" Prof. J. A. M. Johns contributes "An Analysis of Bishop Philpotts' Essay on Theology," "Geoffry Chaucer," by the late Prof. Wiley Lane "The Great Need of the Christian Ministry" by Prof. J. M. Maxwell. "Quebec" a poem, by Miss M. Cordelia Ellis. "Cromwell as a Legislator," by Walter J. Scott, LL.B., Richmond, Va. "The Judicial Function in the Church," by J. Warfield, LL.B., Washington City "Celestial Scenery," by Rev. T. Dunnet, Barbadoes, W. I. "Sacred Hermeneutics," by Bishop Jas. Theodore Holly, Port-au-Prince.

The witching face of Miss Farren adorns copy at us from the first page of the Magazine of Art for March. It is a full-length portrait in sanguine, reduced from Hamilton's original, and is read an illustrated discription of "The Tiber: Gubs to Bagnorea," by Edgar Barclay, which is followed by a brightly written account of "The Institute," in which the writer has some interesting remarks on the present course of art in England. The paper is illustrated with two engravings from notable pictures, one being a full page reproduction of Mr. F. D. Millet's, "The Grandaughter," a most pleasing idea worked out with more sentiment than is usual in Mr. Millet's work. There is a paper on art in Persia and there are plenty of notes, keeping the reader at current with the art news of both hemispheres —Cassell & Company, New York; 24 cents a number, $2.50 a year in advance.

Missionary Items.

Our new church at Mascogee, I. T., will be completed by May. Rev. J. A. Chase shipped the material from St. Louis a few days ago.

We have made a remittance on salary this month to Rev. G. G. Dorce, at Port au Prince, and Rev. A. H. Hunt at San Domingo.

Bro Moss has arrived and Illus H. C. Astwood has turned over the church at San Domingo with the most flattering outlook. Bro. Astwood deserves the praises and gratitude of the whole church for his untiring efforts on behalf of African Methodism.

In answer to letters written some weeks ago, I am assured that there is still an open door for our Church in the Bahama Islands. At two points satisfactoning cherubs rejoice at the prospect of becoming a part and parcel of our connection. As soon as Easter is of I want to consummate the good work begun. You will be interested in the facts which I shall submit at the proper time.

We are sending out from night to ten thousand Easter services daily. From the brazen throats of bells peal forth their share toward the $10,000 for Africa.

If we fail, by God's help it shall not be my fault We hope to hear from some of our churches, now languishing for Church to come up to the ten thousand dollar line.

MISSIONARY APPEAL.

BY BISHOP J. P. CAMPBELL, D.D.

MR. EDITOR:—Only two short months from Easter are said we are brought to Easter Sunday, the day celebrated as that upon which our blessed Lord arose from the state of the dead. Easter is a day set apart by custom and raised again for our ratification. As a church organization we have set apart the first day in each year unto the Lord as a holy day. Our fathers kept this day as sacred and it was possible for them to do for a period of more than thirty years, or the third of a century. Many of them were present at the dedication of the Church as a separate organization from the mother, the Methodist Episcopal Church, which was organized in the year of our Lord 1784, as the Christmas Conference. Now in the city of Baltimore, the beautiful, the classic, the cherished city to be by God, the Church has resolved to revive the keeping of that day as a holy day as she had done in the days of the fathers. And she has further resolved to observe the day as a holy day not only to observe the day as a holy day of thanksgiving and praise unto God for a risen Saviour, but she provided that a collection shall be taken on that day for the sacred cause of colonizing Men, women, children, ministers and all are expected to contribute as free will offering unto the Lord upon that day of which we will ask mention. The Methodist Episcopal Church has proposed to raise one million of dollars this year for the cause of missions, and the mother church of Methodism, as the first essence of the tree will that amount of money for the cause. Now, the African Methodist Episcopal is as able to raise ten thousand dollars this year for the cause as the mother Church is to raise one million ($100,000) We ask that the vast daughter of that grand old active mother of Methodism in America shall do her part and more than her part cannot justly be plead. If any should say that the times are hard and that we should damage the success of our collection, in the case of God will come upon that wicked person, church or people, and he will not escape the judgments of an offended God; all will come upon that people escape the judgment, the just judgment of God, and in the day when avenging God, if they offend him in neglecting to come up to the help of the Lord in this time.

The Missionary Board of the Parent Home and Foreign Missionary Society of the A. M. E. Church have long since resolved to send one of the Bishops to Hayti and another to Africa, and also the Corresponding Secretary to go to each of these fields, but they have not yet had the means at their command to accomplish this most philanthropic praiseworthy design. Do not say that the Bishops will not go; that is left with all the Bishops to say. The truth is that the Bishops have not the means to go. We simply ask for means wherewith to go from the Church and the friends of the cause of missions. We ask for the name in the Book of the Church appeal to you, the ministers, the responsibility of laying with the women and children and friends of the missionary cause, and also stations in the name of the good Lord give us the means to send a Bishop and the Secretary to Hayti and another to the fatherland, of Africa. The Macedonian cry has come from Hayti, "Come over and help us;" and that cry is loudly sounding in our ears, louder and louder, louder and louder, day and night until we have begun to exceedingly fear and tremble lest we shall not go and help the servants, will arise and build. Brethren, in the name of the Lord I ask you and we entreat you to let us go forward. The want of means has kept us back. Brethren, we are standing ready who were ready and willing to go; only the want of that obstacle has kept us struct and hinder our righteous cause? We call upon you, the whole Church to come up to the help of God and man and letters, to answer that question, as you will not be saved. We will then send a Bishop to Hayti and another Bishop to Africa immediately after Easter Sunday.

To our sisters of the Parent Mite Missionary Society, we call upon the willing workers in the cause of missions—the God bless them—we appeal to you, sisters, while we freely and justly acknowledge the great and good work which you have done in the past, we appeal to you for a greater work to-day. Our sisters in the West Indies have made a consequence of our apparent past tardy movements, but come to our help at this time while we are making a most desperate effort to procure means to send them over to help the Corresponding Secretary; one to Hayti and the other to Africa. Arise, sisters, arise and be ready and willing to go, and lack nothing, we trust; and your liberality will be such as to put us soon to relief from the expenses of the journey across the ocean, and thus make it absolutely necessary for permanently planting the cause of missions in those fields. Let those lands—those foreign fields into which, by the help of the Lord, we are going, whether we live or die in the effort. Duty is ours, living or dying, and we count not our lives dear unto us in view of the Cross of Christ before us Women of God, daughters of Ethiopia, shall Zerubbah which is above and which is free and the mother of us all, which the writer has some interesting remarks on the present course of art in England. The paper is illustrated with two engravings from notable pictures, one being a full page reproduction of Mr. F. D. Millet's, "The Grandaughter," a most pleasing idea worked out with more sentiment than is usual in Mr. Millet's work. There is a paper on art in Persia and there are plenty of notes, keeping the reader at current with the art news of both hemispheres —Cassell & Company, New York; 24 cents a number, $2.50 a year in advance.

EXTRA AND SPECIAL COLLECTIONS FOR GENERAL PURPOSES—THEIR EFFECTS, ETC.

BY REV. C. T. SHAFFER.

MR. EDITOR:—I have waited with so small degree of interest to see what would be the result of the last proposition and appeal of Manager Embry on behalf of the Publishing Department of the A. M. E. Church. Having received, after waiting almost a month, heard nothing whatever, I venture to make the following suggestions:

Believing, as I do, that we have a financial system, which, if vigorously operated, and not constantly interfered with (and thus jeopardized) by spasmodic extra collections and appeals, would amply meet every general want not otherwise provided for from our connectional channel—the General Conference—the establishment of departments and department secretaries, general collection days, etc., I am free to say that I am not in hearty sympathy with these extra collections and appeals. I feel that they are a needless burden upon a few of our churches (for only a few ever respond) and are accessories to their tendency to run deficient and unreliable financial system and subversive of the purposes of the General Conference in its establishment, and are, therefore, the parenting of that old and familiar adage: "The robbing of Peter to pay Paul." These extra collections, however, should be discontinued, or, if not, should never be indulged in until every possible expedient had been tried and failed through the regular channel, this being, in my opinion, the only true way to do. I am never be able to train and educate our people up to a vigorous support of the general interests of the Church, as any departure from this rule rather confuses their minds, and thus makes it less and strengthens the work. But since, as my friend, I am told, we have resolved upon this method of raising money, I will make a few suggestions:

1st. When a number in each district is to be selected, which was a great success. I joined the church on probation, or some of the preachers of the district, and

NOTICE.

A NEW DEPARTURE IN THE RECORDER SALES BUSINESS.

On and after September 1st, all agencies for RECORDER sales will be made anew and on a different plan, indicated below. Present agents must notify in full up to the last issue in August, which will be on the 27th. Our new rules will be as follows: 1st. On application an agent he or she must sign a written contract binding each to sell and return one-half of the sales money, to us monthly and to make a full settlement of all claims at the end of every three months. 2nd. All papers unsold to be carefully preserved and reported with each settlement and held subject to our orders. They must be counted, bound and returned to us when required. 3rd. Such agents will be allowed one-third of each annual subscription they obtain for the paper at $1.50 per year, they retaining fifty cents of the money on a set one dollar. Or, they can take subscriptions on our installment plan, collecting 50 cents in advance and every two months, and sending us 20 cents.

These rules will be strictly applied to all without regular license from the ministers. We are compelled to do this for the protection of the Department against several loss. We issue about two hundred and sixty thousand papers each month. Two-fifths, or one hundred and four thousand copies are sent out to agents. By this number we lose from $1,200 to $1,500 year. Believing that all our brethren will favor any plan which promises a reduction of this great loss, we have resolved on the above rules. Please read them, note well and prepare to settle at once.

NOTE.—These new agreements will be furnished in blank to all who wish to become or continue agents after September 1st.

ADDRESS ALL SETTLINGS.

MR. WINSLOW'S SOOTHING SYRUP should always be used in children teething. It relieves the child, softens the gums, allays all pain, cures wind colic, and is the best remedy for diarrhœa. Twenty-five cents a bottle.

The most severe cases of scrofula readily yield to Hood's Sarsaparilla, the wonderful blood purifier.

Birch and boxwood spoons to the number of 125,000,000 are made in Hanau annually.

Dyspepsia and sick headache are cured by Hood's Sarsaparilla.

Ayarico in old age, says Cicero, is foolish; for what can be more absurd than to increase our infirmities the nearer we approach our journey's end.

STRANGER THAN FICTION are the records of some of the cures of consumption effected by that unequaled remedy—Dr. Pierce's "Golden Medical Discovery." Thousands of grateful men and women, who have been snatched almost from the very jaws of death, can testify that consumption, in its early stages, is no longer incurable. The Discovery has no equal as a pectoral and alterative, as the most obstinate affections of the throat and lungs yield to its power. All druggist.

The depths of man's misery are not so deep as God's mercy.

Mandolins are now the fashionable "rage," but teachers of it are scarce.

Over two million tons of ice are safely harvested in the ice houses along the Hudson river.

Graveyards wretchedly kept, are reported to be the most conspicuous eyesores of Paterson, N. J.

Weekly rents are said to be indulged to by a Chicago girl, who is 24 years old and weighs 200 pounds.

A Wollinefod (Conn.) man, whose life was saved by a man who found him drowning, presented his rescuer with ten cents.

A lady, which was afterwards identified as that of a clergyman, was found finely imbedded in a cake of floating ice on the Mississippi at St. Louis the other day.

The flood in Boston last week boomed horse car travel there wonderfully. One company running to the inundated district transported the 114,784 cash passengers in a single day.

An order for a farm in Washington county, has been $400 worth to-day on real estate agent there from an Ohio man, who wanted also, if possible, "a wife to keep house, about 27 and 28 years," to go with the farm.

The reverse matters have done a deal of good work this winter in the line of bound and other vessels—in directors, prizes, &c. Never the Church of Pethosny, rendered assistance to wards of forty five vessels.

One of the highest judicial offices of Siam, being recently vacated with accepting a bribe, the young King ordered him to be unfairly dragged at a speed not to exceed ten miles an hour from office. It is not suspected that any investigation was first ordered.

"Sold by Druggists" was written, it is said, by a man who has been a school teacher, journalist and druggist by turns. He is now in the drug business in Orange, N. Y., who was also a Second Lieutenant in a Wisconsin regiment during the war.

Natural gas collected in a rude reservoir, under which it has been struck in lieu of bubules that broke on the surface of a spring, was used in 1831 to illuminate the lighthouse light on Barcelona, N. Y., on Lake Erie, when a port of entry was located there. So says an entry in the dairy of an old gentleman of Jamestown.

An old game was worked in Boston last week on a country couple, who signalled a back to carry them to a place of amusement. Less them a spiced ale. They were ignorant of that fact, however. The driver took them to a station and, after driving his charge about a mile or so, fetched up at the theatre, demanded his fare and got it.

In a suit at Denver, a few days ago, the defendant in a case was asked by the opposing counsel: "What did you pay for this silver mine originally?" "I gave a revolver and $25, sir." "Then you take out any ore?" "No, sir; there was none to take out." "And yet you sold it to the plaintiffs from the East for $20,000? Didn't you deliberately intend to swindle them?" "Oh, no, sir. I thought I was letting them off slightly easy for a couple of men who were going to form a stock company and float out a hundred thousand shares at $100 each on the confiding public."—Wall Street News.

In Bellevue Hospital, New York, there has been for a few days under active medical treatment, Henry Haymond, who is suffering from cancer of the tongue. The present treatment is for the purpose of limiting the progress of the disease and rendering its virulence, so that when the operation of extirpating the tongue takes place there will be less danger of a fatal termination. This case will be watched by the medical profession with interest, as the surgical operation which it is intended to perform is similar to the one which was discussed and finally abandoned in the case of General Grant.

NEW BOOKS

that will be on sale by the Macager in September and throughout the ensuing year:

"Fifty Years and Beyond;" or, Old Age and How to Enjoy It." A book of incalculable value, as well as interest to all who have passed the meridian of life. 400 pages, cloth, $1.00, same in silk edges, $1.50

"Studies in the Genesis; or, Bible Views of the Creation in its Relation to Modern Science," by the Rev. T. G. Steward, D.D., and containing an important chapter on "Christian Evidences," by Bishop Campbell. This is an intensely interesting book, especially to preachers, old or young. It will contain about 250 pages, 12mo, on clear beautiful paper, and sold at the low rate of $1.00. The work is now in press under our own imprint. Orders, $1.00, mailing free.

"Bible Heroes; or, Stories from the Old Testament for Little Folks." Judging by my own children, no parent who would have his children imbued with the heroic spirit of Bible characters, could buy a better book. Our children fattened it at once. Price only 50 cents; by mail, 55 cents; registered, 65 cents.

"A Voice from the Orient." This is a small volume of select sermons by Rev. M. M. Mangasarian, a native Greek, and pastor of the Racing Garden Street Presbyterian Church, of Philadelphia. This is an exceedingly interesting book for reading in leisure hours. Price, 50 cents.

Rev. J. E. Webb has published an excellent Record Book for church stewards and trustees, which contains everything pertaining to their reports and business matters. It is well bound and well arranged. We have seen nothing like it, nor half so convenient, in the book line for years. Price, $1.25. It is just the thing to aid in making correct records. For sale at our Publishing House. Price, $1.25.

The Resurrection of the Redeemed, and Daniel's Seventy Weeks, by Rev. James Inskip, a book of 214 pages of well written matter, well bound in cloth. Price, 50 cents.

Orders for each or all of these works may be sent to us at once. Cash orders only.

OFFER.

To the Ministers and Members of the A. M. E. Church:

1st. We will send free to every minister who will send us his Dollar Money by the 15th of August a gold medal of Bishop Payne and Asbury. Who will be the first to send in the money? for we need it to pay the Bishops and General Officers of the Church and to help the Missionary Cause.

2d. The pastor sending the largest amount of money by the 15th of Aug., 1883, will be given the "Bishop Turner's Book," or Dr. Tanner's "Outlines."

3d. Send in the money soon To Send it to Xenia, Ohio.

4th. Do the best you can to help me. I will do the best I can to help the Connexional dollars this year. Who will be the first to start the ball—the Dollar Ball? Send on the dollars.

5th. Let every minister raise one dollar for me this year. Do not shirk your duty. Try it once in your life.

6th. The Lord's present to every church is the connection that will raise one dollar for each member. We will have a roll of honor for the faithful, and the pastors who will raise one dollar for for from each of his members will be put down on that roll and published to the World in full.

The Bishops and General Officers must be paid.

The Metropolitan Church in Washington must be completed, by order of the General Conference. It is under way now. It will be the grandest church in the connection when complete.

Don't wait for the conference but send in the money to W. Arnett, Xenia, Ohio, as soon as you get it; if it is your duty and faithfulness, we pray you to stand by your own cause.

AGENTS WANTED.

Will our pastors who are not supplied with Recorders by their people please do so by sending for a package? to be sent weekly? If it is too much trouble to send a postal card and request such, or, what is quite as good, a young lady whom you could recommend. Many of those who are now acting as agents are ladies. Let every one help all they can. Send for terms from our workers. Send on your orders. Sell the paper for five cents and send us three cents. Address

J. C. EMBRY, 631 Pine street.

NOTICE

To Secretaries of Annual Conferences.

Dear Brethren:—Please be so kind as to send us immediately, a copy of your last minutes of conference. We have important matters to send out from this office and desire to serve all the ad dressed all the ministers, &c.

WOMEN

Nothing restored strength, or what we offer from the use of BROWN'S IRON BITTERS. Try it.

BROWN'S IRON BITTERS

THE BEST TONIC.

The medicine combines iron with pure vegetable tonics, and in a perfect manner. It will cure dyspepsia, indigestion, biliousness, intermittent fevers, weakness, lack of energy, want of appetite, malaria, chills, and fevers, and is especially recommended for diseases peculiar to females. It will not blacken or injure the teeth, cause headache, or produce constipation—all other iron medicines do. It enriches the blood, strengthens the muscles, nerves, and gives new life to the entire system. For Intermittent Fever, Debility, Kidney and Liver Complaints, Dyspepsia, Indigestion, Headache, Neuralgia, Want of Appetite, Weakness, Lack of Energy, Malaria, Chills and Fevers, Nervousness, Rheumatism, and all diseases requiring a tonic, this medicine has no equal. Be sure you get the genuine. Manufactured only by BROWN CHEMICAL CO., BALTIMORE, MD.

Then we have an excellent book—"Fifty Years and Beyond,"—a charming thing for older people and for those who intend to be old. It sends up—set down—the shining pathway of years with a harp and song. $2.00, postpaid. Must be sold. We have many more, but can't speak of them now.

What we must say

now, is that we are opening a regular campaign for the CHRISTIAN RECORDER. We want two thousand new subscribers, and all the old ones to renew. Now, appreciating the dullness of the times, we have resolved to put the paper within the reach of all, adopting the installment plan.

Installment

costs a little more, but is easier beaune it gives more time. Hence, we make the following offer to all who desire to have the RECORDER:

Send us 25 Cents and we will enroll your name in a special book kept for that purpose and will send you the paper for sixty days; then send us 50 cents, and two months after 50 cents, and two months later 50 cents more. Total, $1.75.

All our Pastors

are Agents for the RECORDER, and are hereby authorized to present this proposition to their people and receive their enrollment fee (25 cents), and give their receipt for the same. [Note.—We will send a few blank slips of receipts to all who will act for us in this matter.]

On this Plan

we give full six months for paying the subscription.

"Pastor's Memorandum Book," by Rev. C. T. Shaffer. Price, 45 cents, no discount. An excellent book.

Be Warned in Time.

Cure your Cough before you are beyond reach of human care or skill. Ayer's Cherry Pectoral, properly administered, is a certain and speedy cure for all Throat and Lung Diseases. It is not a mere syrup, or cheap cough mixture, but a scientific preparation of great merit. For 37 years Ayer's Cherry Pectoral, last spring, for a severe Cough, and for Lung trouble, with good effect. It completely cured me.—Harvey Bingham, Proprietor Globe Hotel, Mt. Gilead, Ohio.

DELAYS ARE DANGEROUS.

After other medicines failed, I was speedily cured of a dangerous Cough by the use of two bottles of Ayer's Cherry Pectoral.—Rev. W. J. Chaplin, Pastor of the West Townsend Church, Chicago, Ill.

About five years ago I suffered from a severe cold, which settled on my lungs, from which I was unable to obtain relief. I was finally persuaded, by a friend, to try Ayer's Cherry Pectoral, and, before taking half a bottle of the medicine, was entirely relieved. Since then I have used it whenever needed, and always with good effect.—Charles Markham, Westfield, Mass.

Ayer's Cherry Pectoral is the best remedy I have ever found for colds and coughs, or for Throat and Lung diseases. I have used it in my family for many years, and always effects speedy cures.—J. C. Driggers, Bainbridge, Ga.

A few years ago I suffered from a severe attack of bronchitis. The disease attended with such violence that I thought would terminate in Pneumonia. After trying various remedies, without relief, I finally prescribed Ayer's Cherry Pectoral, which, in a short time, entirely relieved me.—Lemuel Gibson, Logansport, Ind.

Ayer's Cherry Pectoral,

Prepared by Dr. J. C. Ayer & Co., Lowell, Mass. Sold by Druggists. Price $1; six bottles, $5.

PARSONS' PURGATIVE PILLS

MAKE NEW RICH BLOOD.

These pills were a wonderful discovery. No others like them in the world. Will positively cure by actions all manner of diseases. The tremendous seventh rush here is worth ten times the cost of a box of these pills. Sold everywhere, or send by mail for 25 cts. in stamps. Dr. J. S. Johnson & Co., 13 Co. St., Boston.

"GENESIS RE-READ,"

By Rev. T. G. Steward, D.D.

A great Scientifico-Religious Book, Orthodox, but Sparkling and Progressive. Two hundred and fifty pages crammed full of fact and thought. Beautifully printed, elegantly bound. The best book in all respects ever put out by our Publishing House. Read some of the golden laurels it is winning from the secular press of our own conservative sity:

The Times notes it thus:

Another explanation of the creation of the world and of the Bible account of it has been published in a book entitled Genesis Re-Read, by T. G. Steward, D.D. The work claims to give the latest conclusions of science, and emanates from the A. M. E. Book Rooms, 631 Pine street.

The Record says:

In Genesis Re-Read Dr. T. G. Steward examines the latest conclusions of physical science in their relation to the Mosaic record. Of course the book is orthodox, though Dr. Steward believes that the world is not exactly reacting a direct creation, although he does not evidently deny such a theory. He is moderate and its plea for mutual consideration on the part of the Christian and the scientist is be honestly supported that it will not fail to commend itself to a wide and educated community of readers.

The Inquirer says:

The Mosaic history of the creation and the great events in the world's early history are here examined in the light of modern science. The work is done skillfully, and evidently by a man who is both a Christian and scientist. The conclusion is that there is no necessary conflict between the Bible and the discoveries of science, but that both may be harmonized without infringing the integrity of the one or questioning the authority of the other. It is a book that will be read with interest by all who have been puzzled and troubled by the apparent conflict between science and religion.

The Methodist says:

This book contains a summary of the latest conclusions of physical science in their relations to the Mosaic record. There is not a dull page to it. The writer gives evidence throughout of a devout spirit, and is reverential to such a work and of intimate acquaintance with leading writers. His own views are clearly set forth, and in a fine spirit of moderation and candor. He is not bitter in his criticisms, but yet not afraid to express his opinions. He is a clear thinker, and has a style of great purity and force. He is not afraid to call things by their right names, and yet he is courteous and considerate. The publication is timely, and the book will be read with interest by many.

TRUSTEES.

If there is any one question towering above all others in the A. M. E. Church to-day, it is the question of putting an end to the multitude of troubles arising from the conduct of the trustees in many of our most influential congregations throughout the connection. That these ruinous troubles are not confined to any one special locality or State, above that the difficulty is general one and must be made the subject of careful study, that their treatment may be effective and final. We could wish we had the time to mark out definitely the principle underlying the functions of trustees in the Methodist churches. This would require some research and more space than can be given here. We purpose, however, during the ensuing season, to give the subject thorough study and full treatment. Suffice it to say here and now that in almost every case which has come to our notice of conflict between the trustees and the pastor, or higher authorities of the Church, these officers—ARE THEY, STRICTLY SPEAKING, OFFICERS AT ALL?—have acted upon a total misapprehension of their true functions and rights. Let us outline a little. The fundamental principle is the organic structure of Methodism, as also of the Episcopal, Catholic and Presbyterian churches, is UNITY. Everything else, whether of official rights or administrative functions, is subordinate to this unity, from the Bishop down. 2. The theory of our Church existence is that Christ sends forth his ministers, they call the people and organize the church. 3. At the head of the ministry in the Episcopal Church is the Bishop. 4. In authorizing these ministers in his official capacity, he represents the whole Church—the whole denominational unit. 5. Thus authorized, their right to minister to people in morals and religion and to administer the sacred ordinances, cannot be questioned except on grounds of immorality or doctrinal heresy. Next to the pastor in administration comes the stewards. Class leaders are the subordinate agents only. Last of all come the trustees. Concerning these excellent brethren we are ready to debate the question whether they are officers at all. In the attempt of the Church to protect them such, with but little function, they are in some cases, by misconception of duty or rights, creating a larger function for themselves by turning the pastors out of doors, defying the Bishops and destroying churches that have required years of painful toil to build. In conclusion of these observations, we affirm with candor that in many cases these brethren are only the agents and not the cause of our troubles. In some cases they have doubtless been unnecessarily irritated; in others, misled by designing preachers and stimulated by hungry lawyers, they have plunged into the abyss without at all foreseeing the destruction that would follow.

But what remedies are available? a.) Define more clearly and fully the duties and rights of these officers. b.) Change the method of their appointment, and make them responsible to the quarterly conference with power of suspension or removal. Or, lastly, and as we believe best of all, authorize the incorporation of the quarterly conference itself, including always the regularly appointed pastor. This done, with power to appoint a committee for secular administration, with rigidly defined and limited powers, will save our Church from slow disintegration through the virulence or violence of local conflicts with boards of trustees. Again we repeat, this is an evil that is becoming too widespread. It must be sought for and eradicated. Meanwhile, we warn our dear brethren that no class of men in Church or State will be long tolerated as disturbers of the peace. Noise and clamorous professions of love for the "rights of the people," may befog them for awhile, but sooner or just a little later they will dig out the real disturbers and bring them to a righteous overthrow and degradation. Many a king, becoming a constant disturber, has lost both his head and his throne. J. C. E.

OUR TRIP TO WILBERFORCE.

Leaving Philadelphia Friday night, February 20th, after the refreshing Sabbath concert and while the Philadelphia winds were blowing a gale, we reached Wilberforce University about 10 o'clock Saturday night, and at 1:30, after a wholesome chat with the Rev. Dr. Arnett, whose late-string we always feel outside, we put in a genuine cold time Wilberforce night's rest Secretary Arnett as minister, Financial Secretary and legislator, is busy always, but oceterious always. There is probably more literature written by colored men and women to be found at Dr. Arnett's than any where else.

The Faculty of Wilberforce University are engaged in moulding the young American mind with the sems degree of sanidcity and purity that have recommended Wilberforce to her patrons in the past. Wilberforce is to be edited so by the signs of the sobis army of the mse and womse who are struggling for the highest attainments of good mee and women. There is a subject for study in that institution worthy of the best minds. Wilberforce is connected with no wealthy coestituency. Its state has never here obove want. It has bot a meagre sodowment fond. Its chief support in all respects must come from the people but highly sogiatsted all with the demands of edeatiinal institutiens; yet for twenty-two years its work has progressed and has never lost oasis. There is not a ceamosity of colored persons in the State that, with those most able to judge, holds a more promioeot and respectable place respecting township, county or State, than the Wilberforce commeoity. There is no other seatinsoun scheme of edeoation for colored men and by colored men in the States nearly equal to it. This we say, aware of the fact that color does oot appear in mentality; yet, also aware that in the problem of which every colored man is a coestituent element, identity or color will be, is, and is likely to maintain organization by means of which to perpetuate and develop great principles must be of inestimable value. The confidence of the people is Wilberforce and those who control it is large. Mr. A. D. Mayo has spoken of it in comparison with a school with which he was intimately connected, and which is not a "colored" school, as being well "kept." The late Judge Mills, of Ohio, wrote a book in which he characterized Wilberforce University as the second institution in the county. The Rev. Dr. McMeardy, of the Protestant Episcopal Church, in an article to a prominent paper, pronounced it one of the best governed schools in the State. With these commeodations are many in the line of worke of students at Wilberforce. The authorities of the institution are trying to secore State support for the normal department. The State of Ohio would reap rich returns from an appropriation to this school.

We met many prominent men and their families at Wilberforce, Xenia and Columbus, Ohio's capital. Chaoeing to be in Xenia just when the University's Executive Board was in session, we realized with them. The Board is composed of Bishop J. A. Shorter, Chairmee; Rev. B. W. Arnett, D.D., Vice Chairman; C. S. Maxwell, LL.B., Counsellor at Law; W. H. Dixon, Esq., Secretary of the best business men of Springfield, O.; J. H. Blackwell, M.D., principal of Xenia colored schools; Rev. J. P. Maxwell, Secretary of Wilberforce University, and Rev. S. T. Mitchell, A.M., President of Wilberforce University. At the University we met Prof. J. Shorter A.M., one of our most successful instructors in mathematics and treasurer of the University; Rev. T. H. Jackson, D.D., the orator of our Wilberforce's theological graduates, one of the best Hebrew scholars in the connection and vice president of the University Faculty; Prof. W. S. Scarborough, LL.D., the polished classical scholar, also Miss Church, principal of the Normal Department and professor of the natural sciences and modern languages, and Miss A. H. Jones, lady principal. In Xenia the Rev. G. H. Graham, one of the most eloquent and justly honored ministers of the connection, to pastor of the A. M. E. Church, and the Revs. Bailey and Meredith, pastore of the two Baptist churches. There are besides these a Christian church and a Wesley church among the colored Xenians.

The High School of Xenia has graduated some excellent young people, between whom and the students of Wilberforce University there could be much more profitable association than pertains. The teachers in the colored schools of Xenia are competent, some of them of a high order. They seem to be in full accordage of every foolish men, to say nothing of those of every bad man, is every Christian organization, could regulate the support of generous Christians, even as Mr. Peabody would fall to draw upon Boston's "liberty-loving commeocialty." The Advocate's logis is of a piece with that of as orobsage that reasoned that the A. M. E. Church is the two grave States of sof thick well of a certain Bishop because one church out of six headred or seven more refused to receive him: that the M. E. Church in those given States did think well of that certain Bishop; because one of its churches did open its doors to him. This species of reasoning is first-class for failures, but it is either to be referred to a spirit very ignorant or very mischievous when used for the only purpose that appears on the face of the presumulations of the Southwestern editor.

THE PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE extraordinary to the Senate, seems not to have lessened the difficulty in the question at issue between our fellow citizens and the chief branch of the legislative department. The address of the President seems more of stubbornness than of discretion. But it must be remembered that it is not the easiest among possible things to rush a case to its discreet. The sootest between these two departments has not been characterised by the most excellent marks of good feelings and of anxiety to have the government run smoothly.

THE REVIVAL SERVICES at Bethel Church, Philadelphia, have closed with about seventy conversions.

Personal.

—Mr. Walter Thomas, who has for several years been prominent in Ohio politics, is chief clerk in the Department of State.

—Mr. Cornelius Ford, son of Mr. John Ford, a first class farmer of Green county, O., died November 17th. Mr. Ford was a student of Wilberforce University.

—Rev. R. M. Cheeks has our thanks for photograph of the interior of the Selma, Ala., church, taken after the anniversary exercises of Bishop Arnett's birthday.

—Principals Washington, of the Tuskegee School and Connelli, of the Huntsville School, Ala., were in the city last week in the interest of their respective schools, which they report in very fair condition.

—The Rev. T. A. Thompson, D.D. pastor of St. Paul A. M. E. Church, Columbus, O., has a glorious revival, nearly two hundred conversions. Dr. Thompson sticks close to his pastoral work and magnifies his office.

—Mr. William G. Thompose, son of Rev. Walter Thompose of the New Jersey Conference, died Tuesday, February 23. Mr. Thompose left the Rev. Conman Office, where he had been an employe a long while, in fall.

—President Clavalsad has appointed Mr. James C. Matthews, of Albany, to succeed Mr. Frederick Douglass as Register of Deeds in the District of Columbia. The appointment is well received generally. Mr. Matthews is said to be an efficient and democratic gentleman

Literature.

The March number of the Pansy is as bright and winning as its flower-name sake. It has good serials from Pansy herself and from Margaret Sidney, while every branch of good reading is represented, history, natural science, travel, behavior and morals, all in the most entertaining style. Pansy is only ten cents a number. D Lothrop & Co., Boston, Mass.

A PLEA FOR PURITY.

PREACHED IN BETHEL A. M. E. CHURCH, WYTHEVILLE, VA., SUNDAY, FEBRUARY 14TH, 1886.

BY REV. WM H MORRIS, A. M.

"Thou shalt not commit adultery."—Exodus 20, 14.

"For this is the will of God, even your sanctification, that ya should abstain from fornication."—1 Thes, 4, 3

Human depravity becomes more and more appraised and its degradation more conspicuous and deplorable as nations and ages are separately and annually the distance between us and everywhere surround us. Since the fatal day when the first murmurer of our race disobeyed the divine command, man has persistently and wilfully desire sd to banish purity and morality from the earth. The Board of some of the earlier nations is defaced by people and the retions of the prevalence of barbarity and vice. There are no more striking proofs of its suppression and the violators of them, when convicted, receive the ultimate penalty by stoning. Even the daughter of a priest, when proved guilty of this crime, was publicly subjected to death. But these severe punishments did not check the evil. It increased and acotil every land was invaded and infected by it. God next resorted to message and exposulation by the mouth of the prophets. He arose in judgment to bring back the people from their evil doings; but they wallowed in the mire of licentiousness and vice, and in some time they sank deeper and deeper in debauchery, they made it a principal feature of their religion. The worship of Jahovah was discarded and as they drove him out of their land, he left them to work out their own destruction through lust and uncleanness.

It is notoriously true that the systems of religion which originate in the philosophical minds of men, are characterized by prominence to this iniquity. The Mohammedan religion, which largely prevails in northern and central Africa, in Turkey and a small portion of Asia, retains these doctrines. Their inspired permits and recommends its followers to promiscuous sexual intercourse. The leaders and instructors in the famous schools of antiquity taught much that was calculated to corrupt the morals and designed to elevate the people, but what was the status of their morals? The Grecians, with all their refinement and exuberance of learning, with their marvellous works of art, the remains of which, even in our day, astonish and delight the privileged few, with all these combined the temple Venus, where liged one thousand priestesses of the vile business was to grant voluptuous indulgence to any applicant. Woman, whom God created to cheer and comfort man and to be his associate and companion, was by Roman custom and noble position the Creator assigned her and which he intends her to occupy till time shall be no more. She is not the isolated case, for it was not uncommon for idolatrous, when erecting their temples and setting up their gods, to make full provision for the enjoyment of illicit pleasures.

When our Lord Jesus came into the world fornication was prevalent and the common people did not protest against it; it had long been tolerated, yea, encouraged, approved Reading attestatively the Acts of the Apostles and the several epistles to the churches which they established and nourished, we observe that the Apostles were constantly on which they exhorted their converts to keep themselves pure. The apostles and elders met at Jerusalem to consider and decide the question whether it was necessary to circumcise the Gentile Christians who lived in Antioch. rendered a negative decision; but to that city prostitution was so common that the Council was specially particular to enjoin them to abstain from fornication. In his epistle to the saints at Rome, St. Paul, in forceful language, describes the appalling wickedness of that city. "Even their women," he says, "did change the natural use of the body into that which is against nature; and likewise also the men, leaving the natural use of the women, burned one toward another, men with men working that which is unseemly, being filled with fornication." To the Church at Corinth he wrote, "It is reported that there is fornication among you, and such fornication as is not so much as named among the Gentiles, that one should have his father's wife." To the Church at Corinth, the sin-stricken city of Greece, the foulest city in that region, he sent paternal greeting and gave pastoral warning. To the Church at Ephesus, the city which contained the magnificent temple of the goddess Diana, he wrote, "Fornication, let it not be once named among you as becometh saints, for you know that no whoremonger hath any inheritance in the kingdom of Christ and of God." He also wrote similar instruction to the brethren at Colosse. The contagion of this plague pervaded all ranks of society and its presence was so familiar that Christ found it necessary to warn the people against it. Solomon, the wisest man, whose wife was hopelessly learned, and who erected idols to the gods that she would undoubtedly speed the time when she would be called to give an account of her life in the judgment, she having been there many years. But he was not unnoticed and a few weeks later he led another to the altar of matrimonial altar and promised to love her and cherish her through life. His body died of barlotry was washed with gold, and his beautiful head was sanctified by said Christian law.

Much has been said on public platforms and published in certain newspapers about the slavery of marriage and the right of election of every Lord's free subject against and world-be subverters of liberty have set themselves up as leaders and champions of the rights of men and pioneers of a new era—the age of free love. Thousands of young men and women whose nerves and muscular systems were irremediably shattered by the indulgence of their evil passions, whose return to usefulness and respectability was impossible, if not impossible. Diseases that must be sensed within the body loose sense their wretched frame and, are seat to regist their defrauded strength, they succumb and fall victims to premature decay and the graves. Others partially regain their health and strength, but their days are like an puny, delicate, sensitive and often feeble-minded; and this transmission of evil entails upon the innocent offspring the most horrible. We should not, we must not, we dare not shrink from the task with an earnestness born of a sense of responsibility and sustained by the pestiferous influence of the gentle, steadfast Spirit, blasted characters, ruined homes, murdered reputations and lost souls. In the ranks of these outcasts are found the deliar, infidel and sensitive to declare the whole counsel of God? Shall timidity or sinful modesty seal a vow to the lips of our lips? Or this subject the holy prophets spoke and which were penned by the Holy Ghost; concerning it St. Paul said to the holy apostles cried aloud day and night and withheld not their peace.

In the name of our most holy Redeemer I would point our ministry and laity, yea, the entire Church to the ghastly mytiad of shameless proofs that who sightly walk the streets of a Christian city and in the midst of gaiety and reckless men in perdition, and every one of the multitudes of men are the willing, lustful agents of these seeshanting slayers. Should it be supposed that the fearful pictures of licentiousness drawn by the pens of profane writers are colored people, I have base to rip you of your delusion. If the supposition were true we would remember that many prefer obscurity and do not, therefore feast themselves or their nefarious business.

Our annual conferences found schools and seminary colleges at a fatally rapid and monstrously faster a disproportioned development of morality among our people. Nearly, or quite, all the States make annual appropriation of funds for the education of all their children and their borders, and the number of schools is constantly increasing, with the sole purpose of making intelligent citizens but the Church, the holy of Christ, is the only institution that can successfully and authoritatively grapple with and master the deadly issues or totally extirpate this subtle destroyer of nations.

Neither pride or folly should induce us to deny the salutary and fortunate the sons-like legacy of slavery, are the earnest, devout and honest endeavors of other relicves of our common country and alarmingly so in out of the way places. But let us not screen or spare those without hope, for although the Christian religion is a deeply rooted and widely spread, it is not incurable. With a pure, conscerous and faithful ministry, seconded by the prayerful co-operation of sympathetic women and reinforced by the gentle and beautiful consecration of the subject by the annual conference, the Great Physician of souls who healeth all diseases will raise the fallen, deliver them from the bondage of corruption and lustful sin, and make them meet for the inheritance of the saints in everlasting light. Beloved brethren, let us lift up our hearts unto the Lord to-day, sleths thy ministers with power, help thy people to complete the work unto us pray, through thy most precious blood. Amen.

Once more we humbly call attention to the fact that we have been appealed to you to help us in January last to lift a part of the burdensome debt on Bethel Church. We did not forsee the bard, bitter weather we should have in January, but this we did, clear down to the gulf. At the time appeals were sent down in Georgia and South Carolina, and we then how lively it was even a week down there. Nevertheless we folded our hands and heart dripping from the moistened eye, and bar trembled expressed our sense of sympathy for the labors of deep fear and for the la- doing a great and good work.

Miss M. E. Church, our lady teacher of the sciences, was present and assisted in the examination of pupils. It is a thing the fears of the young ladies on such an occasion. Miss Church's love for them made it hard to work in the room as the widows were not allowed to be present for a few minutes, but when the others, but became they are their own'.

Leighton.

Parents should teach their children all obedience to their welfare.

"Train up your children in the way me commandments" is the will which God has revealed to us through the holy word. Have they been brought to grief sad by their own wife, and how? Is it not? They cannot succeed for the wayward-sees of children for whom they have not prayed. Could a child be converted without prayer? Possibly they cannot recall a single occasion when the father pointed out to his son the heinousness of fornication and the preventive and remedy for it. Their whole information," we may call it, took consolidate, "let every man have his own wife, and let every woman have her own husband." And there are comparatively few parents who discharge their duties to their daughters that they may not be drawn into this whirlpool of licentiousness. Some parents think they have escaped dishonor but for parental unfaithfulness. The warning voice of the fireside might have been an effectual barrier to the assaults and temptations of the world.

If has been repeatedly asked, What shall be done to resist and check the awful spread of this evil? The enactment of laws to permit and restrict the social evil to suppress because such measures do not direct the source of the demoralization, nor to the sad—eternal fate of the unconscerated sinner. Laws can be used as bome seaching, faithful, prayerful preaching, and the organization of the prises and the feneding of homes for the fallen used homes for the fallen. Let us, as a people, learn from Christian hearts speaks words of love to the unfortunate fail the Church can down, they are not forsaken. Encouragement and sympathy are sustained by confidence in the sincerity of their friends, the tear of penitence is shed, and the broken heart is healed, and they receive to reform by the assistance of Him to a pure life. Prayer in every time of need. Grailfully members have been reclaimed by such exposuding those scriptores which are the power of God unto salvation to the tiect classes. Fallest coolisseaon in well acting, even under discouragement, has received the attention and the approval and friends, and many have been closes. Let us, then, be encouraged in reformation and reseeing of the Holy Ghost.

Thanks be to the Great Head of the Church that in the midst of the general Methodist Episcopal Church to incorporate the Epworth League, and the brief literty. Every Sunday her pastors, before sermon see congregations, and the Ten Commandments and the people reverently standing—it were well if the whole congregation did so—and audibly acknowledge their sinfulness and resew

NOTICE.

A NEW DEPARTURE IN THE RECORDER SALES BUSINESS.

On and after September 1st, all agencies for RECORDER will be made anew and on a different plan, indicated below. Present agents must settle in full up to the last issue in August, which will be on the 27th. Our new rules will be as follows: 1st. On appointing an agent he or she must sign a written contract binding each to sell and return one-half of the sales money to us monthly and to make a full settlement of all sales at the end of every three months. 2nd. All papers should be carefully preserved and reported with each settlement and held subject to our orders. They must be counted, bound and returned to us when required. 3rd. Such agents will be allowed one-third of each annual subscription they obtain for the paper at $1.50 per year, they retaining fifty cents and sending us a set on dollar. Or, they can take subscriptions for one installment plan, collecting 30 cents in advance every two months, and sending us 20 cents.

These rules will be strictly applied to all except regular Baptist ministers. We are compelled to do this for the protection of the Department against severe loss. We have about two hundred and sixty thousand copies annually. Two-fifths, or one hundred and four thousand copies are sent out to agents. On this number we lose from $1,200 to $1,500 year. Believing that all our brethren will favor us with the most prompt assistance of this great loss, we have resolved on the above rules. Please read them, note well and prepare to settle at once.

NOTA.—Those new agreements will be furnished in blank as soon as they become or continue agents after September 1st.

ADVICE TO MOTHERS.

Mrs. WINSLOW'S SOOTHING SYRUP should always be used for children teething. It soothes the child, softens the gums, allays all pain; cures wind colic, and is the best remedy for diarrhœa. Twenty-five cents a bottle.

Proctor agrees that every celestial body must at some time pass through a life-supporting period.

NOTICE OF EXEMPTION FROM DUTY.

An act approved by the President, from practice, barring that part of Section 2504 of the Revised Statutes of 1874 the payment of duty on all articles imported free of duty and purchased or used exclusively for the benefit of Hospitals, Colleges, Asylums and all Charitable and Eleemosynary Institutions, and for the use of Societies for Religious Worship and all Sales on Commission, for the benefit of such institutions, has been extended to the Parsonages of Churches. It is my duty to make it known to the suffering ladies of Philadelphia that I have received a license to collect and bring, I will send free of charge, to all who desire it, a package of Dr. Tanner's "Outfit." Full directions for preparing and using. Send for circular. Address, Mrs. DR. TANNER, 1229 Arch St., or Box W, 2, Station D, Post Office, Philadelphia, Pa.

Bodily exercise greatly increases the activity of the lungs. It cannot, therefore, be too highly prized in which system, unless carried on to pure air.

Catarrh and Bronchitis Cured.

A clergyman in this city after suffering from that loathsome disease, Catarrh, and vainly trying every known remedy, at last found a prescription which completely cured and saved him from the grave. Any sufferer sending a self-addressed envelope to Rev. JOSEPH T. INMAN, Station D, New York City, will receive the recipe free of charge.

Prof. Lingley's researches have led him to conclusions which imply that, if in the absence of all absorbing matter from the earth would receive sufficient heat from the sun to melt an ice sheet a mile one hundred and eighty feet deep over all the globe's entire surface.

BORSFORD'S ACID PHOSPHATE.

EXCELLENT RESULTS.

Dr. J. L. Willis, Eliot, Me., says: "Horsford's Acid Phosphate gives most excellent results."

"AS GOOD AS NEW,"

are the words used by a lady, who was at one time given up by the most eminent physicians as incurable, and left to die. Reduced to a mere skeleton, pale and haggard, she, who to-day has her health, from all these distressing ills, is enjoying, as to suffering females, Shebagan taking Dr. Pierce's "Favorite Prescription," and also using the local treatments recommended by him, and is now, she says, "as good as new." Price reduced to one dollar. By druggists.

A doctor who has had much experience in treating the insane says that persons who have become insane from brain fag, or from disturbing gas will usually revive after the administration of a few drops of acetic ether in water.

Warming pans are seldom seen now, but in olden times they were held an important article of the household outfit. They were handsomely ornamented, and made frequent mention of, and sometimes trimmed with gold. Pepys presented Capt. Beckford "with a noble silver warming-pan" in 1663.

A gentleman who owned a cask of sweet wine placed it in an empty cellar, in order to allow it to ferment. Later when he went for it years after, it had risen from the floor to the ceiling, having been transformed into vinegar by the shoulders of the fungi, with which plants the apartment was filled.

Electricity has been employed in cut coal in some of the mines in Illinois. The cutting is described as done by a chisel at the end of a bar which is attached to a piston of soft iron in the middle of a cylindrical coil of insulated wire; and the desired reciprocating motion is given to the chisel by reversing the current in the coils.

NEW BOOKS

that will be on sale by the Manager in September and throughout the coming Year!

"Fifty Years and Beyond"; or, Old Age and How to Enjoy It." A book of incalculable value, as well as interest to all who have passed the meridian of life. 400 pages, cloth, $1.00, same in gilt edges, $1.50.

"Bible Heroes"; or, Stories from the Old Testament for Little Folks." Judging by my own children, no parent who would have his children imbued with the heroic spirits of Bible characters, could buy a better book. Our children devoured it at once Price only 50 cents; by mail, 55 cents; registered, 60 cents.

"A Voice from the Orient" This is a small volume of select sermons by Rev. M. MacGregor, a native Greek, and pastor of the Spring Garden Street Presbyterian Church, of Philadelphia. The is an exceedingly interesting book for reading in leisure hours. Price, $1.00.

Rev J. E. Webb has published an excellent Record Book for deacons, boards and trustee, with blanks for everything pertaining to their reports and proceedings in their meetings. It is well bound and well arranged. We have seen nothing like it, for we have many on hand but they have lost the charm of old.

Since I have come to God all my prayers are answered.—Mrs. Partington.

UPPER.

To the Ministers and Members of the A. M. E. Church:

1st. We will give to every minister who will send us his Dollar Recorder by the 15th of August a gold medal of Bishops Payne and Asbury. Who will be the first to send in the money? For we need it to pay the Bishops and General Officers of the Church and to help the Metropolitan Church.

2d. The pastor sending the largest amount of money by the 15th of Aug., 1885, I will give him "Bishop Turner's Book," or Dr. Tanner's "Outlines."

3d. Send in the money soon! Send it to Xenia, Ohio.

4th. Do the best you can to help me.

5th. We must have seventy-five thousand dollars this year. Who will be the first to start the ball—the Dollar Ball? Send on the dollars.

6th. Let every minister raise one dollar for each member this year. Try it once in your life!

7th. I will give a present to every church in the connection that will raise one dollar for each member. We will have a roll of honor and usefulness, and the pastors who will raise one dollar for or from each of his members will be placed on the roll of honor published in the Budget of 1886.

8th. Bishops and General Officers must be paid.

The Metropolitan Church in Washington must be completed, by order of the General Conference. It is under way to do so. Help us in the grandest church in the connection when completed.

Don't wait for the conference but send the money to B. W. Arnett, Xenia, O., as soon as you can. Xenia is small, send it anyway. Small amounts help in work.

In vain you [illegible],
B. W. ARNETT,
Wilberforce, Ohio.

NOTE TO AGENTS SELLING THE RECORDER.

On and after the 1st of June, agents selling 10 copies and over will be charged 2½ cents a copy, (two cents and a half); less than ten copies, 3 cents.

All agents now selling and in arrears for more than one month will be charged after June 11th. After that all must settle the first of each month.

More than $400 due us to day on RECORDER sales alone. We shall sift out agents next week.

Now, dear friends and brethren, help us. We are endeavoring to do the best work with energy and faithfulness, we pray you to stand by your own cause.

AGENTS WANTED.

Will our pastors who are not supplying the RECORDER to their people, please do so by sending for a package to be sent on sale. It will be no more trouble to you, encourage some young man or boy, or girl to quite a good, young lady whom you can could recommend. Many of those who are now selling are quite young. Let every one take hold of this. Let us bear from our workers. Send on orders and sell the paper for five cents and sends the money to us at once.

PROCLAIM THE GLAD TIDINGS! SCIENCE HAS CONQUERED!

RHEUMATISM

MUST GO! WE OFFER TO THOSE AFFLICTED WITH THIS DREAD DISEASE

THE RUSSIAN RHEUMATISM CURE

IT IS CERTAIN! IT IS SURE! IT IS INFALLIBLE!

WITHOUT HESITATION, WE STAKE OUR REPUTATION ON THE CURE.

READ! We have lived in Philadelphia 20 years; we have a large business and are known to every prominent business man in the city. We expect to stay here the balance of our lives. We knew it would be useless to attempt to PALM OFF some WOR HLESS STUFF as a POSITIVE CURE FOR RHEUMATISM!

But thousands in Europe have used our Remedy. We have seen them cured, the lame made to walk, the helpless strong. We have tried hundreds of cases in this country, and its unparalleled success warrants the foregoing statements. Every SUFFERER FROM RHEUMATISM who applied to us for this REMEDY, was CURED by our RUSSIAN RHEUMATISM REMEDY. It is this knowledge that leads us to unhesitatingly stake Our REPUTATION! Our NAME! Our TIME! Our MONEY! on this Cure.

READER! REASON AND REFLECT! What would be the result of spending thousands upon thousands of dollars, and risking our good name in advertising and introducing in the United States, a medicine that would not cure? YOU KNOW WE WOULD FAIL. Reasoning men must be convinced that sufferers with RHEUMATISM can be relieved.

THEN WHY DO YOU SUFFER? ORDER A RUSSIAN RHEUMATISM CURE.

BEWARE OF IMITATIONS. The unquestionable result of the Cure will no doubt cause an army of Imitators. Guard against them by looking on every BOX for the TRADE MARK.

NONE GENUINE UNLESS THEY BEAR THIS TRADE-MARK — RUSSIAN TRADE MARK. RHEUMATISM CURE. — NONE GENUINE UNLESS THEY BEAR THIS TRADE-MARK

As yet we have not perfected arrangements for placing the CURE in the Drug Stores. Until we do so, it can only be obtained on application in person, or by letter to us,

Manager's Notes.

We have on hand the Revised Version of the Bible, just issued from the press. Two styles, $1 and $2 per copy. We want to sell them now. Please order them. Beautiful paper, clear type and most interesting reading. You never saw so clearly the meaning of many things as you will find in this new old Book!

Wakefield's Theology, the standard theological text book, adopted by the Bishops for the course of study. $2.50 by mail at your risk; $2.25 by express. Please order them. They are here and must be sold.

Then we have an excellent book—"Fifty Years and Beyond,"—a charming thing for older people and for those who intend to be old. It sends up—not down—the shining pathway of years with a harp and song. $2.00, postpaid. Must be sold. We have many more, but can't speak of them now.

What we must say now, is that we are opening a regular campaign for the CHRISTIAN RECORDER. We want two thousand new subscribers, and all the old ones to renew. Now, appreciating the dullness of the times, we have resolved to put the paper within the reach of all, adopting the installment plan.

Installment

costs a little more, but is easier because it gives more time. Hence, we make the following offer to all who desire to have the RECORDER:

Send us 25 Cents and we will enroll your name in a special book kept for that purpose and will send you the paper for sixty days; then send us 50 cents, and two months after 50 cents, and two months later 50 cents more. Total, $1.75.

All our Pastors are Agents for the RECORDER, and are hereby authorized to present this proposition to their people and receive their enrollment fee (25 cents), and give their receipt for the same. [Note.—We will send a few blank slips of receipts to all who will act for us in this matter.]

On this Plan we give full six months for paying the subscription.

"Pastor's Memorandum Book," by Rev. C. T. Shaffer. Price, 45 cents, no discount. An excellent book.

WORKS OF JOHN BUNYAN

Containing the Pilgrim's Progress, The Holy War, Grace Abounding, The Resurrection Morning, The Barren Fig Tree, The Saint's Privilege, The Water of Life and the Barren Fig Tree. With a life of Bunyan by Rev. Dr. Cheever, and an Essay by James Montgomery. Illustrated with 100 engravings on wood and a steel portrait. Large quarto, 704 pages, cloth, $1.50. Postage 30c. extra.

Nearly every household in the Protestant world has a copy of Bunyan's Pilgrim's Progress, but few have a copy of his complete works, illustrated and colored by cross and superstitious ideas as we presume most. To such, the full gloss system, instead of presenting a simple worship, was no more than a vague and confused idea, a jumble of all beauty or grandeur save that which characterized their munificent shrines and temples.

A striking counterpart might also be drawn between the Jews, Israel, Isaac, Jacob, Moses and Joseph, Silo and Pentecost, Ra, Shu and Hesaire, without being extravagant in the least. But we have not held such the foremost place in his own town or city. For this fact the geographical arrangement of the book takes account on the one hand, while on the other it was necessary to the district location of primitive deities.

There is a further resemblance in these systems of worship in the establishment of chief and minor divinities, the symbolic names employed in their representation, the respective places they held in the public mind and in the worship of those nations holding them. In respect to costly festivals, magnificent temples and worship some resemblance is manifest might be noted. It may not be out of place to thank you for the gift of the Egyptians, however, it seems to have been a more finely rooted prejudice of faith and practice. It became from their "Hall of the Two Truths." Even in the days of forty-two god monuments and Osiris the soul was judged. If the good deeds preponderated, the soul was allowed to enter a state of blessedness, to the abodes of Osiris, conducted by a host of the gods to treat. With the Assyro-Babylonians, as with all religionists, we find two orders of beings, the benevolent and the unenlightened, or the higher and the lower classes. The former, though manifold in form and personification, is the same divine Being who was strictly monotheistic. Behind its mythology and symbolic structure of any nation a philosophic public could easily discern a personification of its highest principle, and the created nature considered as inspired. This is equally true of the religious system of the Jews. The Bible, the enlightened priests nor cultured worshippers were ever tempted to form ideas regarding the multitudinous divers ties as individual representations of the Holy Spirit and layman were believers in the one Indivisible Being, and knew that whether they were prostrate before the Ba Shu or Her, the streams of their devotion terminated in the one Supreme Ear of the Infinitely Supreme. But with the unenlightened it was quite different, their worship resembled the Babylonians and the Egyptians. Among the lower orders of Babylonians, the colored by gross and superstitious ideas were predominant

PHILADELPHIA, MARCH 18, 1886

THE "A. M. E. CHURCH REVIEW."

MY DEAR DR. LEE:—Will you be kind enough to say that the forthcoming number of the "Church Review," April, will be delayed, probably a fortnight. The occasion is, I was necessarily detained in Florida. The object of this notice is to save our subscribers the trouble of writing.

Fraternally,
H. T. TANNER.

THE LABORERS IN EARNEST.

From the interest manifested by lyceum, pastors, presiding elders and Bishops, there seems to be little doubt of Secretary Townsend's realizing his hopes on, or about, Easter. This is the awakening, as it has not done on any other occasion, on this subject. There seems to be a desire to avoid the necessity of scattered and scattering efforts for collect moneys here and there, and by this one and that one of our African work, while the Church cannot really feel to have as African work after all. All the springs will be dried up to all African taps, excepting those of the Board of Missions; in these they will yield a living stream, so that in the fall Bishop Cain will be fully able to go forward in the establishment of a mission work in Africa in the name of Christ by means of the A. M. E. Church. This determination must be raised to the key of $10,000 by April 25. The Lord help us to succeed.

THE SUNDAY SCHOOL QUARTERLIES.

Secretary Smith has issued the Teachers' Quarterly and the Scholars' Quarterly for our Sunday schools. This is a big statement of a big, cheap deed. Many thousands of dollars annually flow from our Church sad Sunday school coffers to the enrichment of the coffers of publishing houses of other denominations and individuals simply because we have not what we should in our coffers. Now, we have the quarterlies, we must sustain them. No prejudice towards any one connected with a department, no previous failure of any department in dealing with us, should ward us off from our own interest in this case. There is a large place for the use of money in all religious movements; hence churches have departmental arrangements for circulating their funds under their own supervision and uniform regularly as possible. Loyalty to ourselves suggests that no Sunday school make another order for quarterlies with any other publisher but the Rev. C. S. Smith, Nashville, Tenn.

THE REUNION.

In an exchange we have noticed an article by Bishop Disney headed, "There is no B. M. E. Church." We also see that the editor of the Atlantic Monitor, a Baptist paper of New York, having visited Canada, and having a brother in the Methodist church in Chatham, declares that the whole matter, so far as it appears to the colored men, seems to rest upon veracity. The Southern Leader has also made some comment on the subject by no means flattering to parties concerned. The Treasurer of the Church, Bishop Shaw, an article, which was published in the New York paper, to the effect that there was not a proper straightforwardness in the process of forming the union. Four or five months later we published a note from Bishop Disney stating an anxiety to get hold of that Chatham article. We cried him to Bishop Payne. Subsequently the Sunday School Review accommodated the Bishop with a presentation of the Chatham article for the Bishop's benefit. Bishop Disney says there is no "B. M. E. Church," but has not attended to the published article written by the Chatham Trustees, reproduced by the kindness of the S. S. Review.

THE MASSES.

We have frequently referred to the great necessity of the cultivation of the masses. A republic presupposes the possibility of every man's being a king. Of course not everyone is, some would not be kings if they could, some serving is easier. Those who comprehend new folly the responsibilities of citizenship and prepare themselves best to discharge those responsibilities regularly, succeed in the control of the masses. Those masses, little concerned about scoring the qualifications for leadership, often squirm under the power of rulers, complaining of inequalities and injustice. Soon finding the power of concentrating their weaknesses, they are too often found bringing the more enlightened and influential individuals to terms of capitulation that result in more injury than good to communities. It is not infrequently that the exciters to rude strikes and wicked riots are not those who suffer most from the irregularities of the relation of wealth and wants. True, those whom they excite may be possessed of fair judgment ordinarily, but excited by the principles that actuate a mob, their better judgment in often forgotten and they are used like the tools of their leaders.

The colored people of this country are sufficiently numerous to be of vast influence upon every feature of State movements, if properly trained respecting individual and concentrated worth, power and duty. With reference to us, as well as to every class in the land, nothing is more essential than proper training for the work of citizens. We require an association with politics more lasting than a single campaign; an information of the science of politics more extensive than our local and contemporaneous State and actions. Respecting religion, also, we require broader views, a greater benevolence and more practical methods. The masses must be trained to their present conditions and to forget many of the methods acquired in our previous condition.

DR. ARNETT'S BILL.

In passing Dr. Arnett's bill to expunge from the Ohio statutes the silly and seldom executed laws relative to the questions of color, the Republican members of the legislature, excepting one, and five of the democratic legislators acted very wisely. The laws practice on intermarriage of races, or what is usually termed miscegination, are not seriously against the colored variety, but are seriously against the white variety; since they display either the great weakness of that variety to yield to the attractions of the colored race and enter into marital associations, or a great weakness in their reasoning powers. It is well known that there is no other principle so active in forming the marriage union as affinity. If there is natural affinity why should it be interfered with? If there is cause, why should laws exist with reference to the matter at all? Indeed, in the entire question is to be guarded by the strength of the superior wisdom "and race instincts" on the one side to repel the repulsions that are claimed to present themselves from the opposite side! As stated previously, we have not the slightest interest in the question. From our standpoint, that of a colored man, we have too great race respect to demand or even favor miscegination. We feel indifferent towards it, but seeing that it is not a question that we can afford to debate; because it is senseless and unnecessary. If any individual of either race thinks it is worthy of his attention and support, we allow him to "talk or" and act in accordance with his talk. We cannot see how one from the opposite race-side can afford to discuss the question. The fact is miscegination with reference to human beings is a misnomer and might as well be applied to intermarriage between three eyed and black eyed peoples so as that between white persons and red persons. Respecting the school-mix we can see many advantages and not a few disadvantages. Our ground on this subject is well known to the readers of the RECORDER. The point made in Mr. Brown's speech relative to economy in finance is well taken. The reductions to the administration of the schools will be considerable. As the law stands in States in which mixed schools pertain there can be no legal discrimination against teachers on the ground of their color or race variety. If the Ohio Senate, which is about half and half between the parties, passes the bill it will become law, for the Governor is already virtually committed to it. The usual lack of unanimity in the Democratic party is demonstrated at this time as it usually every case where the rights of the masses of colored men are discussed: ex-Governor Headley stands committed to mixed schools, but fewer than one-fourth of the democratic members supported the bill.

THE ANCIENT LAND-MARKS.

While ancient land-marks should never be discarded, ancient methods of tilling may be modified greatly. Ages of accumulated power and opportunities must be accredited with some accomplishment. The "good old way and the righteous way" may adapt themselves to changes in men and circumstances consistent with principle. This we say in reference to ecclesiastic methods, as well as methods to other affairs. Patriarchs, prophets and apostles adapted themselves to their times in many things. Our religious formulas are largely conformed to the customs of the times when Christianity was founded. To talk of apostolic religion is not necessarily to talk of men dressing and eating as the apostles, as men did. The land-marks must not be destroyed, but the land must be cultivated. The apostles were rare men; their conditions and environments were rare. Neither their age nor their conditions may be expected to return. The great signs and mighty works that impressed them with the spirit of their holy mission, and the world with the mystery of their Holy Spirit, may not be expected to return; or they have become a part of the great subject matter concerning which the idea of faith is used. Men are to hold them dear as sacriest land marks, but not as the first fruits to come and reset them. The same spirit will actuate Christianity always, but the same facts will not always be dealt with. The cardinal points and lines of action will, however, remain unalterably the same. There will never be a time when Christianity will be promoted best by intermixing with other forms of religious thought, nor when the peculiar vitality of faith can be dispensed with. Christianity will always claim the whole heart. It will always claim purity of heart; but it may not claim that the posture taken by early Christians in praying or receiving the sacraments shall be maintained, or even baptismal waters and house bodies shall be associated in all times and places in a given manner and quantity.

"The spirit maketh alive." There must always remain the necessity of consciousness of forgiveness of sins and peace with God, and the manner of soul ing when stating this fact of consciousness may vary greatly.

The songs of our fathers were adapted more or less to them and their times, but some of them have become of little meaning, and, indeed, some are in no way adapted to our present condition. Many of them were the expressions of their souls with reference to a state of slavery that does not now exist, and therefore are not now a suggestion. Many of them are enmeshed in archaic and irregular English; it is by no means incumbent upon us to maintain these inconsistencies. We might as easily say, "Some old text what he said," as "Jesus done just what he said." In nearly every congregation there are a few of our aged fathers who themselves support the old methods as well as the old land-marks, but a little patient explanation and a little plain practice on the songs will help them to overcome the old habit. In this same way our style of singing may be improved, also our style of speaking. It is the duty of the pulpit to improve in the style of its delivery as well as in the matter of its thought. But the following is a brief synopsis:

"After the apostle assures the people that he is pleased with their Christian state and progress, he calls their attention on them the blessings of heaven and tells them by what means they can remain in this state. * * * Asfar as we know no other one creature capable of thought. In the real sense of the term the horse does not think. The dog has been taught tricks, but it is a band that is raised to slay it.

The main difference between the lower animals is marked by their mode of life. This is governed by instinct, and an instinct approximately perfect as to the mode of life approaches that of man. The animals taught as man does, but they would live more like man. * * *

Hence we conclude that the main difference on the races is the capability to think. Notwithstanding all men are capable of thought, there is a great difference between men, which, to some extent, depends upon the amount of thinking different individuals can do. But this difference depends more, by far, upon the kind of thinking. This is universally true. * * * The amount of thinking one can do measures the strength of mind, but the kind of thinking measures the quality of mind; but the first mind is the one that can do the most thinking and has the best thoughts. The leader of a band of thieves may do as much thinking as the superintendent of a great army, but the latter is the greater man in proportion as the quality of thoughts is superior to that of the former. * * * One of the great problems of human life is to settle the question in regard to the best means of increasing the power of thought and improving the methods of thinking. * * * In the process of education long and tedious courses of language, mathematics and other sciences are pursued. Though the means of disciplining the mind of average intellectuals has not been ascertained, thoughts formerly locked up in the dead languages. But this does not settle the question; you may never have the ability to think a little if you have other treasures from the dead languages for the purpose of securing better translations, but it is the development of mental power that is to be secured. Thousands who study the higher mathematics and the sciences never have any occasion to apply their knowledge in these branches. The mind of God is supposed to be improved and the power of thought increased. The intellect must be trained to spin the finest thread of thought and follow out a subject in its most complicated relations—even how one thought depends upon a preceding one, a third upon a second, a fourth upon the preceding three, etc., etc. The second great problem of human life is the improvement of the quality of thought, which is the result of an improved kind of thinking

AN ALASKAN "WAKE."—A correspondent at Sitka writes to the N. Y. Times: I had an intense desire to see Alaska, and am enjoying the month of October here, studying up its strange inhabitants, their curious ways and modes of living—a wild, odd-looking lot of Indians they are. I was permitted to be present to a kind of "wake" at the hut of an Indian chief the other night. His really pretty daughter, 18 years old, lay dead, and his people gave vent to their sorrow in howls and hideous yells such as only an Indian can produce. I had to give the "hand of fellowship" all around and to squat on the ground with the rest, all seated around a blazing fire. I endeavored to look mournful and to force out a tear, but I was looking at the pretty corpse most of the time. Most of the Indians blacken or paint their faces and make themselves look hideous.

NEW BOOKS

that will be on sale by the Manager in September and throughout the ensuing year:

"Fifty Years and Beyond; or, Old Age and How to Enjoy It." A book of incalculable value, as well as interest to all who have passed the meridian of life. 400 pages, cloth, $1.00, same in gilt edges, $1.50.

"Studies in Genesis; or, Bible Views of the Creation in its Relation to Modern Science," by the Rev. T. G. Steward, D.D., and containing an important chapter on "Christian Evidences," by Bishop Campbell. This is an intensely interesting book, especially to preachers, old or young. It will contain about 250 pages, 12mo. on clear beautiful paper, and sold at the low rate of $1 00. The work is now in press under our own imprint. Orders, $1.00, mailing 10cts. extra.

"Bible Heroes; or, Stories from the Old Testament for Little Folks." Judging by my own children, no parent who would have his children imbued with the heroic spirit of Bible characters, could buy a better book. Our children devoured it at once. Price only 50 cents; by mail, 55 cents; registered, 65 cents.

"A Voice from the Orient." This is a small volume of select sermons by Rev. M. M. Mangasarian, a native Greek, and pastor of the Spring Garden Street Presbyterian Church, of Philadelphia. This is an exceedingly interesting book for reading in leisure hours. Price, $1.00.

Rev. J. E. Webb has published an excellent Record Book for church stewards and trustees, with blanks for everything pertaining to their reports and business meetings. It is well bound and well arranged. We have seen nothing like it, nor half so convenient. The book is arranged for four years. It is just the thing to aid in making correct records. For sale at our Publishing House. Price, $1.50.

"The Resurrection of the Redeemed, and Hades," by Rev. James Boggs. A book of 214 pages of well written matter, well bound in cloth. Price, 50 cents.

Orders for each or all of these works may be sent to us at once. Cash orders only.

OFFER.

To the Ministers and Members of the A. M. E. Church:

1st. We will give to every minister who will send me his Dollar Money by the 15th of August a gold medal of Bishops Payne and Ashury. Who will be the first to send in the money? for we need it to pay the Bishops and General Officers of the Church and to help the Metropolitan Church.

2d. The pastor sending the largest amount of money by the 15th of Aug., 1885, I will give him "Bishop Turner's Book," or Dr. Tanner's "Outlines."

3d. Send in the money soon! Send it to Xenia, Ohio.

4th. Do the best you can to help me.

5th. We must have seventy-five thousand dollars this year. Who will be the first to start the ball—the Dollar Ball? Send on the dollars.

6th. Let every minister raise one dollar for each member this year. Try it once in your life.

7th. I will give a present to every church in the connection that will raise one dollar for each member. We will have a roll of honor and usefulness, and the pastors who will raise one dollar for or from each of his members will be put down on that roll and published in the Budget of 1886.

The Bishops and General Officers must be paid.

The Metropolitan Church in Washington must be completed, by order of the General Conference. It is under way now. It will be the greatest church in the connection when completed.

Don't wait for the conference but send the money to B. W. Arnett, Xenia, Ohio, as soon as you get it; if it is small, send it anyway. Small amounts help in work.

I am yours,
B. W. ARNETT,
Wilberforce, Ohio.

NOTE TO AGENTS SELLING THE RECORDER.

On and after the 1st of June, agents selling 10 copies and over will be charged 2½ cents a copy, (two cents and a half); less than ten copies, 3 cents.

All agents now selling and in arrears for more than one month will be stopped after June 11th. After that all must settle the first of each month.

More than $400 is due us to-day on RECORDER sales alone. We shall sift our agents next week.

Now, dear friends and brethren, help us. We are endeavoring to do your work with energy and faithfulness, we pray you to stand by your own cause.

AGENTS WANTED.

Will our pastors who are not supplying the RECORDER to their people, please do so by sending for a package to be sent weekly? If it is too much trouble to you, encourage some young man or boy, or, what is quite as good, a young lady whom you could recommend. Many of those who are now acting as agents are ladies. Let every one take hold of this. Let us hear from our workers. Send on your orders. Sell the paper for five cents and send us three cents. Address

J. C. EMBRY, 631 Pine street.

NOTICE

To Secretaries of Annual Conferences.

Dear Brethren:—Please be so kind as to send us immediately, a copy of your last minutes of conference. We have important matters to send out from this office and desire to know the address of all the ministers, &c.

Yours in Christ,

NOTICE.

A NEW DEPARTURE IN THE RECORDER SALES BUSINESS.

On and after September 1st, all agencies for RECORDER sales will be made anew and on a different plan, indicated below. Present agents must settle to full up to the last issue in August, which will be on the 27th. Our new rules will be as follows: 1st. On appointing an agent he or she must sign a written contract binding each to sell and return one-half of the sales money to us monthly and to make a full settlement of all claims at the end of every three months. 2nd. All papers unsold to be carefully preserved and reported with each settlement and held subject to our orders. They must be counted, bound and returned to us when required. 3rd. Such agents will be allowed one-third of each annual subscription they obtain for the paper at $1.50 per year, they retaining fifty cents and sending us a net one dollar. Or, they can take subscriptions on our installment plan, collecting 30 cents in advance every two months, and sending us 20 cents.

These rules will be strictly applied to all except regular itinerant ministers. We are compelled to do this for the protection of the Department against severe loss. We issue about two hundred and sixty thousand copies annually. Two-fifths, or one hundred and four thousand copies are sent out to agents. On this number we lose from $1,200 to $1,500 year. Believing that all our brethren will favor any plan which promises avoidance of this great loss, we have resolved on the above rules. Please read them, note well and prepare to settle at once.

NOTE.—These new agreements will be furnished in blank to all who wish to become or continue agents after September 1st.

A CALL TO THE WOMEN OF THE A. M. E. CHURCH.

WILMINGTON, DEL., Feb. 6 1886.

Dear Sisters:—The cry for help is being heard from foreign fields, and the Parent M. M. Society is desirous of responding to their wants; to do this their fund must be increased, and nothing but active work on the part of the women of the Church will do it. Let each church (that has not done so heretofore) organize a branch society, and commence work in earnest. The Board of Managers meet the first Thursday in August, November, February and May; each auxiliary is requested to send its report to the Cor. Sec'y of the Parent M. M. Society, so that she may be able to give a correct statement of the progress of the work throughout the connection.

MISS ESTHER ARMSTRONG Cor. Sec'y.
711 Buttonwood St., Wilmington, Del.

NOTICE.

All communications intended for the Sunday School Union of the A. M. E. Church that are addressed to Rev. C. S. Smith, Nashville, Tennessee, will be received. It is not necessary to give the name of the street nor the number of our business place. Rev. C. S. Smith, Nashville, Tenn., is sufficient. Telegrams addressed the same way will reach us. We are fully settled in our new headquarters and prepared for business. C. S. SMITH, Secretary.

Manager's Notes.

We have on hand

the Revised Version of the Bible, just issued from the press. Two styles, $1 and $2 per copy. We want to sell them now. Please order them. Beautiful paper, clear type and most interesting reading. You never saw so clearly the meaning of many things as you will find in this new old Book!

Wakefield's Theology, the standard theological text book, adopted by the Bishops for the course of study. $2.50 by mail at your risk; $2.25 by express. Please order them. They are here and must be sold.

Then we have an excellent book—"Fifty Years and Beyond,"—a charming thing for older people and for those who intend to be old. It sends up—not down—the shining pathway of years with a harp and song. $2.00, postpaid. Must be sold. We have many more, but can't speak of them now.

What we must say

now, is that we are opening a regular campaign for the CHRISTIAN RECORDER. We want two thousand new subscribers, and all the old ones to renew. Now, appreciating the dullness of the times, we have resolved to put the paper within the reach of all, adopting the installment plan.

Installment

costs a little more, but is easier because it gives more time. Hence, we make the following offer to all who desire to have the RECORDER:

Send us 25 Cents and we will enroll your name in a special book kept for that purpose and will send you the paper for sixty days; then send us 50 cents, and two months after 50 cents, and two months later 50 cents more. Total, $1.75.

All our Pastors

are Agents for the RECORDER, and are hereby authorized to present this proposition to their people and receive their enrollment fee (25 cents), and give their receipt for the same. [Note.—We will send a few blank slips of receipts to all who will act for us in this matter.]

On this Plan

we give full six months for paying the subscription.

"Pastor's Memorandum Book," by Rev. C. T. Shaffer. Price, 45 cents, no discount. An excellent book.

by taking Ayer's Cathartic Pills. This remedy is thorough in its action, imparts tone and strength to the Stomach, Liver, and Bowels, and enables them to perform all their functions properly. "I have used Ayer's Pills, for a number of years, and have never found anything equal to them for stimulating the appetite, and imparting energy or strength to the system. I always keep them in the house.—H. D. Jackson, Wilmington, Del. "For over two years I was afflicted with lordship of the liver. I had no appetite, suffered from Constipation, Indigestion, Headache, Pain in the Side and Back, and General Debility. Ayer's Pills were the first medicine to give me relief. I took three boxes of them, and was cured. This remedy never fails to and quicken the appetite. Ayer's Pills promptly relieve Headache, and are the best cathartic I know of.—George O. Williams, West Meriden, Conn.

During the spring of 1877 a disagreeable taste in my mouth entirely destroyed my appetite. My tongue was thickly coated, and what little food I ate distressed me. Believing my trouble to originate in a disordered liver, I commenced taking Ayer's Cathartic Pills. I felt an improvement after the operation of the first dose. I continued their use in diminished quantities, for a short time, and am satisfied that these Pills have completely cured me.—Sophie Hermon, Biddeford, Me.

For a number of years I was troubled with Biliousness, which almost destroyed my health. This ailment commenced in Costiveness, Indigestion, Headache, and Dizziness soon followed. I became weak, emaciated, and totally unfitted for work at any kind. I tried various remedies, but nothing afforded me any relief until I began taking Ayer's Pills. They cured me, speedily, and I now believe them to be the most reliable cathartic in use.—G. S. Wanderlich, Sevanyon, Pa.

"GENESIS RE-READ,"

By Rev. T. G. Steward, D. D.

A great Scientific-Religious Book, Orthodox, but Sparkling and Progressive. Two hundred and fifty pages crammed full of fact and thought. Beautifully printed, elegantly bound. The best book in all respects ever put out by our Publishing House. Read some of the golden laurels it is winning from the secular press of our own conservative city:

The Times notes it thus:

Another explanation of the creation of the world and of the Bible account of it has been published in a book called Genesis Re-Read, by T. G. Steward, D.D. The work claims to give the latest conclusions of science, and emanates from the A. M. E. Book Rooms, 631 Pine street.

The Record says:

In Genesis Re-Read Dr. T. G. Steward examines the latest conclusions of physical science in their relation to the Mosaic record. Of course the book is orthodox, though Dr. Steward believes that Moses, while surely teaching a direct creation, allows also for orderly development, but its temper is so moderate and its plea for mutual consideration on the part of the Christian and the scientist is so honestly supported that it will not fail to commend itself to a wide and mixed community of readers.

The Inquirer says:

The Mosaic history of the creation and the great events in the world's early history are here examined in the light of modern science. The work is done skilfully, and evidently by a ripe student of both theology and science. The conclusion is that there is no necessary conflict between the Bible and the discoveries of science, but that both may be harmonized without infringing the sacred authority of the one or questioning the correctness of the other. It is a book that may be read with profit, by all who have had doubts created by the apparent conflict between religion and science, while Bishop Campbell's appendix is an admirable answer to those who have sought to asperse the Divine authority of the New Testament writings.

The Ledger says:

This book contains a summary of the latest conclusions of physical science in their relations to the Mosaic record. There is not a dull page in it. The writer gives evidence both of diligence in the studies preliminary to such a work and of intimate acquaintance with leading writers. His own faith is of the old fashioned and simple character. Yet he has not hesitated to search the whole range of the literature of the subject. His references and citations may be said to furnish an index to the most prominent writers, while he mildly protests: We have clothed the teachers of science with an imaginary ability amounting almost to infallibility, and hence are often captivated because we do not weigh the evidence. We pay much greater respect to the witness than to the testimony.

The Press says of the author:

His style is simple and naive and not without a certain taking eloquence.

ALL-NIGHT INHALATION!

A positive revolution in the treatment of Nose, Throat, and Lung Diseases, until, for the purpose designed, as valuable a discovery as vaccination.

THE PILLOW-INHALER!

A Speedy, Positive and Permanent Cure for Catarrh, Bronchitis, Asthma, and Incipient Consumption.

It is a hair pillow, with reservoirs of evaporating liquid, the fumes or vapor of which is inhaled all night long, while sleeping as usual, and without any discomfort. It is used only at night, and is perfectly safe in the most delicate. There is no stomach-dosing, douching or snuffing; but just as a smoky lamp will leave a deposit on a whitened wall, so the Pillow-Inhaler, for eight hours at a time, spreads a powerful healing balm to solve on the inflamed inner coating of the diseased air-surfaces, from the nostrils to the bottom of the lungs, and hence into the blood. Old-fashioned inhalation, through a tube, for a few minutes a day, often cured. Think of eight hours of such exercise, on the same principle, but intensified a hundred fold! There are no pipes or tubes. The medicine is breathed in, not swallowed, and goes right to the diseased parts. The testimony to its results is beyond all question as attested by the experience of thousands.

CATARRH. BRONCHITIS. CONSUMPTION.

Hon. R. L. Hayden, Collector of the Port of New York, says: "I take pleasure in stating that the Pillow-Inhaler has been of the greatest relief, and I believe of permanent benefit to my wife, who has been a great sufferer from Bronchial and Catarrhal Troubles, accompanied with distressing Asthma. I recommend its use to all persons afflicted with such maladies."

O. L. HEDGES, 38 Nassau St., New York.

Rev. W. J. Chisholm, Richland Center, Bucks Co., Pa., says: "I had Catarrh for years, and was going into Consumption. The Pillow-Inhaler has wrought such a cure for me that I feel I cannot do too much to spread the knowledge of it to others."

C. S. Arnold, M. D., 1819 South Tenth St., Philadelphia, says: "I have used the Pillow-Inhaler in my practice, and find it to be one of the best things for diseases of the respiratory passages."

Unlike any other treatment ever known the Pillow-Inhaler cures cases apparently beyond the pale of hope. Send for Explanatory Pamphlet and Testimonials.

The American farm established by the King of Corea in 1883, upon the return of the Corean Embassy, is reported by Resident Fenwick, Charge d' Affaires at Seoul, Corea, to be in a thrifty and flourishing condition. It was started with seeds presented by the American Commissioner of Agriculture. Last year the entire crop was allowed to go to seed after a very successful season. Large quantities of all the varieties of seeds were thus obtained, which were later distributed to more than three hundred localities, with directions for planting and use. The farming of these seeds this year has been very successful. The farm has also been successfully stocked with blooded animals from California.

An Alaskan "wake."—A correspondent at Sitka writes to the N. Y. Times: I had an intense desire to see Alaska, and am enjoying the month of October here, studying up its strange inhabitants, their curious ways and modes of living—a most fascinating lot of Indians they are. I was permitted to be present to a kind of "wake" at the hut of an Indian chief the other night. His really pretty daughter, in years old, lay dead, and the people gave vent to their sorrow to howls and bellows yells such as only an Indian can produce. I had to give the "hand of fellowship" all around and to repeat on the ground with the rest, all seated around a blazing fire. I endeavored to look mournful and to once cast a tear, but I was looking at the pretty corpse most of the time. Most of the Indians blacken or paint their faces and make themselves look hideous.

Actuated by this motive and a desire to relieve human suffering, I will send (free of charge, to all who desire it, this recipe, in German, French or English, with full directions for preparing and using. Those who dearly love to talk about what a dreadful winter it has been ought to take a trip to Fairmount. At Lemon Hill the grass is still green—a little the worse for wear, it is true, but only a few shades darker than the up-springing shoots of the coming month will be.

"The Academy of Natural Sciences in Philadelphia," says the American Naturalist, "has, by the death of the widow of the late Mr. H. N. Johnson, come into possession of the entire estate as residuary legate. It is valued at over $50 000, and the available annual income is nearly $1500."

No less than $25 000 has been spent by the German Government in boring a hole. This costly hole was made at Schladebach, near Leipsic, and was made with diamond drills to the depth of 4560 feet—the deepest drilling ever done. The object was to get a true estimate of the coal deposits there.

"Bubbles," a new study of child life, by Sir John Millais is now on view in London. The child, a rosy blonde little boy, dressed in olive green velvet, sits in the gardener's shed, with a wooden bowl between his knees, intently occupied in watching the sailing away of a couple of iridescent bubbles that he has just blown. The little medal is said to be the grandson of the artist.

It is hard to tell which are the more numerous, survivors of the Light Brigade which made all the world wonder at Balaklava or body servants of our own General Washington. An aged "aunty" who once broiled a fat pullet for the great George has just died in Virginia, and it is learned that in New York on Wednesday a sufferer from a fire was Policeman McKenzie, who rode into the jaws of death with Cardigan's 600 troopers.

As death grimly seizes the king as well as the commoner, so diptheria is a foe to duchesses as well as the little dwellers in poorly kept houses. The recent illness of the Duchess of Connaught was traceable to sewer gas that got into her bedroom through a hole in a pipe. Dr. Playfair seemed the cause and remedied the evil. "The Duchess would certainly have died," says Truth, "if she had remained in the polluted rooms for another twenty four hours."

Although the city of Berlin has a funded debt of a little over $38,000 000, and will have to borrow about $12 000,000 more in the immediate future to complete its sewerage system, its finances are not at all in a bad way. For, with the exception of about $4 000 000, this money has been expended for gasworks, water works, stockyards, market halls, etc., from which the city derives annually a net rental over and above all expenses and interest charges to the amount of $1 500 000.

ONE OF PASTEUR'S CASES.—The following is the case of hydrophobia cured by Dr. Pasteur, which he has just announced to the French Academy: A boy, 12 years of age, named Meister, who had been bitten fourteen times, came from Alsace with his mother to see Dr. Pasteur. The autopsy of the dog which had bitten the boy left no doubt as to its having suffered from hydrophobia. Dr. Pasteur took the celebrated Dr. Vulpian and a professor of the school of Medicine to see the boy. They came to the conclusion that the boy was doomed to a painful death and might be experimented upon. In thirteen days inoculations were made upon Meister with pieces of spinal marrow containing virus of constantly increasing strength, the last being from the spine of a rabbit that died only the day before. A hundred days have passed since Meister underwent the last inoculation. The treatment has been thoroughly successful, and the boy is in perfect health. He had been bitten sixty hours, and had travelled from Alsace to Paris, before the first inoculation was performed. A shepherd boy named Judith, aged 15, was bitten by a mad dog a fortnight ago, and has now been a week under treatment. Dr. Pasteur is confident of curing him.

A CALL TO THE WOMEN OF THE A. M. E. CHURCH.

WILMINGTON, DEL., Feb. 6 1886.

Dear Sisters:—The cry for help a being heard from foreign fields, and the Parent M. M. Society is desirous of responding to their wants; to do this their fund must be increased, and nothing but active work on the part of the women of the Church will do it. Let each church (that has not done so heretofore) organize a branch society, and commence work in earnest. The Board of Managers meet the first Thursday in August, November, February and May; each auxiliary is requested to send its report to the Cor. Sec'y of the Parent M. M. Society, so that she may be able to give a correct statement of the progress of the work throughout the connection.

2d. The pastor sending the largest amount of money by the 15th of Aug., 1885, I will give him "Bishop Turner's Book," or Dr. Tanner's "Outlines."

3d. Send in the money soon! Send it to Xenia, Ohio.

4th. Do the best you can to help me.

5th. We must have seventy-five thousand dollars this year. Who will be the first to start the ball—the Dollar Ball? Send on the dollars.

6th. Let every minister raise one dollar for each member this year. Try it once in your life.

7th. I will give a present to every church in the connection that will raise one dollar for each member. We will have a roll of honor and usefulness, and the pastors who will raise one dollar for or from each of his members will be put down on that roll and published in the Budget of 1886.

The Bishops and General Officers must be paid.

The Metropolitan Church in Washington must be completed, by order of the General Conference. It is under way now. It will be the grandest church in the connection when completed.

Don't wait for the conference but send the money to B. W. Arnett, Xenia, Ohio, as soon as you get it; if it is small, send it anyway. Small amounts help in work.

I am yours,

B. W. ARNETT,

Wilberforce, Ohio.

NOTE TO AGENTS SELLING THE RECORDER.

On and after the 1st of June, agents selling 10 copies and over will be charged 2½ cents a copy, (two cents and a half); less than ten copies, 3 cents.

All agents now selling and in arrears for more than one month will be stopped after June 11th. After that all must settle the first of each month.

More than $400 is due us to-day on RECORDER sales alone. We shall sift our agents next week.

Now, dear friends and brethren, help us. We are endeavoring to do your work with energy and faithfulness, we pray you to stand by your own cause.

AGENTS WANTED.

Will our pastors who are not supplying the RECORDER to their people, please do so by sending for a package to be sent weekly? If it is too much trouble to you, encourage some young man or boy, or, what is quite as good, a young lady whom you could recommend. Many of those who are now acting as agents are ladies. Let every one take hold of this. Let us hear from our workers. Send on your orders. Sell the paper for five cents and send us three cents. Address

J. C. EMERY, 631 Pine street.

NOTICE

To Secretaries of Annual Conferences.

Dear Brethren:—Please be so kind as to send us immediately, a copy of your last minutes of conference. We have important matters to send out from this office and desire to know the address of all the ministers, &c.

Yours in Christ,

WM. D JOHNSON.

SWITZERLAND.

Above me are the Alps,
The palaces of nature, whose vast walls
Have pinnacled in clouds their snowy scalps,
And throned eternity in icy halls
Of cold sublimity, where forms and falls
The avalanche—the thunderbolt of snow!
All that expands the spirit, yet appalls,
Gathers around these summits, as to show
How earth may pierce to heaven, yet leave vain man below."—Childe Harold.

Land of mighty mountains, silvered with the snows of centuries, and piercing the skies! Land of sunny, vine-clad slopes, and sequestered valleys teeming with an industrious and happy peasantry! Land of mighty glaciers, picturesque lakes, beautiful cities, and free institutions! When the immortal Tell refused homage to the tyrant Gesler, the Republic that has stood for five centuries breathed the fires of freedom. When churlish king or ambitious conqueror planned anew the map of Europe, the intelligent, liberty-loving Swiss stood on their mountain ramparts and said, "Touch not the sacred borders of the Alpine Republic."

This bright, free and happy people, whose institutions are the pride of modern civilization, say in their laws that no patent or proprietary medicine shall be sold in their midst until it has been examined and approved by the high board of medical officers who compose the Swiss Sanitary Commission.

This precaution is undoubtedly wise, for it serves to insure the people against worthless medicines and to establish a standard of remedies in which all can have faith. By virtue of their wisdom to testify, and of their power to approve or condemn, for the good of the whole people, the Swiss Sanitary Commission, than whom there is not a more capable body in the world, nor one more impartial, has given full endorsement to The Russian Rheumatism Cure. It has gone further, and recommended its use in all public hospitals and sanitariums. The result has been not only a perfect vindication of the wisdom of the Swiss Sanitary Commission, but the full establishment of the Cure among the Swiss people as the one great specific for Rheumatism.

With this prestige and guarantee it is now here, thanks to the enterprise of Pfeiffer Bros. & Co., among an equally free and intelligent people, members of a newer and greater Republic. There is no learned medical commission here to bid it God-speed on its merciful mission, but there is a discriminating public that can be trusted with its own welfare and can't be imposed upon. It knows what it is about all the time, and never fails to appreciate a good thing when its merits are clear.

Good luck threw the writer into the large dry-goods importing house of Folwell Bro. & Co., 923 Chestnut St., Philadelphia, the other day. The head of the firm, Mr. Nathan T. Folwell, is a sharp, shrewd business man, of few words. You can readily see that he has a mind of his own, and isn't given to nonsense.

"Yes," he said in reply to a question, "been horribly crippled. Happy to say I'm all right now though. My rheumatic leg is tip-top."

"I'm told you tried the Russian Rheumatism Cure."

"That's what did it. It did it quick and well too. Haven't felt a qualm since."

"You have faith in the Cure, then?"

"Undoubtedly. It is an effective remedy, and I shall be glad to recommend it whenever and wherever I can."

When Mr. Folwell wants a thing done, he wants it. He didn't propose going through any six weeks' ordeal to cure his violent attack of Rheumatism, so he just went at it with the Russian Rheumatism Cure, and in a short time was all right.

Rev. James Fisher, Pastor of the Evangelical Association, Fort Wayne, Ind., don't believe in big words in connection with remarkable events, nor in ventilating his pastoral affairs, yet he felt so surprised and thankful over a result recently obtained by the use of the Russian Rheumatism Cure, that he writes as a matter of duty, saying: "A friend and member of my charge was so afflicted with Rheumatism as to be bedfast, and unable to stand on his feet for a long time. I procured the Russian Rheumatism Cure for him, and after using the first box he was much better. The second day after he began its use he could get up and stand alone on his feet. I sent for the second box and he is now cured. He will go to work on next Monday, this being Saturday. He is under great obligations to you, and told me to express his warm thanks."

Suppose we chose to multiply these testimonials from men of high position and sterling integrity by two or three thousand, and to fill an entire newspaper, or a volume, with them? You could hardly be any better convinced that in the Russian Rheumatism Cure you have something at your command quite out of the beaten track of rheumatic remedies, something which is vouched for by large bodies of scientific men, acting for the State publicly and for the people professionally. Space does not permit this time to quote other testimonials, but later on we shall present the evidence of other governments that have endorsed the Russian Rheumatism Cure through the reports of their authorized sanitary commissions.

Pfeiffer Bros. & Co., 819 and 821 Market Street, Philadelphia, Pa., are American proprietors. Price of one complete cure $2.50, 10 cents extra by mail. Write or call for pamphlet of testimonials.

NOTICE.

A NEW DEPARTURE IN THE RECORDER SALES BUSINESS.

On and after September 1st, all agencies for Recorder sales will be made anew and on a different plan, indicated below. Present agents must settle in full up to the last issue in August, which will be on the 27th. Our new rules will be as follows: 1st. On appointing an agent he or she must sign a written contract binding each to sell and return one-half of the sales money to us monthly and to make a full settlement of all claims at the end of every three months. 2nd. All papers unsold to be carefully preserved and reported with each settlement and held subject to our orders. They must be counted, bound and returned to us when required. 3rd. Such agents will be allowed one-third of each annual subscription they obtain for the paper at $1.50 per year, they retaining fifty cents and sending us a net one dollar. Or, they can take subscriptions on our installment plan, collecting 30 cents in advance every two months, and sending us 20 cents.

These rules will be strictly applied to all except regular itinerant ministers. We are compelled to do this for the protection of the Department against severe loss. We issue about two hundred and sixty thousand copies annually. Two-fifths, or one hundred and four thousand copies are sent out to agents. On this number we lose from $1,200 to $1,500 per year. Believing that all our brethren will favor any plan which promises avoidance of this great loss, we have resolved on the above rules. Please read them, note well and prepare to settle at once.

NOTE.—These new agreements will be furnished in blank to all who wish to become or continue agents after September 1st.

NOTICE.

All communications intended for the Sunday School Union of the A. M. E. Church that are addressed to Rev. C. S. Smith, Nashville, Tennessee, will be received. It is not necessary to give the name of the street nor the number of our business place. Rev. C. S. Smith, Nashville, Tenn., is sufficient. Telegrams addressed the same way will reach us. We are fully settled in our new headquarters and prepared for business. C. S. SMITH, Secretary.

Boils and Carbuncles

Carbuncles result from a debilitated, impoverished, or impure condition of the blood. They are a source of great suffering, and are liable to appear in large numbers, unless overcome by the use of some powerful alterative. Ayer's Sarsaparilla cures these painful tumors, and also prevents them, by removing their cause.

WILMINGTON, DEL., Feb 6 1886.

Dear Sisters: The cyclorhip is stretching hand from Lexington, Ky., and the Parent M. E. Society is desirous of extending to their wants; to do this their hand must be fortified, and strengthened by the true work on the part of the women of the Church will do it. Let each church that has not done so form a branch, or create a branch society, and commence work in earnest. The Board of Managers meet the first Thursday in August, November, February and May, each auxiliary is requested to send its report to the Cor Sec'y of the Parent M. E. society, so that she may be able to give a correct statement of the progress of the work throughout the connection.

"Then you have faith in the Cure, then?"

"Undoubtedly. It is an effective remedy, and I shall be the first to recommend it to my own and wherever I can."

"Do you think it will cause a thing done, he wants it. He didn't propose going through the mockery of a cure which he knew afterward to be valueless, so he just went at it with the Russian Rheumatism Cure, and as you see am all right.

NOTICE.

A NEW DEPARTURE IN THE RECORDER BOOK BINDERY.

On and after September 1st, all agents selling the RECORDER sales will be made anew and on a different plan, indicated below. Present agents must settle in full up to the last issue in August, which will be on the 27th. Our new rules will be as follows: 1st. On application we will send to any one must sign a written contract binding each to sell and return one-half of the sales money to us monthly and settle in full at the end of the first month. 2d. All papers mailed to be carefully packed and reported with each settlement and held subject to our orders. They must be counted, the number reported, as we also required. 3rd. Such agents will be allowed one-third of each annual subscription they secure for the paper at $1.50 per year, they retaining fifty cents and sending us a net one dollar. Or, they can take subscriptions at the present plan, collecting 30 cents in advance every two months, and sending us 20 cents.

These rules will be strictly applied to all except regular itinerant ministers. We are compelled to do this for the protection of the Department against losses. We have about two hundred and sixty thousand copies annually. Two-fifths, or one hundred and four thousand copies are sent out to agents. On this number we lose from $1,500 to $1,500 year. Believing that all our brethren will favor any plan which promises avoidance of this great loss, we have resolved on the above rules. Please read them, note well and prepare to settle at once.

NOTE.—These new agreements will be furnished in blank to all who wish to become or continue agents after September 1st.

NOTICE.

All communications intended for the Sandy School Union of the A. M. E. Church that are addressed to Rev. C. S. Smith, Nashville, Tennessee, will be received. It is not necessary to give the name of the street nor the number of our business place. Rev. C. S. Smith, Nashville, Tenn., is sufficient. Telegrams addressed the same way will reach us. We are fully settled in our new headquarters and prepared for business. C. S. SMITH, Secretary.

Cases of semi-starvation are reported from Green Hill, a village near Lafayette, Ind. Speedy distribution of food saved many lives.

Last year nearly 150 mills were erected in the Southern States, Kentucky leading with 31, Tennessee, 24; Virginia, 20; Texas, 18; Georgia, 17, and North Carolina, 10.

"Yes; I shall break the engagement," she said, folding her arms and looking defiant; "it is really too much trouble to converse with him; he's as deaf as a post, and talks like he had a mouthful of mush. Besides, the way he hawks and spits is disgusting!" "Don't break the engagement for that; tell him to take Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy. It will cure him completely." "Well, I'll tell him. I do hate to break it off, for in all other respects he's quite too charming." Of course it cured his catarrh.

The ice in the Straits of Mackinaw is porous and covered with water, and open water is visible at the head of Lake Huron.

In place of that constantly tired out feeling, Ayer's Sarsaparilla will give you strength.

The Boston Aldermen have appropriated $15 000 to be expended by the overseers of the poor for relieving sufferers from the Stony Brook flood.

ADVICE TO MOTHERS.

MRS. WINSLOW'S SOOTHING SYRUP should always be used for children teething. It soothes the child, softens the gums, allays all pain, cures wind colic and is the best remedy for diarrhœa. Twenty-five cents a bottle.

NOTICE.

All communications intended for the Sunday School Union of the A. M. E. Church that are addressed to Rev. C. S. Smith, Nashville, Tennessee, will be received. It is not necessary to give the name of the street nor the number of our business place. Rev. C. S. Smith, Nashville, Tenn., is sufficient. Telegrams addressed the same way will reach us. We are fully settled in our new headquarters and prepared for business. C. S. SMITH, Secretary.

AGENTS WANTED.

Will our pastors who are not supplying the RECORDER to their people, please do so by sending for a package to be sent weekly? If it is too much trouble to you, encourage some young man or boy, or, what is quite as good, a young lady whom you could recommend. Many of those who are now acting as agents are ladies. Let every one take hold of this. Let us hear from our workers. Send on your orders. Sell the paper for five cents and send us three cents. Address

J. C. EMERY, 631 Pine street.

NOTICE

To Secretaries of Annual Conferences.

Dear Brethren:—Please be so kind as to send us immediately, a copy of your last minutes of conference. We have important matters to send out from this office and desire to know the address of all the ministers, &c.

Yours in Christ,

A CALL TO THE WOMEN OF THE A. M. E. CHURCH.

WILMINGTON, DEL., Feb. 5 1886.

Dear Sisters:—The cry for help is being heard from foreign fields, and the Parent M. M. Society is desirous of responding to their wants; to do this their fund must be increased, and nothing but active work on the part of the women of the Church will do it. Let each church (that has not done so heretofore) organize a branch society, and commence work in earnest. The Board of Managers meet the first Thursday in August, November, February and May; each auxiliary is requested to send its report to the Cor. Sec'y of the Parent M. Society, so that she may be able to give a correct statement of the progress of the work throughout the connection. MISS ESTHER ARMSTRONG Cor. Sec'y.
711 Bottonwood St., Wilmington, Del.

NEW BOOKS.

that will be on sale by the Manager in September and throughout the ensuing year:

"Fifty Years and Beyond; or, Old Age and How to Enjoy It." A book of incalculable value, as well as interest to all who have passed the meridian of life. 400 pages, cloth, $1.00, same in gilt edges, $1.50.

"Studies in Genesis; or, Bible Views of the Creation in its Relation to Modern Science," by the Rev. T. G. Steward, D.D., and containing an important chapter on "Christian Evidences," by Bishop Campbell. This is an intensely interesting book, especially to preachers, old or young. It will contain about 250 pages, 12mo. on clear beautiful paper, and sold at the low rate of $1 25. The work is now in press under our own imprint. Orders, $1.25, mailing 10cts. extra.

"Bible Heroes; or, Stories from the Old Testament for Little Folks." Judging by my own children, no parent who would have his children imbued with the heroic spirit of Bible characters, could buy a better book. Our children devoured it at once. Price only 50 cents; by mail, 55 cents; registered, 65 cents.

"A Voice from the Orient." This is a small volume of select sermons by Rev. M. M. Mangasarian, a native Greek, and pastor of the Spring Garden Street Presbyterian Church, of Philadelphia. This is an exceedingly interesting book for reading in leisure hours. Price, $1.00.

Rev. J. E. Webb has published an excellent Record Book for church trustees, with blanks for everything pertaining to their reports and business meetings. It is well bound and well arranged. We have seen nothing like it, nor half so convenient. The book is arranged for four years. It is just the thing to aid in making correct records. For sale at our Publishing House. Price, $1.30.

The Resurrection of the Redeemed, and Hades," by Rev. James Boggs. A book of 214 pages of well written matter, well bound in cloth. Price, 50 cents.

Orders for each or all of these works may be sent to us at once. Cash orders only.

OFFER.

To the Ministers and Members of the A. M. E. Church:

1st. We will give to every minister who will send me his Dollar Money by the 15th of August a gold medal of Bishops Payne and Asbury. Who will be the first to send in the money? for we need it to pay the Bishops and General Officers of the Church and to help the Metropolitan Church.

2d. The pastor sending the largest amount of money by the 15th of Aug., 1885, I will give him "Bishop Turner's Book," or Dr. Tanner's "Outlines."

3d. Send in the money soon! Send it to Xenia, Ohio.

4th. Do the best you can to help me.

5th. We must have seventy-five thousand dollars this year. Who will be the first to start the ball—the Dollar Ball? Send on the dollars.

6th. Let every minister raise one dollar for each member this year. Try it once in your life.

7th. I will give a present to every church in the connection that will raise one dollar for each member. We will have a roll of honor and usefulness, and the pastors who will raise one dollar for or from each of his members will be put down on that roll and published in the Budget of 1886.

The Bishops and General Officers must be paid.

The Metropolitan Church in Washington must be completed, by order of the General Conference. It is under way now. It will be the grandest church in the connection when completed.

Don't wait for the conference but send the money to B. W. Arnett, Xenia, Ohio, as soon as you get it; if it is small, send it anyway. Small amounts help in work.

I am yours,
B. W. ARNETT,
Wilberforce, Ohio.

NOTE TO AGENTS SELLING THE RECORDER.

On and after the 1st of June, agents selling 10 copies and over will be charged 2½ cents a copy, (two cents and a half); less than ten copies, 3 cents.

All agents now selling and in arrears for more than one month will be stopped after June 11th. After that all must settle the first of each month.

More than $400 is due us to-day on RECORDER sales alone. We shall sift our agents next week.

Now, dear friends and brethren, help us. We are endeavoring to do your work with energy and faithfulness, we pray you to stand by your own cause.

NOTICE.

A NEW DEPARTURE IN THE RECORDER SALES BUSINESS.

Our new rules are as follows: 1st. On appointing an agent he or she must sign a written contract binding each to sell and return one-half of the sales money to us monthly and to make a full settlement of all claims at the end of every three months. 2nd. All papers unsold to be carefully preserved and reported with each settlement and held subject to our orders. They must be counted, bound and returned to us when required. 3rd. Such agents will be allowed one-third of each annual subscription they obtain for the paper at $1.50 per year, they retaining fifty cents and sending us a net one dollar. Or, they can take subscriptions on our installment plan, collecting 30 cents in advance every two months, and sending us 20 cents.

These rules will be strictly applied to all except regular itinerant ministers. We are compelled to do this for the protection of the Department against severe loss. We issue about two hundred and sixty thousand copies annually. Two-fifths, or one hundred and four thousand copies are sent out to agents. On this number we lose from $1,200 to $1,500 year. Believing that all our brethren will favor any plan which promises avoidance of this great loss, we have received on the above rules. Please read them, note well and prepare to settle at once.

NOTE.—These new agreements will be furnished in blank to all who wish to become or continue agents.

"Pastor's Memorandum Book," by Rev. C. T. Shaffer. Price, 45 cents.

A somewhat remarkable case is reported in the Bath (Eng.) Herald. Three lads were summoned for talking and laughing during service in a church. They were fined £1 and costs, or, in default, one month's hard labor. One of them, who could not pay, was actually sent to prison.

DYSPEPSIA

Is a dangerous as well as distressing complaint. It may be fatal. It leads, by impairing nutrition, and depressing the tone of the system, to prepare the way for Rapid Decline.

BROWN'S IRON BITTERS

PHYSICIANS AND DRUGGISTS RECOMMEND IT.

QUALITY PURITY NOT QUANTITY. On Every Bottle. Trade Mark.

—THE BEST TONIC

Quickly and completely Cures Dyspepsia in all its forms, Biliousness, Belching, Feeling after Meals, etc. It enriches and purifies the blood, stimulates the appetite, and aids the assimilation of food. Rev. J. Thompson, the honored pastor of the First Reformed Church, Baltimore, Md. says: "Having used Brown's Iron Bitters for Dyspepsia and Indigestion, I take great pleasure in recommending it highly. Also consider it a splendid tonic and invigorator, and very strengthening."

Hiram Sperry, D. D., late of Circuit Court, Clinton Co., Ind. says: "I bear most cheerful testimony to the efficacy of Brown's Iron Bitters for Dyspepsia, and as a tonic it Combines has above Trade Mark and crossed red lines on wrapper. Take no other. Made only by BROWN CHEMICAL CO., BALTIMORE, MD.

Manager's Notes.

We have on hand

the Revised Version of the Bible, just issued from the press. Two styles, $1 and $2 per copy. We want to sell them now. Please order them. Beautiful paper, clear type and most interesting reading. You never saw so clearly the meaning of many things as you will find in this new old Book!

Wakefield's Theology, the standard theological text book, adopted by the Bishops for the course of study. $2.50 by mail at your risk; $2.25 by express. Please order them. They are here and must be sold.

Then we have an excellent book—"Fifty Years and Beyond,"—a charming thing for older people and for those who intend to be old. It sends up—not down—the shining pathway of years with a harp and song. $2.00, postpaid. Must be sold. We have many more, but can't speak of them now.

What we must say

now, is that we are opening a regular campaign for the CHRISTIAN RECORDER. We want two thousand new subscribers, and all the old ones to renew. Now, appreciating the dullness of the times, we have resolved to put the paper within the reach of all, adopting the installment plan.

Installment

costs a little more, but is easier because it gives more time. Hence, we make the following offer to all who desire to have the RECORDER:

Send us 25 Cents and we will enroll your name in a special book kept for that purpose and will send you the paper for sixty days; then send us 50 cents, and two months after 50 cents, and two months later 50 cents more. Total, $1.75.

All our Pastors

are Agents for the RECORDER, and are hereby authorized to present this proposition to their people and receive their enrollment fee (25 cents), and give their receipt for the same. [Note.—We will send a few blank slips of receipts to all who will act for us in this matter.]

On this Plan

we give full six months for paying the subscription.

"Pastor's Memorandum Book," by Rev. C. T. Shaffer. Price, 45 cents, no discount. An excellent book.

A Word to the Wise.

Every winter and spring Inflammation of the Lungs, induced by neglected Colds and Coughs, causes the death of thousands who might have been saved by the timely use of Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. "I was afflicted with a severe Cough, which deprived me of my regular sleep. After trying various remedies, without benefit, I procured a bottle of Ayer's Cherry Pectoral, and used it according to directions. I am happy to say that this medicine cured me. — Robert Holliway, Linn, Mo.

I have used Ayer's Cherry Pectoral, for several years, in cases of severe Colds and Throat affections, and have always found it a speedy and effectual remedy for these ailments. — Samuel Bennett, Principal Bartlett School, Lowell, Mass.

I cannot say too much in praise of Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. I have used it in my family many years, and always with perfect satisfaction. It never fails. — Mrs. H. F. McKeen, New Gretna, N. J.

I have used Ayer's Cherry Pectoral in my practice since 1850, and have always found it reliable for the cure of Colds, Coughs, and all Throat and Lung diseases. — S. Hayden, M. D., Syracuse, N. Y.

I am never without Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. It cures severe cases of Colds and Coughs more speedily than any other remedy known. — E. Allen, Kingston, O.

Ayer's Cherry Pectoral is the best remedy I know of for diseases of the Throat and Lungs. It cured me of incipient Consumption, forty years ago. — S. R. Lawrence, Schuylerville, N. Y.

About three years ago, as the result of a bad Cold, I had a Cough, for which I could obtain no help until I commenced using Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. One bottle of this medicine effected a complete cure. — John Tooley, Trouton, Mich.

I have used Ayer's Cherry Pectoral, and received great benefit from it. I consider it an excellent medicine for the diseases it is declared to cure. — Rufus A. Tremain, Guysborough, N. S.

One bottle of Ayer's Cherry Pectoral saved my life. It cured me of severe Bronchitis when other remedies failed. — George R. Hunter, Altoona, Pa.

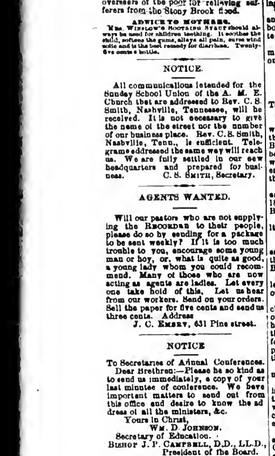
COMPARATIVE WORTH OF BAKING POWDERS.



Reports of Government Chemists

As to Purity and Wholesomeness of the Royal Baking Powder.

"I have tested a package of Royal Baking Powder, which I purchased in the open market, and find it entirely free from alum, terra alba, or any other injurious substance. R. OGDEN DOREMUS, M.D., LL.D., Professor of Chemistry, University City of New York."

"It is a scientific fact that the Royal Baking Powder is absolutely pure."

H. A. MOTT, PH.D.*

"I have examined a package of Royal Baking Powder, purchased by myself in the market. I find it entirely free from alum, terra alba, or any other injurious substance. BARNET MORRIS, Ph.D., President of Newton Institute of Technology."

"I have analyzed a package of Royal Baking Powder. The materials of which it is composed are pure and wholesome. R. ORTON, Professor of Chemistry."

The Royal Baking Powder received the highest award over all competitors at the Vienna World's Exposition, 1873; at the Centennial, Philadelphia, 1876; at the American Institute, New York, and at Nice, France throughout the country.

No other article of human food has ever received such high, emphatic and universal endorsement from eminent chemists, physicians, scientists and boards of Health all over the world.

NOTE—The above figures illustrate the comparative worth of various Baking Powders, as shown by Chemical Analysis and experiments made by Prof. Schedler. A pound can of each powder was taken, the total leavening power or volume in each calculated, the result being as indicated. This practical test for worth by Prof. Schedler only proves what every observant consumer of the Royal Baking Powder knows by practical experiment, that, while it costs a few cents per pound more than ordinary kinds, it is far more economical, and, besides, affords the advantage of better work. A single trial of the Royal Baking Powder will convince any fair-minded person of these facts.

* While the diagram shows some of the alum powders to be a higher degree of strength than other powders ranked below them, it is not to be taken as indicating that they have any value. All alum powders, no matter how high their strength, are to be avoided as dangerous.

NOTICE.

A NEW DEPARTURE IN THE RECORDER SALES BUSINESS.

Our new rules are as follows: 1st. On appointing an agent he or she must sign a written contract binding each to sell and subscribe at the rate of $1.00 per year as monthly and to make a full settlement of all claims at the end of every three months. 2nd. All papers would to be carefully preserved and reported with each settlement and held subject to our orders. They must be sonsted, bound and returned to us who required. 3rd. Such agents will be allowed one-fifth of each annual subscription they obtain for the paper at $1.50 per year, they retaining fifty cents and sending us a net one dollar. Or, they can take subscriptions on our installment plan, collecting 50 cents in advance every two months, and sending us 20 cents.

These rules will be strictly applied to all except regular itinerant ministers. We are compelled to do this for the protection of the Department against severe loss. We issue about two hundred and sixty thousand copies annually. Two-fifths, or one hundred and four thousand copies are sent out to agents. On this number we lose from $12,000 to $15,000 year. Believing that all our brethren will favor any plan which promises avoidance of this great loss, this plan was resolved on. We shore rules. Please read them, note well and prepare to settle at once.

NOTE.—Those new agreements will be furnished in blank to all who wish to become or continue agents.

"Pastor's Memorandum Book," by Rev. C. T. Shaffer. Price, 45 cents.

A somewhat remarkable letter is reported in the New [Eng.] Herald. Three lads were summoned for taking and keeping fish in a private shore rights. They were fined £1 and costs, or, in default, one month in harbor. One of them, who could not pay, was actually sent to prison.

DYSPEPSIA

"GENESIS RE-READ,"

By Rev. T. C. Steward, D.D.

A great Scientifico-Religious Book, Orthodox, but Sparkling and Progressive. Two hundred odd fifty pages crammed full of fact and thought. Beautifully printed, elegantly bound. The best book in all respects ever put out by our Publishing House. Read some of the golden laurels it is winning from the secular press of our own conservative city:

The Times notes it thus:

Another explanation of the creation of the world and of the Bible account of it has been published in a book entitled Genesis Read, by T. C. Steward, D.D. The work claims to give the latest conclusions, and science, and emanates from the A. M. E. Book Rooms, 631 Pine street.

The Record says:

In Genesis Re-Read Dr. T. C. Steward examines the latest conclusions of physical science in their relation to the Mosaic record. Of course the book is orthodox, but it is different from the dull treatise while surely stashing a direct creation, although it does not lack in reverence, but the temper is so moderate and its plea for the reconciliation of the Bible with the Church and the scientist is so honestly supported that it will win its way unto itself to a wide and mixed community of readers.

The Inquirer says:

The Mosaic history of the creation and the great events of early human history are here examined in the light of modern science. The work is done skillfully, and evidently by a pipe student of both theology and science. The conclusion reached is that no necessary conflict between the Bible and the discoveries of science, but both may be harmonized without infringing the one

PRICE, ONLY $1.25.

It is the book for the times. Every thinking man and woman in the country ought to have it. Published and for sale at the

A New and Important Book!

Genesis Re-read; or, the Latest Conclusions of Physical Science and Their Relation to the Mosaic Record.

BY T. C. STEWARD, D.D.

To which is annexed a most important chapter on the Credibility of the Scriptures, by Bishop J. P. Campbell, D.C., LL.D.

The work is in the form of sermons—1. Introductory. II. Genesis and Science. III. The Mosaic History of the Creation. IV. Genesis and the Book of Geology. V. Harmony of the Mosaic History pursued from other sources. VI. Genesis Saw Jesus by Moses. VII. Creation particularly considered. VIII. The Sabbath. IX. The Nature of Man. X. The Origin of Sin. XI. The Theology and Morals of Genesis. XII. Eternal Life revealed in the Scriptures. BIBLE, brief view of the divine revelations, by Bishop Campbell. XIII. Inspiration. The book will be not easily understood by the reader, but will be found to be a most valuable help to the Christian student and one to give to their unbelieving friends. Price, 25 cts. AGENTS WANTED.

Will our pastors who are not supplying the RECORDER to their people, please do so by sending in a package to be sent with the mail? If it is too much trouble to you, encourage some young man or boy, or, what is still better, some young lady whom you could reason with. Many of them would do it if you were asking as agents are ladies. Let every one take hold of this. Let us hear from our workers. Send on your names. Sell the paper for five cents and send us three cents. Address

A CALL TO THE WOMEN OF THE A. M. E. CHURCH.

WILMINGTON, DEL., Feb. 5 1886.

DEAR SISTERS:—On the 20th inst. a meeting is called by the Parent M. E. Society, in the Bethel Church, Philadelphia, Pa., and the Parent M. M. Society is desirous of responding to their wishes; to do so this whole people must be increased, and nothing but solid work on the part of the Sisters of the Church will do it. Let each church (that has not done so heretofore) organize a branch society, and commence work in earnest. The Board of Managers meet in the first Thursday after the November, February and May; each auxiliary is requested to send in report to the Cor. Sec'y of the Parent M. E. Society, so that she may be able to give a correct statement of the progress of the work throughout the connection.

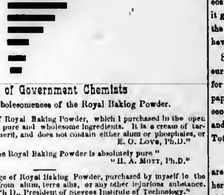
COMPARATIVE WORTH OF BAKING POWDERS.



Reports of Government Chemists

As to Purity and Wholesomeness of the Royal Baking Powder.

"I have tested a package of Royal Baking Powder, which I purchased in the open market, and find it composed of pure and wholesome ingredients. It is a cream of tartar powder of a high degree of merit, and does not contain either lime, ammonia or other injurious substances.

E. G. LOVE, Ph.D."

"If is a scientific fact that the Royal Baking Powder is absolutely pure."

H. A. MOTT, Ph.D."

"I have examined a package of Royal Baking Powder, purchased by myself in the market. I find it entirely free from alum, terra alba, or any other injurious substance.

HENRY MORTON, Ph.D., President of Stevens Institute of Technology."

"I have analyzed a package of Royal Baking Powder. The materials of which it is composed are pure and wholesome. S. DANA HAYES, State Assayer, Mass."

The Royal Baking Powder received the highest award ever all competitors at the Vienna World's Exposition, 1873; at the Centennial, Philadelphia, 1876; at the American Institute, New York, and at the late Cincinnati Industrial Exposition.

No other article of human food has ever received such high, emphatic and universal endorsement from eminent chemists and scientific men as the above.

NOTE—The above DIAGRAM illustrates the comparative worth of various Baking Powders, as shown by Chemical Analysis and experimental tests by Prof. Schedler. A pound can of each powder was taken, the total leavening power or volume in each calculated, the result being as indicated. This practical test for worth by Prof. Schedler only proves what every observant consumer of the Royal Baking Powder knows by practical experience, that, while it costs a few cents per pound more than ordinary kinds, it is far more economical, and, besides, affords the advantage of better work. A single trial of the Royal Baking Powder will convince any fair-minded person of these facts

* While the diagram shows some of the alum powders to be a higher degree of strength than other powders ranked, below them, it is not to be taken as indicating that they have any value. All alum powders, no matter how high their strength, are to be avoided as dangerous.

NEW BOOKS

that will be on sale by the Manager in September and throughout the ensuing year:

"Fifty Years and Beyond;" or, Old Age and How to Enjoy It." A book of incalculable value, as well as interest to all who have passed the meridian of life. 400 pages, cloth, $1.00, same in gilt edges, $1.50.

"Studies in Genesis;" or, Bible Views of the Creation in its Relation to Modern Science," by the Rev. T. G. Steward, D.D., and containing an important chapter on "Christian Evidences," by Bishop Campbell. This is an intensely interesting book, especially to preachers, old or young. It will contain about 250 pages, 12mo, on clear beautiful paper, and sold at the low rate of $1.25. The work is now in press under our own imprint. Orders, $1.25, mailing 10cts. extra.

"Bible Heroes;" or, Stories from the Old Testament for Little Folks." Judging by my own children, no parent who would have his children imbued with the heroic spirit of Bible characters, could buy a better book. Our children devoured it at once. Price only 50 cents; by mail, 55 cents; registered, 65 cents.

"A Voice from the Orient." This is a small volume of select sermons by Rev. M. M. Mangasarian, a native Greek, and pastor of the Spring Garden Street Unitarian Church, of Philadelphia. This is an exceedingly interesting book for reading in leisure hours. Price $1.00.

Rev. J. E. Webb has published an excellent Record Book for church trustees, with blanks for everything pertaining to their reports and business meetings. It is well bound and well arranged. We have seen the manuscript, and feel no concern. The book is arranged for four years. It is just the thing to aid in making certain boards. For sale at our Publishing House. Price, $1.20.

"The Epistles of the Redeemed, and Hades," by Rev. James Boggs. A book of 314 pages of well written matter. It will interest all who read it.

Orders for each or all of these works may be sent to us at once. Cash orders only.

OFFER.

To the Ministers and Members of the A. M. E. Church:

1st. We will give to every minister who will send me his Dollar Money by the 15th of August a gold medal of Bishop Payne and Allen. Who will be the first to send in the money? for the 15th of July to pay Bishops and General Officers of the Church and to help the Metropolitan Church.

2d. The pastor sending the largest amount of money by the 15th of Aug., 1885, I will give him "Bishop Turner's Book," or Dr. Tanner's "Outlines."

3d. Send in the money soon! Send it to Xenia, Ohio.

4th. Do the best you can to help me. We have a big debt to pay three thousand dollars this year. Who will be the first to send in the money? for the Metropolitan Church.

5th. Let every minister raise one dollar for the Recorder this year. Try it once in your life.

6th. Send on your names. Send on your names. Get up a present to every church in the connection that will raise one dollar for the new paper. We will have a roll of honor and usefulness, and the pastors who will raise one dollar for or from each of his members will be put down on that roll and published in the Budget of 1886.

The Bishops and General Officers must be paid.

The Metropolitan Church in Washington must be completed, by order of the General Conference. It is in debt now. It will be the grandest church in the connection when completed.

Don't wait for the conference but send the money to B. W. Arnett, Xenia, Ohio, as soon as you get it; if it is small, send it any way. Small amounts help in work.

I am yours,

B. W. ARNETT,

Wilberforce, Ohio.

NOTE TO AGENTS SELLING THE RECORDER.

On and after the 1st of June, agents selling the RECORDER will be charged 2½ cents a copy, (two cents and a half); less than ten copies, 3 cents, and single copies, 5 cents. Terms cash, and a remittance for more than one month will be stopped when the time is out. That is, if sent in November, February and May; each auxiliary is requested to send in report to the Cor. Sec'y of the Parent M. E. Society, so that she may be able to give a correct statement of the progress of the work throughout the connection.

NOTICE.

A NEW DEPARTURE IN THE RECORDER SALES BUSINESS.

Our new rules are as follows: 1st. On appointing an agent he or she must sign a written contract binding each to sell and return one-half of the sales money in six months and to make a full settlement of all claims at the end of every three months. 2nd. All papers should be carefully preserved and reported with each settlement and held subject to our orders. They must be counted, bound and returned to us when required. 3rd. Such agents will be allowed one-third of each annual subscription they obtain for the paper at $1.50 per year, they retaining fifty cents and sending us a net one dollar. Or, they can take subscriptions on our installment plan, collecting 80 cents in advance every two months, and sending us 20 cents.

These rules will be strictly applied to all except regular itinerant ministers. We are compelled to do this for the protection of the Department against secure loss. We leave about two hundred and sixty thousand copies annually. Two-fifths or one hundred and four thousand copies are sent out to agents. On this number we lose from $1,200 to $1,500 year. Believing that all our brethren will favor our plan which promises eridance of this great loss, we have resolved on the above rules. Please read them, note well and prepare to settle at once.

NOTE.—Those into agreements will be furnished blank to all who wish to become or continue agents.

"Pastor's Memorandum Book," by Rev. C. T. Shaffer. Price, 45 cents.

A somewhat remarkable case is reported in the Bath (Eng.) Herald. A man was summoned for talking and laughing during service in a church. They were fined 2s 6d each, or, in default, one month's hard labor. One of them, it could not pay, was actually sent to prison.

"Pastor's Memorandum Book," by Rev. C. T. Shaffer. Price, 45 cents.

Manager's Notes.

We have on hand the Revised Version of the Bible, just from the press. Two styles, $1 and $2 per copy. We want to sell them now. Please order them. Beautiful paper, clear type and most interesting reading. You never saw so clearly the meaning of many things as you will find in this new old Book.

Wakefield's Tacology, the standard theological text book, adopted by the Bishops for the course of study. $2.50 by mail at your risk; $2.25 by express. Please order them. They are here and must be sold.

Then we have an excellent book—"Fifty Years and Beyond,"—a charming thing for elder people and for those who intend to be old. It sends up—not down—the shining pathway of years with a bang and snap. $2.00, postpaid. Must be sold. We have many more, but can't speak of them now.

What we must say now, is that we are opening a regular campaign for the CHRISTIAN RECORDER. We want two thousand new subscribers, and all the old ones to renew. Now, appreciating the dullness of the times, we have resolved to put the paper within the reach of all, adopting the installment plan.

Installment

costs a little more, but is easier because it gives more time. Hence, we make the following offer to all who desire to have the RECORDER:

Send us 25 Cents and we will enroll your name in a special book kept for that purpose and will send you the paper for sixty days; then send us 50 cents, and two months after 50 cents, and two months later 50 cents more. Total, $1.75.

All our Pastors

are Agents for the RECORDER, and are hereby authorized to present this prospectus to their people, and receive their enrollment fee (25 cents), and give their receipt for the same. [Note.—We will send a few blank slips of receipts to all who will act for us in this matter.]

On this Plan

we give full six months for paying the subscription.

"GENESIS RE-READ,"

By Rev. T. G. Steward, D. D.

A great Scientific-Religious Book, Orthodox, but Sparkling and Progressive. Two hundred and fifty pages crammed full of fact and thought. Beautifully printed, elegantly bound. The best book in all respects ever put out by our Publishing House. Read some of the golden laurels it is winning from the secular press of our own conservative city:

The Times notes it thus:

Another explanation of the oreation of the world that is based upon the Bible account of it has been published in a book entitled "Genesis Re-Read," by T. G. Steward, D.D. The work exists to give the latest conclusions of science, and claims to be in accordance with the A. M. E. Book Rooms, 631 Pine street.

The Press says:

In Genesis Re-Read Dr. T. G. Steward carefully gives the latest conclusions of physical science in their relation to the Mosaic record. Of course the book is built upon the theory, though Dr. Steward believes that Moses, while not teaching it in the modern sense, knows also for orderly development, but its keeper is a moderate and not for the mutual consideration on the part of the Christian and the scientist. The author is supported that it will not fail to commend itself to a wide and mixed community of readers.

The Inquirer says:

The Mosaic history of the creation and the great events in the world's early history have been examined in the light of modern science. The work is done skillfully, and evidently by a clear and able head for mutual and eclectic. The conclusion's that there is no necessary conflict between the Bible and the discovery of science, but that both may be harmonized without infringing the

CAMDEN NOTES.

Captain Charles Hallstock, of the Gray Invincibles, has changed his residence from Chestnut to Cherry street.

The quarterly meeting at Zion Wesley, Rev. Wilds, was well attended Sunday, April 4th. Many came from Philadelphia.

The O. B. Macedonia presented resolutions of thanks to Dr. Bigler's Celerb Remedy for his labors this year and prey for his return another year.

The Grand Commandery of Knights Templar, Sir Christ Chapman, Eminent Grand Commander, attended the funeral services of Dr. John Hall in Philadelphia.

Eminent Sir J. Jackson, 33°, Knights Templar, was in Camden from Borden-town, and with the Grand Commandery, State of New Jersey, attended the funeral of Dr. John Hall, of Philadelphia, April 1st.

There was a fire at 711 Cherry street on the evening of March 29th, from the explosion of a lamp. Constable Conner rendered very valuable assistance and the fire was out when the engines arrived on the scene.

Rev. W. Sturges, from Orange, made a flying visit to Camden on the 31st, and says that this Conference is in fine trim for leading upwards. Having served his people three years he will not be appointed to a charge, but would like to know where next?

The fourth and last quarterly conference of Macedonia Church was held April 19th, Rev. C. G. Miller presider. The session was pleasant and the conference passed a resolution thank for the Christian and gentlemanly manner in which he has presided over their deliberations and conducted the whole laudatory resolutions.

Rev. Jas. H. A. Johnson, D.D., was in Camden on Sunday, March 29th, and lectured to a fair audience at Mace donia Church. He is a fine speaker and enjoy, interspersed with strong spiritual food. He spent a day or two in the city and was the guest of Rev. C. whom he had not seen for eighteen years; he was the guest of Rev. H. H. Newton.

BROWNSVILLE, April 3, 1886.

Ten thousand dollars wanted for Africa out of the collection made on Easter Sunday and upon other occasions, for which provision hath been made in the Book of Discipline, page 326. To all presiding elders, pastors and preachers having charges in the Third Episcopal District: Dear brethren, in our good Book of Discipline, page 326, you will perceive Bishop in the conference is directed to ask this question: "What amount is collected for missions this year?" Said collection to embrace the following:

1st. The annual collection from the conference missionary society.

2nd. The dues of local members of the conference and of the society who contribute to said society.

3rd. The annual dues of the laity in each charge.

4th. The annual collection from the church and Sabbath school, including Missionary Day, which is held on Easter Sunday of each year.

Of all the moneys thus collected each conference is to appropriate sixty per cent for the support of the bishop, and the remaining forty per cent shall be transmitted at once to the treasurer of the parent board, to be used for the benefit of each presiding Bishop to see that this law is faithfully executed, see, page 326, Discipline.

The African homeward bound proposition for Africa was suggested first by the venerable Bishop Payne, in the general Conference held in Baltimore in 1864; at which time that supreme legislative body of the A. M. E. Church so coolly and heartily endorsed the proposition, and all thought it would be both good and timely for the action of the whole Church.

The proposition which we ask to be given to the cause of missions in Africa, we ask to be set aside from the neglect of any other department or branch of the cause of Home and Foreign Missions. We do ask that we may make Easter Sunday collection so large that we may be enabled to appropriate the full amount of ten thousand dollars to the African cause, as proposed on the 326 page of our discipline to the Secretary of Home and Foreign Missions, and that one per cent out of every dollar collected for the cause of home missions within the bounds of each and every conference wherever needed.

Brethren, the sixty per cent is very much needed in some portions of our work. Bishop Campbell's words and mercies of our God, we could very soon, in a very short period of time, send the whole of the ten thousand Ethiopians in the cause God and missions.

Yours in the bonds of Christ,

J. P. CAMPBELL.

N. B.—Each pastor is hereby requested to forward to the Missionary Secretary the day after the said collection is made, forty per cent of said collection, for which he will receive a receipt. The remaining sixty per cent will be held by the presiding elder. The session was pleasant and the conference passed a resolution thank for the Christian and gentlemanly manner in which he has presided over their deliberations and conducted the whole laudatory resolutions.

"I hear," writes Edmund Yates, "the great difficulty about the alteration of the Millais pictures has been solved. Most of the canvases on which the painter worked, without authority of their owners, have been restored to their original condition. The newer color has been removed."

High prices are paid for valentine designs, and some of the best artists in New York, Boston and elsewhere are glad to do this sort of thing. A few designers are regularly employed by the manufacturers at good salaries, but the greater part of the work is done by the piece by outsiders.

Alongside the Mersey tunnel a smaller one, seven feet in diameter, is carried. This exists solely for the sake of ventilating the larger one, and out of it the air is sucked by exhaust fans with such force that it is said the whole body of the atmosphere is changed every seven minutes.

The late King Ferdinand of Portugal, as Truth learns, made it the business of his life to collect from every country in Europe books, pamphlets and prints of all sorts and descriptions which had been forbidden by the Government or the police, and he has left a prodigious and perfectly marvelous collection of the forbidden literature of Europe during the last thirty years.

There is—so the Figaro avers—in one of the outlying quarters of Paris a building in which corpses are boiled in huge cauldrons until the bones are perfectly free and white; but inasmuch as it is very difficult to obtain a perfect corpse—assuming that all those which are boiled have already passed through the dissecting-rooms of the hospitals—a number of persons of both sexes are employed to make up skeletons from the promiscuous mass of bones which have undergone the boiling process. Then they are fastened together with wires, and when the work part is complete, it is impossible for the scientific eye to detect anything wrong in a skeleton that has been made up from the bones of several individuals.

HORSFORD'S ACID PHOSPHATE

FOR WAKEFULNESS.

Dr Wm P. Clothier, Buffalo, N. Y., says: "I prescribed it for a Catholic priest, who was a hard student, for wakefulness, extreme nervousness, etc. He reports great benefit.

A Burmese sword of honor, which belonged to one of King Theebaw's ministers, has arrived at Edinburgh from India. The hilt is a piece of ivory, beautifully carved, and the scabbard is of pure silver artistically chased.

CONSUMPTION.

Notwithstanding the great number that yearly succumb to this terrible and fatal disease, which is daily winding its fatal coils around thousands who are unconscious of its deadly presence, Dr. Pierce's "Golden Medical Discovery" will cleanse and purify the blood of scrofulous impurities, and cure tubercular consumption (which is only scrofulous disease of the lungs). Send 10 cents in stamps and get Dr. Pierce's complete treatise on consumption and kindred affections, with numerous testimonials of cures. Address, World's Dispensary Medical Association, Buffalo, N. Y.

On hearing that the Greek fleet had sailed with sealed orders, an anti-Hellene in London observed: "The orders probably are to steam away whenever they see a Turkish vessel on the horizon."

All affections of the kidney and liver are cured by Hood's Sarsaparilla. Try it.

At Salsburg, Switzerland, the Diet has passed a law against the sale of the bonnie edelweiss plant with roots.

ADVICE TO MOTHERS.

Mrs. WINSLOW'S SOOTHING SYRUP should always be used for children teething. It soothes the child, softens the gums, allays all pain, cures wind colic and is the best remedy for diarrhœa. Twenty-five cents a bottle.

Catarrh and Bronchitis Cured.

A clergyman, after years of suffering from that loathsome Disease, Catarrh, and vainly trying every known remedy, at last found a prescription which completely cured and saved him from death. Any sufferer from this dreadful Disease sending a self-addressed stamped envelope to Dr. J. Fyfan & Co., 117 East Fifteenth Street, New York, will receive the recipe free of charge.

CONSUMPTION CURED.

An old physician, retired from practice, having had placed in his hands by an East India missionary the formula of a simple vegetable remedy for the speedy and permanent cure of Consumption, Bronchitis, Catarrh, Asthma and all Throat and Lung Affections, also a positive and radical cure for Nervous Debility and all Nervous Complaints, after having tested its wonderful curative powers in thousands of cases, has felt it his duty to make it known to his suffering fellows. Actuated by this motive and a desire to relieve human suffering, I will send free of charge, to all who desire it, this recipe, in German, French or English, with full directions for preparing and using. Sent by mail by addressing with stamp, naming this paper W. A. NOYES, 149 Power Block, Rochester, N Y

NOTICE.

All communications intended for the Sunday School Union of the A. M. E. Church that are addressed to Rev. C. S. Smith, Nashville, Tennessee, will be received. It is not necessary to give the name of the street nor the number of our business place. Rev. C. S. Smith, Nashville, Tenn., is sufficient. Telegrams addressed the same way will reach us. We are fully settled in our new headquarters and prepared for business. C. S. SMITH, Secretary.

AGENTS WANTED.

Will our pastors who are not supplying the RECORDER to their people, please do so by sending for a package to be sent weekly? If it is too much trouble to you, encourage some young man or boy, or, what is quite as good, a young lady whom you could recommend. Many of those who are now acting as agents are ladies. Let every one take hold of this. Let us hear from our workers. Send on your orders. Sell the paper for five cents and send us three cents. Address

J. C. EMBRY, 631 Pine street.

NOTICE

To Secretaries of Annual Conferences.

Dear Brethren:—Please be so kind as to send us immediately, a copy of your last minutes of conference. We have important matters to send out from this office and desire to know the address of all the ministers, &c.

A CALL TO THE WOMEN OF THE A. M. E. CHURCH.

WILMINGTON, DEL., Feb. 6 1886.

Dear Sisters:—The cry for help is being heard from foreign fields, and the Parent M. M. Society is desirous of responding to their wants; to do this their fund must be increased, and nothing but active work on the part of the women of the Church will do it. Let each church (that has not done so heretofore) organize a branch society, and commence work in earnest. The Board of Managers meet the first Thursday in August, November, February and May; each auxiliary is requested to send its report to the Cor. Sec'y of the Parent M. M. Society, so that she may be able to give a correct statement of the progress of the work throughout the connection.

MISS ESTHER ARMSTRONG Cor. Sec'y.
711 Buttonwood St., Wilmington, Del.

NEW BOOKS

that will be on sale by the Manager in September and throughout the ensuing year:

"Fifty Years and Beyond; or, Old Age and How to Enjoy It." A book of incalculable value, as well as interest to all who have passed the meridian of life. 400 pages, cloth, $1.00, same in gilt edges, $1.50.

"Studies in Genesis; or, Bible Views of the Creation in its Relation to Modern Science," by the Rev. T. G. Steward, D.D., and containing an important chapter on "Christian Evidences," by Bishop Campbell. This is an intensely interesting book, especially to preachers, old or young. It will contain about 250 pages, 12mo. on clear beautiful paper, and sold at the low rate of $1 25. The work is now in press under our own imprint. Orders, $1.25, mailing 10cts. extra.

"Bible Heroes; or, Stories from the Old Testament for Little Folks." Judging by my own children, no parent who would have his children imbued with the heroic spirit of Bible characters, could buy a better book. Our children devoured it at once. Price only 50 cents; by mail, 55 cents; registered, 65 cents.

"A Voice from the Orient." This is a small volume of select sermons by Rev. M. M. Mangasarian, a native Greek, and pastor of the Spring Garden Street Presbyterian Church, of Philadelphia. This is an exceedingly interesting book for reading in leisure hours. Price, $1.00.

Rev. J. E. Webb has published an excellent Record Book for church trustees, with blanks for everything pertaining to their reports and business meetings. It is well bound and well arranged. We have seen nothing like it, nor half so convenient. The book is arranged for four years. It is just the thing to aid in making correct records. For sale at our Publishing House. Price, $1.50.

"The Resurrection of the Redeemed, and Hades," by Rev. James Boggs. A book of 214 pages of well written matter, well bound in cloth. Price, 50 cents.

Orders for each or all of these works may be sent to us at once. Cash orders only.

OFFER.

To the Ministers and Members of the A. M. E. Church:

1st. We will give to every minister who will send me his Dollar Money by the 15th of August a gold medal of Bishops Payne and Asbury. Who will be the first to send in the money? for we need it to pay the Bishops and General Officers of the Church and to help the Metropolitan Church.

2d. The pastor sending the largest amount of money by the 15th of Aug., 1886, I will give him "Bishop Turner's Book," or Dr. Tanner's "Outlines."

3d. Send in the money soon! Send it to Xenia, Ohio.

4th. Do the best you can to help me.

5th. We must have seventy-five thousand dollars this year. Who will be the first to start the ball—the Dollar Ball? Send on the dollars.

6th. Let every minister raise one dollar for each member this year. Try it once in your life.

7th. I will give a present to every church in the connection that will raise one dollar for each member. We will have a roll of honor and usefulness, and the pastors who will raise one dollar for or from each of his members will be put down on that roll and published in the Budget of 1886.

The Bishops and General Officers must be paid.

The Metropolitan Church in Washington must be completed, by order of the General Conference. It is under way now. It will be the grandest church in the connection when completed.

Don't wait for the conference but send the money to B. W. Arnett, Xenia, Ohio, as soon as you get it; if it is small, send it anyway. Small amounts help in work.

I am yours,

B. W. ARNETT,
Wilberforce, Ohio.

NOTE TO AGENTS SELLING THE RECORDER.

On and after the 1st of June, agents selling 10 copies and over will be charged 2½ cents a copy, (two cents and a half); less than ten copies, 3 cents.

All agents now selling and in arrears for more than one month will be stopped after June 11th. After that all must settle the first of each month.

More than $400 is due us to-day on RECORDER sales alone. We shall sift our agents next week.

Now, dear friends and brethren, help us. We are endeavoring to do your work with energy and faithfulness, we pray you to stand by your own cause.

NOTICE.

A NEW DEPARTURE IN THE RECORDER SALES BUSINESS.

Our new rules are as follows: 1st. On appointing an agent he or she must sign a written contract binding each to sell and return one-half of the sales money to us monthly and to make a full settlement of all claims at the end of every three months. 2nd. All papers unsold to be carefully preserved and reported with each settlement and held subject to our orders. They must be counted, bound and returned to us when required. 3rd. Such agents will be allowed one-third of each annual subscription they obtain for the paper at $1.50 per year, they retaining fifty cents and sending us a net one dollar. Or, they can take subscriptions on our installment plan, collecting 30 cents in advance every two months, and sending us 20 cents.

These rules will be strictly applied to all except regular itinerant ministers. We are compelled to do this for the protection of the Department against severe loss. We issue about two hundred and sixty thousand copies annually. Two-fifths, or one hundred and four thousand copies are sent out to agents. On this number we lose from $1,200 to $1,500 year. Believing that all our brethren will favor any plan which promises avoidance of this great loss, we have resolved on the above rules. Please read them, note well and prepare to settle at once.

NOTE.—These new agreements will be furnished in blank to all who wish to become or continue agents.

TIRED OUT!

All this season nearly every one needs to use some sort of tonic. IRON enters into almost every physician's prescription for those who need building up.

BROWN'S IRON BITTERS

Trade Mark. QUALITY P PURITY NOT QUANTITY. On Every Bottle.

—THE BEST TONIC

For Weakness, Lassitude, Lack of Energy, etc., it CAN NOT BE EQUALED, and is the only medicine that does not injure the teeth, cause headache or produce constipation—other iron medicines do. Dr. G. H. MITCHELL, a leading physician of Springfield, Ohio, says:

"Brown's Iron Bitters is a thoroughly good medicine. I use it in my practice, and find its action superior to all other forms of iron. In a word, can have no equal of the system, Brown's Iron Bitters is actually a positive necessity. It is all that is claimed for it."

Dr. W. H. WATERS, 1219 Thirty-second Street, Georgetown, D. C., says: "Brown's Iron Bitters is the Tonic of the age. Nothing better. It creates appetite, gives strength and improves digestion."

Genuine has above Trade Mark and crossed red lines on wrapper. Take no other. Made only by BROWN CHEMICAL CO., BALTIMORE, MD.

EUREKA!

Manager's Notes.

We have on hand

the Revised Version of the Bible, just issued from the press. Two styles, $1 and $2 per copy. We want to sell them now. Please order them. Beautiful paper, clear type and most interesting reading. You never saw so clearly the meaning of many things as you will find in this new old Book!

Wakefield's Theology, the standard theological text book, adopted by the Bishops for the course of study. $2.50 by mail at your risk; $2.25 by express. Please order them. They are here and must be sold.

Then we have an excellent book—"Fifty Years and Beyond,"—a charming thing for older people and for those who intend to be old. It sends up—not down—the shining pathway of years with a harp and song. $2.00, postpaid. Must be sold. We have many more, but can't speak of them now.

What we must say

now, is that we are opening a regular campaign for the CHRISTIAN RECORDER. We want two thousand new subscribers, and all the old ones to renew. Now, appreciating the dullness of the times, we have resolved to put the paper within the reach of all, adopting the installment plan.

Instalment

costs a little more, but is easier because it gives more time. Hence, we make the following offer to all who desire to have the RECORDER:

Send us 25 Cents and we will enroll your name in a special book kept for that purpose and will send you the paper for sixty days; then send us 50 cents, and two months after 50 cents, and two months later 50 cents more. Total, $1.75.

All our Pastors

are Agents for the RECORDER, and are hereby authorized to present this proposition to their people and receive their enrollment fee (25 cents), and give their receipt for the same. [Note.—We will send a few blank slips of receipts to all who will act for us in this matter.]

On this Plan

we give full six months for paying the subscription.

"Pastor's Memorandum Book," by Rev. C. T. Shaffer. Price, 45 cents, no discount. An excellent book.

Eczema

Is more commonly known as Salt-Rheum. It is caused by impure blood, is accompanied with intense itching and burning sensations, and, unless properly treated, is likely to afflict its victim for years. If you are suffering from Eczema, or any other eruptive disease, take Ayer's Sarsaparilla. It has proved, in numberless instances, a complete cure for this disorder.

Entirely Cured.

A few weeks ago I was attacked with a severe and distressing form of Eczema. The eruptions spread very generally over my body, causing an intense itching and burning sensation, especially at night. With great faith in the virtues of Ayer's Sarsaparilla, I commenced taking it, and, after having used less than two bottles of this medicine, am entirely cured.—Henry K. Beardsley, of the Hope "Nine," West Philadelphia, Pa.

I was, for years, troubled with Salt-Rheum, which, during the winter months, caused my hands to become very sore, crack open, and bleed. The use of

for a short time entirely cured me of this troublesome humor.—Elkan Ashworth, Evanston, Wyoming Ter.

Prepared by Dr. J. C. Ayer & Co., Lowell, Mass.

Debility

Languor, and Loss of Appetite, are cured by the use of Ayer's Sarsaparilla. This medicine relieves that sense of Constant Weariness, from which so many suffer, purifies, invigorates, and vitalizes the blood; gives tone and vigor to the stomach, and restores the appetite, health and strength more surely and speedily than any other remedy.

Positive Proof

Two years ago I suffered from Loss of Appetite and Debility, the result of Liver Disease. After having tried various remedies, and several physicians, without receiving any benefit, I began taking Ayer's Sarsaparilla. The first bottle produced a marked change, and the second and third accomplished so much that I felt like a new man. I have, since that time, taken about one bottle every year, and feel no recurrence of the trouble.—William T. Way, East Lempster, N. H.

If any one suffering from General Debility, Want of Appetite, Depression of Spirits, and Lassitude will use Ayer's Sarsaparilla, I am confident a cure will result therefrom. I have used it, and speak from experience.—F. O. Loring, Brockton, Mass.

Sold by Druggists. Price $1; six bottles $5.

PARSONS' PURGATIVE PILLS

"I bear," writes Edmund Yates, "the great difficulty about the alleration of the Millais pictures has been solved. Most of the canvases on which the painter worked, without authority of their owners, have been restored to their original condition. The sewer color has been removed."

High prices are paid for valentines designs, and some of the best artists in New York, Boston and elsewhere are glad to do the sort of thing. A few designers are regularly employed by the manufacturers at good salaries, but the greater part of the work is done by the piece by outsiders.

Alongside the Mersey tunnel a small one, seven feet in diameter, is carried. This exists solely for the sake of ventilating the larger one, and out of it the air is sucked by exhaust fans with such force that it is said the whole body of the atmosphere is changed every seven minutes.

The late King Ferdinand of Portugal, as Prula learns, had the misfortune of his life to collect from every country in Europe books, pamphlets and prints of all sorts and descriptions which had been forbidden by the Government or the police, and he has left a prodigious and perfectly marvelous collection of the forbidden literature of Europe during the last thirty years.

There is—so the Figaro avers—in one of the outlying quarters of Paris a building in which corpses are boiled in huge cauldrons until the bones are perfectly free and white; but inasmuch as it is very difficult to obtain a perfect corpse—assuming that all those which are boiled have already undergone the dissecting-rooms of the hospitals—a number of persons of both sexes are employed to make up skeletons from the promiscuous mass of bones which have undergone the boiling process. Then they are fastened together with wires, and when the work is quite complete, it is impossible for the scientific eye to detect anything wrong in a skeleton that has been made up from the bones of several individuals.

HORSFORD'S ACID PHOSPHATE

For WAKEFULNESS

Dr Wm P. Clothier, Buffalo, N. Y. says: "I prescribed it for a Catholic priest, who was a hard student, for wakefulness, extreme nervousness, etc. He reports great benefit."

A Burmese sword of honor, which belonged to one of the king's treasurer's ministers, has arrived at Edinburgh from India. The hilt is a piece of ivory, beautifully carved, and the scabbard is of pure silver artistically chased.

A CONSUMPTION.

Notwithstanding the great number that yearly succumb to this terrible and fatal disease, which is daily winding its fatal coils around thousands who are unconscious of its deadly presence, Dr. Harter's Golden Medical Discovery will cleanse and purify the blood of scrofulous impurities, and cure tubercular consumption (which is only scrofulous disease of the lungs). Send 10 cents in stamps and get Dr. Pierce's complete treatise on consumption and kindred affections, with numerous and unsolicited testimonials of cures. Address, World's Dispensary Medical Association, Buffalo, N. Y.

All affections of the kidney and liver are cured by Hood's Sarsaparilla. Try it.

At Salzburg, Switzerland, the Diet has passed a law against the sale of the bonbon edelweiss plant with roots.

ADVICE TO MOTHERS.

MRS. WINSLOW'S SOOTHING SYRUP should always be used for children teething. It relieves the little sufferer at once; it produces natural, quiet sleep by relieving the child from pain, and the little cherub awakes as "bright as a button." It is very pleasant to taste. It soothes the child, softens the gums, allays all pain, cures wind colic, and is the best remedy for diarrhœa. Sold by druggists throughout the world. Twenty-five cents a bottle.

Catarrh Stronghith Cured.

A clergyman, after years of suffering from that loathsome disease, Catarrh, and vainly trying almost everything else, was cured by a simple remedy, which he will send free to his fellow-sufferers. Any sufferer from this dreadful disease sending a self-addressed stamped envelope to Prof. J. Firm A Co., 127 East Fifteenth Street, New York, will confer a favor by sending them a copy of this paper.

CORRUPTION CURED.

An old physician, retired from practice, having had placed in his hands by an East India missionary the formula of a simple vegetable remedy for the speedy and permanent cure of Consumption, Bronchitis, Catarrh, and all throat and lung affections, also a positive and radical cure for Nervous Debility and all nervous Complaints, after having thoroughly tested the wonderful curative powers of such, has felt it his duty to make it known to his suffering fellows. Actuated by this motive and a desire to relieve human suffering, I will send free of charge, to all who desire it, this prescription, in German, French or English, with full directions for preparing and using. Sent by mail by addressing with stamp, naming this paper W. A. NOYES, 149 Power's Block, Rochester, N. Y.

NOTICE.

All communications intended for the Sunday School Union of the M. E. Church Cal that are addressed to Rev. C. S. Smith, Nashville, Tennessee, will be received. It is but necessary to give the name of the street nor the number of our business house. Office of Publication, Nashville, Tenn., is sufficient. Telegrams addressed the same way will reach us. We are fully settled in our new headquarters and prepared for business. CHAS. S. SMITH, Secretary.

AGENTS WANTED.

Will our pastors who are not supplying the RECORDER and Visitor please do so by sending for a package to be sent weekly? If it is too much trouble to you, encourage some young man or boy, or, what is quite as good, a young lady when you could encourage and mend. Many of those who are now acting as agents are ladies. Let every one take hold of this. Let us be heard from our workers. Send on your orders. We will pay for the postage and send as three cents. Address

J. C. EMBRY, 531 Pine street.

NOTICE

To Secretaries of Annual Conferences.

Dear Brethren:—Please be so kind as to send us immediately, a list of the address of the ministers, &c.

A CALL TO THE WOMEN OF THE A. M. E. CHURCH.

WILMINGTON, Del., Feb. 6 1886.

Dear Sisters:—The cry for help is being heard from foreign fields, and the Parent M. M. Society is desirous of responding to their wants; to do this their fund must be increased, and nothing will be effective work on the part of the women of the Church. We will do a work of love (that has not done so heretofore) organize a branch society, and commence work in earnest. The Board of Managers meet the 0rst Thursday in August, November, February and May; each auxiliary is requested to send its report to the Cor. Sec'y of the Parent M. Society, so that she may be able to give a correct statement of the progress of the work throughout the connection.

Miss ESTHER ARMSTRONG Cor. Sec'y.

NEW BOOKS

that will be on sale by the Manager in September and throughout the ensuing year:

"Fifty Years and Beyond; or, Old Age and How to Enjoy It." A book of incalculable value, as well as interest to all who have passed the meridian of life. 400 pages, 12mo. on clear beautiful paper, and sold at the low rate of $1 25. The work is now in press under our own imprint. Orders, $1.25, mailing 10cts. extra.

"Bible Heroes; or, Stories from the Old Testament for Young Folks." Judging by my own children, no parent who would have his children blessed with the heroic spirit of Bible characters, could buy a better book. Our children devoured it at once. Price only 50 cents; by mail, 55 cents; registered, 60 cents.

"A Voice from the Orient." This is a small volume of select sermons by Rev. M. Manganaro, a native Greek, and pastor of the Spring Garden Street Presbyterian Church, of Philadelphia. This is an exceedingly inter esting book for reading in leisure hours Price, $1.00.

Rev. J. E. Webb has published an excellent Record Book for church secretaries, with blanks for everything pertaining to their reports and business meetings. It is well bound and well arranged. We have seen nothing like it, nor half so convenient. The book is arranged for four years. It is just the thing to aid in making correct records. For sale at our Publishing House. Price, $1.30.

"The Resurrection of the Redeemed and Hades," by Rev. James Boggs. A book of this size we have not seen, better, well bound in cloth. Price, 50 cents.

Orders for each or all of these works may be sent to me at once. Cash orders only.

OFFER.

To the Ministers and Members of the A. M. E. Church:

1st. We will give to every minister who will send me his Dollar Money by the 15th of August, a gold medal of Bishop Payne and Asbury. Who will be the first to send in the money? for the next 15 days? The Bishops and General Officers of the Church and to help us in this Worldly Matter.

2d. The pastor sending the largest amount of money by the 15th of Aug. 1886, I will give him "Bishop Turner's Book," or Dr. Tanner's "Outlines."

3d. Send in the money soon: I desire it to Xenia, Ohio.

4th. Do the best you can to help me.

5th. We must have seventy-five thousand dollars this year. Who will be the first to help us? The Bishops and Dist? Send on the dollars.

6th. Let every auxiliary raise one dollar for each member this year. Try it once in your life.

7th. I will give a present to every church in the connection that will raise one dollar for each member. We will have a roll of honor and usefulness, and the pastors who will raise one dollar for for each each of his members will be put down on that roll and published in the Budget of 1886.

The Bishops and General Officers must help.

The Metropolitan Church in Washington must be completed, by order of the General Conference. It is under way now. It will be the grandest church in the connection when completed.

Don't wait for the conference but send the money to B. W. Arnett, Xenia, Ohio, and I will see to it. Don't be afraid, send it anyway. Small amounts help in work.

I am yours,

He had spent $5000 in the twenty days previous to his arrest, and was penniless.

New Haven, Conn., Knights of Labor will hereafter hold public discussions every Sunday afternoon at the Loomis Temple of Music. One leading speaker will be provided each afternoon, and at the close of his lecture he may be cross questioned by any one in the audience, and short replies to the speaker's arguments will be allowed. Rev. Dr. Newman Smyth, the Pastor of Centre Church, will speak next Sunday afternoon at the first of these meetings, on "Trades Unions as Viewed by an Outsider."

The Journal of Lewiston, Me., tells the story of a woman living near there who suffered for years from a severe headache, having been advised to try a certain "foreign cure," which, by the way, is enclosed in a nicely finished box, something on the make of a car whistle. She purchased the cure, and being in total ignorance of its nature, or anything else pertaining to it, excepting the manner of applying, rubbed the box instead of the contents several times across her forehead. The pain left instantly and has not since returned.

HORSFORD'S ACID PHOSPHATE,
A Good Tonic.

Dr. Adam Miller, Chicago, Ill., says: "It is one of the very few really valuable preparations now offered to the afflicted. In a practice of thirty-five years, I have found a few good things, and this is one of them.

"A man never loses anything by politeness." At all events there are some men who never do and never intend to.

Dr. Pierce's "Favorite Prescription" is a most powerful restorative tonic, and combines the most valuable nervine properties; especially adapted to the wants of debilitated ladies suffering from weak back, inward fever, congestion, inflammation, or ulceration, or from nervousness or neuralgic pains. A CALL TO THE WOMEN OF THE A. M. E. CHURCH.

WILMINGTON, DEL., Feb. 6 1886.

Dear Sisters:—The cry for help is being heard from foreign fields, and the Parent M. M. Society is desirous of responding to their wants; to do this their fund must be increased, and nothing but active work on the part of the women of the Church will do it. Let each church (that has not done so heretofore) organize a branch society, and commence work in earnest. The Board of Managers meet the first Thursday in August, November, February and May; each auxiliary is requested to send its report to the Cor. Sec'y of the Parent M. M. Society, so that she may be able to give a correct statement of the progress of the work throughout the connection.

MISS ESTHER ARMSTRONG Cor. Sec'y.
711 Buttonwood St., Wilmington, Del.

NEW BOOKS

that will be on sale by the Manager in September and throughout the coming year:

"Fifty Years and Beyond; or, Old Age and How to Enjoy It." A book of incalculable value, as well as interest to all who have passed the meridian of life. 400 pages, cloth, $1.00, same in gilt edges, $1.50.

"Studies in Genesis; or, Bible Views of the Creation in its Relation to Modern Science," by the Rev. T. G. Steward, D.D., and containing an important chapter on "Christian Evidences," by Bishop Campbell. This is an intensely interesting book, especially to preachers, old or young. It will contain about 250 pages, 12mo. on clear beautiful paper, and sold at the low rate of $1.25. The work is now in press under our own imprint. Orders, $1.25, mailing 10cts. extra.

"Bible Heroes; or, Stories from the Old Testament for Little Folks." Judging by my own children, no parent who would have his children imbued with the heroic spirit of Bible characters, could buy a better book. Our children devoured it at once. Price only 50 cents; by mail, 55 cents; registered, 65 cents.

"A Voice from the Orient." This is a small volume of select sermons by Rev. M. M. Mangasarian, a native Greek, and pastor of the Spring Garden Street Presbyterian Church, of Philadelphia. This is an exceedingly interesting book for reading in leisure hours. Price, $1.00.

Rev. J. E. Webb has published an excellent Record Book for church trustees, with blanks for everything pertaining to their reports and business meetings. It is well bound and well arranged. We have seen nothing like it, nor half so convenient. The book is arranged for four years. It is just the thing to aid in making correct records. For sale at our Publishing House. Price, $1.50.

"The Resurrection of the Redeemed, and Hades," by Rev. James Boggs. A book of 214 pages of well written matter, well bound in cloth. Price, 50 cents.

Orders for each or all of these works may be sent to us at once. Cash orders only.

OFFER.

To the Ministers and Members of the A. M. E. Church:

1st. We will give to every minister who will send me his Dollar Money by the 15th of August a gold medal of Bishops Payne and Asbury. Who will be the first to send in the money? for we need it to pay the Bishops and General Officers of the Church and to help the Metropolitan Church.

2d. The pastor sending the largest amount of money by the 15th of Aug., 1885, I will give him "Bishop Turner's Book," or Dr. Tanner's "Outlines."

3d. Send in the money soon! Send it to Xenia, Ohio.

4th. Do the best you can to help me.

5th. We must have seventy-five thousand dollars this year. Who will be the first to start the ball—the Dollar Ball? Send on the dollars.

6th. Let every minister raise one dollar for each member this year. Try it once in your life.

7th. I will give a present to every church in the connection that will raise one dollar for each member. We will have a roll of honor and usefulness, and the pastors who will raise one dollar for or from each of his members will be put down on that roll and published in the Budget of 1886.

The Bishops and General Officers must be paid.

The Metropolitan Church in Washington must be completed, by order of the General Conference. It is under way now. It will be the grandest church in the connection when completed.

Don't wait for the conference but send the money to B. W. Arnett, Xenia, Ohio, as soon as you get it; if it is small, send it anyway. Small amounts help in work.

I am yours,
B. W. ARNETT,
Wilberforce, Ohio.

NOTICE.

All communications intended for the Sunday School Union of the A. M. E. Church that are addressed to Rev. C. S. Smith, Nashville, Tennessee, will be received. It is not necessary to give the name of the street nor the number of our house or place. Rev. C. S. Smith, Nashville, Tenn., is sufficient. Telegrams addressed the same way will reach us. We are fully settled in our new headquarters and prepared for business. C. S. SMITH, Secretary.

AGENTS WANTED.

Will our pastors who are not supplying the RECORDER to their people, please do so by sending for a package to be sent weekly? If it is too much trouble to you, encourage some young man or boy, or, what is quite as good, a young lady whom you could recommend. Many of those who are now acting as agents are ladies. Let every one take hold of this. Let us hear from our workers. Send on your orders. Sell the paper for five cents and send us three cents. Address

J. C. EMBRY, 631 Pine street.

NOTE TO AGENTS SELLING THE RECORDER.

On and after the 1st of June, agents selling 10 copies and over will be charged 2½ cents a copy, (two cents and a half); less than ten copies, 3 cents.

All agents now selling and in arrears for more than one month will be stopped after June 11th. After that all must settle the first of each month.

More than $400 is due us to-day on RECORDER sales alone. We shall sift our agents next week.

Now, dear friends and brethren, help us. We are endeavoring to do your work with energy and faithfulness, we pray you to stand by your own cause.

ROYAL

POWDER
Absolutely Pure.

This powder never varies. A marvel of purity strength and wholesomeness. More economical than the ordinary kinds, and cannot be sold in competition with the multitudes of low test, short weight, alum or phosphate powders. Sold only in cans. ROYAL BAKING POWDER Co., New York.

NOTICE.

A NEW DEPARTURE IN THE RECORDER SALES BUSINESS.

Our new rules are as follows: 1st. On appointing an agent he or she must sign a written contract binding each to sell and return one-half of the sales money to us monthly and to make a full settlement of all claims at the end of every three months. 2nd. All papers unsold to be carefully preserved and reported with each settlement and held subject to our orders. They must be counted, bound and returned to us when required. 3rd. Such agents will be allowed one-third of each annual subscription they obtain for the paper at $1.50 per year, they retaining fifty cents and sending us a net one dollar. Or, they can take subscriptions on our installment plan, collecting 30 cents in advance every two months, and sending us 20 cents.

These rules will be strictly applied to all except regular itinerant ministers. We are compelled to do this for the protection of the Department against severe loss. We issue about two hundred and sixty thousand copies annually. Two-fifths, or one hundred and four thousand copies are sent out to agents. On this number we lose from $1,200 to $1,500 year. Believing that all our brethren will favor any plan which promises avoidance of this great loss, we have resolved on the above rules. Please read them, note well and prepare to settle at once.

NOTE.—These new agreements will be furnished in blank to all who wish to become or continue agents.

"Pastor's Memorandum Book," by Rev. C. T. Shaffer. Price, 45 cents.

Over 5,000,000 bushels of grain are afloat at Chicago, and it is believed that the grain fleet that will leave that city as soon as navigation opens, will be larger than any one of the kind that ever set sail.

THE BEST TONIC
Strengthens the Muscles. Nourishes the Nerves.
Enriches the Blood. Gives New Vigor.
Dr. J. L. Myers, Fairfield, Iowa, says:
"Brown's Iron Bitters is the best iron medicine I have known in my 30 years' practice. I have found it especially beneficial in anæmia or physical exhaustion, and in all debilitating ailments that keep us heavily on the sympathetic. Use it freely in my own family."
Mr. W. P. Geary, 827 Main St., Covington, Ky., says: "I was completely broken down in health and troubled with pains in my back. Brown's Iron Bitters entirely restored me to health."
Genuine has above Trade Mark and crossed red lines on wrapper. Take no other. Made only by BROWN CHEMICAL CO., BALTIMORE, MD.

Manager's Notes.

We have on hand

the Revised Version of the Bible, just issued from the press. Two styles, $1 and $2 per copy. We want to sell them now. Please order them. Beautiful paper, clear type and most interesting reading. You never saw so clearly the meaning of many things as you will find in this new old Book!

Wakefield's Theology, the standard theological text book, adopted by the Bishops for the course of study. $2.50 by mail at your risk; $2.25 by express. Please order them. They are here and must be sold.

Then we have an excellent book—"Fifty Years and Beyond,"—a charming thing for older people and for those who intend to be old. It sends up—not down—the shining pathway of years with a harp and song. $2.00, postpaid. Must be sold. We have many more, but can't speak of them now.

What we must say

now, is that we are opening a regular campaign for the CHRISTIAN RECORDER. We want two thousand new subscribers, and all the old ones to renew. Now, appreciating the dullness of the times, we have resolved to put the paper within the reach of all, adopting the installment plan.

Installment

costs a little more, but is easier because it gives more time. Hence, we make the following offer to all who desire to have the RECORDER:

Send us 25 Cents and we will enroll your name in a special book kept for that purpose and will send you the paper for sixty days; then send us 50 cents, and two months after 50 cents, and two months later 50 cents more. Total, $1.75.

All our Pastors

are Agents for the RECORDER, and are hereby authorized to present this proposition to their people and receive their enrollment fee (25 cents), and give their receipt for the same. [Note.—We will send a few blank slips of receipts to all who will act for us in this matter.]

On this Plan

we give full six months for paying the subscription.

"Pastor's Memorandum Book," by Rev. C. T. Shaffer. Price, 45 cents, no discount. An excellent book.

A Household Remedy.

Ayer's Pills are invaluable for children, and should always be kept ready for use in case of an emergency. "I have used Ayer's Pills, in my family, for the past fifteen years. I give them to my children, in preference to any other physic, and always with satisfactory results. We consider this medicine a household necessity, and would not be without it.—B. F. Stevenson, Yonkers, N. Y.

I have used Ayer's Cathartic Pills, in my family, for ten years. They are pleasant and safe to take, and agree with MY CHILDREN better than any medicine known to me. For stomach, liver, and bowel complaints, I consider Ayer's Pills unequalled.—Mrs. Helen H. French, Jackson, Mich.

I have used Ayer's Pills for over twenty years, and am never without them. As a family medicine they are unsurpassed.—Jefferson S. Tenuis, New Hampshire, O.

I have used Ayer's Pills many years, in my practice and in my family, and have found them entirely satisfactory as a cathartic medicine.—George E. Waller, M. D., Martinsville, Va.

Ayer's Pills are made from the concentrated extracts and active remedial properties of purely vegetable substances. They are therefore more effective and safer than pills made by the ordinary process, with powdered drugs. "I have used Ayer's Pills from childhood. They have been my family medicine for years, and never fail to give perfect satisfaction.—Mrs. C. E. Clark, Tewksbury, Mass.

Ayer's Cathartic Pills are considered a household necessity to my customers, and always give perfect satisfaction. Our BEST PHYSICIANS invariably use them in their practice.—Calvin Tilton, Druggist, Allendale, Mo.

We have used Ayer's Sugar-Coated Pills many years, and think them a very safe and excellent family aperient.—A. B. Foster, Children's Home, Westville, Conn.

For the past five years I was seldom free from the torturing pains of Neuralgia. At last I discovered a remedy in Ayer's Cathartic Pills, which not only afforded immediate relief, but have completely cured me.—Mrs. Lemuel N. Hunnewell, McConnellsburgh, Pa.

SEDGWICK STEEL WIRE FENCE

Is the best general purpose wire fence in use. It is a strong net-work without barbs. Don't injure stock. It will turn dogs, pigs, sheep and poultry, as well as horses and cattle. The best fence for Farms, Gardens, Stock Ranges and Railroads. Very neat, pretty styles for Lawns, Parks, School-lots and Cemeteries. Covered with rust-proof galvanized wire, or made of galvanized wire, as preferred. It will last a life-time. It is better than boards or barbed wire in every respect. Give it a fair trial; it will wear itself into favor. The Sedgwick Gates made of wrought-iron pipe and steel wire, defy all competition in lightness, neatness, strength and durability. We make the best, cheapest and easiest operating all-iron composite or self-opening gate, and the greatest cheap iron fences now made. The best Wire Stretcher, Cutting Pliers and Post Augers. For prices and particulars ask Hardware Dealers, or address, mentioning paper,

"GENESIS RE-READ,"

By Rev. T. G. Steward, D.D.

A great Scientifico-Religious Book, Orthodox, hot Sparkling and Progressive. Two hundred and fifty pages crammed full of fact and thought. Beautifully printed, elegantly bound. The best book in all respects ever put out by our Publishing House. Read some of the golden laurels it is winning from the secular press of our own conservative city:

The Times notes it thus:

Another explanation of the creation of the world and of the Bible account of it has been published in a book called Genesis Re-Read, by T. G. Steward, D.D. The work claims to give the latest conclusions of science, and emanates from the A. M. E. Book Rooms, 631 Pine street.

The Record says:

In Genesis Re-Read Dr. T. G. Steward examines the latest conclusions of physical science in their relation to the Mosaic record. Of course the book is orthodox, though Dr. Steward believes that Moses, while surely teaching a direct creation, allows also for orderly development, but its temper is so moderate and its plea for mutual consideration on the part of the Christian and the scientist is so honestly supported that it will not fail to commend itself to a wide and mixed community of readers.

The Inquirer says:

The Mosaic history of the creation and the great events in the world's early history are here examined in the light of modern science. The work is done skilfully, and evidently by a ripe student of both theology and science. The conclusion is that there is no necessary conflict between the Bible and the discoveries of science, but that both may be harmonized without infringing the sacred authority of the one or questioning the correctness of the other. It is a book that may be read with profit, by all who have had doubts created by the apparent conflict between religion and science, while Bishop Campbell's appendix is so admirable answer to those who have sought to asperse the Divine authority of the New Testament writings.

The Ledger says:

This book contains a summary of the latest conclusions of physical science in their relations to the Mosaic record. There is not a dull page in it. The writer gives evidence both of diligence in the studies preliminary to such a work and of intimate acquaintance with leading writers. His own faith is of the old fashioned and simple character. Yet he has not hesitated to search the whole range of the literature of the subject. His references and citations may be said to furnish an index to the most prominent writers, while he mildly protests: We have clothed the teachers of science with an imaginary ability amounting almost to infallibility, and hence are often captivated because we do not weigh the evidence. We pay much greater respect to the witness than to the testimony.

The Press says of the author:

His style is simple and naive and not without a certain taking eloquence.

PRICE, ONLY $1.25.

GENUINE MERIT
IS SURE TO WIN.
We believe the RUSSIAN RHEUMATISM CURE has real, genuine merit. It is this faith which has led us to put our money into it so liberally. We have put more into it than money gained by twenty years of honorable business dealing right here on Market St., Philadelphia, and yet except in our faith in the Russian Rheumatism Cure that we are willing to stake our reputation on it as a safe, speedy and permanent cure for all Rheumatic troubles. Could we offer any better guaranty of good faith? Others besides ourselves have tested its merits, and add their hearty and unequivocal endorsement.
We send to all who ask it a pamphlet containing much of such testimony. And yet if you have Rheumatism why suffer one day longer than is necessary. It costs only $2.50 to be cured, and while you are making up your mind to try it you might be made well. The has saved every Rheumatic sufferer who has given it a fair trial. It is for you to decide whether or not it shall cure you.

ALL-NIGHT INHALATION!
A positive revolution in the treatment of Nose, Throat, and Lung Diseases, used, for the purpose designed, as valuable a discovery as vaccination.
THE PILLOW-INHALER!
A Speedy, Positive and Permanent Cure for Catarrh, Bronchitis, Asthma, and Incipient Consumption.

It is a hair pillow, with reservoirs of evaporating liquid, the fumes or vapor of which is inhaled all night long, whilst sleeping, as usual, and without any discomfort. It is used safely at night, and is perfectly safe as the most delicate. There is no stomach-dosing, douching or snuffing; but just as a smoky lamp will leave a deposit on a white wall, so the PILLOW-INHALER, for eight hours at a time, spreads a powerful healing balm or salve on the inflamed inner coating of the diseased air-surfaces, from the nostrils to the bronchi of the lungs, and hence into the blood. Old-fashioned inhalation, through a tube, for a few minutes a day, often cured. Think of eight hours constant action, on the same principle, but intensified a hundred-fold! There are no pipes or tubes. The medicine is breathed in, not swallowed, and goes right to the diseased parts. The testimony to its results is beyond all question as attested by the experience of thousands.
CATARRH. BRONCHITIS. CONSUMPTION.
Rev. H. L. Hudson, Colonist of the Port of New York, says: "I take pleasure in stating that the PILLOW-INHALER has been of the greatest relief, and I believe of permanent benefit to my self, a fact that has been a great surprise from its mild and unassuming character, unaccompanied with disagreeable asthma. I recommend the use to all persons afflicted with such maladies."
S. L. GRIDER, 49 West 42nd St., New York.
Mrs. W. L. Cranmer, Richland Center, Rock Co., Pa., says: "I had Catarrh for years, and was going into Consumption. The PILLOW-INHALER has wrought such a cure for me that I feel I cannot do too much to spread the knowledge of it to others."
M. E. Alcorn, M. D., 1319 South Tenth St., Philadelphia, says: "I have used the PILLOW-INHALER in my practice, and I find it to be one of the best things for diseases of the respiratory passages."
Unlike any other treatment ever known the PILLOW-INHALER cures cases apparently beyond the pale of hope. Send for Explanatory Pamphlet and Testimonials.

The holding of a summer encampment of the Grand Army of Maine is under consideration.

The "boycott" has been found handy by several Chinese vegetable peddlers in a California town.

American sole leather is making such inroads on the Canadian market that a protective duty is asked for.

An Ohio miss has just left for Dakota to take charge of a $20 acre farm, which she has taken up under the tree culture act.

A skating rink that cost $5000 to build and fit up, was sold for less than one-tenth that sum a few days ago, at South Abington, Mass.

A pickpocket, known as "Geordie" Green, that was sent to prison under a five years' sentence in Brooklyn, on Tuesday, is now 72 years old.

Stands of all kinds and the sale of merchandise of every description are prohibited by regulations of the Treasury Department governing Government Buildings.

A Grand Army Post of Haddam, N. H., gave a reception recently to Robert Sargent, the only surviving soldier of the war of 1812 in the town. He is eighty eight years old.

All the carpenters, joiners, glaziers and tinmen in Paris (Switzerland) have struck work in consequence of the refusal of the masters to reduce the working day to ten hours.

The month just closed is reported to have been the coldest March England has had in seventy years. Skating was being extensively indulged in in the middle of the month there.

Two Atlanta bloodhounds sent to track a thief several days ago were doing nobly until they "struck" Yonkers. They then bolted in a different direction and have not since been heard from.

The total ice cut on the Penobscot River this past winter is estimated at 159,000 tons. This is said to be a much larger amount than has been harvested on the river in any previous season. The companies had about 20,000 tons of old ice on hand, so that the total amount now in the house is 105,000 tons.

Baron Pearbyn, whose death is announced in a London despatch, is said to have carried a larger amount of life insurance than was ever placed on any other eagle life in the United Kingdom. He was born in Java, 1800, and became wealthy by marrying Miss Pennant, part owner of famous slate quarries.

A young man, giving the name of John Downing, who was discharged from the county jail at Dover, N. H., last week after serving thirty days for drunkenness, has been identified as the son of a very wealthy business man of New York city. He had spent $5000 in the twenty days previous to his arrest, and was penniless.

New Haven, Conn., Knights of Labor will hereafter hold public discussions every Sunday afternoon at the Lyceum Temple of Music. One leading speak-er will be provided each afternoon, and at the close of his lecture he may be cross questioned by any one in the audience, and in the contest that will ensue arguments will be allowed. Rev. Dr. Newman Smyth, the Pastor of Center Church, will speak next Sunday afternoon at the first of these meetings, on "Trades Unions as Viewed by a Outsider."

The Journal of Lewiston, Me., tells the story of a woman living near there who suffered for years from a severe headache, having been advised to "get a certain "foreign cure," which, by the way, is enclosed in a nicely lolabed box, something on the make of a car whistle She purchased the cure, and being in total ignorance of its nature, used the thing else pertaining to it, excepting the manner of applying, rubbed the box instead of the contents several times across her forehead. The pain left instantly and has not since returned.

HORSFORD'S ACID PHOSPHATE,
A Good Tonic.

Dr. Adam Miller, Chicago, Ill., says: "It is one of the very few really valuable preparations that are offered to the afflicted. In a practice of thirty-five years, I have found a few good things, and this is one of them.

"A mac never loses anything by politeness." All seventh-day Baptists are men who never do and never intend to.

A CALL TO THE WOMEN OF THE A. M. E. CHURCH.

WILMINGTON, DAL., Feb. 6 1886.

Dear Sisters:—The cry for help is being heard from foreign fields, and the Parent M. M. Society is desirous of responding to their wants; to do this their funds must be increased, and nothing but active work on the part of the women of the Church will do it. Let each church (that has not done so heretofore) organize a branch society, and commence work in earnest. The Board of Managers meet the first Thursday in August, November, February and May; each auxiliary is requested to send its report to the Cor. Sec'y of the Parent M. Society, so that she may be able to give a correct statement of the progress of the work throughout the connection.
MISS ESTHER AMSTRONG Cor. Sec'y.
711 Bottomwood St., Wilmington, Del.

NEW BOOKS

that will be on sale by the Manager in September and throughout the ensuing year:

"Fifty Years and Beyond; or, Old Age and How to Enjoy It." A book of incalculable value, as well as interest to all who have passed the meridian of life. 400 pages, 12mo, cloth, $1.00, same in gilt edges, $1.25.

"Studies in Genesis; or, Bible Views of the Creation in its Relation to Modern Science," by the Rev. T. G. Steward, D.D., and containing an important chapter on "Christian Evidences," by Bishop Campbell. This is an intensely interesting book, especially to preachers, old or young. It will contain about 250 pages, 12mo, on clear beautiful paper, and sold at the low rate of $1.25. The work is now in press under our own imprint. Orders, $1.25, mailing 10cts. extra.

"Bible Heroes; or, Stories from the Old Testament for Little Folks." Judging by my own children, no parent who would have his children imbued with the Scriptural spirit of Bible characters, could buy a better book. Our children devoured it at once. Price only 50 cents; by mail, 55 cents; registered, 65 cents.

"A Voice from the Orient." This is a small volume of select sermons by Rev. M. Mangasarian, a native Greek, and pastor of the Spring Garden Street Presbyterian Church, of Philadelphia. This is an exceedingly interesting book for reading in leisure hours. Price, $1.00.

Rev. J. E. Webb has published an excellent Church Book for church trustees, with blanks for everything pertaining to their reports and business transactions. It is well bound and well arranged. We have seen nothing like it, nor half so complete. The book is arranged for four years. It is just the thing to aid in making out records. Address, at our Publishing House. Price, $1.50.

The Resurrection of the Redeemed and Hades," by Rev. James Boggs. A book of 216 pages of closely written matter will bound in cloth. Price, 50 cents.

Orders for each or all of these works may be sent to us at once. Cash orders only.

OFFER.

To the Ministers and Members of the A. M. E. Church:

1st. We will give to every minister who will send us his Dollar Money by the 15th of August a gold medal of Bishop Payne and Allen. Who will be the first to send in the money? For we need it to pay the Bishops and General Officers of the Church and to keep the Metropolitan Church.

2d. The Conference sending the largest amount of money by the 15th of Aug., 1885, I will give him "Bishop Turner's Book" or "Dr. Tanner's Outlines."

3d. Send in the money soon! Send it to Xenia, Ohio.

4th. Do the best you can to help me.

5th. We must have seventy-five thousand dollars this year. Who will be the first to start the ball—the Dollar Money Ball?

6th. Let every minister raise one dollar for each member. We will have now, by all of these and gratuities, and the pastors who will raise one dollar for or from each of his members will be the richest in all the world, and relished in the Budget of 1886.

The Bishops and General Officers must be paid.

The Metropolitan Church in Washington must be completed, by order of the General Conference. It is needed very much. It will be the grandest church in the connection when completed.

Don't wait for the conference but send the money to B. W. Arnett, Xenia, Ohio, as soon as you get it; if it is small, send it anyway. Small amounts help in work.

I am yours,
B. W. ARNETT,
Wilberforce, Ohio.

NOTICE.

All communications intended for the Sunday School Union of the A. M. E. Church should be addressed to Rev. C. S. Smith, Nashville, Tennessee, will be received. He is not necessary to give the name at the street nor the number of our business place. Rev. C. S. Smith, Nashville, Tenn., is sufficient. Telegrams addressed the same way will reach me. We are fully settled in our new headquarters and prepared for business.
C. S. SMITH, Secretary.

AGENTS WANTED.

Will our pastors who are not supplying the Budget to their people, please do so by sending for a package to be sent weekly? It is too much work for you, encourage some young man or boy, or, what is quite as good, a young lady whom you could recommend. Many of those who are now acting as agents are ladies. Let every church have a live Agent. Call for them from our workers. Send on your orders. Sell the papers for five cents and send us three cents. Address

J. C. EMBRY. 631 Pine street.

NOTE TO AGENTS SELLING THE RECORDER.

On and after the 1st of June, agents selling 10 copies and over will be charged 2½ cents a copy, (two cents and a half), less than ten copies, 3 cents.

All agents now selling and in arrears for more than one month will be stopped after June 1st, 1885, or that all must settle the first of each month.

More than half of the men in ten-day on RECORDER sales alone. We shall sift our agents next week.

Now, dear friends and brethren, help us. We are endeavoring to do your work with energy and faithfulness, we pray you to stand by your own cause.

ROYAL YEAST CAKE
ROYAL BAKING POWDER
Absolutely Pure.
This powder never varies. A marvel of purity, strength and wholesomeness. More economical than the ordinary kinds, and cannot be sold in competition with the multitudes of low test, short weight, alum or phosphate powders. Sold only in cans. ROYAL BAKING POWDER Co., NEW YORK.

NOTICE.

A NEW DEPARTURE IN THE RECORDER SALES BUSINESS.

Our new rules are as follows: 1st. On appointing an agent he or she must sign a written contract binding each to sell and return one-half of the sales each month as monthly and to make a full settlement of all claims at the end of every three months. 3rd. All papers usually to be carefully preserved and reported with each settlement and held subject to our orders. They must be counted, bound and returned as when required. 3rd. Such agents will be allowed one-third of each annual subscription they obtain for the paper at $1.50 per year, they retaining fifty cents and sending us a net one dollar. Or, they can take subscriptions on our installment plan, collecting 30 cents in advance every two months, and sending us 90 cents.

These rules will be strictly applied to all except regular itinerant ministers. We are compelled to do this for the protection of the Department against severe loss. We issue about two hundred and sixty thousand copies annually. Two-fifths, or one hundred and four thousand copies are sent out to agents. On this number we lose from $1,200 to $1,500 year. Believing that all our brethren will favor any plan which promises avoidance of this great loss, we have made the above rules. Please read them, note well and prepare to settle at once.

NOTE.—These new agreements will be furnished in blank to all who wish to become or continue agents.

A three-year-old boy of whom the Buffalo Express has the information weighes 105 lbs., in his shirt sleeves and stockings, though neither of his parents weighs over 135 lbs., and he is perfectly healthy.

The enterprising burglar does things with a rush in Connecticut. In Newton, in that State, a gang the other night broke down the doors of two dwellings with a stick of timber, used as a battering ram, and robbed the inmates at the point of the revolver.

A ticket agent of the Pennsylvania Railroad at Seaside Park, N. J., rescued a young lady of Beech Haven from drowning lately. He then made a proposal of marriage to her. At first she declined, on the ground that she was already engaged to another. After some argument, however, she decided to accept him.

A miner who was among a number engaged in digging for the entombed party in the mine at Nanticoke, declares he saw a light about 200 feet ahead of him through a small aperture. Opinions differ as to whether he did or not see a light, but some experienced miners have taken fresh hope from the circumstance.

Catarrh and Bronchitis Cured.

A clergyman, after years of suffering from that loathsome disease, Catarrh, and vainly trying every known remedy, at last found a prescription which completely cured and saved him from death. Any sufferer from this dreadful disease sending a self-addressed stamped envelope to Dr. J. Firon & Co., 117 East Fifteenth Street, New York, will receive the recipe free of charge.

CONSUMPTION CURED.

An old physician, retired from practice, having had placed in his hands by an East India missionary the formula of a simple vegetable remedy for the speedy and permanent cure of Consumption, Bronchitis, Catarrh, Asthma and all Throat and Lung Affections also a positive and radical cure for Nervous Debility and all Nervous Complaints, after having tested its wonderful curative powers in thousands of cases has felt it his duty to make it known to his suffering fellows. Actuated by this motive and a desire to relieve human suffering, I will send free of charge, to all who desire it, this recipe, in German, French or English, with full directions for preparing and using. NOTICE.

A NEW DEPARTURE IN THE RECORDER SALES BUSINESS.

Our new rules are as follows: 1st. On appointing an agent he or she must sign a written contract binding each to sell and return one-half of the sales money to us monthly and to make a full settlement of all claims at the end of every three months. 2nd. All papers unsold to be carefully preserved and reported with each settlement and held subject to our orders. They must be counted, bound and returned to us when required. 3rd. Such agents will be allowed one-third of each annual subscription they obtain for the paper at $1.50 per year, they retaining fifty cents and sending us a net one dollar. Or, they can take subscriptions on our installment plan, collecting 30 cents in advance every two months, and sending us 20 cents.

These rules will be strictly applied to all except regular itinerant ministers. We are compelled to do this for the protection of the Department against severe loss. We issue about two hundred and sixty thousand copies annually. Two-fifths, or one hundred and four thousand copies are sent out to agents. On this number we lose from $1,200 to $1,500 year. Believing that all our brethren will favor any plan which promises avoidance of this great loss, we have resolved on the above rules. Please read them, note well and prepare to settle at once.

NOTE.—These new agreements will be furnished in blank to all who wish to become or continue agents.

FOR THE BLOOD

BROWN'S IRON BITTERS

Combining IRON with PURE VEGETABLE TONICS, quickly and completely CLEANSES and ENRICHES THE BLOOD. Quickens the action of the Liver and Kidneys. Clears the complexion, makes the skin smooth. It does not injure the teeth, cause headache, or produce constipation—ALL OTHER IRON MEDICINES DO. Physicians and Druggists everywhere recommend it.

DR. N. S. ROGERS, of Marion, Mass., says: "I recommend Brown's Iron Bitters as a valuable tonic for enriching the blood, and removing all dyspeptic symptoms. It does not hurt the teeth."

DR. R. M. DEITZEL, Reynolds, Ind., says: "I have prescribed Brown's Iron Bitters in cases of anæmia and blood diseases, also when a tonic was needed, and it has proved thoroughly satisfactory."

MR. WM. BURNS, 258 St. Mary St., New Orleans, La., says: "Brown's Iron Bitters relieved me in a case of blood poisoning, and I heartily commend it to those needing a blood purifier.

MR. W. W. MORGAN, Tuscumbia, Ala., says: "I have been troubled from childhood with impure blood and eruption on my face—two bottles of Brown's Iron Bitters effected a perfect cure. I cannot speak too highly of this valuable medicine."

Genuine has above Trade Mark and crossed red lines on wrapper. Take no other. Made only by BROWN CHEMICAL CO., BALTIMORE, MD.

Manager's Notes.

We have on hand

the Revised Version of the Bible, just issued from the press. Two styles, $1 and $2 per copy. We want to sell them now. Please order them. Beautiful paper, clear type and most interesting reading. You never saw so clearly the meaning of many things as you will find in this new old Book!

Wakefield's Theology, the standard theological text book, adopted by the Bishops for the course of study. $2.50 by mail at your risk; $2.25 by express. Please order them. They are here and must be sold.

Then we have an excellent book—"Fifty Years and Beyond,"—a charming thing for older people and for those who intend to be old. It sends up—not down—the shining pathway of years with a harp and song. $2.00, postpaid. Must be sold. We have many more, but can't speak of them now.

What we must say

now, is that we are opening a regular campaign for the CHRISTIAN RECORDER. We want two thousand new subscribers, and all the old ones to renew. Now, appreciating the dullness of the times, we have resolved to put the paper within the reach of all, adopting the installment plan.

Installment

costs a little more, but is easier because it gives more time. Hence, we make the following offer to all who desire to have the RECORDER:

Send us 25 Cents and we will enroll your name in a special book kept for that purpose and will send you the paper for sixty days; then send us 50 cents, and two months after 50 cents, and two months later 50 cents more. Total, $1.75.

All our Pastors

are Agents for the RECORDER, and are hereby authorized to present this proposition to their people and receive their enrollment fee (25 cents), and give their receipt for the same. [Note.—We will send a few blank slips of receipts to all who will act for us in this matter.]

On this Plan

we give full six months for paying the subscription. Memorandum Book," by Rev. C. T. Shaffer. Price, 45 cents, no discount. An excellent book.

Stomach Troubles

Troubles are caused by improper diet, hasty eating and drinking, late suppers, the excessive use of stimulants, and a scrofulous condition of the blood. Ayer's Sarsaparilla is the most efficacious remedy for all such disorders. "I am convinced that the worst cases of Dyspepsia cured by taking Ayer's Sarsaparilla. I suffered greatly from this complaint for years, and never took any medicine that did me any good until I commenced using Ayer's Sarsaparilla. I took four bottles of this preparation last spring, and my appetite, health, and strength were completely restored.—Richard M. Norton, Danbury, Conn.

My wife was long subject to severe headaches, the result of stomach and liver disorders. After trying various remedies, without relief, she used Ayer's Sarsaparilla, and was speedily cured.—S. Page, 21 Austin st., Lowell, Mass.

As a remedy for Debility, Faintness, Loss of Appetite, and Indigestion, I took one bottle of Ayer's Sarsaparilla, and was cured.—H. Mansfield, Chelmsford, Mass.

Prepared by Dr. J. C. Ayer & Co., Lowell, Mass.

Troubles

Never come alone. If the Liver, Kidneys, or Bowels are disordered, other parts of the body become affected. Ayer's Sarsaparilla restores the vigor required for the healthy action of these organs more speedily than any other medicine. "A few bottles of Ayer's Sarsaparilla me of Kidney Disease, when all other medicines failed. It is the most reliable and best remedy for this complaint known to me.—Eli Dodd, Xenia, Ill.

"I was afflicted with a severe bowel difficulty; my vitality seemed to be rapidly diminishing, my appetite failed, my tongue was badly coated, and my strength was gone. In this enfeebled condition I began taking Ayer's Sarsaparilla. I had not taken many doses before I noticed a decided change for the better. My appetite and strength returned, and my whole system manifested renewed vigor.—E. B. Simonds, Glover, Vt.

I have used Ayer's Medicines in my family, with satisfaction, for years, and always have a bottle of Ayer's Sarsaparilla in the house. It is as good for the blood.—Mrs. E. Thruvegen, Perth Amboy, N. J.

Sold by Druggists. Price $1; six bottles, $5.

PARSONS' PURGATIVE PILLS

MAKE NEW RICH BLOOD.

Sold everywhere, or sent by mail for 25 cts. in stamps. Dr. T. H. Johnson & Co., 88 C.H. St., Boston.

"GENESIS RE-READ,"

By Rev. T. G. Steward, D.D.

A great Scientifico-Religious Book, Orthodox, but Sparkling and Progressive. Two hundred and fifty pages crammed full of fact and thought. Beautifully printed, elegantly bound. The best book in all respects ever put out by our Publishing House. Read some of the golden laurels it is winning from the secular press of our own conservative city:

The Times notes it thus:

Another explanation of the creation of the world and of the Bible account of it has been published in a book called Genesis Re-Read, by T. G. Steward, D.D. The work claims to give the latest conclusions of science, and emanates from the A. M. E. Book Rooms, 631 Pine street.

The Record says:

In Genesis Re-Read Dr. T. G. Steward examines the latest conclusions of physical science in their relation to the Mosaic record. Of course the book is orthodox, though Dr. Steward believes that Moses, while surely teaching a direct creation, allows also for orderly development, but his temper is so moderate and his plea for mutual consideration on the part of the Christian and the scientist is so honestly supported that it will not fail to commend itself to a wide and mixed community of readers.

The Inquirer says:

The Mosaic history of the creation and the great events in the world's early history are here examined in the light of modern science. The work is done skilfully, and evidently by a ripe student of both theology and science. The conclusion is that there is no necessary conflict between the Bible and the discoveries of science, but that both may be harmonized without infringing the sacred authority of the one or questioning the correctness of the other. It is a book that may be read with profit, by all who have had doubts created by the apparent conflict between religion and science, while Bishop Campbell's appendix is an admirable answer to those who have sought to asperse the Divine authority of the New Testament writings.

The Ledger says:

This book contains a summary of the latest conclusions of physical science in their relations to the Mosaic record. There is not a dull page in it. The writer gives evidence both of diligence in the studies preliminary to such a work and of intimate acquaintance with leading writers. His own faith is of the old fashioned and simple character. Yet he has not hesitated to search the whole range of the literature of the subject. His references and citations may be said to furnish an index to the most prominent writers, while he mildly protests: We have clothed the teachers of science with an imaginary ability amounting almost to infallibility, and hence are often captivated because we do not weigh the evidence. We pay much greater respect to the witness than to the testimony.

The Press says of the author:

His style is simple and naive and not without a certain taking eloquence.

PRICE, ONLY $1.25.

It is the book for the times. Every thinking man and woman in the country ought to have it. Published and for sale at the

HINTS TO SELF-EDUCATED MINISTERS.

Reasons why all preachers should read Dr. James Porter's Hints. 1st. Because it furnishes the most natural method of preparing to preach effectively. 2nd. Because "it shows how to preach well in sense and grace, and yet with power and success." 3rd. Because "it exposes numerous errors in all branches of ministerial service, and how to correct them." Its reviewers advise ministers to read the work carefully, because "they will find in it much that they never thought of"—because "the very hints they most need to receive are not furnished by other homiletical works."—because "it is replete with shrewd, hard, good sense;"—because "it is a book for all ministers, however educated"—because it is assured by many to be the most helpful book they ever read.—"Worth its weight in gold."

IS THE BIBLE TRUE, AND FROM GOD?

Read Dr. Porter's late book called "Christianity Demonstrated by Experience," it will settle the question forever and set your souls on fire. Buy a copy and keep it to lend to the poor society, and especially to unbelievers. On sale by Rev. J. C. Embry, Price, $1.50. A new supply just received.

OFFER.

To the Ministers and Members of the A. M. E. Church:

1st. We will give to every minister who will send us his Dollar Money by the 15 h of October, a copy of the Bishops Payne and Asbury. Who will be the first to send in the money? For we need it in the treasury of the Parent Moral Officers of the Church and to help the Metropolitan Church.

2d. The pastor sending the largest amount of money by the 15th of Aug., 1885, I will give him "Bishop Turner's Book," or Dr. Tanner's "Outline."

3d. I will give a present to every church in the connection that will raise for the Parent Fund, $5 or more. We will have a roll of honor and usefulness, and the pastors who will raise one dollar for or from each of the members will be put down on that roll and published in the Budget of 1886.

The Bishops and General Officers must be paid.

The Metropolitan Church in Washington must be completed, by order of the General Conference. It is under way now. It will be the grandest church in the connection when completed.

Don't wait for the conference but send the money to B. W. Arnett, Xenia, Ohio, as soon as you get it; if it is not received I will worry. Small amounts help in work.

I am yours,
B. W. ARNETT,
Wilberforce, Ohio.

Manager's Notices.

We have on hand
the Revised Version of the Bible, just issued from the press. Two styles, $1 and $2 per copy. We want to sell them now. Please order them. Beautiful paper, clear type and most interesting reading. Too never saw so clearly the meaning of many things as you will find in this new old Book!

Wakefield's Theology, the standard theological text book, adopted by the Bishops for the course of study. $2.50 by mail at your risk; $2.25 by express. Please order them. They are here and must be sold.

Then we have an excellent book—"Fifty Years and Beyond,"—a charming thing for older people and for those who intend to be old. It sends up—not down—the shining pathway of years with a harp and song. $2.00, postpaid. Must be sold. We have many more, but can't speak of them now.

What we must say
now, is that we are opening a regular campaign for the CHRISTIAN RECORDER. We want two thousand new subscribers, and all the old ones to renew. Now, appreciating the dullness of the times, we have resolved to put the paper within the reach of all, adopting the installment plan.

Installment
costs a little more, but is easier because it gives more time. Hence, we make the following offer to all who desire to have the RECORDER:

Send us 25 Cents and we will enroll your name in a special book kept for that purpose and will send you the paper for sixty days; then send us 50 cents, and two months after 50 cents, and two months later 50 cents more. Total, $1.75.

All our Pastors are Agents for the RECORDER, and are hereby authorised to present this proposition to their people and receive their enrollment fee (25 cents), and give their receipt for the same. [Note.—We will send a few blank slips of receipts to all who will act for us in this matter.]

On this Plan
we give full six months for paying the subscription.

"Pastor's Memorandum Book," by Rev. C. T. Shaffer. Price, 45 cents, no discount. An excellent book.

Troubles

Troubles are caused by improper diet, hasty eating and drinking, late suppers, the excessive use of stimulants, and a sedentary condition of the body. Ayer's Sarsaparilla is the most effectual cure known for all such disorders. It will not be believed that the worst cases of Dyspepsia cured by taking Ayer's Sarsaparilla, if ordered greatly from the use of this medicine for years, and never took any medicine that did me any good until I commenced using Ayer's Sarsaparilla. I took four bottles of this preparation last spring, and my appetite, health, and strength were completely restored.—Richard M. Sexton, Danbury, Conn.

Can be

My wife was long subject to severe Headaches, the result of stomach and liver disorders. She tried various remedies, without relief, she used Ayer's Sarsaparilla, and was cured.—Jesse C. Page, 21 Austin st., Lowell, Mass.

As a remedy for Debility, Paleness, Loss of Appetite, and Dyspepsia, I look on bottle of as worth its weight in gold.—H. Mansfield, Chelmsford, Mass.

Ayer's Sarsaparilla

DRUNKENNESS

of the Liquor Habit positively cured by administering Dr. HALSEY'S GOLDEN SPECIFIC. It can be given in a cup of tea or coffee without the knowledge of the patient, making it an absolutely harmless, and will effect a permanent and speedy cure, whether the patient is a confirmed drunkard or a moderate drinker. There are thousands of drunkards who are constantly using the Specific in their tea or coffee, and believe they are quitting of their own free will. The system once impregnated with the Specific, it becomes an utter impossibility for the liquor appetite to exist. Thousands of cases have been effected in which the patients have been entirely ignorant of the fact that they were taking anything for the Liquor Habit. Many have been induced to buy it and cure themselves by the use of GOLDEN SPECIFIC CO., 185 Race St., Cincinnati, Ohio.

The codfish continues to grow indefinitely without regard to age, so long as it has a plentiful supply of food. The oldest codfish are the largest, and they sometimes grow to be as long as a man is high. They swim about near the bottom of the sea, not often ascending to the surface, feeding on all sorts of animal life, such as crabs, shellfish and other small fish, but not on vegetables.

A blind boy preacher, 18 years old, is causing some excitement in Raleigh. A week ago he told his father that he had received a divine command to preach the Gospel, and would be blind for a period of some days. On Wednesday last he was smitten with blindness. A despatch from Raleigh under date of the 15th inst. says: "N. B. Broughton and John E. Ray, two men of this city of character and standing, went yesterday to see the boy preacher. They confirm his statements as far as possible. He is in good health and of ordinary education. While preaching he appears to be asleep or in a trance, lying on his right side, but when the benediction is pronounced he throws out his arms and shows evidence of awakening. Messrs. Broughton and Ray reported in full the sermon preached, which seems to be an able discourse in all respects. There is a good deal of interest over the matter, and the people are eager to hear the boy."

Thomas Benett, a stonecutter, of Rockford, Ill., found a bright piece of steel two inches long, and similar to a piece of knitting needle, in the middle of a large block of limestone he was cutting the other day. The steel was so imbedded in the stone and completely surrounded that it is impossible to account for its presence in the block except on the theory that it had been in the formation ages ago. The stone was taken from the Lemont quarries.

A CALL TO THE WOMEN OF THE A. M. E. CHURCH.

WILMINGTON, DEL., Feb. 6 1886.

Dear Sisters:—The cry for help is being heard from foreign fields, and the Parent M. M. Society is desirous of responding to their wants; to do this their fund must be increased, and nothing but active work on the part of the women of the Church will do it. Let each church (that has not done so heretofore) organize a branch society, and commence work in earnest. The Board of Managers meet the first Thursday in August, November, February and May; each auxiliary is requested to send its report to the Cor. Sec'y of the Parent M. M. Society, so that she may be able to give a correct statement of the progress of the work throughout the connection.

MISS ESTHER ARMSTRONG Cor. Sec'y.
711 Buttonwood St., Wilmington, Del.

NEW BOOKS

that will be on sale by the Manager in September and throughout the ensuing year:

"Fifty Years and Beyond; or, Old Age and How to Enjoy It." A book of incalculable value, as well as interest to all who have passed the meridian of life. 400 pages, cloth, $1.00, same in gilt edges, $1.50.

"Studies in Genesis; or, Bible Views of the Creation in its Relation to Modern Science," by the Rev. T. G. Steward, D.D., and containing an important chapter on "Christian Evidences," by Bishop Campbell. This is an intensely interesting book, especially to preachers, old or young. It will contain about 250 pages, 12mo. on clear beautiful paper, and sold at the low rate of $1 25. The work is now in press under our own imprint. Orders, $1 25, mailing 10cts. extra.

"Bible Heroes; or, Stories from the Old Testament for Little Folks." Judging by my own children, no parent who would have his children imbued with the heroic spirit of Bible characters, could buy a better book. Our children devoured it at once. Price only 50 cents; by mail, 55 cents; registered, 65 cents.

"A Voice from the Orient." This is a small volume of select sermons by Rev. M. M. Mangasarian, a native Greek, and pastor of the Spring Garden Street Presbyterian Church, of Philadelphia. This is an exceedingly interesting book for reading in leisure hours. Price, $1.00.

Rev. J. E. Webb has published an excellent Record Book for church trustees, with blanks for everything pertaining to their reports and business meetings. It is well bound and well arranged. We have seen nothing like it, nor half so convenient. The book is arranged for four years. It is just the thing to aid in making correct records. For sale at our Publishing House. Price, $1.50.

"The Resurrection of the Redeemed, and Hades." by Rev. James Boggs. A book of 214 pages of well written matter, well bound in cloth. Price, 50 cents.

Orders for each or all of these works may be sent to us at once. Cash orders only.

OFFER.

To the Ministers and Members of the A. M. E. Church:

1st. We will give to every minister who will send me his Dollar Money by the 15th of August a gold medal of Bishops Payne and Asbury. Who will be the first to send in the money? for we need it to pay the Bishops and General Officers of the Church and to help the Metropolitan Church.

2d. The pastor sending the largest amount of money by the 15th of Aug., 1885, I will give him "Bishop Turner's Book," or Dr. Tanner's "Outlines."

3d. Send in the money soon! Send it to Xenia, Ohio.

4th. Do the best you can to help me.

5th. We must have seventy-five thousand dollars this year. Who will be the first to start the ball—the Dollar Ball? Send on the dollars.

6th. Let every minister raise one dollar for each member this year. Try it once in your life.

7th. I will give a present to every church in the connection that will raise one dollar for each member. We will have a roll of honor and usefulness, and the pastors who will raise one dollar for or from each of his members will be put down on that roll and published in the Budget of 1886.

The Bishops and General Officers must be paid.

The Metropolitan Church in Washington must be completed, by order of the General Conference. It is under way now. It will be the grandest church in the connection when completed.

Don't wait for the conference but send the money to B. W. Arnett, Xenia, Ohio, as soon as you get it; if it is small, send it anyway. Small amounts help in work.

I am yours,
B. W. ARNETT,
Wilberforce, Ohio.

NOTE TO AGENTS SELLING THE RECORDER.

On and after the 1st of June, agents selling 10 copies and over will be charged 2½ cents a copy, (two cents and a half); less than ten copies, 3 cents.

All agents now selling and in arrears for more than one month will be stopped after June 11th. After that all must settle the first of each month.

More than $400 is due us to-day on RECORDER sales alone. We shall sift our agents next week.

Now, dear friends and brethren, help us. We are endeavoring to do your work with energy and faithfulness, we pray you to stand by your own cause.

NOTICE.

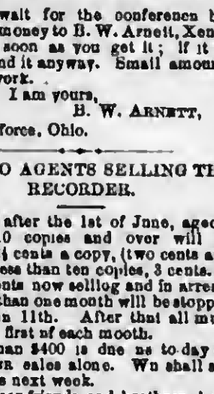
All communications intended for the Sunday School Union of the A. M. E. Church that are addressed to Rev. C. S. Smith, Nashville, Tennessee, will be received. It is not necessary to give the name of the street nor the number of our business place. Rev. C. S. Smith, Nashville, Tenn., is sufficient. Telegrams addressed the same way will reach us. We are fully settled in our new headquarters and prepared for business. C. S. SMITH, Secretary.

AGENTS WANTED.

Will our pastors who are not supplying the RECORDER to their people, please do so by sending for a package to be sent weekly? If it is too much trouble to you, encourage some young man or boy, or, what is quite as good, a young lady whom you could recommend. Many of those who are now acting as agents are ladies. Let every one take hold of this. Let us hear from our workers. Send on your orders. Sell the paper for five cents and send us three cents. Address

J. C. EMBRY, 631 Pine street.

ROYAL



BAKING POWDER

Absolutely Pure.

This powder never varies. A marvel of purity strength and wholesomeness. More economical than the ordinary kinds, and cannot be sold in competition with the multitudes of low test, short weight, alum or phosphate powders.

Sold only in cans. ROYAL BAKING POWDER Co., New York.

NOTICE.

A NEW DEPARTURE IN THE RECORDER SALES BUSINESS.

Our new rules are as follows: 1st. On appointing an agent he or she must sign a written contract binding each to sell and return one-half of the sales money to us monthly and to make a full settlement of all claims at the end of every three months. 2nd. All papers unsold to be carefully preserved and reported with each settlement and held subject to our orders. They must be counted, bound and returned to us when required. 3rd. Such agents will be allowed one-third of each annual subscription they obtain for the paper at $1.50 per year, they retaining fifty cents and sending us a net one dollar. Or, they can take subscriptions on our installment plan, collecting 30 cents in advance every two months, and sending us 20 cents.

These rules will be strictly applied to all except regular itinerant ministers. We are compelled to do this for the protection of the Department against severe loss. We issue about two hundred and sixty thousand copies annually. Two-fifths, or one hundred and four thousand copies are sent out to agents. On this number we lose from $1,200 to $1,500 year. Believing that all our brethren will favor any plan which promises avoidance of this great loss, we have resolved on the above rules. Please read them, note well and prepare to settle at once.

NOTE.—These new agreements will be furnished in blank to all who wish to become or continue agents.

A Luxuriant Growth Of Hair

May be obtained by the continued use of Ayer's Hair Vigor. "A few years ago my hair began to turn gray, and, a short time after, fell out so freely that I became nearly bald. Ayer's Hair Vigor stimulated a new growth of hair, and of the original color. I have applied the Vigor, occasionally, since that time, and my hair is now strong and abundant.—Ira D. Kennah, Utica, N. Y.

I had been troubled, for years, with scalp disease, and my hair was weak and thin. The use of five bottles of Ayer's Hair Vigor cured my scalp, and gave me a luxuriant head of soft, black hair.—Mrs. E. H. Foster, Lynn, Mass.

I have used Ayer's Hair Vigor for the last two years, and found it all it is represented to be. It restores a natural color to gray hair, promotes a vigorous growth, and keeps the hair soft and pliant.—Mrs. M. V. Day, Cohoes, N. Y.

Ayer's Hair Vigor,

Prepared by Dr. J. C. Ayer & Co., Lowell, Mass. Sold by all Druggists and Perfumers.

Scrofulous Humors originate in the blood, which, when vitiated, carries disease to every tissue and fibre of the body. Ayer's Sarsaparilla eradicates all traces of the scrofulous taint from the system.

I have used Ayer's Sarsaparilla, in my family, and know that it is a reliable specific for Scrofula. I have also prescribed it as a tonic, and honestly believe it to be the best blood medicine compounded.—W. F. Flower, M. D., Grahamville, Texas.

Affections Of the Eyes, Lungs, Stomach, Liver, and Kidneys, indicate the presence of Scrofula in the system, and suggest alterative treatment. For this purpose, Ayer's Sarsaparilla is unequaled.

I was always troubled with a Scrofulous Humor. Lately my lungs have been affected, causing much pain and difficulty in breathing. Three bottles of Ayer's Sarsaparilla have relieved my lungs, and improved my health generally.—Lucia Cass, Chelsea, Mass.

Ayer's Sarsaparilla,

Prepared by Dr. J. C. Ayer & Co., Lowell, Mass. Sold by all Druggists. Price $1; six bottles, $5.

PARSONS' PURGATIVE PILLS MAKE NEW, RICH BLOOD.

These pills were a wonderful discovery. No others like them in the world. Will positively cure or relieve all necessity of disease. The information around each box is worth ten times the cost of a box of pills. Find out about them and you will always be thankful. One pill a dose. Illustrated pamphlet free. Sold everywhere, or sent by mail for 25 cts. in stamps. Dr. J. F. Johnson & Co., 26 C.H. St., Boston.

"GENESIS RE-READ,"

By Rev. T. G. Steward, D. D.

A great Scientifico-Religious Book, Orthodox, but Sparkling and Progressive. Two hundred and fifty pages crammed full of fact and thought. Beautifully printed, elegantly bound. The best book in all respects ever put out by our Publishing House. Read some of the golden laurels it is winning from the secular press of our own conservative city:

The Times notes it thus:

Another explanation of the creation of the world and of the Bible account of it has been published in a book called Genesis Re-Read, by T. G. Steward, D.D. The work claims to give the latest conclusions of science, and emanates from the A. M. E. Book Rooms, 631 Pine street.

The Record says:

In Genesis Re-Read Dr. T. G. Steward examines the latest conclusions of physical science in their relation to the Mosaic record. Of course the book is orthodox, though Dr. Steward believes that Moses, while surely teaching a direct creation, allows also for orderly development, but its temper is so moderate and its plea for mutual consideration on the part of the Christian and the scientist is so honestly supported that it will not fail to commend itself to a wide and mixed community of readers.

The Inquirer says:

The Mosaic history of the creation and the great events in the world's early history are here examined in the light of modern science. The work is done skilfully, and evidently by a ripe student of both theology and science. The conclusion is that there is no necessary conflict between the Bible and the discoveries of science, but that both may be harmonized without infringing the sacred authority of the one or questioning the correctness of the other. It is a book that may be read with profit, by all who have had doubts created by the apparent conflict between religion and science, while Bishop Campbell's appendix is an admirable answer to those who have sought to aspurse the Divine authority of the New Testament writings.

The Ledger says:

This book contains a summary of the latest conclusions of physical science in their relations to the Mosaic record. There is not a dull page in it. The writer gives evidence both of diligence in the studies preliminary to such a work and of intimate acquaintance with leading writers. His own faith is of the old fashioned and simple character. Yet he has not hesitated to search the whole range of the literature of the subject. His references and citations may be said to furnish an index to the most prominent writers, while he mildly protests: We have clothed the teachers of science with an imaginary ability amounting almost to infallibility, and hence are often captivated because we do not weigh the evidence. We pay much greater respect to the witness than to the testimony.

The Press says of the author:

His style is simple and naive and not without a certain taking eloquence.

PRICE, ONLY $1.25.

It is the book for the times. Every thinking man and woman in the country ought to have it. Published and for sale at the

HINTS TO SELF-EDUCATED MINISTERS.

Reasons why all preachers should read Dr. James Porter's Hints. 1st. Because it furnishes the most natural method of preparing to preach effectively. 2nd. Because "it shows how to preach with ease and grace, and so with power and success." 3rd. Because "it exposes many errors in all branches of ministerial service, and how to correct them." Its reviewers advise ministers to read the work carefully, because "they will find in it much that they never thought of"—because "the very hints they most need to receive are not furnished by other homiletical works."—because "it is replete with shrewd, hard, good sense;"—because "it is a book for all ministers, however educated, because it is assured by many to be the most helpful book they ever read." "Worth its weight in gold."

IS THE BIBLE TRUE, AND FROM GOD?

Read Dr. Porter's late book called "Christianity Demonstrated By Experience." It will settle the question forever and set your souls on fire. Buy a copy and keep it to lend to the poor society, and especially to unbelievers. On sale by Rev. J. C. Embry, Price, $1.50. A new supply just received.

CHRISTMAS PRESENTS FOR PREACHERS AND OTHER PUBLIC SPEAKERS.

Dr. Porter's Hints to them is one of the most useful—"Worth its weight in gold," says the Christian Guardian. $1 25.

For teaching everyone how to do good, "The Winning Worker; or, the Possibilities, Duty and Methods of Doing Good to Men," by the same author. Order of J. C. Embry, 631 Pine Street, Philadelphia. Why not make presents that will do good?

"WORTH MORE THAN ITS WEIGHT IN GOLD" to young ministers and local preachers. "Many a preacher would have been saved from failure by the early study of such a book."—Christian Guardian.

FACTS vs. PREJUDICE

Prejudice is hard to combat. It cannot be overcome in a day. More than likely it wasn't formed hastily. Indeed it may have been gradually strengthening its hold for years. For instance, some folks believe Rheumatism cannot be cured. Their fathers believed so before them. So did their grandfathers.

Now, RHEUMATISM CAN BE CURED, notwithstanding this prejudice, but the trouble is to make people think so. The only way we know to meet popular unbelief is to state the PLAIN FACTS, and then present the POSITIVE PROOFS that they are facts. It is a fact that the RUSSIAN RHEUMATISM CURE not only relieves but banishes Rheumatic Pain. There is positive proof of it too. It comes from those who have suffered untold agony with Rheumatism and have been completely cured by this remedy. All who have tried it have had this experience. Some of these permit us to print their testimony. It makes quite a little book, which we send free to any who are interested enough to ask for it.

A complete Russian Rheumatism Cure, costs $2.50. If mailed, 10c, additional. If registered, 10c, more. You'll never occupy one, so the price isn't high. Who wouldn't give $2.50 to get rid of Rheumatism?

As yet it cannot be found at the stores, but can be had only by enclosing the amount as above, and addressing the American Proprietors,

ALL-NIGHT INHALATION!

A positive revolution in the treatment of Nose, Throat, and Lung Diseases, and, for the purpose designed, as valuable a discovery as vaccination.

THE PILLOW-INHALER!

A Speedy, Positive and Permanent Cure for Catarrh, Bronchitis, Asthma, and Incipient Consumption.

It is a hair pillow, with reservoirs of evaporating liquid, the fumes or vapor of which is inhaled all night long, whilst sleeping as usual, and without any discomfort. It is used only at night, and is perfectly safe to the most delicate. There is no stomach-dosing, douching or smoking; but just as a smoky lamp will leave a deposit on a whitened wall, so the PILLOW-INHALER, for eight hours of every three, spreads a powerful healing balm or salve on the inflamed inner coating of the diseased air-surfaces, from the nostrils to the bottom of the lungs, and hence into the blood. Old-fashioned inhalation, through a tube, for a few minutes a day, often cured. Think of eight hours constant action, on the same principle, but intensified a hundred fold! There are no pipes or tubes. The medicine is breathed in, not swallowed, and goes right to the diseased parts. The testimony to its results is beyond all question as attested by the experience of thousands.

A blind boy preacher, 16 years old, is causing some excitement in Raleigh. A week ago he told his father that he had received a divine command to preach the Gospel, and would be blind for a period of some days. On Wednesday his prayer was smitten with blindness. They confirm his statements as far as possible, as he is in good health and of ordinary education. When he preaching he appears to be asleep or in a trance, lying on his right side, but when the benediction is pronounced he throws his arms and shows evidence of awakening. Messrs. Broughton and Rayle reported in full the sermon preached, which seems to be an able discourse in all respects. There is a good deal of interest over the matter, and the people are eager to hear the boy."

A CALL TO THE WOMEN OF THE A. M. E. CHURCH.

WILMINGTON, DAL., Feb. 5 1886.

Dear Sisters:—The cry for help a being heard from the foreign fields, and the W. M. M Society is desirous of responding to their wants; to do this their fund must be increased, and nobly will the active work on the part of the women of the church will do it. Let each one do (that has not done so heretofore) organize a branch society, and commence work in earnest. The Board of Managers meat the first Thursday in August, November, February and May; each auxiliary is requested to send its report to the Cor. Sec'y of the Parent M. M. Society, so that she may be able to give a correct statement of the progress of the work throughout the connection.

MRS. LUCIEN ARMSTRONG Cor. Sec'y.

NOTICE.

A NEW DEPARTURE IN THE RECORDER SALES BUSINESS.

Our new rules are as follows: 1st. On appointing an agent he or she must sign a written contract binding each to sell and return one-half of the sales money to us monthly and to make a full settlement of all claims at the end of every three months. 2nd. All papers unsold to be carefully preserved and reported with each settlement and held subject to our orders. They must be counted, bound and returned to us when required. 3rd. Such agents will be allowed one-third at each annual subscription they obtain for the paper at $1.50 per year, they retaining fifty cents and sending us a net one dollar. Or, they can take subscriptions on our installment plan, collecting 50 cents in advance every two months, and sending us 20 cents.

These rules will be strictly applied to all except regular itinerant ministers. We are compelled to do this for the protection of the Department against secret sales. We have about two hundred and sixty thousand pages annually. Two-fifths, or one hundred and four thousand copies are sent out to agents. On this number we lose from $1,200 to $1,500 year. Believing that all our brethren will favor any plan which promises a reduction of this great loss, we have received on the above rules. Please read them, note well and prepare to act with us.

NOTE—These new agreements will be furnished in blank to all who wish to become or continue agents.

"Pastor's Memorandum Book," by Rev. C. T. Shaffer. Price, 45 cents, net.

In Mexico if you ask a native in regard to the sex of a child he will not say it is a boy or girl, but "el hombre" or "la mujer," the man or woman. All efforts fail to make them say "hijo" (son) or "hija" (daughter).

Manager's Notes.

We have on hand

the Revised Version of the Bible, just issued from the press. Two styles, $1 and $2 per copy. We want to sell them now. Please order them. Beautiful paper, clear type and most interesting reading. You never saw so clearly the meaning of many things as you will find in this new old Book.

Wakefield's Theology, the standard theological text book, adopted by the Bishops for the source of study. $2.50 by mail at your risk; $2.25 by express. Please order them. They are here and must be sold.

Then we have an excellent book—"Fifty Years sed Beyond,"—a charming thing for older people and for those who intend to be old. It sends no—not down—the abiding pathway of years with a harp and song. $2.00, postpaid. Must be sold. We have many more, but can't speak of them now.

What we must say

now, is that we are opening a regular campaign for the CHRISTIAN RECORDER. We want two thousand new subscribers, and all the old ones to renew. Now, appreciating the dullness of the times, we have resolved to put the paper within the reach of all, adopting the installment plan.

Installment

costs a little more, but is easier because it gives more time. Hence, we make the following offer to all who desire to have the RECORDER:

Send us 25 Cents and we will enroll your name in a special book kept for that purpose and will send you the paper for sixty days; then send us 50 cents, and two months after 50 cents more, and two months later 50 cents more. Total, $1.75.

All our Pastors

are Agents for the RECORDER, and are hereby authorized to present this prospectus to their people and receive their enrollment fee (25 cents), and give their receipt for the same. [Note.—We will send a few blank slips of receipts to all who will ast for us in this matter.]

On this Plan

we give full six months for paying the subscription.

"Pastor's Memorandum Book," by Rev. C. T. Shaffer. Price, 45 cents, no discount. An excellent book.

NOTICE.

All questions and business pertaining to advertisements seen in the RECORD are, and requisite correspondence to the RECORDER, should be addressed to Rev. J. C. Embry, Business Manager; not to the editor. There is no part of the business of the establishment requiring money to be sent to the editor; nor communications for the RECORDER, to the Manager, and orders for changing the address of the paper, securing back school or Church supplies, must be sent to the Manager, not the editor. Please remember, nothing but articles for publication, or letters pertaining thereto, should be addressed to the editor, and they to him exclusively.

MINUTES WANTED.

The Editor of the RECORDER requests proper persons to forward to 631 Pine Street, Philadelphia, a copy of the latest published minutes of the following annual conferences: Illinois, North Carolina, West Kentucky, Texas, Mississippi, Columbia, South Arkansas, North Ohio, Baltimore, North Georgia, Alabama, Louisiana, Missouri, Kansas, Indiana, Kentucky, Tennessee and West Tennessee.

THE BOARD OF PUBLICATION.

The annual session of the Board of Publication will be held on Tuesday, May 6th. Dr. W. B. Derrick, of the First Episcopal District; Dr. Asbury, of the Third Episcopal District, and Rev. A. Grant, of the Ninth District, were present. Bishop Cain being unable to attend, secured the services of Bishop Brown, who presided. The session was short, harmonious and we trust profitable. The business of the Book Concern was found in a promising condition; old debts amounting to several hundred dollars having been discharged and a fund maintained. The amount ordered requisite to be made on the building, the RECORDER to be enlarged and gave hearty endorsement to the management of both the RECORDER and the Quarterly Review. There is little doubt that the business of the Book Concern is improving and in a fair way to respectable standing.

There was a very pleasant discussion of the forthcoming centennial anniversary of the withdrawal of Richard Allen and his associates from the Methodist Episcopal Church in this city, which is to November of this year. It was agreed that by all means the occasion should receive a befitting attention of the Church. In course of the talk it was learned that the centennial committee had appointed a committee to meet the Bishops in council and arrange for a general celebration. Manager Embry and Dr. Turner were authorised by the Board of Publication to arrange and circulate certain historical facts bearing upon Bishop Allen and his companions in the A. M. E. Church.

There is a strong feeling on the part of the Board that our work should be strengthened that we could assume the publication of all the minutes, pamphlets and books demanded in connection. The inconsistent course of our church members who do not even consult us to know whether we can do their work as well and as cheaply as other houses is plain.

HARRY HOSIER AND RICHARD ALLEN.

One of the speakers at the last session of the colored state conference of the M. E. Church in this city said that the negro Methodist sects were undertaking to develop the manhood of the race by distinct organizations and the colored people in the M. E. Church were undertaking to do the same thing side by side with our white brethren in one organization. As the Editor of the CHRISTIAN RECORDER was so courteously addressed by the speaker in an assembly that would not allow a reply as to whether the statement were fair, and as the speaker seemed well satisfied that the way chosen by him is the very best way, and declaring that the only real, absolute bar of action between the two races in this country is that which exists in the Methodist Episcopal Church, we propose to examine the subject in our columns under the caption, "Harry Hosier and Richard Allen."

The CHRISTIAN RECORDER recognizes the high merits of the M. E. Church. Its moral and religious influence upon mankind have been from the first almost marvellous. The great service which it has been to all the races is equal to that of any other Christian body of our country. It may sometime in the future do more for colored mankind than any other body; but that it has not yet done. When its thousands of educated colored men and women shall arise, assert their manhood and no longer trample at the feet of wealth and power in the church, demanding not only places of honor and the right to receive from the great Church, but do by their own powers under Divine direction, till the Church shall be able to regard them as assistant forces to its great enterprise rather than absorbents, then may be demonstrated the superior powers of this inconsistent association, that Dr. N. W. Taylor calls the only real race-hood is in the country, to develop manhood in the colored people of America. Harry Hosier and Richard Allen both knew Bishop Asbury, the first American Methodist Bishop. They both preached with him and Richard Allen was ordained Deacon by him. The association of Hosier traveled with Bishop Asbury as a coachman, preaching first to the colored people, but afterwards becoming popular with the white people as a preacher. It ended his days in the M. E. Church, bearing in that Church all the inconsistencies and ungodly prejudice that must have characterized American Christianity among Caucasians in this day as they do in our times, if servitude is a servant's fate. Allen was sought by Bishop Asbury to travel with him for his victuals and clothes. What was Richard Allen's reply? Let him speak for himself: "I told him I would, and I ordered my doings to those conditions. I told him I thought people ought to lay up something while they were able, to support themselves in time of sickness and old age, which he considered was right, and others like it, Richard Allen led in laying the foundation of self-assertiveness by the colored people in religious matters, building churches, incorporating societies, organizing a denomination, preparing the race for the enjoyment of general freedom.

Now, these two colored men may be fairly taken as representatives of Dr. Taylor's two classes. By means of which course has the colored man made the better, more serviceable and more widely recognized manhood: the coachman's or the proprietor's?

THE COLORED SECTARIES compose the Delaware district of the M. E. Church held their twenty-third annual session in ——— Church, Bainbridge street, Philadelphia, last week, Bishop Merrill presiding. We attended several sessions. The annual meeting for the church extension cause took place Thursday night, when addresses were delivered by Revs. A. J. Kynett, D.D., Corresponding Secretary of the Church Extension Society, and M. W. Taylor, D.D., editor of the Southwestern Christian Advocate. Dr. Kynett's remarks would be regarded as a show in one of ordered requisite to be made on the building, the RECORDER to be enlarged and gave hearty endorsement to the management of both the RECORDER and the Quarterly Review. There is little doubt that the business of the Book Concern is improving and in a fair way to respectable standing.

Church were undertaking to do the same thing side by side with our white brethren in one organization. As the Editor of the CHRISTIAN RECORDER was so courteously addressed by the speaker in an assembly that would not allow a reply as to whether the statement were fair, and as the speaker seemed well satisfied that the way chosen by him is the very best way, and declaring that the only real, absolute bar of action between the two races in this country is that which exists in the Methodist Episcopal Church, we propose to examine the subject in our columns under the caption, "Harry Hosier and Richard Allen."

The CHRISTIAN RECORDER recognizes the high merits of the M. E. Church. Its moral and religious influence upon mankind have been from the first almost marvellous. The great service which it has been to all the races is equal to that of any other Christian

THE PRESIDING ELDER.

BY REV. H. T. JOHNSON.

Concerning the presiding elder much has been said here of late. The writer desires to make his contribution to the subject in the form of a few practical suggestions, which may be taken for what they are worth. First, a word for the Church.

Since the presiding elder is an officer so amply provided for, it is no harm for you to kick out of the traces of Methodism and say, "I will not have a preacher to rule over us?" Of course you will in the more justified in doing this in proportion to your strength wealth and culture. As a matter of course, you must be owned by the trustees you elect to serve you, and you are bound to be governed by their actions and not your own. Therefore, if the trustees should think their pastor master of the situation, an able pulpit orator, a clever scholar, perhaps finished with a D.D. and in consequence of the same should be his own boss in law and government, you are fully justified by all the precedents and customs of other Methodist bodies in either raise a row when the presiding elder's day comes around to ask a little less honest, absent yourself from Quarterly Conference, and let the allotted assessment which it is your duty to say.

Second, to preachers. You both know and love the law; for that reason it is fair to presume that you desire to have the proper and right, so you go ahead and make out application for the presiding elder and beg him not to disappoint you on a day or so previous, inserting in another quarterly conference, according to the programme. But should you and the presiding elder appear at time and place of meeting and it should happen to be miles away from the station, forget to send some one to look him through tangled forests or unfrequented roads over which he has to travel for the first time. It may be that "though you have been there once or twice," he is able to find your home. If he may have left before reaching it, make the train, and after getting on card he may have been dust and smoke proof, therefore, without offering a dollar of water or morsel of bread for either the inner or outer man. Then, on arrival to the church, where he can amuse himself with the problem of human nature until the brethren and sisters of the conference is over, take him to the house of dinner. Faithful, you have nothing of his coming. She has but one room in her humble dwelling, which is already filled by herself, companion and a visiting sister who has heard of the pastor though never accidentally met him and comes to spend the night; but it does't make any difference, glad to find elder, Sister Faithful can stand it. But you may save yourself this trouble and both the presiding elder and people in convenience, by asking this officer to Brother Grandpa's and Mother's, for always stops there him conducted to the preacher's room. In the winter season there's no fire or heat in it because it is the preacher's room; not at times with the doors and windows shut because it is the preacher's room; not a breath of air or ray of light is permitted to enter this sanctum sanctorum, the preacher's room; dust and darkness and a close atmosphere gather around the Elder to greet him as he enters the preacher's room. After one night's occupancy of my prayer always has been, "Good Lord deliver us from the preacher's room."

THE PRESIDING ELDERSHIP.

BY JAS. H. A. JOHNSON, D.D.

NO. IV.

THE OFFICE AS A MEDIUM OF FACILITATING CHURCH WORK.

We are to consider this work in the first place as a sacred one. It is just as much so as the office of a pastor or that of a bishop. It is by it alone that we can be engaged in the accomplishment of an increased amount of good and there can be no reasonable degree of toleration given if that course taken by some to show their contempt for it how do it like a man, or to break a man because they do not like the office. This is nothing but sheer devilment that finds locomotion. Take the man that in its wake like as he stalks through teams and every other available vehicle. A member be wrongfully tried, or wrongfully condemned, the pastor is the apostolic for the result, for it is his duty to preside at all trials in his charge except those which concern himself. If in this mode of procedure a mistake or should arise for the person accused to take an appeal, he would have its take it to the quarterly conference. Should the presiding eldership the said pastor, of course holds the position as presiding officer of the quarterly conference; and if when an appeal is taken, he likewise it is virtually taken from the pastor to the pastor. It is in accordance with human nature for a man, right or wrong, to go for himself, and then there abound and go against himself? It would be not rather seek a loop-hole to escape and leave the unfeeling victim to his fate? or, he will do everything that can to shield himself from the charge of mal administration. By such a course as this many a good member, subjected to the worst form of injustice, has been driven aggrieved from the festering care of the Church.

In looking at the matter on the other head, though, we find that in the establishment of the office of presiding elder there is a provision made to effectually prevent every appellant's rights by giving him an impartial consideration. It is presumed at least that the presiding elder is a disinterested party in every case and will act as an impartial judge. The pastor, though, may be one who is ordinarily interested. He may be one whose opinion has been aroused against the accused and directed to the necessity of effecting expulsion. And it is true that there are some ministers who are ever ready to threaten somebody with this penalty. With great pomp and authority they will sternly proclaim, "If you don't do your duty I will turn you out of church as sure as you are upon his throne!" It is frequently hard for members to get along very well with clerical cynics; and, in many instances, the pastor is not willing some one of this number, law or no law, will expel some body from the church and than do everything he can to defeat the appeal from the right of appeal, or, it taken, do everything he can to make it null and void. This is the very point at which the necessity for a presiding elder is clearly seen. The office in this respect is a protective measure for every member of every church. Every one will do without it. Not even one to press at Bethel, in Philadelphia, or Bethel, in Baltimore. Prospective events form the basis upon which it may be asserted that no member of the church can go against this office without going against his own interests.

2d The Vindication of Pastors.

Whilst the subject requires as its view the reprehensible course of some pastors and advocate a remedy for the evil that the presiding eldership could be used by the Church's enemies, as it often the lot has fallen on us and we are called to the work, we speak from experience, we re-affirm the statement. On the 12th day of February, 1885, Rev. Wm. Henry Brown, Dated at Washington, D. C. Brown, dated at Washington, D. C. Brown, dated at Washington, D. C. Brown,

Last year the expenses of India exceeded the revenue by $15 000 000, owing mainly to the war in Burma. A surplus of $400 000 for the next fiscal year is figured out.

The Trafalgar, which is about to be com missed at Portsmouth, Eng., will cost nearly £700,000 sterling, or to an estimate that has been approved by the Admiralty.

A heavy tax is to be placed on the "miraculous" waters from Lourdes and other shrines in France, and the Government expects to derive a revenue of 5,000 000 francs therefrom.

A meteorite fell on the ice recently near Aasvedt, in Bergen, Norway, with the ef ect of making a hole about eighteen inches in diameter, through the ice was eight inches in thickness.

Queen Victoria is to visit Liverpool (for the first time in 35 years) on May 11th and 12th, being while there the Freemason Hospice, a spacious old mansion belonging to the corporation of Liverpool.

Professor Billroth, of Vienna, accompanied by one of his assistants, recently went to Alexandria, Egypt, to perform an operation upon the person of a rich banker there For the capon a renowned surgeon is said to be was to receive the sum of 25 000 francs.

The Municipal Council of Vienna had compiled a list of the distinguished dead whose remains in a few years are to be transfer from different suburban cemeteri s to the Central Walhalla. The name included Beethoven, Gluck, Schubert and Johann Strauss.

By the last will of a rich merchant of Warsaw, a native of Prussia, emigrated some 50 years ago, and recently deceased. Prince Bismarck benefits only to a sum of 3000 silver roubles, left him for the express purpose that he may be able to buy with that sum a keepsake to remember the testator by.

In Rosen the Czar has enforced the decree of the Holy Synod forbidding wreaths and sacred emblems to be carried in processions on the ground that of late the priest and the holy pictures have been wholly hidden by the wreaths flowers, scolar banners and flags, thus giving the solemn ceremony a somewhat vulgar Sonance.

Ex-Lieutenant, Zdelling, a brother of the Nobiling who some years ago attempted the life of Emperor William, in consequence of which civil deed the Lieutenant had his name changed, was recently convicted of counterfeiting at Cologne, and sentenced to imprisonment for one year and to the loss of civic rights for three years.

The Russian painter Verschachin was killed in Lodmir during the recent riots, and feels inclined to paint the scenes he witnessed. "Never in my life," he says, "have I seen so much human beings so famished, so badly clothed and abjectly miserable. I never imagined such misery—the eff ct produced on me by the sight of such an inexpressibly unhappy mob, burnt a hole in my heart."

The Berlin criminal police make it a practice to publish on the close of every quarter a list of the bonds which, during the preceding three months, have been reported to the authorities as stolen or lost in Berlin or in other German cities. The list is drawn up by a clerk, who sends to every one of the 460 Berlin banking firms. It having lately been noticed that values of this description, when presented in Berlin, are more apt to be offered for sale or in other cities, the Berlin police authorities, at the request of the banks, will now give a wider publication to these lists.

A scene which has just died at Stuttgart left the ill ck white still a cooling, and resolved to have nothing more to do with its commission geese, but to try a new way of life for itself. So it boldly marched into the barracks of a Uhlan regiment one day and stationed itself amid the sentry box. The Uhlans were touched by the goose choosing to ally itself with their corps, and built a shed for it to live in. For twenty-three years neither Geese nor persecutions were able to separate this bird from its adopted regiment. When the corps changed quarters the goose went with them, and when the Uhlans went to fight for their country, the absolute cre ture took up for a time with a battalion of infantry; but no sooner d d the first Uhlans scout be known than the goose marched out to meet them, and went with them to her old quarters. She died in peace, with a ripe ol age, and as to be seen in a glass case on the gate of the barracks at Stuttgart.

BILIOUSNESS

Is very prevalent at the season, the symptoms being bitter taste, offensive breath, coated tongue, sick headache, drowsiness, d zz ness and loss of appetite. This condition is allowed to continue serious consequences me lol low. By promptly taking Ayer's Cathartic sparille, a lever may be avoided or checked, and health preserved. It is a positive cure for biliousness. Sold by all druggists.

NOTICE.

A NEW DEPARTURE IN THE RECORDER SALES BUREAUS.

Our new rules are as follows: 1st. On appointing an agent he or she must sign a written contract binding each to sell and return one-half of the sales money to us monthly and to make a full settlement of all claims at the end of every three months. 2nd. All papers unsold will be carefully preserved and reported with such settlements and held subject to our orders. They must be sorted, bound and returned to us when required. 3rd. Such agents will be allowed one-third of such annual subscription they obtain for the paper at $1.50 per year, they retaining fifty cents and sending us a set our dollar. Or, they can take subscriptions at our installment plan, collecting 80 cents in advance every two months, and sending us 20 cents.

These rules will be strictly applied to all except regular itinerant ministers. We are compelled to do this for the protection of the Depository against severe loss. We issue about two hundred and sixty thousand copies annually. Two-fifths, or one hundred and four thousand copies are sent out to agents. On this number we lose from $1,200 to $1,500 year. Believing that all brethren will favor such a plan while promises avoidance of this great loss, it has been resolved to adopt it. Please read them, note well and prepare to settle at once.

Those who have new agreements will be furnished in blank to all who wish to become or continue agents.

Be Warned in Time.

Cure your Cough before you are beyond reach of human care or skill. Ayer's Cherry Pectoral, properly administered, is a certain and speedy cure for all Throat and Lung Diseases. It is not a mere syrup, or cheap cough mixture, but a scientific preparation of great merit. ☞ Used Ayer's Cherry Pectoral, last spring, for a severe Cough, and for Lung troubles, with good effect. It completely cured me. —Harvey Baughman, Proprietor Globe Hotel, Mt. Gilead, Ohio.

DELAYS ARE DANGEROUS.

"GENESIS RE-READ,"

By Rev. T. G. Steward, D.D.

A great Scientific-Religious Book, Orthodox, but Sparkling and Progressive. Two hundred and fifty pages crammed full of fact and thought. Beautifully printed, elegantly bound. The best book in all respects ever put out by our Publishing House. Read some of the golden laurels it is winning from the secular press of our own conservative city:

The Times notes it thus:

Another explanation of the creation of the world and of the Bible account of it has been published in a book called Genesis Re-Read, by T. G. Steward, D.D. The work relates to give the latest scientific guesses, and emanates from the A. M. E. Book Rooms, 631 Pine street.

The Record says:

In Genesis Re-Read Dr. T. G. Steward assumes the latest conclusions of physical science in their relation to the Mosaic record. Of course the book is orthodox, though Dr. Steward believes that those who while surely teaching a direct creation, allows also for orderly development, but he keeps in accordance and its plan for mutual consideration on the part of the Christian and the scientists is so honestly apparent that it will not fail to commend itself to a wide and mixed community of readers.

The Inquirer says:

The Mosaic history of the creation and the great events in the world's early history are here examined in the light of modern science. The work is done skilfully, and evidently by a ripe student of both theology and science. The conclusion is that there is no necessary conflict between the Bible and the discoveries of science, and that both may be harmonized without infringing the one's

The Ledger says:

This book contains a summary of the latest conclusions of physical science in their relation to the Mosaic record. There is not a dull page in it. The writer gives evidence of a thorough book of study in the preliminary to such a work and of intimate acquaintance with the literature. He arrives at faith in of the old fashioned and simple statements of the Bible, and succeeds in search the whole range of the literature of science and finds no difference and challenge may be said to furnish in this book the most prominent written, while he mildly protests that he have discarded the science and accepted an imaginary ability amounting almost to infallibility. Such a book is very readable and very timely.

MR. GLADSTONE'S address on the second reading of his Home Rule bill shows the same versatility and masterly eloquence that marked his former speech on the same subject. His representation of the case of Ireland and Canada was very fine. His suggested modification of his former ground on the Irish representation at Westminster was wise.

THE SUNDAY SCHOOL. Union has issued Vol. IV. No. 2, of the Jubilee Gem, containing suggestions, programmes and songs for Children's Day, June 13. The Gem's suggestions—get 5 cents from every one; be prompt; forward the money at once—will receive the attention of all. Carrying money to conference is what should have been forwarded to the Church's appointed agents months before does much to embarrass our departmental work. The Gem promises to make this the grandest Children's Day in our history. So it should be. Let us all labor to this end.

THE CHRISTIAN ADVOCATE ON "THE ALIEN CHURCH."

In his editorial correspondence from Aiken, S. C., the editor of the Christian Advocate, in issue 12th inst., speaking of the cause of the division in our church there, says:

This new enterprise had a curious origin. The Rev. Whitefoord Smith had a difficulty with its pastor. Nine-tenths of the members sympathized with him. The presiding elder was determined to remove him, and did so. They sent to Bishop Doggett to settle the matter, and he was angry that he would not see the minister. The minister probably intended to establish an independent church, but there were so many members of the Methodist Episcopal Church among his sympathizers that, to a body, they declared for the old mother Church, and took off with them the larger part (numerically) and in all other respects all the people. They are now building a commodious church. I preached in their temporary house, evening, the day before I left. Aiken, lasting, as an audience that ranged in intellectual culture all the way from President Carlos, of Williams College, who happened to be in Aiken, to a little colored boy, who made the most heroic efforts to keep awake, and succeeded only about half the number of the heads of the sermon, when, no doubt, he concluded that having made a creditable record before that time, he could afford to go to sleep.

It is remarkable how a Christian editor of Dr. Buckley's reputation would be supposed upon by such unreasonable gossip as started in Bishop Shorter's case. The inconsistency of being sent by some persons denominated "they," and, secondly, the unsentimentable rage that would not allow him to "see the minister." There is not the slightest reason to believe that slander on Bishop James A. Shorter, the only Bishop in our Church without an honorary title, thus offering no opportunity for a sarcastic shaft from Brother Buckley's pen on that ground; is he sent or requested by the editor? Is he asked to attend to his official duty, and on arriving, as being "too angry" to fulfill his mission. A learned paper, representing one of the grandest Churches on earth, may be long guilty in his own estimation of this silly, unreasonable slander, probably dealt out to the editor by a people expected by victory over their brethren, hence liable to exaggerate. We happen to know Brother E. Winton Taylor, the minister referred to. The Advocate might have noted a fact quite as interesting as those by means of which it seems to take pleasure in spreading unreasonable misrepresentations concerning a Bishop; that is the fact that this new Church is modestly named "Wesley Winston Chapel." But Elder E. Winston Taylor no differs from Dr. Buckley's statements as to any that I heard him speak favorably of him in private and public instead of speaking against him there so as to give ground for the Advocate's twaddle. Why the Bishop would not see the minister we do not know, but do know that it requires more than the dictum of the Advocate to prove the existence of anger. Very few persons who know Bishop Shorter will believe this statement. We would ask of the Christian Advocate reasonableness and human charity in dealing with cases in which its Church figures.

METHODISM AND METHODISMS.

Just now, when the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, is making movements, if not overtures, to the M. E. Church for reunion, we are reminded of the fierce conflict that rent the M. E. Church in '44, when those South were members and others who believed in the rightness of slaveholding, or were so connected with others so believing as to be led to declare in favor of slavery, by mutual agreement between themselves and the anti-slavery Methodists, withdrew from the M. E. Communion and established the M. E. Church, South, with Bishop Andrew sed, we may add, Bishop Soule, holding their first General Convention in Louisville, Ky., 1845. At the bottom of this affair was slavery. It is a common declaration of Methodists that "we are one in doctrine." Well may we congratulate ourselves upon the fact! But amid it all, the history of formal, secular governmental polity, race variety, language and individual belief, no Methodist seet has ventured to alter the cardinal points and lines of the fundamental doctrine of Christianity as taught by Wesley and his brethren. Yet the many seats bearing the name Methodist, have respectively more or less distinctly physical and ecconomical differences. Sometimes they are drawn from the peculiar kind of civil government under which they are operating, sometimes from a social status, sometimes from different conceptions of church government, and rarely from different metaphysical basis.

While Methodism is one, Methodisms are many. The M. E. Church, theologically established in 1784, took its separate organism from the facts of difference of civil government and the distinct character, HISTORICAL, from the fact that it was dissevered from the established Church of England, as the Methodists of that country were not, which warranted its assuming episcopal character of its own. So Mr. Wesley set apart Mr. Coke as Bishop and authorized the perpetuation of this episcopacy, this Methodist Episcopacy, this Presbyterial Episcopacy; for Mr. Wesley was but a presbyter, or elder. Thus, the Methodist Episcopacy became the mother of a peculiar episcopacy which can not, within the common meaning of the term, be said to be apostolic or successive. This great body of Christians has outrun its mother, the British Wesleyan Church, by hundreds of thousands in numbers, millions in property, many in seats and consequently in power, in civil peculiarity, distinguishing it from its mother episcopal, together with the particular features that naturally cluster about this fact, have been the means of much of its superior success.

The M. E. Church, South, has for its peculiar ground-work the horrible sad revolting tenet of the right to traffic in human life, with all the fearful vices involved in this dreadful sentence. If this be not its basis, it has none. If this be not its chief distinctive characteristic as a separate organization, it is the most unaccountable mystery. This prodigy, "South," was made to include all slave territory in the United States and almost no other. It included Delaware, which was "South" only by the fact of its slaveholding slavery, and Missouri, which, but for the cause of slavery, would have been much more West and hot very little more South than Ohio. Evidently the one fact upon which to account for the "Southern" organizations, "M. E." and "M. E. S.," is difference of sentiment relative to slavery. Forever this fact must remain. These Methodists who are in the Church, whose chief distinction is that they do not sympathize with the radical views of slavery rise above the belief and eliminate it, and so become one with the body they left nearly half a century ago, or the M. E. Church may become more conservative as to the fact of slavery, and so become one with the M. E. Church South, both before and since the abolition of slavery, published a chapter "On Slavery" and in favor of slavery before the war; but has since the abolition eliminated said chapter, giving as a reason for the elimination, the non-existence of slavery. This may be a sign of transition back to a respectable moral system; but it is not reading from State to State for morality in politics as a personal. Bishop Hubbard, when the writer referred to. The Advocate might have noted a fact quite as interesting as those by means of which it seems to take pleasure in spreading unreasonable misrepresentations concerning a Bishop; that is the fact that this new Church is modestly named "Wesley Winston Chapel." But Elder E. Winston Taylor no differs from Dr. Buckley's statements as to any that I heard him speak favorably of him in private and public instead of speaking against him there so as to give ground for the Advocate's twaddle. Why the Bishop would not see the minister we do not know, but do know that it requires more than the dictum of the Advocate to prove the existence of anger. Very few persons who know Bishop Shorter will believe this statement. We would ask of the Christian Advocate reasonableness and human charity in dealing with cases in which its Church figures.

METHODISM AND METHODISMS.

Just now, when the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, is making movements, if not overtures, to the M. E. Church for reunion, we are reminded of the fierce conflict that rent the M. E. Church in '44, when those South were members and others who believed in the rightness of slaveholding, or were so connected with others so believing as to be led to declare in favor of slavery, by mutual agreement between themselves and the anti-slavery Methodists, withdrew from the M. E. Communion and established the M. E. Church, South, with Bishop Andrew sed, we may add, Bishop Soule, holding their first General Convention in Louisville, Ky., 1845. At the bottom of this affair was slavery. It is a common declaration of Methodists that "we are one in doctrine." Well may we congratulate ourselves upon the fact! But amid it all, the history of formal, secular governmental polity, race variety, language and individual belief, no Methodist seet has ventured to alter the cardinal points and lines of the fundamental doctrine of Christianity as taught by Wesley and his brethren. Yet the many seats bearing the name Methodist, have respectively more or less distinctly physical and ecconomical differences. Sometimes they are drawn from the peculiar kind of civil government under which they are operating, sometimes from a social status, sometimes from different conceptions of church government, and rarely from different metaphysical basis.

While Methodism is one, Methodisms are many. The M. E. So Mr. Wesley set apart Mr. Coke as Bishop and authorized the perpetuation of this episcopacy, this Methodist Episcopacy, this Presbyterial Episcopacy; for Mr. Wesley was but a presbyter, or elder. Thus, the Methodist Episcopacy became the mother of a peculiar episcopacy which can not, within the common meaning of the term, be said to be apostolic or successive. "Another big wash-out up the street," said a Fort Jervis man to a reporter, who, when he spoke, saw dashed up the street. "Where is the wash-out?" he called to a man whom he met. "There it is," said the man, pointing to a long line of newly washed clothes gently flapping in the breeze.

Two little boys were playing on a rail on the water near Chelsea Ferry avenue, Hoboken. The rail parted and the little fellows were on the point of drowning, when Frank Cassidy, a shoeboy, jumped from the wharf into the water and managed to float the nearly insensible children to the shore and save them.

The Connecticut young woman is drawn on the look out for the law and will obey it better now that the sour grapes are. Just now she is revamping all the home-hold proverbs. "Its God bless our home," "Rest for the weary," and "Be Mi," have been embroidered legends. "No oloomergo rios eaten here," "Down with hogus hosier," etc. We live in a practical rather than a sentimental age.

A railroad conductor says that a newspaper is like a railroad: that the sooner down the back under the cost so that one set of bull prigect up against the back of the head, makes a most comfortable and thorough rest for a tired traveler's head. This was the first suggestion enough for a smart Yankee. We must remember to bear that in mind. Eureka Patent Pocket Head Rest and Tourist's Companion is on the market.

A life insurance company in London bears the amusing title of "The Royal Liver Friendly Society." Its mission is not, as might naturally be supposed, to the insuring of persons afflicted with or liable to hepatic disorders, but generally like all other life insurance companies. Indeed, it would seem that it rather exists to ignore, if it does not set at defiance, the functional service of that important organ after which it is named, since in a recent manifesto its officers assure the public that "no longer there will be found the atmosphere in the affairs of the society."

THREE REASONS

Why every one needs, and should take Hood's Sarsaparilla:—

1st. Because the system is now in greatest need. Hood's Sarsaparilla gives strength.

2d. Because the blood is sluggish and impure. Hood's Sarsaparilla purifies.

3d. Because, from the above results, Hood's Sarsaparilla will do a greater amount of good now than at any other time. Take it now.

CONSUMPTION CURED.

An old physician, retired, having had placed in his hands by an East India missionary the formula of a simple vegetable remedy for the speedy and permanent cure of Consumption, Bronchitis, Catarrh, Asthma and all throat and Lung Affections, also a positive and radical cure for Nervous Debility and all Nervous Complaints, after having thoroughly tested its wonderful curative powers in thousands of cases, has felt it his duty to make it known to his suffering fellows. Actuated by this motive and a desire to relieve human suffering, I will send free of charge, to all who desire it, this recipe, in German, French or English, with full directions for preparing and using. A CALL TO THE WOMEN OF THE A. M. E. CHURCH.

WILMINGTON, DEL., Feb. 6 1886.

Dear Sisters:—The cry for help is being heard from foreign fields, and the Parent M. E. Society is endeavoring to be responding to their wants; to do this their fund must be increased, and nothing but solid work on the part of the women of the Church will do it. Let each church that has not done so heretofore, at once take a branch society, and commence work in earnest. The Board of Managers meet the first Thursday in August, November, February and May; each auxiliary is requested to send a delegate or report to the Cor. Sec'y of the Parent M. E. Society, so that she may be able to give a correct statement of the progress of the work throughout the connection.

NOTICE.

The annual meeting of the Board of Managers of the Sunday School Union of the African Methodist Episcopal Church will be held at the office of the Union, 1811 North Liberty Street, Nashville, Tenn., Wednesday, May 26, 1886, at 10 A. M. The annual address will be delivered in the evening by Rev. L. J. Coppin, of Philadelphia, Pa. Subject, "The Sunday School Idea." Complaints or suggestions as to the work of the Union, addressed to the Secretary, will be presented to the Board for consideration. In order to certain expenses, the Board at its last meeting agreed to divide into two sections, and it is the members of the second section who are expected to be present this year. All who have received a notice by mail will please attend.

BISHOP D. A. PAYNE, President.
C. S. SMITH, Secretary.

NEW BOOKS

that will be on sale by the Manager in September and throughout the ensuing year:

"Fifty Years and Beyond; or, Old Age and How to Enjoy It." A book of incalculable value, as well as interest to all who have passed the meridian of life. 600 pages, cloth, $1.00, same in gilt edges, $1.50.

"Studies in Genesis; or, Bible Views of the Creation in Its Relation to Modern Science," by the Rev. T. G. Steward, D.D., and containing an important chapter on "Christian Evidences," by Bishop Campbell. This is an intensely interesting book, especially to preachers, old or young. It will contain about 250 pages, 12mo. on clear beautiful paper, and sold at the low rate of $1 25. The work is now in press under our own imprint. Orders, $7 25, mailing 10cts. extra.

"Bible Heroes; or, Stories from the Old Testament for Little Folks." Judging by my own children, as parent who would know, both children imbued with the heroic spirit of Bible characters, could not desire a better book. Our children devoured it at once. Price only 50 cents; by mail, 58 cents; registered, 60 cents.

"A Voice from the Orient." This is a small volume of select sermons by Rev. M. M. Mangasarian, a native Greek, and pastor of the Spring Garden Street Liberal Church, of Philadelphia. This is an exceedingly interesting book for readers in search of the best. Price, $1.00.

"Bible Text." By W. Webb has published an excellent Record Book for church trustees, with blanks for everything pertaining to their duties. Also for class meetings. It is well bound and printed, with heavy paper, and will last nothing like it, nor half so convenient. The book is arranged for four years. It is just the thing for the Church to record records. For sale at our Publishing House. Price, $1.50.

"The Resurrection of the Redeemed, and Hades," by Rev. James Boggs. A book of 154 pages of well written matter, well bound in cloth. Price, 50 cents. Any of the above forms, or all of them, may be sent to us at once. Cash orders only.

OFFER.

To the Ministers and Members of the A. M. E. Church:

Brethren:—We will send to every minister who will send us his Dollar Money by the 15th of August, a receipt for the Bishops Payne and Asbury. Who will be the first to send in the money? for the need is to pay the Bishops and General Officers of the Church and to help the Missionary Cause.

2d. The pastor sending the largest amount of money by the 15th of Aug., 1886, will get a "Bible Turner's Book," or Dr. Tanner's "Outline."

3d. Send in the money soon! Send it to Xenia, Ohio.

4th. Do the best you can to help me.

5th. We must have seventy-five thousand dollars this year. Who will be the first to send the ball—the Dollar Ball? Send on the dollars.

6th. Let every minister raise one dollar for each member this year. Try it once in your life.

7th. I will give a present to every church in the connection that will raise one dollar from the above rule. Who's Sarsparilla will do a greater amount of good now than at any other time. Take it now.

Anglomaniacs will not go to any seashore place described in the news articles as "cottages." Nothing under three cottages is considered to be the correct thing.

Don't wait for the conference but send the money to B. W. Arnett, Xenia, Ohio. Send it soon as it is. If it is small, send it anyway. Small amounts help it well.

I am yours,
B. W. ARNETT,
Wilberforce, Ohio.

NOTE TO AGENTS SELLING THE RECORDER.

On and after the 1st of June, agents selling 10 copies and over will be allowed a commission of two cents each and a half; less than ten copies, 3 cents.

All who send in orders and remittances for more than one month will be stopped after June 15th. After that all must settle the first of each month.

More than $400 is due us to-day on back orders alone. We shall sift our agents next week.

Now, dear friends and laborers, help us. We are going to come to do your work with energy and faithfulness, we pray, you to stand by your own cause.

Manager's Notes.

We have on hand

the Revised Version of the Bible, just issued from the press. Two styles, $1 and $2 per copy. We want to sell them now. Please order them. Immediately after the press and binding reading. Ten never saw so clearly the meaning of many things as you will find in this new old Book!

Wakefield's Theology, the standard theological text book, adopted by the Bishops for the course of study. $2.50 by mail at your risk; $2.25 by express. Please order them. They are here and must be sold.

Then we have an excellent book—"Fifty Years and Beyond,"—a charming thing for older people and for those who intend to be old. It sends sp—ect down—the shining pathway of years with a harp and song. $2.00, postpaid. Must be sold. We have many more, but can't speak of them now.

What we must say

now, is that we are opening a regular campaign for the CHRISTIAN RECORDER. We want two thousand new subscribers, and all the old ones to renew. Now, appreciating the dullness of the times, we have resolved to put the paper within the reach of all, adopting the installment plan.

Installment

costs a little more, but is easier bounne it gives more time. Hence, we make the following offer to all who desire to have the RECORDER:

Send us 25 Cents and we will enroll your name in a special book kept for that purpose and will send you the paper for sixty days; then send us 50 cents, and two months after 50 cents, and two months later 50 cents more. Total, $1.75.

All our Pastors

are Agents for the RECORDER, and are hereby authorized to present this proposition to their people and receive their enrollment fee (25 cents), and give their receipt for the same. [Note.—We will send a few blank slips of receipts to all who will act for us in this matter.]

On this Plan

we give full six months for paying the subscription.

"Pastor's Memorandum Book," by Rev. C. T. Shaffer. Price, 45 cents, no discount. An excellent book.

J. C. EMBRY, Manager.

NOTICE.

A NEW DEPARTURE IN THE RECORDER SALES DEPARTMENT.

Our new rules are as follows: 1st. On appointing an agent he or she must sign a written contract binding each to sell and return one-half of the sales money to us monthly and to make a full settlement of all sales at the end of every three months. 2nd. All papers mailed to be carefully preserved and reported with each settlement and held subject to our orders. They must be counted, bound and returned to us when required. 3rd. Such agents will be allowed one-third of each annual subscription they obtain for the paper at $1.50 per year, they retaining fifty cents and sending us a net one dollar. Or, they can take subscriptions on our installment plan, collecting 50 cents in advance every two months, and sending us 20 cents.

These rules will be strictly applied to all except regular itinerant ministers. We are compelled to do this for the protection of the Department against seven loss. We have about two hundred and sixty agents, people generally. Two-fifths, or one hundred and four thousand copies are sent out to agents. On this number we lose from $1,200 to $1,500 year. Believing that all our brethren will favor any plan which promises relief from this great loss, we have resolved on the above rules. Please read them, note well and prepare to settle as above.

NOTE.—These new agreements will be furnished in blank to all who wish to become or continue agents.

NOTICE.

To the Members of the New York Annual Conference:

We have had the data of meeting of your conference has been changed from June 17th, to June 10th, at 9 A. M. You will so govern yourselves accordingly.

By order of the Bishop,
R. H. CAIN,
W. B. DERRICK, Secretary.

Eczema

is more commonly known as Salt-Rheum. It is caused by impure blood, is accompanied with intense itching and burning sensations, and, unless properly treated, is likely to afflict its victim for years. If you are suffering from Eczema, or any other eruptive disease, take Ayer's Sarsaparilla. It has proved, in numberless instances, a complete cure for this disorder.

Entirely Cured.

A few weeks ago I was attacked with a severe and distressing form of Eczema. The eruptions spread very generally over my body, causing an intense itching and burning sensation, especially at night. With great faith in the virtues of Ayer's Sarsaparilla, I commenced taking it, and, after having used less than two bottles of this medicine, am entirely cured.—Henry H. Beardsley, of the Hope "Times" Staff, Philadelphia, Pa.

I was, for years, troubled with Salt-Rheum, which, during the winter months, caused my hands to become very sore, crack open, and bleed. The use of sarsaparilla has entirely saved me of this troublesome disease.—Mrs. Lucinda Evanston, Wyoming Ter.

Prepared by Dr. J. C. Ayer & Co., Lowell, Mass.

Debility

Languor, and Loss of Appetite, are cured by the use of Ayer's Sarsaparilla. This medicine relieves that sense of Constant Weariness, from which so many suffer, purifies, invigorates, and vitalizes the blood, gives tone and vigor to the stomach, and restores the appetite, health and strength more surely and speedily than any other remedy.

Positive Proof

"For years ago I suffered from Loss of Appetite and Debility, resulting from Kidney Disease. After having tried various remedies, and several physicians, without receiving any benefit, I began taking Ayer's Sarsaparilla. The first bottle produced a marked change, and the second and third accomplished more than two bottles of new man. I have, since that time, taken about one bottle every year, and find no return of the trouble.—William E. Way, East Lempster, N. H.

If any one suffering from General Debility, Want of Appetite, Depression of Spirits, and Lassitude will use Ayer's Sarsaparilla,

PRICE ONLY $1.25.

THE DISAPPOINTED.

There are songs enough for the hero,
Songs enough for the bridegroom and bride;
I sing for the disappointed,
For those who missed their aim.

Sing with a tearful cadence
For one who stands in the dark,
And knows that his last, best arrow
Has fallen among the weak.

I sing for the beathless runner,
The eager, anxious soul,
Who fails with his strength exhausted
Almost in sight of the goal.

For the hearts that break in silence
With a sorrow all unknown;
For those who need companions
To weep with those who weep.

There are songs enough for the lovers
Who share love's tender pain;
I sing for the wistful passion
Is gives and in vain.

For those whose spirit comrades
Have missed them on the way,
I sing with a heart unbowing
This minor strain to-day.

And I know the solar system
Moves in its orbit at pace
A price for that spent runner
Who hastens in the race.

For the plan would be imperfect
Unless it held some sphere
That paid for each lost effort
And for each vain tear.

And there are wasted here.
—Ella Wheeler Wilcox, in Good Cheer.

BEYOND THESE STARS.

Beyond these dreams and tears—
Beyond these hopes and fears—
Beyond these years
There waits for thee
A home, so wonderful
So pure, the air
Breathing with joy everywhere
In harmony.

Angelic creatures move,
Through every mansion grove
Whose constant theme is love—
The rapture song
And on their brows is wrought
Those stains—divinely taught;
And every child caught
On rosie bung.

Till every pulse was filled
With ideal ecstasy, distilled
For tender chords that thrilled
Whose liquid streams pursue
Enchanted music to the ear;
And myriad drops of dew
Resplendent glow.

Whose every vision stays
O'er every stream that flows,
Whose crystal beauty throws
Its light and shade.

No tongue can e'er possess
The gift to tell the bliss
The matchless loveliness
Of that bright home.

Oh, spirit, why shouldn't thou
Bemoan and murmur now?
Let not despair
Beyond these tears,
When such a home appears
With all the glories that
They cannot say.
Then, spirit, why should'st thou
Be so impatient and mute
To righteousness, that thou should'st
Be so unwilling to endure
Conference may elect you to orders and by the authority of the church imposed upon us, we may set you apart as deacons, but if you have never been washed in the laver of regeneration, if God has never called you, you will never succeed, though you may possess the eloquence of Cicero, preach like Paul, convert multitudes as Spurgeon and have the fame of Simpson, if God has not called you it will amount to nothing. In the day that he comes to make up his jewels you will say, if you have been unworthy, I never knew you. You may say, Master, have we not cast out devils in thy name and done many wonderful miracles? To which he will respond: "Depart from me, ye cursed, I never knew you." It is with you then as it was with each of you can lay your hand upon your heart to day and, appealing to the searcher of all men, say, "Thou God of Abraham, Isaac and Jacob, thou whose eye penetrates the recesses of my soul, who shallest the armies of heaven and earth, thou knowest that I love thee and that thou hast called me to this work." If you can do this you will succeed. Depend on his behalf. Let the power come down here—let it simultaneously come in the hearts of the people, let the spirit of the living God here him witness in each case in his salvation. We have learned that the Senior Bishop, the venerated Payne, is indisposed to Jacksonville. Pa. Pray for him that he may come to us that he has been very ill; that he may engage in the work we have before, and libet each one may go out and preach a living Christ to a dying people. Bless all the members of the conference; bless their several charges. Bless the dear people we have so kindly cared for na here, bless the temperance workers, the men and women of this country who have devoted themselves to the suppression of the liquor traffic. May thy power overthrow all of the evils of intemperance and the glory shall be thine ever through Christ. Amen.

THE A. M. E. CHURCH—ITS PROPOSED UNION WITH THE A. M. E. ZION CHURCH.

BY REV. A. J. KERSHAW.

No. 3.

The question to which we propose to devote this article is a new one, and is an old song with a new air, set to music by one of those rare artists in the conference who combines the genius of a composer, demanding to be heard, with the ability to sing. Is it the religion of Jesus Christ if this leprous evil of grumpy fault finding is not found in the midst of the assembly? Is it the spirit of Christ if with the silent army of the faithful there is not a few elicited cases, blows at the conference? Come down as never before, oh Spirit of God, in the midst of these moestrations. I have read, after the Revolutionary struggle had subsided, that Washington was at his wits' end to know what to do with the officers of the army—when Asbury shall head his numerous column—when Allen shall marshal his forces, and the rest of the great armies to be inspected by Christ and by Peter, and by Paul, and by John—Johnson, superintendent of the conference, seemed to respond to the call of the Master, and, like Brother Johnson, I am glad to be assured that we are not to be left when the roll is called. We may not preach like Wesley and Beacom and Simpson and Haven, but we can preach as we can. We are taking back into ourselves and into the church the poor, the lame, the poor and the outcast; we are roam ing Maryland over from the waters of the continent to the waters of Pennsylvania, from the Potomac on the South, to the Susquehanna on the North, and land from Pennsylvania, where we have already done much good. We have gone into the hovels and hole of the outcast, and we have never passed by the afflicted. We have come to the cell of the prisoner and to the scaffold of the condemned, pointing them to Christ; and they have listened to our voice; and as we said, behold, the Lamb of God that taketh away the sins of the world, they accepted Christ, they have been washed in the blood, they have been baptized with the Holy Ghost and you will succeed; yes, you shall succeed. Save thy people, Lord, and bless thine heritage.

I have read, and perhaps, so have you of the words that fell from the lips of the Saviour to his disciples, when he was about to leave them, and to go to the Father, and to make intercession for them, that they might be one, even as he and the Father were one. Is it possible that we have forgotten the impressive language, however obscure or ungrammatical, in which he sought to explain it. Have thyself. Saved while living; saved going in and out; saved when sick; saved when well; saved when dying, saved in judgment saved forever—saved not only thyself, but them that hear thee.

I have before me this afternoon, if I remember correctly, six young men, five of whom belong to the Bicentennial class, and one probationer. I recall their names; I ask them this beautiful afternoon, in the month of May, at a quarter before five o'clock, in the capital of the State of Maryland, do you feel that you can take heed to yourselves and to the doctrine? I commence with Brother Harris, Brother Bell, Brother Russell, Brother Lovell, Brother Wagoner, Brother Robinson and Brother Jones, solemnly asking you each and each of you, do you intend to take heed to yourselves and unto the do

THE EDITOR of the A. M. E. Church Review finds himself in want of several copies of the January issue of the Review. Indeed, he would like to have copies of all the past issues. Persons wishing to dispose of such will find Dr. Tanner more than glad to give them new numbers of the Review for any old ones they may possess. So anxious is he to have a few copies of the January issue that he will pay the cash price for them.

THE METROPOLITAN CHURCH dedication, next Sunday, will draw together many of our prominent men from all quarters of the country. This is a great undertaking for our Church, but not its greatest undertaking. It is really no small undertaking that 25 cents from every member would about discharge the entire expense; but this is about half met already. It is expected that Bishop D. A. Payne, D. D., will preach the dedicatory sermon Sunday morning. Bishop Campbell will preach Sunday night. The programme will continue through the entire week. It has not been our pleasure to see the programme in full, hence we are unable to give it to our readers. We only know that it is said to include the names of President Cleveland, several Senators, Congressmen, Bishops of the M. E. and M. E. South, Governors, Mayors, Gen. Hamilton Fredrick Douglass and others.

We could wish we were able to announce the programme beforehand.

THE FINANCIAL DEPARTMENT of the Church is in much better condition than last year at this time. The Secretary feels highly pleased with his new Board President, Bishop J. M. Brown, D.D. The Bishop as chairman has assisted the Department materially in several ways. With such management as we have at present, the general business affairs of the connection will be equal to our expectations and demands. Our Educational Department is fast growing in the hearts of the people every day. With prudent management, Bishop J. P. Campbell, D.D., with his Board and Secretary Johnson, will report success to the next General Conference. By the time this Department shall be as full as is the Financial Department, it will probably be equal to it in influence. We are waiting to hear what Bishop J. A. Shorter and Secretary Townsend will report as the result of our late missionary efforts. The annual Sunday school day will also be on hand very soon. There can be no doubt of its success. It is dependent upon the growing masses chiefly, and grows as it has.

"THE FORERUNNER" is a circular issued by certain ministers in North Carolina. While intimations as uncertified state of affairs that may require the exercise of Bishop Turner's wisdom; but this is not saying that the movement is wise. We can see how men can become exasperated and do many rash things on the spur of the moment; but it does not seem reasonable that some of those men whose names are appended to that circular, men whose life to the African Methodist Church has been uniformly honorable and valuable, would, after any months' consideration agree, to issue the "Forerrooner." Noticing Bishop Turner's letter to the Defiance, a paper published in Atlanta, we could well wonder if the Forerunner had reached him, seeing that he refers to the church troubles in Columbia, but says nothing concerning what threatens to be a greater one in North Carolina. There are men in North Carolina who can see to it that the Forerunner ends the whole affair, but the most of them have their names on the paper. We would plead with them for the sake of their children and their children's children, for the sake of the memory of their fathers and father's fathers, to wait patiently and not with undue considerateness. There are two sides to the subject which they make a question. We happened to hear their resolutions, which make a large part of their circular, read in conference. We remember their remarks both on the first and second day of the sessions. No one can doubt that is their history, as is the history of every conference of Methodists, the transfer system has been abused, either ignorantly or otherwise, at times, and that it is growing more unpopular daily; but it certainly has its good sides. Much of the success of Methodism has resulted from it. The interchange of thoughts, methods and homes, which it affords to ministers and churches, has been very serviceable to our church in every way. So far as getting bad men by transfer is concerned, we doubt if it occurs any more frequently than does the getting such men through the regular way of entrance to conference membership. Certainly there can be no doubt that the proper officials will be able to settle this difficulty. If not the 15th, to the first of the month following. All new subscribers can date from the 1st of January.

We would plead with them for the sake of their children and their children's children, for the sake of the memory of their fathers and father's fathers, to wait patiently and not with transaction of annual conference business, the same to be presented to the forthcoming General Conference for adoption. He Resolved, That the Secretary of this conference be authorized to transmit the above to the Bishops at the annual meeting to be held at Washington, May 20th, 1886.

An interesting case on Church relationship was the following: A minister had at some previous time resigned his membership—some said of our ministery, others said of our Church. At any rate he had served a Congregational church about two years and not performed any of the functions of membership required in our Church. Having concluded to resume the relationship of minister in the A. M. E. Church, he came to the conference. After a long discussion it was decided that, having been out of all active relation to the Church, he must have been out of the Church; hence, could return to the ministeral relations only by the usual way, rejoining the Church and being recommended by a quarterly conference. Another interesting question was settled by the Chairman, Bishop Campbell, Bishop Wayman coinciding. That when a minister is charged with an offense touching his Christian character and has been arrested by civil officers, bound over to meet the civil court, and the Church or conference being in possession of the fact, they must suspend him until the case is decided by the court.

Dr. T. G. Steward, who is well known throughout the connection and is indeed well-known throughout the country, a graduate of the Philadelphia Divinity School, and received the honorary title, D.D., from Wilberforce University, has been appointed by the Bishops to preach the sermons and appointed to the charge (and it is a charge) of the Metropolitan Church in Washington, D. C. Highly complimentary resolutions were adopted by the Philadelphia Conference expressive of their appreciation of and confidence in Dr. Steward. In the course of remarks some said they were sorry to lose him from this conference; but Elder Gould said he was not at all sorry. He was glad the Mother conference was able to give to the Metropolitan Church so able a pastor as her first in charge after completion and dedication. He thought it perfectly fitting. During the sessions of this conference we were favored with last night, or this morning, about 1 o'clock, when on being compelled to go to New York to fill engagements there, I retired and bade her farewell last Thursday, she was not very sick, and thought she would get back, you will know where to look for me." This was wrong in the fact, that a mother! It was she who taught me the alphabet and the one who first taught me how to spell the word "God." She taught me, how to read and sent me to a common school. It was she who watched my morals, life and said to me on our Christmas Day, in language of a saying year, as I was going out, "Now mind, James, if anybody offers you a glass of wine, don't you touch it." And though a boy so small I have loved the temperance cause ever since that day. Such a mother! Small in stature, vivacious in mind. Her husband preceded her to the skies. My brother, Dr. Wm. H. Hunter, who loved her, knows, was a woman of more than ordinary mind and character. Her son, also, has told the sensitiveness of her nature. Her widow and children will ever be remembered with affection. Rev. Bishop Campbell, Presbyterian, Bishop Wayman, A. M. E. visited her and profited by her experience as the nearest the "verge of death." Dear brother, you, like a little child, I say, "my mother's dead."

JAMES H. A. JOHNSON.

THE PHILADELPHIA CONFERENCE.

The seventeenth session of this, the mother of us all, after seven days' session in Union A. M. E. Church, Philadelphia, adjourned Wednesday night, May 19th. The sessions were pleasant and the work done. There was some footing to this, the oldest of our conferences, to show that ripeness is worth something. There is no other conference in the connection that surpasses this in ministerial reports, nor many that surpass it in spiritual strength. It has in it several old fathers on the superannuated list. It does not shave off these old men's support to give to anything else. They each receive their $300 per annum. The conference reported about $3,000 Dollar Money and over $573 Missionary Money. In all monetary affairs it made a very good showing. Contingent Money is brought to conference by these brethren in general. Rev. Mr. Jones, Rev. Mr. William Still, helog made chairman, such men as Robert Purvis, T. T. Fortune, B. T. Tanner and General Smalls spoke. The gathering was large and the speaking pointed. Properly managed, the League may do great service for the suffering among us.

The next day, Tuesday, the conference visited the Old Folks' Home. At this place there was a full attendance of clergy and laity. The house will not be so crowded often. Bethel Church, with one of her extra touches, had prepared a handsome looch for the ole folks and the conference. Addresses were made by Bishop Campbell and others to the good old folks and to the guests.

The home is now running very smoothly. The inmates look cheerful and neat, cocktoated and happy. This was a gratification to all. Bishop Campbell had does hundreds of generous acts, many of which the world knows not of. She gave the connection $700.00 this year. Where is the other church with 1,500 members that has done the same?

On the adoption of the report on temperance, Dr. W. J. Gaines, of Georgia, made a telling speech, sang a toneling hymn and gained the full sympathy of his audience. Some of the ministers, who have the General Conference at ready, secured the Doctor that they would vote for him if they lived to get there, as enthusiastically as they had done for temperance; to all of which we can offer no objection.

The Philadelphia Conference, like the New Jersey, considers the interests of our Department all through the year, hence did not do at the session so much for us as some other conferences, and yet they somorded us respectable recognition. The resolutions of the conference relative to the work of the several departments were highly encouraging. They resolved to stand hand in hand with the workers for the general good of the Church. In addition to the transfers to the conference named in our last, are Revs. S. B. Williams and G. W. Brodie. Elesshare may be seen the appointments.

ONE MINISTER ENOUGH IN THE PULPIT.

BY REV. W. H. YOCUM.

MR EDITOR:—The field of literature and the subjects most worthy of discussion in the newspapers and religious weekly gons over by men of matured thought that it seems impossible to find one which has not been discussed. Then, as we believe, in time of questions appearing before both Church and State, the educational and religious proclivities of the community in which the country lives has been discussed by friend and foe. The question of selling women apart to the highest bidder, during the time the slavery argued by able divines pro and con. Then, when the writer would present his thoughts in such beautiful colors that they will lay hold of the mind of the reader, others say the subject has been over as not worthy the time that it takes to read it. But why should a person wish to write we intended to say something new? "One Minister Enough in the Pulpit!"

While in Louisville, Ky., some years ago, before entering the conference, we had the pleasure of attending a popular lecture given by an able divine. There were about fifteen hundred persons present, and as soon as the speaker was introduced we saw him withdraw from the stage of having four men when three or four times as many as that number took his seat in the congregation. We at first thought that he was sick, but when it that he wanted to see the speaker and note his gestures and position in the pulpit. While preaching in the city of Providence, R. I., we saw the same result, and this gave us to thinking that must be something in it. Go this occasion, being appointed to the pastorate who introduced the lecture, we asked him why he left the platform after the "whoop." He said: "The man speaking to a congregation wants the attention of all the people in order to be effective." Now, we took the reasoning thus, that if one or more persons are in the pulpit besides the preacher, the attention of some people will be divided between the preacher and them; especially so unless the speaker is thoughtful, deeply interesting and impressive.

Do not our colored churches have a plan than any others? Look into most of our churches throughout the connection and I think we shall find at almost every preaching service two and three —sometimes six or seven—ministers and local preachers in the pulpit with the pastor. Some of them, perhaps, think they are more learned in the Scriptures than the pastor or more able to preaching. There may be some disarrangement to their dress, or, as an evidence of their consideration in what the pastor is saying, one of these local lights may be seen wondering of the dreamland. Still another is seen shaking the head, showing his disagreement with what is being said by the speaker. Now, in my opinion these and many other actions akin to these, are apt to divide the attention of a congregation —cause many to lose the connecting links of a sermon

When Moses stood before the great congregation of Israel and asked, "Who is on the Lord's side?" he stood alone before that mighty host, and the people looked up to him as their divinely appointed lawgiver and leader and lawmaker. The only time, perhaps, of others being with him was when Aaron and Hur held up his hands. So every man in the pulpit ought to give strength to the preacher by prayer and devotion.

When Christ preached to the assembled multitudes on the mountain and on the shore of the Lake of Galilee, he alone stood before those anxious congregations; these stray face, every eye and every thought was turned towards him. When St. Paul preached in Athens and Ephesus with such wonderful effect, we have no knowledge of any one being before the people but himself. The same may be said of Peter and John the eclat of whose sermons are unbeautifully set forth in the New Testament. Then, why should the pastor's own minister in the pulpit at a time Many of the noted pulpit orators in this and other countries have gained such reputation; for when a speaker has the individual attention of one man before him it fills him with satisfaction. We have been pleased to hear from the editor and the brethren generally on this subject More in the future.

PRESIDING ELDER SYSTEM IN MISSOURI AND SOME NEEDED CHANGES.

BY COLLATOR.

The introduction of the Presiding Elder system has been the theme of many published under commparatively favorable auspices. While there were many who were opposed to the system, the majority of them have been manifested a commendable spirit of fairness in the trial The minutes of '85 afford us data from which to base judgment as to its workings. The Missouri Conference having failed to produce minutes this year, we are compelled to confine our data to the North Missouri Conference, having a membership of 3,833, which is divided among 47 charges. There are 47 presiding elders, 47 parsonages, with a seating capacity of [illegible], and 47 churches, with a seating capacity of [illegible]. There are also 13 parsonages valued at $13,250, and 2 parsonages sold, against the property is $5,943. The total amount of money raised for all purposes during the year ended '85 was $[illegible], amount $15,940 85 was paid to pastors, African Methodist Church, Chicago, has amount $1,290 55 was paid to presiding elders, who received $1,290 55, or an average of $27 45 each. While each member of the church paid an average of $4 12½ per capita, each member of the four presiding elders, they gave an average of $11 70, or nearly three times as much as the pastors. The Presiding Elder System is met with loyalty; it is discharging its duties in a faithful manner. The churches raised for all purposes during the year $15,940 85; the presiding elders, who receive $1,290 55, or 8 per cent. of the whole

A LONG-FELT WANT.

The is a stock phrase in regard to investments, and has afforded much profound laughter to newspaper folks. Many investitors don't fill any want at all, for the reason that they don't exist at all. But the want did exist of some really good nervine and tonic combined. Many people have tried to fill this long felt want, but none succeeded at all. A CALL TO THE WOMEN OF THE M. E. CHURCH.

WILMINGTON, DEL., Feb. 5 1885.

DEAR SISTERS:—The cry for help is being heard from foreign fields, and the Parent M. E. Society is desirous of responding to their wants; to do this their fund must be increased, and realizing that active work on the part of the women of the Church will do it. Let each church (that has not done so) at once organize a branch society, and commence work in earnest. The Board of Managers meet the first Thursday in August, November, February and May; each auxiliary is requested to send its report to the Cor. Sec'y of the Parent M. E. Society, so that she may be able to give a correct statement of the progress of the work throughout the connection.

MISS ESTHER ARMSTRONG Cor. Sec'y.

NEW BOOKS

that will be on sale by the Manager in September and throughout the following year:

"Fifty Years and Beyond; or, Old Age and How to Enjoy It." A book of unclassable value, as well as interest to all who have passed the meridian of life. 400 pages, octo, $1.00, same in gilt edges, $1.50.

"Studies in Genesis; or, Bible Views of the Creation in its Relation to Modern Science," by the Rev. T. G. Steward, D.D., and containing an important chapter on "Christian Evidences," by Bishop Campbell. This is an intensely interesting book, especially to preachers, old or young. It will contain about 260 pages, 12mo. on clear beautiful paper, and sold at the low rate of $1.25. The work is now in press under our own imprint. Orders, $1.25, mailing 10cts. extra.

"Bible Heroes; or, Stories from the Old Testament for Little Folks." Judging by my own children, as parent who would have his children imbued with the heroic spirit of Bible characters, could buy a better book. Our children devoured it at once. Price only 50 cents; by mail, 55 cents; registered, 60 cents.

"A Voice from the Christ." This is a small volume of select sermons by Rev. M. C. Maccarthy, a native Greek, and pastor of the Spring Garden Street Presbyterian Church, of Philadelphia. This is an exceedingly interesting book for reading in leisure hours. Price $1.00.

Rev. J. E. Webb has published an excellent Sunday School Book for children, with blanks for everything pertaining to their reports and business meetings. It is well bound and well arranged. We have seen the book and like it. For half the cost of the Book is arranged for four years. It is just the thing to aid in making correct records. For sale at our Publishing House. Price, $1.50.

The Resurrection of the Redeemed, and Hades," by Rev. James Boggs. A book of 214 pages of well written matter, well bound in cloth. Price, 50 cents. Sent by mail from the office for each 60 cents, or may be sent to us at once. Cash orders only.

NOTE TO AGENTS SELLING THE RECORDER.

On and after the 1st of June, agents selling in single copies and over will be charged 2½ cents a copy, (two cents and a half); less than ten copies, 3 cents.

All agents now selling the RECORDER for more than one month will be stopped after June 11th. After that all must settle the first of each month.

More than $400 is due us to-day on RECORDER sales alone. We shall sift our agents next week.

Now, dear friends and brethren, help us. We are endeavoring to do your work with energy and faithfulness, we pray you help us by your own cause.

NOTICE.

A NEW DEPARTURE IN THE RECORDER SALES BUSINESS.

Our new rules are as follows: 1st. On appointing an agent he or she must sign a written contract binding each to sell and return one-half of the sales money to us monthly and to make a full settlement of all claims at the end of every three months. 2nd. All papers unsold to be carefully preserved and reported with each settlement and held subject to our orders. They must be counted, bound and returned to us when required. 3rd. Each agents will be allowed one-third of each annual subscription they obtain for the paper at $1.50 per year, they retaining fifty cents and sending to us $1.00 for each dollar. Or, they can take subscriptions on our installment plan, collecting 83 cents in advance every two months, and sending us 20 cents.

These rules will be strictly applied to all except regular itinerant ministers. We are compelled to do this for the protection of the Department against severe loss. We have about two hundred agents who handle about eight hundred annually. Two-fifths, or one hundred and four thousand copies are sent out to agents. On this number we lose from $1,200 to $1,500 year. Believing that all our brethren will favor any plan which promises a realization of this great loss, we have resolved on the above rules. Please read them, note well and prepare to settle as above.

NOTE.—Those new agreements will be furnished in blank to all who wish to become or continue agents.

NOTICE.

To the Members of the New York Annual Conference:

Please note that the date of meeting of your conference has been changed from April 8th to April 15th, at 9 A. M. You will so govern yourselves accordingly.

By order of the Bishop,

NOTICE.

The annual meeting of the Board of Managers of the Sunday School Union of the African Methodist Episcopal Church will be held at the office of the Union, 1134 North Cherry Street, Nashville, Tenn., Wednesday, May 26, 1886, at 10 A. M. The annual address will be delivered in the evening by Rev. L. J. Coppin, of Philadelphia, Pa. Subject, "The Sunday-school Issue." Communications or suggestions as to the work of the Union, addressed to the Secretary, will be presented to the Board for consideration. In order to curtail expenses, the Board at its last meeting agreed to divide into two sections, and it is the members of the second section who are expected to be present this year. All who have received a notice by mail will please attend.

BISHOP D. A. PAYNE, President.
C. S. SMITH, Secretary.

Manager's Notes.

We have on hand the Revised Version of the Bible, just issued from the press. Two styles, $1 and $2 per copy. We want to sell them now. Please order them. Beautiful paper, clear type and most interesting reading. You never saw so clearly the meaning of many things as you will find in this new old Book!

Wakefield's Theology, the standard theological text book, adopted by the Bishops for the course of study. $2.50 by mail at your risk; $2.25 by express. Please order them. They are here and must be sold.

Then we have an excellent book of "Fifty Years and Beyond,"—a charming thing for older people and for those who intend to be old. It sends up—not down—the shining pathway of years with a harp and song. $2.00, postpaid. Must be sold. We have many more, but can't speak of them now.

What we must say now, is that we are opening a regular campaign for the RECORDER.

We want two thousand new subscribers, and all the old ones to renew. Now, appreciating the dullness of the times, we have resolved to put the paper within the reach of all, adopting the installment plan.

Instalment

costs a little more, but is easier because it gives more time. Hence, we make the following offer to all who desire to have the RECORDER:

Send us 25 Cents and we will enroll your name in a special book kept for that purpose and will send you the paper for sixty days; then send us 50 cents, and two months later 50 cents more. Total, $1.75.

All our Pastors

are Agents for the RECORDER, and are hereby authorized to present this prospectus to their people and receive their enrollment fee (25 cents), and give their receipt for the same. [Note.—We will send a few blank slips of receipts to all who will act for us in this matter.]

On this Plan

we give full six months for paying the subscription.

"Pastor's Memorandum Book," by Rev. C. T. Shaffer. Price, 45 cents, no discount. An excellent book.

OUR GOVERNMENT seems likely to become involved in considerable difficulty with England. The international law with reference to the fisheries on the Atlantic coast of Great Britain's American possessions are claimed to have been infringed upon by two American vessels, which have been detained by Her Majesty's government at Nova Scotia. The American government is paying some serious attention to the matter and in many places throughout the country indignation meetings have been held to express the people's contempt for what they are pleased to style British arrogance.

THE GENERAL BOARD of the Sunday School Union, or a section of it, met in Nashville, Tenn., May 20th, under the H. M. Terrer, D.D., LL.D., presiding; the following members being present: Revs. M. E. Bryant, A. A. Williams, J. M. Tarver, E. P. Holmes, L. J. Coppin and B. A. J. Nixon, also Dr. R. A. Grece and the General Secretary. The meeting is said to have been very pleasant and harmonious. Among the prominent items of business done are the following: Settling the quarrels of the Union at Nashville permanently; authorizing the building of a Union house; and street a suitable building therefor—allowing $1,000 per annum for the salary of help. Full reports will appear in a later Recorder issue.

THE EDITOR OF THE CHRISTIAN RECORDER calls the attention of our brethren from time to time in the fact that we are in no sense connected with the mailing of the CHRISTIAN RECORDER, changing its address, the price of books, or anything else in the department, but editing the RECORDER. While he is interested in all other parts of the business, he is not responsible for them, but all mail addressed to this office or Department is handed to the Manager. Therefore, it is useless to say to the Editor, "This is the second time I have ordered you to change the address of my paper." The Editor does not object to do my courtesy for a brother in this direction, but it is not in his line. Send all orders and money to the Manager.

"BE STRONG." This Scripture injunction is immense in its intention. It includes the exhortation to physical, intellectual and moral integrity. It urges the race to strive to attain to the full measure of the stature of manhood in Christ Jesus. It means especially that men shall care for themselves, study themselves, improve themselves, conserve themselves and yet commit themselves, so carefully, as to preserve, conserved, nuto the care, knowledge, improvement and conservation of Him who knows our feeble frame, cares for the sparrow, reckons our hearts, and holds the saints in everlasting remembrance, keeping them from falling, allowing not a hair of their heads to perish. The lovity, the acrimony, the perfidy, the deception and the chicanery of sinful men are overruled from the practices of strong men; pleasantness, peace and rectitude sie, fair dealing with all men are to be practiced and honored.

BECAUSE THE FOLLOWING letter relates to official acts of the editor of the CHRISTIAN RECORDER, because it appears him of having committed the slight mistake of saying that Dr. Weaver had been "a delegate to all the General Conferences, save one, since he has been in the South" (and the editor is very glad to accept this correction and acknowledge the mistake, though the main thing that wisetes our statement on this subject seems to be that Dr. Waters' relation to the A. M. E. Church near the time that delegates were elected to the General Conference of '84, was such that no annual conference would have chosen to honor him with an election), because we wish to say that we were certainly not among those who were surprised by the Doctor's notice in leaving the A. M. E. Church, for we had understood that this was as good as the second "action" of the kind on his part; by means of this sad another foot, we were too well prepared for the "action" to be surprised, and because, we regret, our criticisms of the Doctor's reasons were unfair, though we fail to see the unfairness—we say for these causes we publish the following letter, but we must decline to open the columns of the CHRISTIAN RECORDER to Dr. Waters on the Methodist trouble. It has shone to express himself through the News and Courier. There we are pleased to let him rest, certain that sufficient number of Intelligent readers will testify that we have not done the Waters injustice by any excerpts published:

DR. B. F. LEE:

DEAR SIR—Now that the surprise occasioned by my action in severing my connection with the A. M. E. Church, coupled with your very unistr criticism of the reasons which impelled me to that action, has measurably subsided, I repeat it, that the Methodist Church is made to suffer from the narrow-hearted sectional jealousy which forbids any man to be not born in the extreme South from preaching, teaching or holding any position of honor, emolument or trust, and this feeling is evidently shown exclusively to the ministers and is generally repudiated by the laymen of the church, who almost universally welcome strangers from the North. This feeling is not confined to any one part of the South, but is characteristic of the whole South. This you must be known to you. If you doubt my statements, I refer you to Bp. T. U. P. Jackson, Rev. John W. Beckett, and others who have labored in the South. Your review of my letter of resignation was unfair and did me great injustice, unless you had published my letter in full. It is not fair, as you assert, that I have been a delegate to every General Conference except one in three years. I have never been elected a member of such, nothing but self-solicitation, which I have been South. I have several times asked for proper to be set right before the Church, but in every instance have been refused. Now, if you will do me justice you give the accompanying article a place in the columns of the RECORDER.

THE OLD FOLKS' HOME.

The anniversary meeting of this honored institution will take place at the Home, Thursday, June 10th, 1886, at 3.30 P. M. This anniversary is made the occasion not only of reviewing the business of the previous year and arranging for the management in the future year, but also for entertaining and effective speeches. Among the speakers announced for 1886 10th, are Revs J. B. Reeve, D.D., W. Furness, D.D., and Judge R. N. Wilson.

"THE UNDERGROUND RAILROAD."

Of the several books written by colored men, few have excelled this remarkable book in popularity. Already over fifteen thousand copies have been sold and the author and publisher, Mr. William Still, will bring out a new edition within a week. This book will meet with increased interest from both colored and white Americans with additional years. It is only a short time since we would have to have obtained of America and those who study the history of the race must read such books as this.

NEW BOOKS

that will be on sale by the Manager in September and throughout the ensuing year:

"Fifty Years and Beyond; or, Old Age and How to Enjoy It." A book of unalienable value, as well as interest to all who have passed the meridian of life. 400 pages, cloth, $1.00; same in gilt edges, $1.50.

"Studies in Genesis; or, Bible Views of the Creation in its Relation to Modern Science," by the Rev. T. G. Steward, D.D., and containing an important chapter on "Christian Evidences," by Bishop Campbell. This is an intensely interesting book, especially to preachers, old or young. It will contain about 250 pages, 12mo. on clear, beautiful paper, and sold at the low rate of $1.25. The work is now in press under our own imprint. Orders, $1.25, mailing 10cts. extra.

"Bible Heroes; or, Stories from the Old Testament for Little Folks." Judging by my own children, no parent who has a child between the ages of three and the bench-legged of little characters, could buy a better book. Our children devoured it at once. Price only 50 cents; by mail, 55 cents; postpaid, 55 cents.

"A Voice from the Orient." This is a small volume of select sermons by Rev. M. M. Mangasarian, a native Armenian and pastor of the Spring Garden Street Presbyterian Church, of Philadelphia. This is an exceedingly interesting book for reading in leisure hours. Price, $1.00.

"Rev. A. E. Webb has published an excellent Record Book for church trustees. The blanks for everything pertaining to their reports and business meetings. It is well bound and well arranged. We have seen nothing like it, nor half so convenient. The book is arranged for ten years. It is just the thing to aid in making correct records. For sale at our Publishing House. Price, $1.30.

"The Resurrection of the Redeemed, and Hades." By James Hogue. A book of 214 pages of well written matter. Price, 50 cents; postpaid, 55 cents.

Orders for each or all of these works to be sent to us at once. Cash orders only.

AGENTS WANTED.

Will our pastors who are not supplying the RECORDER to their people, please do so by sending for a package to be sent weekly? If it is too much trouble to you, encourage some young man or boy, or, what is quite as good, a young lady whom you could recommend. Many of those who are now selling us agents are ladies. I feel every one lazy hold of this. Let us hear from our workers, heard on your circuit. Sell the paper for five cents and send us three cents. Address

A CALL TO THE WOMEN OF THE A. M. E. CHURCH.

WILMINGTON, DEL., Feb. 5 1886.

DEAR SISTERS:—The cry for help is being heard from foreign fields, and the Parent M. M. Society is desirous of responding to the call, but the funds for their fund must be increased, and nothing but solicitation on the part of the women of the Church will do it. Let each church (that has not done so heretofore) organize a branch society, and commence work in earnest. The Board of Managers will convene in this city in the month of November, February and May; each auxiliary is requested to send its report to the Cor. Sec'ry of the Parent M. M. Society, so that she may be able to make a correct statement of the progress of the work throughout the connection.

Yours in the Lord's service,

MRS. KEYES, Cor. Sec'ry.

NOTICE.

A NEW DEPARTURE IN THE RECORDER SALES BUSINESS.

Our new rules are as follows: 1st. On appointing an agent he or she must sign a written contract binding each to sell and return one-half of the sales money to us monthly and to make a full settlement of all claims at the end of every three months. 2nd. All papers unsold to be carefully preserved and reported with each settlement and held subject to our orders. They must be counted, bound and returned to us when required. 3rd. Such agents will be allowed one-third of each annual subscription they obtain for the paper at $1.50 per year, they retaining fifty cents had sending a set one dollar. Or, they can take subscriptions on our installment plan, collecting 40 cents each month and seven months, and sending us 20 cents.

These rules will be strictly applied to all except regular travelling ministers. We are compelled to do this for the protection of the Department against severe loss. We have also on hand several hundred and sixty thousand copies annually. Two-fifths, or one hundred and four thousand copies will be sent out to agents. On this number we lose from $1,200 to $1,500 year. Believing that all our brethren will favor us with the most promises avoidance of this great loss, we have resolved on the above rules. Hoping to hear from you soon, we remain well and prepare to settle at once.

NOTE.—These new agreements will be furnished to all who wish to become or continue agents.

NOTICE.

To the Members of the New York Annual Conference:

Take notice that the date of meeting of your conference has been changed from June 17th to June 10th, by A. M. E. Yon will so govern yourselves accordingly.

By order of the Bishop,
H. H. GAY,
W. B DURICK, Secretary.

NOTICE.

St. Joseph District Conference will convene at Weston, Mo., June 2nd, 1886, at 10 A. M.

DAL. B. BUNTON, P. E.

St. Joseph, Mo.

NOTICE.

The annual meeting of the Board or Managers of the Sunday School Union of the African Methodist Episcopal Church will be held at the office of the Union, 1105 North Cherry Street, Nashville, Tenn., Wednesday, May 26, 1886. The Sunday School Convention will be delivered in the evening by Rev. J. J. Coppin, of Philadelphia, Pa., Subject, "The Sunday School Bible." Any complaints or suggestions as to the work of the Union, addressed to the Secretary will be presented to the Board for consideration. In order to curtail expenses, the Board at its last meeting agreed to divide into two sections, and it is the desire of the secretary that each section be expected to be present this year. All schools who have received a notice by mail will please attend.

Bishop D. A. PAYNE, President.
Rev. H. M. TURNER, D. SAYER, Secretary.

Manager's Notes.

We have on hand

the Revised Version of the Bible, just issued from the press. Two styles, $1 and $2 per copy. We want to sell them now. Please order them. Beautiful paper, clear type and most interesting reading. You never saw so clearly the meaning of many things as you will find in this new old Book!

Wakefield's Theology, the standard theological text book, adopted by the Bishops for the course of study. $2.50 by mail at your risk; $2.25 by express. Please order them. They are here and must be sold.

Then we have an excellent book—"Fifty Years and Beyond,"—a charming thing for older people and for those who intend to be old. It sends up—not down—the shining pathway of years with a harp and song. $2.00, postpaid. Must be sold. We have many more, but can't speak of them now.

What we must say

now, is that we are opening a regular campaign for the CHRISTIAN RECORDER. We want two thousand new subscribers, and all the old ones to renew. Now, appreciating the dullness of the times, we have resolved to put the paper within the reach of all, adopting the installment plan.

Installment

costs a little more, but is easier because it gives more time. Hence, we make the following offer to all who desire to have the RECORDER:

Send us 25 Cents and we will enroll your name in a special book kept for that purpose and will send you the paper for sixty days; thee send us 50 cents, and two months after 50 cents, and two months later 50 cents more. Total, $1.75.

All our Pastors

are Agents for the RECORDER, and are hereby authorized to present this proposition to their people and receive their enrollment fee (25 cents), and give their receipt for the same. [Note.—We will send a few blank slips of receipts to all who will act for us in this matter.]

On this Plan

we give full six months for paying the subscription.

"Pastor's Memorandum Book," by Rev. C. T. Shaffer. Price, 45 cents, so discount. An excellent book.

J. C. EMBRY, Manager.

Stomach Troubles

Troubles are caused by improper diet, hasty eating and drinking, late suppers, flat carnivitie use of stimulants, and a lax sorrowful condition of the blood. Ayer's Sarsaparilla is the most efficacious remedy for all such disorders. ☞I am convinced that the worst cases of Dyspepsia cured by taking Ayer's Sarsaparilla. I suffered greatly from this complaint for years, and never took any medicine that did me any good until I commenced using Ayer's Sarsaparilla. I took four bottles of this preparation last spring, and my appetite, health, and strength were completely restored.—Richard W. Norton, Hanbery, Conn.

Can be

My wife was long subject to severe headaches, the result of stomach and liver disorders. After trying almost every blood-purifier known, she used Ayer's Sarsaparilla, and was speedily relieved. S. Page, 21 Austin st., Lowell, Mass.

As a remedy for Dyspepsia, Inflammation, Loss of Appetite, and Indigestion, I took one bottle of

Ayer's Sarsaparilla

and was cured.—H. Mahsfield, Chelmsford, Mass.

Prepared by Dr. J. C. Ayer & Co., Lowell, Mass.

Troubles

Never come alone. If the Liver, Kidneys, or Bowels are disordered, other parts of the body become affected. Ayer's Sarsaparilla restores the vigor required for the healthy action of these organs more speedily than any other medicine. ☞A few bottles of Ayer's Sarsaparilla me of Kidney Disease, when all other medicines failed. It is the most reliable blood-purifier I have ever known.—Alfred to me.—Eli Dodd, Xenia, Ill.

I was afflicted with a severe bowel difficulty; my vitality seemed to be rapidly diminishing, my appetite failed, my tongue was badly coated, and my strength was gone. In this enfeebled condition I began taking Ayer's Sarsaparilla. I had not taken many doses before I noticed a decided change for the better. My appetite and strength returned, and my bowels regained their natural regularity.—E. F. Simonds, Gilbert, Tex.

Ayer's Sarsaparilla

is the house: It is so good for the blood.—Mrs. E. Thrasher, Penn Amber, N. J.

Sold by Druggists. Price $1; six bottles, $5.

PARSONS' PURGATIVE PILLS

MAKE NEW, RICH BLOOD.

These pills were a wonderful discovery. No others like them in the world. With positively sure and painless action they cleanse the system of every impure humor, and make such rich blood as to work the most of a total change in the whole body in a few weeks. Every sick person should try them. Sold everywhere, or sent by mail for 25c. in stamps. Dr. J. F. Parsons & Co., 83 Cliff St., Boston.

"GENESIS RE-READ."

By Rev. T. G. Steward, D. D.

A great Scientifico-Religious Book, Orthodox, but Sparkling and Progressive. Two hundred and fifty pages crammed full of fact and thought. Beautifully printed, elegantly bound. The best book in all respects ever put out by our Publishing House. Read some of the golden leaves that it is winning from the secular press of our own conservative city:

The Times notes & thus:

Another explanation of the creation of the world and of the Bible account of it has been published in a book called Genesis Re-Read, by T. G. Steward, D.D. The author claims to give the latest conclusions of science, and emanates from the A. M. E. Book Rooms, 631 Pine street.

The Record says:

In Genesis Re-Read Dr. T. G. Steward examines the latest conclusions of physical science in their relation to the Mosaic record. Of course the book is orthodox, though Dr. Steward believes that Moses, writing under divine direction, was nevertheless also for orderly development, but its author is so sound and logical in his mental faith is of the old fashioned and simple character. The book is interesting, and the scientist is as honestly supported as that it will not be a commonplace thing in a wide and mixed community of readers.

The Inquirer says:

The Mosaic history of the creation and the great events in the world's early history are here examined in the light of modern science, and the author's position is defended evidently by a ripe student of both theology and science. The conclusion is that there is no necessary conflict between the Bible and the discoveries of science, but that both may be harmonized without infringing the one or the other.

The Press says of the author:

His style is simple and naive and not without a certain taking eloquence.

PRICE, ONLY $1.25.

It is the book for the times. Every thinking man and woman in the country ought to have it. Published and for sale at the

PHILADELPHIA, JUNE 10, 1886

A CORRECTION.

In making up last week our compositors got the wrong head on Rev. A. J. Kershaw's article. In transferring the writer's name and first part of the subject from No. 3, they transferred the entire subject also. The subject of last week's article should have read, "The A. M. E. Church—The Presiding Elder-ship."

CHILDREN'S DAY.

Next Sunday is the day in which our Church unites in efforts not merely to establish on a financial basis a Sunday School department by means of which to indoct our children into the doctrines, the sentiment and the responsibilities of Christians associated with the A. M. E. Church, but to train them in financial economy, help them to realize the glory of personal and denominational responsibility and thus enhance the worth of the African Methodist Church to the world. A definite and determined stepin originating a new Sunday school literature and helps, methods and benefits make this department one of our most useful. Its success is the success of the future A. M. E. Church; its failure would be the failure of the future A. M. E. Church. The character of the work thus far precludes all fear of its failure and encourages every hope of its success. More and more our Church is rising to higher places from which to gain a better view of the responsibility of its duty and is daily placing higher estimates upon the value of opportunity. Our opportunity to build up a great Sunday school supply centre for colored Christians is now. Could we by one stroke cast into the treasury of the rising Church on this year's Children's Day $10,000, it would prove none too large a sum to establish the Sunday school department to do their grand work. If the Secretary succeeds in getting five cents from every body, he will secure to the Department $50,000. Everybody in the Church should be asked to give enough to average the full five cents per capita. This could be reached easily if everyone were fully interested. God bless Children's Day, the Sunday School Union, the managers, the children and the Church.

WILBERFORCE COMMENCEMENT.

This important annual day of pleasure to thousands and profit to millions is just now at work off, Thursday, the 11th. There will probably be gathered on that sacred green campus that day between 5,000 and 7,000 persons from all extremes and all zones of American social life; probably gentlemen and ladies from thousands of miles distant; there because of their appreciation of literary and intellectual exercise, there because for many years they have found their taste well satisfied and their hopes fully realized. There will be hundreds there because they have been told of Wilberforce Commeeement by others who have seen; there will be pleasure-seekers there because they find charms in the soft shade, the balmy air, the rocks, the dells, the gurgling springs, the limpid streams and vine-trellised recluses of Wilberforce that rarely met where "Wit and wisdom both abound,

Where sound is sense and sense is sound."

But there will be a small number of intensely interested persons there, whose feelings are superinduced by only those of like experiences; this class is composed of the friends and parents, who have borne the vast responsibilities incident to a poor man educating his son under the adversities to which colored men under colored men's school management are subjected in the grinding compellitions of our times. What courage is evinced by many of our race, who, without education themselves, embark upon this unknown sea with their children in their arms, on their hearts, on a vessel conducted by men without the heritage of learning, with only its exposition. But observation has taught us to say, if courage is great here, realization is greater.

There has probably been no other work done in our Church of equal magnitude to that accomplished through Wilberforce University that has suffered more from an indifference that has resulted from lack of information concerning the character of the work on the one hand, and from petty jealousies on the other hand; but the noble men and women who have had the patience, through all the scorn of the unlearned and malicious, who help their children and wards on to the end of their course, have learned how to value Wilberforce. There is a class of men and women who will meet next Thursday, at Wilberforce, perfectly unique in American life: the "boys" and "girls," whose fortunes and notions have been in a high sense unified at Wilberforce. Some of them are of nearly a half century's standing on this stage of action, bald and grey, parents of large families, but with the newly fledged alumni of '86, they will be cheery on "Commencement" day; they will, in some cases, be sporting their bailsize crowns will have the relief of as sparkling eyes as those of boys of to-day. To see them meet, to see them greet will provoke the criticism,

"See those old duffers [bald] and grey,
They look as if they were in their prime;
Mad; poor old boys—that's what it means."

But on the greetings will go:

"Your name, old fellow; tell me it's me.
You Ann? How are you, Ann? How are you, Joe?"

The greetings over, the comparison of notes, the exchange of thoughts, the recounting of recollections and the observation of changes at the old school home will bring the alumni of Wilberforce University to the consideration of subjects of the grandest character and most far reaching tenderness. While the colored alumni of every other educational institution can at most exercise but a secondary influence upon their schools, the alumni of Wilberforce have the absolute power to shape the course and measure the destiny of their alma mater. They will in the future exercise a very different influence upon the school they have done in the past;—the graduates of sixteen years—number of years in which no other college in the world owned and governed by colored men—can count its graduates.

These men and women, nearly one-half of whom obtained their education at the price of their own hard labor, being chargeable to no man have required severe years after graduating in a state of personal and denominational responsibility and thus enhance the worth of the African Methodist Church to the world. A definite and determined stepin originating a new Sunday school literature and helps, methods and benefits make this department one of our most useful. Its success is the success of the future A. M. E. Church; its failure would be the failure of the future A. M. E. Church. The character of the work thus far precludes all fear of its failure and encourages every hope of its success. More and more our Church is rising to higher places from which to gain a better view of the responsibility of its duty and is daily placing higher estimates upon the value of opportunity. Our opportunity to build up a great Sunday school supply centre for colored Christians is now. Could we by one stroke cast into the treasury of the rising Church on this year's Children's Day $10,000, it would prove none too large a sum to establish the Sunday school department to do their grand work. If the Secretary succeeds in getting five cents from every body, he will secure to the Department $50,000. Everybody in the Church should be asked to give enough to average the full five cents per capita. This could be reached easily if everyone were fully interested. God bless Children's Day, the Sunday School Union, the managers, the children and the Church.

Notice—All questions and business pertaining to advertisements are in the hands of the financial agency correspondence to the RECORDER, Rev. J. C. Embry, Philadelphia, Pa., and should be addressed to him alone. There is no part of the business of the RECORDER that can be transacted by the editor, but correspondence for the RECORDER, to the Manager. All orders for changing address of papers, or discontinuing subscriptions, must be sent to the Publishing Department. Persons writing for information, including for subscription, or letters pertaining thereto, should be addressed to the editor, and they in him exclusively.

—The Rev. Edward L. Parks, A. M., B. D., President of Simpson College, Iowa, has been called to the chair of Systematic Theology in the Gammon School of Theology at Atlanta, Ga. He has accepted the position and will enter upon his duties at the opening of the fall term. Professor Parks is a graduate of the Northwestern University, in which institution he taught for several years, and of the Garrett Biblical Institute. He has served several pastorates and charges, and has been President of Simpson College for six years. The following testimonial, by Bishop Hinds, who has known Prof. Parks in the ministry, pastor and instructor, shows the unusual qualifications of the man for the important position to which he has been appointed: "The Gammon School of Theology has obtained a great wisdom in having President L. L. Parks, of Simpson College, to its chair of Systematic Theology. For wide and accurate scholarship, sound judgment, organizing skill and practical efficiency he has had a good record created by few educators of his age. That he will reach eminence in this new field no one of his many friends will for a moment doubt, for he not only his scholarly qualities but his manly traits and devout and earnest spirit will make a deep and highly instructive on all who come under his influence."

—The Rev. Daniel Alexander Payne, D.D., LL.D. We can never say, "Thank God for Wilberforce," without saying, "Thank God for Bishop Payne." May Thursday, June 17th, be a glorious day at Wilberforce University—may class after class of promising young ladies and gentlemen be eminently useful, and may God, as we have heard Bishop Payne pray often: "Increase the usefulness of the University unto a thousand generations."

WE FEEL IN very strong sympathy with Brother Kershaw in reference to his criticisms on our Dollar Money. But he has not extended his criticisms far enough.

All donations of the conference forty per cent to churches, schools or any persons are as strictly unlawful as is the giving one-fourth of the forty per cent to the General Treasury. No conference expenses can be paid, no schools can be built or supported from that fund with less violation to the law than is the giving to the General Treasury any part of it. These funds must be used exclusively for the Church purposes, viz: The assistance of widows, orphans, worn out preachers and those who have not received their allowance. Only this and nothing more.

Now the thousands applied to one educational work is a positive violation of law, as are our payments for Metropolitan Church windows. Considering the work carefully, we stand for law in this per cent matter and ask the Church to be sufficiently liberal to support all our varied interests by lawful methods and means.

WEDNESDAY evening, 2nd inst., the marriage ceremony of Grover Cleveland and Frances Folsom, both of Buffalo, New York, was celebrated in the White House; but an exchange says not only was Grover Cleveland married, but President Cleveland. Then ends the jest: that the last democratic President before the war and the first after the war were bachelors. The President is more than ever now. Among the many things noted in this common act of a big man is, that the President has such distaste for his middle name, Alexander. The native wit of the man that section tends so largely to individual freedom that church government tends to congregational form, more or less. Yet African Methodism will not grow here. In Boston, under the ministration of Drs. Hunter and Jenifer, African Methodism is quite as popular with the people as in any other city of the Union. In St. Louis, Bishop Tanner, Dr. Brooks and elsewhere, God has blessed the presence of our Church. On these grounds do we say to Drs. Borrell, W. F. Dickerson and J. H. W. Burley, you must not be surprised to see, for more and these stewarded and transferred, J. P. Campbell, M. D. Cowgill, J. F. Shreeve, W. J. Lavs, G. O. Smith, J. G. Yeiser, J. C. Brock, F. J. Cooper, W. H. Thomas, A. E. Johnson, J. B. Stansberry, J. T. Hays and others. We recently introduced Long, Fredericks, Whaley, Gaskins, Wood and others have evidently been making straight path. The sparseness of colored people in New England means the meagre congregations, hence rather meagre support in many of the smaller cities.

The presence of Rev. W. H. Heard, with whom our readers are now well acquainted as a writer, was very highly appreciated by the New England brethren. The wonderful improvement in the health of Bishop B. F. Cain was also very highly gratifying to all. The Bishop looked quite a hundred per cent better than when he left Boston. The reception Dr. Dey entertained.

On Thursday night Bishop J. P. Campbell preached the annual sermon. The text, "I am not ashamed of the gospel of Christ," etc. The sermon was very appreciatively received by a large congregation. Rev. J. T. Jenifer, pastor. The subject, "The Christian Minister." A very rarely treated subject. It were elocuence or in more forcible logic.

PRESIDING ELDERS' REPORTS.

Dr. Jenifer reported the Boston District as in very good condition. Dr. Jenifer is pastor of the Boston church as well as presiding elder. The report of this church shows a great reduction in indebtedness, which has for a long time dragged itself along from year to year. The Providence District was reported by the Rev. J. B. Stansberry. The report was well arranged and gave a very creditable showing of the work on the Providence District. The Rev. B. J. M. Long reported the New Haven District. The report showed that the work at New Haven and New London is in a very low condition; the former by reason of the distraction resulting from the trouble existing for years ago. Finally the church proper by was sold for debt and purchased by the Methodist Episcopal Church, and the London seems to have discarded African Wholeism. Rev. J. O. Brock gave a very interesting report of the New Bedford District.

—The little daughters of the deceased King of Spain have never been applied of the death of their royal father. They write affectionate letters to him frequently, begging him to return, but they having been told that he has gone on a journey, the baby prince is said to be a sickly boy.

—Rev. R. Carroll, of the Baptist Church of Greenville, S. C., paid us a pleasant call last Thursday. He has been attending the anniversary of the Baptist denomination recently held in New York. Brother C is pastor of a large and flourishing congregation in Greenville. They are a generous people, as our Columbia Conference of last year can testify, for they not only gave the use of their large church, but a liberal collection to the conference. Brother C. is a wide-awake pastor and keeps abreast of the times.

REVIEW: WAS IT THE SPIRIT OF CHRIST?

BY REV. B FAUNT.

MR EDITOR.—The New Jersey and Philadelphia Conference have been held, the ministers have received their appointments and the work and its several fields of labor for the year. The smoke of battle is lifted and all may see the killed and wounded. The two principal lumps of business as we have stated, were the Bishop question, was in relation to trouble at Mt. Holly and alleged sins for which brought against two charges by a former pastor. Perhaps the latter item was the more important of the two in the minds of persons, because the people of Mt. Holly had already decided what to do, and again because of the scowlful presence on that conference of the accused, and as the statement was received and acted upon by the committee appointed to voice his expression by report, which report was agreed upon and then the minister turned over to the ensuing meeting of the Philadelphia Conference for final action (the accused being a member of said conference). We think we have not seen a more beautiful sight in the way of its prominence in the minds of the brethren at the conference and shall therefore give most attention to it.

As we have learned, the pastors from Mt. Zion and Bethany Hill gave an expression in dolorous language of the assault upon the manly form of their pastor, for 'twas the same in both cases, and the effect invoking the assistance of that engine of warfare, which is ever to a compel an honest and God fearing people to bow down to our pet idols, which they have never manifested knowledged, but to their credit yet as in the one case a fixed conclusion had been arrived at to not pay him and in the other, to not receive him into the pastorate, the same spontaneous rising upon looking after persons friends will for a moment doubt, for not only his scholarly qualities but his manly traits and devout and earnest spirit will make a deep and highly instructive on all who come under his influence."

The Zion Methodist, of Sept. 17th, 1885, says: "The Sermon on Sunday morning was very highly appreciated by a large congregation. The subject was, "The Christian Minister." A very rarely treated subject. It were elocuence or in more forcible logic.

OUR RICHMOND LETTER.

BY FANNY S. PAYNE.

MR. EDITOR:—The visitor to our city during the last two weeks, from whatever section of the globe he might have come, could not have failed to see that we were a people of great expectations. A race must make itself known by its own works, carve its own name, enthroned in its own deeds. The misty cloud of ignorance and superstition that has surrounded the negro race moves away before a favorable breeze of intelligence. Soon the sun of righteousness will pour its exhilarating rays full upon the scene, revealing to the world a race that has satisfactorily worked out its own salvation. Let the race "deserve success" and it will soon stand itself invulnerable to the scathing falsehoods of the would-be-grand-chief Ben Blanton Duncan in his open letter to Senator Daniel, of Virginia. His questions, "the redoubtable" and darkly overshadow the future of our country, North and South, so intended that the rude jar in our section distribute the sensitive nerves everywhere, "is the negro race, its condition socially, morally and politically, in connection with the whole, do not threaten the overthrow of God, good music.

Rev. W. H. Heard is still faithfully at work preparing for the organization of a colored Presbyterian Church. He has the support of the best Christian people here and the best wishes of all.

Rev. J. H. Hunter left this morning for Washington, D. C., to participate in the ordination ceremony of the Monroollian A. M. E. Church.

Mr. John H. Bannister, of Petersburg, spent a few days in our city Sunday. We were glad to see him.

DESERVE SUCCESS AND YOU WILL COMMAND IT.

BY D. M. ROBERTS, A. B.

The fat, conquer or be conquered, is written upon the face of the times about us. The slumbering elements of an inevitable law of the "survival of the fittest." Reside in every age man has been compelled to battle with the winds, waves and all other forms of nature surrounding him, in accordance with, seemingly, an inexorable law. But this law is not to be extended, mediorated by an enactment written in the same code: "Let one deserve success and he will command it;" "he has a right to it" is an imperative injunction, a broad as a continent, and as deep as that which the human family is called to act. Every man is up in every zone to the height of the peasant and manial laborer as well as the man who has been placed monarch on his throne. The principle is re-enforced by numerous examples of men who have done a most illustrious achievement in the world's past history. It is true, that there is an agreement unanimity binding building, that the civilization which is the own contracting to give service or pay for service rendered, or compensation, we would like to know how he calculated to meet the needs of our large and growing Church in the Home Fund now are greatly needed to aid deserving candidates and ministers.

THE NEW ENGLAND CONFERENCE.

Both Bishop Cain and Campbell were at the opening of the 35th annual session of the New England Conference, at Providence, R. I., on Wednesday. The Revs. R. J. M. Long and J. O. Brock were the conference secretaries. It is one of the smallest conferences in the connection, possibly the smallest, but the only one that will compare with it for distinctiveness; but it is a conference of great significance to the Church. Its bounds are some of America's most historic grounds. It was organized out of the New England States, it has only recently had a bishop appointed to it. As the cradle of American morals and American freedom, New England, in a sense, is the cradle of the civilization of New England many of the principles of that section have been long possessed of superior native intelligence and acquired ability. This has necessitated supplying our pulpits with able men. Hence, the New England brethren are equal to the best scores that would be taken promiscuously from any of our conferences.

The growth of this conference has been very slow. Indeed, New England, how does not grow fast in New England, however sensible. The native New Englander that section tends so largely to individual freedom that church government tends to congregational form, more or less. Yet African Methodism will not grow here. In Boston, under the ministration of Drs. Hunter and Jenifer, African Methodism is quite as popular with the people as in any other city of the Union. In St. Louis, Bishop Tanner, Dr. Brooks and elsewhere, God has blessed the presence of our Church. On these grounds do we say to Drs. Borrell, W. F. Dickerson and J. H. W. Burley, you must not be surprised to see, for more and these stewarded and transferred, J. P. Campbell, M. D. Cowgill, J. F. Shreeve, W. J. Lavs, G. O. Smith, J. G. Yeiser, J. C. Brock, F. J. Cooper, W. H. Thomas, A. E. Johnson, J. B. Stansberry, J. T. Hays and others. We recently introduced Long, Fredericks, Whaley, Gaskins, Wood and others have evidently been making straight path. The sparseness of colored people in New England means the meagre congregations, hence rather meagre support in many of the smaller cities.

The presence of Rev. W. H. Heard, with whom our readers are now well acquainted as a writer, was very highly appreciated by the New England brethren. The wonderful improvement in the health of Bishop B. F. Cain was also very highly gratifying to all. The Bishop looked quite a hundred per cent better than when he left Boston. The reception Dr. Dey entertained.

On Thursday night Bishop J. P. Campbell preached the annual sermon. The text, "I am not ashamed of the gospel of Christ," etc. The sermon was very appreciatively received by a large congregation. Rev. J. T. Jenifer, pastor. The subject, "The Christian Minister." A very rarely treated subject. It were elocuence or in more forcible logic.

PRESIDING ELDERS' REPORTS.

Dr. Jenifer reported the Boston District as in very good condition. Dr. Jenifer is pastor of the Boston church as well as presiding elder. The report of this church shows a great reduction in indebtedness, which has for a long time dragged itself along from year to year. The Providence District was reported by the Rev. J. B. Stansberry. The report was well arranged and gave a very creditable showing of the work on the Providence District. The Rev. B. J. M. Long reported the New Haven District. The report showed that the work at New Haven and New London is in a very low condition; the former by reason of the distraction resulting from the trouble existing for years ago. Finally the church proper by was sold for debt and purchased by the Methodist Episcopal Church, and the London seems to have discarded African Wholeism. Rev. J. O. Brock gave a very interesting report of the New Bedford District.

—In the late session of the New Jersey Conference a large audience was amused for a few minutes by Prof. A. C. J. Hamilton's phrenologizing Prof. J. P. Sampson, who is also a phrenologist. Prof. Sampson acknowledged the correct diagnosing of Dr. Hamilton.

HEAR THIS.

We have lots of new Hymn Books and Disciplines and Class Books and Church Services on our shelves. They cost us a good round sum of money. We need this money now, and need it badly. Many more we must sell, or, cannot, pay. A man who will take goods knowing he cannot pay is dishonest. A true Christian will not pay well, you know what he is. But all that won't help us now. We want the money for these books here on hand and will use them hereafter who gets them without the cash. Now, brethren, many of the people of your congregation want a new hymn book. In many places there are doubtless a dozen members who would buy and pay for a new book in the next ten days if the matter were brought to their attention. Well, please tell them this: If 12 of them will club together and send one order, they shall have 13 cloth hymn books for $9.00 by mail in three registered packages. Full price, $12.80.

If 12 books are ordered of sheep binding we will send them post paid in three handies, registered, for $10.80. Full price, $12.00.

Twelve plain roan, $11.50, postpaid and registered. Full price, $14.40.

Twelve extra roan for $12.35. Full price, $16.00.

Six morocco gilt for $7.80. Full price, $9.60.

Three clasp hymn books for $6.00 net. Twelve Disciplines for $4.50. Full price, $6.00.

For 10 each subscribers all at once we will send the paper for $17.50 net, for $15.00 For 20 subscribers all at once we will send for $25.

Remember, this offer is only for one month from the date of this paper, June 10th. Let us hear from you at once.

NEW JERSEY NOTES.

Mrs. Laura Morris, of Camden, is in Providence visiting friends.

Rev. R. Faucet was in Camden last week looking well as usual.

Mr. and Mrs. Hamilton, of Camden, expect shortly to move to Atlantic City for the summer.

Mr. John Hamilton, from New Brunswick, Ga., is in Camden the guest of Squire P. T. Colding.

Mrs. Hall Brown, of Trenton, will leave for Ohio in a few days on a visit to her friends and relatives.

Mrs. Alice Newton, of Raleigh N. C., daughter of Rev. H. Newton, is in Camden visiting her father.

Rev. P. J. Smith is doing a noble work at Centenary. He has the confidence of the people.

Squire W. S. Darr is a prospective candidate for nomination from the Second Ward District, Camden, on a ticket to Trenton. His friends second the motion.

Sister Margaret Wilson, evangelist of the New Jersey Conference, preached at Macedonia, Camden, June 6th, to an attentive congregation. Sister Wilson has done a good work throughout the State as an evangelist.

Mrs. Susie B. Wright, of Trenton, departed this life on Tuesday, June 1st, in the 34th year of her age. She had suffered for some time with a cancer on her breast. She bore it patiently until summoned to the skies where there is no more. She was buried from Mt. Zion on the following Thursday. Services were very impressive, conducted by Rev. W. H. Yeocum, assisted by Rev. A. H. Newton Her friends showed their appreciation of her worth by covering her casket with beautiful flowers. She is now at rest.

Allooce, J's.

The sad shock of the death of W. B. Conner, who died February 18th. His death was very unexpected. We have not learned what has been his disease. He was buried in Fredericksburg, Va. His funeral services were held at the Baptist church, conducted by Rev. A. Dickson, assisted by Revs. Biddle and Baptist; Rev. Mr. Sanford, pastor.

H. F. SANFORD.

On Memorial day a short cloud hung over this village, caused by the death of brother Daniel Brown. He has been a faithful member of the A. M. E. Church and a good Christian. He died in peace. Before leaving he called his wife and said: "Jo[illegible] come and rules my head up a little, that the water may not get into my face, for as soon as that was done, he said," thank God, I am ready to meet my God." He has left a wife and three children to mourn his loss; but, thank God, it is [illegible] gain.

[Because we had published a notice of Sister Holmes' death, written by Mr. Thomas, we did not see the notice which has been sent us by our correspondent, Mr. Fauntleroy, but we have considered to publish it.—EDITOR.]

Rev. H. B. Scott:—This is to convey in you the sad intelligence of the death of Sister Mamie Holmes, who was a most energetic, esteemed and faithful worker for the Lord, Rev. E. F. Holmes' pastor, at Mt. Zion, Lower Merion, Montgomery county, Pa., on Sunday, May 30th, Macon, Ga. This good, Christian woman was born in Georgia and came to Philadelphia almost the very first thing our eyes fell upon. Her conversion was through the church or influence to true Christian progress. I am sorry to say to you that the sad accident of her death will make ministers withdrawing from the connection look back and say, "Behold, what a death!" The race "deserves it!" [illegible] Lord, but it is a consolation to the fact that the negro race has been made to feel that they will not be scourged, and that, too, by Southern whites, who have not the zeal and inclination to step forward and help us to rebuke the evil deeds of our brethren. It is not a fact that "education is accomplishing no benefits" in the South, the fact is that it is not long enough to be wily and unscrupulous in the South, where educational statistics and behold the sphere of educational influence and power is being extended, and these will speak in thundering tones of the demands which the race it makes. Education is a factor in every sphere of action. It certainly "deserves success," and every educational man and woman, whether from the classic halls of Wilberforce, at the North, or Paul Quinn or Clark at the South, can see portentious omens of Col. Duncan Kemper's prophecy, and the need of receding before the convincing battalions of intelligence. Success will come when recently advocating a certain course, by turning aside for a moment and looking at the people, as Napoleon, referring to Hon Fred. Douglass and others, "Behold your commander!" Is that, with equal advantages, need accompany superiors? He was inspired by the principals of honor and common sense, which shaped his words, and the laurels he won in the battle of life." But to "deserve success" is a title in the affairs of men, which, taken at the flood, leads on to fortune; omitted it and all the voyage of life abounds in shallows and miseries." On such a full sea are we now afloat and the tide is at the flood, which leads on to fortune; omit not our possibilities to places of honor, and we shall miss them. Let not the race miss the occasion in time the "subtle power, the never bailing lim which we feel it is not to be overcome's delay should make mischance as heavy as sin.

A PROTEST.

The undersigned, one of the Bishops of the A. M. E. Church, desires to offer his solemn protest, against the further acquisition and [illegible] of Rev. Allen and Randolph Disney as one of the Bishops of the Methodist Episcopal Church. As the ground of this protest I beg to offer the recent disclosure of the Court of Chancery in the Dominion of Canada in the case of Rev. Disney, in which the undersigned believes as already outlied by the press, the majority of the conferences and ministers composing our Church will admit that the assumed union of the contracting parties was never legally accomplished. In view, therefore, of this fact I feel it my duty to protest against the proposed [illegible] of Rev. Disney as Bishop of the A. M. E. Church. Respectfully signed,

A CHANCE TO MAKE A FEW DOLLARS.

We have about 200 copies of Dr. Stowards magnificent work, "General Bible Dead." We want to sell them in order to get rid of them before our fall trade. The book is a splendid work, and every man to learn there is now a chance to get one and in clegant, beautiful and neatly bound in cloth with [illegible] stamped design, with our own imprint in gilt. It is a lasting credit to the purchaser. It is a book that should be buried according to the ceremonies of the Church. Price, $2.50 per copy, subscription, at $1.50. Fifty cents to be paid cash by the subscribers and fifty cents each succeeding two weeks until paid for. We will allow 50 cents to the agent for each book sold by him.

First, take the names of all who will subscribe for the work; and when you have ten names or more, send us your list with five dollars; we will ship the 10 copies to our express. Then, at the end of four weeks, you will send us five dollars more. The remaining five (one third) is yours. Who will respond? Remember, they will be sent only in lots of ten or more.

—The Rev. G. A. Mills, of Woodbury, N. J., holds the first quarterly meeting of this year next Sunday.

The proceeds are very good at present. My quarterly meeting at Mt. Zion, Folsomville, Pa., on next Sunday. My last quarterly meeting of the conference year took place at Shamokin, Pa., on the 2nd of May. We received a cordial invitation to all to help us in extending the gospel in those regions. I have a very fine church at Shamokin; our penny collection among the children in the Sabbath school is from forty five to fifty cents each Sunday.

Rev. W. I. G. Jones, (Mariana, Fla.), writes: "I am meeting very good success. We have had no special protracted meeting but God has blessed the church with two converts. The second quarterly conference was held April 24th. Sunday 25th was Missionary Day. We did the best we could both in Sunday school and church. I have decided to carry out every notice and see by our next Church as best I can. As we are subject to the orders of the Church, we hope the Rev. Dr. C. S. Smith will not slight us any longer, but such as he has in his department to dispose of he will send to us, for we need books for our Sunday school. A. C. Kay is our superintendent. I have been trying to sell the Cumberland Encyclopedia for nearly twenty years. I need to delight in reading every book brought to me. I praise they spoke of the improvement of the churches and the increase of the A. M. E. Church. I am glad to hear almost the very first thing our eyes fell upon. The following is the programme of the week: Friday, the 4th, will be examinations; Saturday, the 5th, written examinations continued; Sunday, the 6th, preaching at 11 a. m. by Dr. Fyle, of Bryan, Texas; preaching at 8 P. M., by Rev. B. F. Burley, of New Orleans; Monday, the 7th, oral examination for the benefit of friends and visitors; All P. M. anniversary of Paves Literary Society. Tuesday, the 8th, 9 A. M. examination continued; meeting of the Trustees' Board at 9 a. m; lecture at 8 P. m. by Dr. W. H. Johnson, of Athens, Ga.; closing meeting of the Trustees at 9 A. M. All 8 P. M. the annual rhetoricals and remarks by visiting friends.

I. M. BUNDAM,
President.

ADVICE TO MOTHERS.
MRS. WINSLOW'S SOOTHING SYRUP should always be used for children teething. It relieves the little sufferer at once; it produces natural, quiet sleep by relieving the child, softens the gums, allays all pain, cures wind colic, and is the best remedy for diarrhœa. Twenty-five cents a bottle.

NEW BOOKS

that will be on sale by the Manager in September and throughout the ensuing year.

"Fifty Years and Beyond; or, Old Ads and How to Reject It." A book of inestimable value, as well as interest to all who have passed the meridian of life. 400 pages, cloth, $1.00, same in full edges, $1.50.

"Studies in Genesis; or, Bible Views of the Gression in its Relation to Modern Science." by the Rev. T. G. Steward, D.D., and contaiining an important chapter on "Christian Evidences," by Bishop Campbell. This is an intensely interesting book, especially to preachers, old or young. It will contain about 250 pages, 12mo, on clear beautiful paper, and sold at the low rate of $1.25. The work is now in press under our own imprint. Orders, $1.25, mailing 10cts. extra.

"Bible Heroes; or, Stories from the Old Testament for Little Folks." Judging by my own children, no parent who would have his children imbued with the heroic spirit of Bible character, could buy a better book. Our children devoured it at once. Price only 50 cents; by mail, 55 cents; registered, 65 cents.

"Voice from the Orient." This is a small volume of select sermons by Rev. M. Manoogian, a native of Greek, and pastor of the Spring Garden Street Presbyterian Church, of Philadelphia. This is an interesting book for reading in leisure hours. Price, $1.25.

Rev. J. E. Webb has published an excellent Record Book for churches and trustees, with blanks for everything pertaining to their raports and business meetings. It is well bound and well arranged. We have seen nothing like it, nor half so convenient. The book is arranged for four years. It is just the thing to sell in working Sunday-school rooms. For sale at our Publishing House. Price, $1.50.

"The Resurrection of the Redeemed, and Hades," by Rev. James Hogge. A book of 214 pages of well printing matter, well bound in cloth. Price, 50 cents. Orders for each or all of these works may be sent to us at once. Cash orders only.

AGENTS WANTED.

Will our pastors who are not supplying the RECORDER to their people, please do so by sending for a package to be sent weekly? If it is too much trouble to canvass a congregation single man or boy, or, what is quite as good, a woman, then you could recommend. Many of these are doing well in acting as agents as ladies. Let every one do a little of this. Let the paper from our workers. Send on your orders. Let the paper for five cents and send us three cents. Address

J. C. EMERY, 631 Pine street.

NOTE TO AGENTS SELLING THE RECORDER.

On and after the 1st of June, agents will receive 3 cents each and every copy sold for 2½ cents a copy, (two cents and a half); less than ten copies, 3 cents.

We hope to get up with a bang and a scream for more than one month will be stopped for failure to report. After that all must settle the first of each month.

Now, dear agents, see to it day to day on RECORDER sales alone. We shall sift our agents next week.

Now, dear friends and brethren, help us. We are endeavoring to do your work with energy and faithfulness, we pray you to stand by your own cause.

A CALL TO THE WOMEN OF THE A. M. E. CHURCH.

WILMINGTON, Del., Feb. 6 1886.
Dear Sisters:—The cry for help is being heard from foreign fields, and the Parent M. E. Society is desirous of responding to their wants in the best possible and most be increased, and nothing bet so-live work on the part of the women of the Church will do it. Let each church (that has not done an heretofore) organize a branch society, and commence work in earnest. The Board of Managers met the first Tuesday in August, November, February and May; each auxiliary is requested to send a delegate to the Cor. Sec'y of the Parent M. Society, so that she may be able to give a correct report at the beginning of the work throughout the connection.

Manager's Notes.

We have on hand

the Revised Version of the Bible, just issued from the press. Two styles, $1 and $2 per copy. We want to sell them now. Please order them. Beautiful paper, clear type and most interesting reading. You never saw so clearly the meaning of many things as you will find in this new book.

Wakefield's Theology, the standard theological text book, adopted by the Bishops for the course of study. $2.50 by mail at your risk; $2.25 by express. Please order them. They are here and must be sold.

Then we have an excellent book—"Fifty Years and Beyond,"—a charming thing for older people and for those who intend to be old. It sends up—not down—the shining pathway of years with a barp and song. $2.00, postpaid. Must be sold. We have many more, but can't speak of them now.

What we must say

now, is that we are opening a regular campaign for the CHRISTIAN RECORDER. We want two thousand new subscribers, and all the old ones to renew. Now, appreciating the dullness of the times, we have resolved to put the paper within the reach of all, adopting the installment plan.

Installment

costs a little more, but is easier because it gives more time. Hence, we make the following offer to all who desire to have the RECORDER:

Send us 25 Cents and we will enroll your name in a special book kept for that purpose and will send you the paper for sixty days; then send us 50 cents, and two months after 50 cents more. Total, $1.75.

All our Pastors

are Agents for the RECORDER, and are hereby authorized to present this proposition to their people and receive their enrollment for (25 cents), and give their receipt for the same. [Note.—We will send a few blank slips of receipts to all who will sot for us in this matter.]

On this Plan

we give full six months for paying the subscription.

"Pastor's Memorandum Book," by Rev. C. T. Shaffer. Price, 45 cents, no discount. An excellent book.

J. C. EMBRY, Manager.

NOTICE.

A NEW DEPARTURE IN THE RECORDER SALES BUSINESS.

Our new rules are as follows: 1st. On appointing an agent he or she must sign a written contract binding each to sell and return one-half of the sales money in six months, and to make a full settlement of all sales at the end of every three months. 2nd. All papers unsold to be carefully preserved and reported with each settlement and held subject to our orders. They must be counted, bound and returned to us when required. 3rd. Each agents will be allowed one-third of each annual subscription they obtain for the paper at $1.50 per year, they retaining fifty cents and sending us a net ons dollar. Or, they can take subscriptions on our installment plan, collecting 30 cents in advance every two months, and sending us 20 cents.

These rules will be strictly applied to all except regular Itinerant ministers. We are compelled to do this for the protection of the Department against severe loss. We have about two hundred and sixty thousand sepps annually. Two-fifths, or one hundred and four thousand copies are sent out to agents. On this number we lose from $1,200 to $1,500 year. Relieving that all our Pastors will favor our plan which promises avoidance of this great loss, we have resolved on the above rules. Please read them, note well and prepare to settle at once.

Those who have agreements will be furnished in blank to all who wish to become or continue agents.

NOTICE.

A Luxuriant Growth Of Hair
May be obtained by the continued use of Ayer's Hair Vigor. "A few years ago my hair began to turn gray, and, a short time after, fell out so freely that I became nearly bald. Ayer's Hair Vigor stimulated a new growth of hair, and of the original color. I have applied the Vigor, occasionally, since that time, and my hair is now strong and abundant.—Ira D. Kennah, Utica, N. Y.

I had been troubled, for years, with dandruff, and my hair was weak and falling. By use of five bottles of Ayer's Hair Vigor cured my scalp, and gave me a luxuriant head of soft, black hair.—Mrs. E. H. Foster, Lynn, Mass.

Prepared by Dr. J. C. Ayer & Co., Lowell, Mass. Sold by all Druggists and Perfumers.

Scrofulous Affections
Humors originate in the blood, which, when tainted, carries disease to every tissue and fibre of the body. Ayer's Sarsaparilla eradicates all traces of the scrofulous taint from the system.

I have used Ayer's Sarsaparilla, in my family, and know that it is a reliable specific for Scrofula. I have also prescribed it as a tonic, and invariably believe it to be the best blood medicine compounded.—F. Flower, M. D., Greenville, Tenn.

"GENESIS RE-READ,"
By Rev. T. C. Steward, D.D.
A great Scientifico-Religious Book, Orthodox, bel Sparkling and Progressive. Two hundred and fifty pages crammed full of fact and thought. Beautifully printed, elegantly bound. This book in all respects ever put out by our Publishing House. Read some of the golden laurels it is winning from the secular press of our own conservative city:

The Times notes it thus:

Another explanation of the creation of the world and of the Bible account of it has been published in a book called Genesis Re-Read, by T. G. Steward, D.D. The work claims to give the latest results of science, and reasnales from the A. M. E. Book Rooms, 631 Pine street.

The Record says:

In Genesis Re-Read Dr. T. G. Steward examines the latest conclusions of physical science in their relation to the Mosaic record. Of course the book is orthodox, though Dr. Steward believes in progress, while surely teaching a direct creation, allows also for natural development, but its temper is so moderate and its treatment of the vital consideration on the part of the Christian and the scientist so temperate, and so full of the subject. His references and citations are so numerous and English as to be one of the most prominent writers, while he mildly protests against the tendency of science to build an imaginary ability announcing almost to infallibility, and having often capitulated because we do not weigh the evidence. We pay much greater respect to the witness than to the testimony.

The Press says of the author:

His style is simple and naive and not without a certain taking eloquence.

PHILADELPHIA, JUNE 17, 1886

DISTRICT REPORTS.

We were driven to decline the publication of presiding elders' and district conference reports last year, and we are almost driven to it again. It is just as easy to publish this class of communications as any other, but the character of the CHRISTIAN RECORDER cannot be so much changed as to admit long reports occur in each issue. We have from twenty-five to thirty-five of these articles on hand, ranging from three to seventeen pages. Long before these are published there will be as many more. Brethren from all quarters complain because these papers are not published, each declaring that nothing can be gotten in the RECORDER from his section, which, of course, he would see was a great mistake in every one were he to read the RECORDER carefully. The more regularly these papers are published the more frequently and the larger they come. It is strange that our dear brethren should be so much from publishing so much that everyone takes for granted concerning districts and district conferences. It is strange that they will persist in naming each pastor three or four times a year. It is strange, since so many pastors are "in the right man in the right place," that the presiding elder does not just say it once for all. If it were stranger that our good brethren, discarding that last strange, is filled wholly to the best advantage, from our standpoint, will deal out unsolicited words to the editor. complimentary words to the editor.

Such procedure creates no space in the RECORDER. Give space to report sermons, we will publish everything that is presentable. We make no question of time or labor, spending three or four hours to redress fifteen pages to three with great pleasure, but we cannot crowd out advertisements nor official notices of Bishops and drpartments. All the advertising space of the RECORDER is entirely out of the editor's hands. We have only an advertisement sable in order to accommodate the editor, his friends nor his patrons; If we could we would gladly do so. Nor can we give up the first page to promiscuous contributions, as we reserve this for the better class of general literature, leaving room for the editorial space on the second page, though we do yield more than twice as much of this as we should like to do. This leaves us only a part of the second and third pages for the entire list of correspondence papers. We have enough of such matter on hand to make up a dozen issues of the RECORDER. Now, brethren, what are you going to do: force us into less space, give us more space to be reasonable about your publications? Not the great objections are that "we never can get in." This you know is, as a rule, an exaggeration; though it may be that in some issues, owing to arrangement, design or wish on the part of the editor, the same man's articles may go unpublished two or three times. It is utterly impossible for the editor to remember who the man is that got to go unpublished when he is making up the paper. We cannot always avoid those seeming injustices, but we can show to any reasonable reader that there is no injustice meant for any given individual. Please make the RECORDER an issue, your articles and complaints smaller, brethren.

Blennville Circuit St John A. M. E. Ch.

To the CHRISTIAN RECORDER of the A. M. E. Ch. 631 Pine St Philadelphia, Pa.

Mr. Editor, Please allow me a space in your valuable paper to say a few words about the said sheet of ech on the 15th of June 1886 was segured to the above Herein. By Bishop D. A. Payne, but on the 15th of January 18 86 I met the official Board in the said St John ch and found it almost decayed down with no roof on it. all the top falling in with the pews in the said church and the next stay in either of them, when cold or raining, I found the membership scattered as they said they had paid out as much money on that ch as they could so I told them as no good therefore we have decided to not pay on Cooper has enlarged a successful term in this city and has done a good work for the people, who will feel finally the loss of it sincerely the New England Conference which meets in Providence on Thursday and will then receive his appointment to a new field of labor He is one of the ablest men of his denomination and the church to which he may be directed is to be congretulated.

Children are poor men's riches, certain care, but uncertain comforts, when they are little they make parents fools, when grast, mad.

Literature.

The June Pansy is as bright as its namesake. The stories, poems and Flower Chorus are unusually attractive because of their timely import and unusual sensible aid. The sketches, both historical and biographical, are particularly notable, and the installments of an exceptionally strong character. Sound the Family Lamp, (Margaret Sidney) is deserving of especial mention. Appropriate for this month, is the Children's Day Gems, a delightful out-of door entertainment, and one that will be entered into with zest by the entire household. Illustrated, $1.00 a year. D. Lothrop & Co Publishers, Boston. Specimen free.

REVIEW: WAS IT THE SPIRIT OF CHRIST?

BY REV. B. FAYCET.

No. 2.

In our last we denied that any moral, social or civil right was guaranteed by either a bishop's saying he just debt or debts to a minister who has served it, and this we did so far as the Scriptures are concerned, based upon the golden rule of the Saviour, "As ye would that men should do unto you," &c., the teaching of the old Scriptures, and the spirit of the printed book to get their portion from the offering of the people which should be indeed the fruit of the spirit of Christ, and not the spirit of the flesh, "Musle not the ox that treadeth out the corn." The laborer is worthy of his hire. The New Testament: "If we have sown unto you spiritual things, is a small thing we shall reap your carnal things?" We have quoted enough to show that by the Scriptures we are based on the moral law which is sacred with it, has no binding force upon any Christian. True ecclesiastical law (agreeing with the moral law) and not contrary to Cæsar (he the things that are Cæsar's and unto God the things that are God's." But the dictum of the Bishops we say naught about this conference, it was a cipher) and not to be regarded as the fruit and tebors of a preacher and these shall be rewarded, and such a conclusion not founded upon the principles of the moral law cannot be true ecclesiastical law, and, therefore, of no binding force. Now we will see if we will call Christians, did teach the children of Israel to reverence with reverence: "Thou saith the Lord," and however much men may tondy and ecclesiastical heads may exist, we do not believe that God would have as set such leaching aside and substitute something else than the bishops: to the consideration of moral subjects; and we are glad to see conference, improving upon the style of addressing its Bishop, has advanced from his "reverend sir" to the "grace;" and perhaps when the next minutes are published will find the members ready to address him as his "holiness." There is a view about this matter that is unwarrantable his assumption of the bishops that is every way ugly and forbidding and is to not lowered upon by all conference men, that is the implied teaching of the principles of the Christian Christian obligations on the part of a body of people because they have handed themselves over to the care and guardians of Almighty God and disciples of the Lord Jesus Christ.

Let us see. What is the difference between a man (a minister, for instance) and individual members composing a church so far as relates to the individual rights and privileges? Is it to God? Is the individuality lost or absorbed in the membership? Is there any such thing? If the Scriptures be true, will not God judge each member for the deeds done in the body, whether they be good or bad? Is it not what might follow, I presume? Pullman car fare all the way through, bence a pleasant trip.

FIRST ITEM OF INTEREST.

My business as the Secretary of the Executive Board of the Sunday School Union is to attend to business, and when I get on the morning, bei not too early to find Secretary Smith at his post. It is a real pleasure to see the Bishop presiding as he conducts affairs The Sunday School Department is in a flourishing condition. Dr. Smith sticks to the cash system, and has the courage to hold on to the cable, the chances are that he will stay on the ship from drifting upon a fatal rock. Steadily, but surely, he moves on. All other Church departments must be run upon business principles to secure success. It is folly to talk of doing other than this. Besides helping the Sunday schools, the department is developing a literature. These two are the special objects for which it was organized; the extension of the work, &c., will follow as a natural consequence when the weak schools are aided in getting a good foothold, and when by the very building of houses and furniture, the fire of enthusiasm is fanned to a flame in every conference, as every circuit and in every station.

Those who will read the Sunday School Review for May will see the financial condition of the concern, therefore I shall not go over the items. It is not comforting to hear that the debt is so large, and money so hard. Not money in bank does not draw very heavy interest now-a-days. Moreover, we like to see the work done for the good of real estate. So the Board ordered the incorporation of the work, and under the laws of Tennessee, located it and permanent office. We have already secured the purchase or erection of a suitable building as its headquarters. So that's the way the matter stands now. The Secretary is preparing to issue ten thousand quarterlies to fill his next order. All orders receive prompt attention. I bear no complaints as regards short attendance. It was found necessary to make an appropriation for additional help; and also thought wise to seek out a suitable person to take the place of the Secretary is constantly at his office Getting it's and crossing "t's.

SECOND ITEM OF INTEREST.

Nashville is an educational centre, Park, Vanderbilt, Central, Roger Wil liams, Fisk, and Meharry, as well as elementary education, stand in a row. It is a delight to visit them. It was commencement season at Fisk and our Board was invited to be present. Of course we accepted. Bishop H. M Turner, who, in the absence of Bishop Payne, presided as the Senior Bishop in the meeting, headed the delegation. He was given a place to speak to the class and improved the occasion. His speech was character-istic in point and force and was most happy. At one time he was cheered so long and loud that it was with difficulty he could proceed. Of course, the effort of the Bishop got in a word for Africa, but several for the African race. Fisk is doing good and thorough work. The graduates did themselves and the race and the school credit. The two leading things are large and durable; their sense is sure. Jubilee and Arrangement of the third is to go up soon. Those institutions are doing a noble work. Wife and I could not pay me my money, and we had the privilege of taking a note, and if after a sufficient length of time he did not pay, I'd make him, and in this I think I would do right before God and men; and that vice versa, if I owed you, I should be compelled to pay you. In my opinion, you have the moral as well as the civil right to compel a church to keep its obligations. A Christian man's promise should be as time mightier than gold. A church has no more right to cheat a man than a man has to cheat a church."

We submit if such teaching does not accord with the word of God and the high and sublime doctrine of Christianity. Again, we submit if it will not be accepted by the Judge of all the earth in that day when he shall try the value of men and judge them in the man Christ Jesus? How different the talk as reported in a newspaper. "Bishop briefly stated his acquaintance with the itinerancy, which the members would do well to follow. That when there was a devilish congregation some bishop would be sent to break them up and made them so. If the right man could not be found as stewards turn out and place woman in; they would be sure not to see them starve. Again, the women paid the money put in the Church and not the men; it is the duty of the pastors to stand by their female members; see them all the week; be old, the infirm, as well as the strong and healthy. But be careful, do not stay in any one's home too long; if Presty good as far as it went, but we will not criticise it just now. Let us only say, would it not have been well to here added such an expression of reformation and moral honesty upon the people? Many of them need it. But every man though he be a Bishop, cannot rise to the moral power of the body of men, though it be a conference, before we will respect recognized. No minister of the Lord Jesus Christ will ever have power nor any person if it can be avoided; but we say boldly, basically upon the true sense of the importance of the expression that if such as we understand them from their sayings and from from the ideas those Bishops and that conference as a body, and more than that such is the god they serve, it is not the God that we serve, and we know those who we have wished would be a faithful minister for and of the Lord Jesus Christ, and like Timothy, who knew from the earliest infancy the teachings given to him by his mother and grandmother, and how his body to the consecrated and there serve it that he should endorse and make such teaching the rule and guide of his life.
